Cannon, next Sunday, July 26th, the home missionary appointments are recorded for that date, excepting the appointments to the Scandinavian and German meetings.

DROWNED IN A POST HOLE.

Fate of a Three-Year-Old Child of Scott's Hollow—Accident to a Child of Uriah Wright.

A gentleman who has just returned from a trip through the towns of Davis county called at the NEWS office today and stated that a three-year-old child of Antone Christensen of South Hooper was drowned at that place about a week ago by falling to a post hole filled with water. The little one's mother stepped across the road on an errand to a neighbor's, leaving the child playing about the house. A few minutes later John W. Singleton happened along and found the child dead protruding from the hole. He immediately seized the child and commenced the work of resuscitation but without avail. The parents were sorely grieved over the loss they sustained and in their bereavement have the sympathy of many friends.

A three-year-old boy, the son of Israel Hardman of Clinton ward, met the misfortune to fall from a horse and badly break an arm in two places. The little chap was taken to Ogden, where the fractures were reduced.

He writes that he has met with great encouragement and pledges of assistance on every hand. On arriving in Denver, the secretary of the chamber of commerce

Sunday School Union Meeting.

There was a large attendance at Sunday school workers at the monthly meeting held last evening, July 20th, in the L. D. S. College building, representatives being present from all the city wards across the Jordan, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-second and Twenty-third. The following ninety wards were also well represented: Cannon, East Mill Creek, Fort Douglas, West Jordan, Bingham, Kanosh, Mill Creek north branch, Brigham, Cache, Big Cottonwood south district, Seven Sunday School administration were also in attendance.

The excellent singing exercises of the evening were led by the Fort Douglas choir under the direction of Professor Stephens, the Tabernacle choir contributing some selections. The opening exercises were conducted by President Joseph E. Taylor, who also presided. Prayer was offered by Elder George Reynolds.

Duke Bagnall, Joseph E. Taylor and others dwelling on the absence from the city of some of the instructors, it had been thought best to postpone the organization of classes until the September meeting. The announcement caused considerable disappointment among those present, as they had come with the expectation of engaging in class work at this meeting. Elder Driggs referred sadly to the death of Elder Abraham H. Cannon, who had taken a great interest in Sunday school matters. He spoke on the necessity of teachers assuming closely to the details of their work; of quarterly reports being sent in; the necessity of a thorough understanding of the principles of the Gospel in the minds of teachers; the distinct objects of the primary, Sunday schools, Young Men's and Young Ladies' associations, which were simply a Sunday school of the young people. Teachers should be held responsible for the neglect of the proper training of the children. The first object of the work of the Sunday schools was to create a living faith in the minds of the children. We should build upon the revelation of God, and not cast them aside for any theory no matter how beautiful it may appear. The children should be taught to sustain the testimony in their souls, as well as an intellectual understanding of the principles of truth.

The choir sang, Weary Not.

Assistant State Superintendent Richard Ross referred to the disappointment occasioned by not being prepared to take up the class work, and said that Brother William Dean would be the principal speaker at the August meeting; deprecated the practice of having continuous in them great classes; officers and teachers should send a written or verbal excuse when unable to attend; the excuses should be included in the quarterly reports; punctuality in the opening of schools was urged, and the adoption and use of the Sunday school treasurer.

Superintendent Griggs spoke on the necessity of the schools to attract themselves from school, and urged the teachers to try and remedy this tendency.

Assistant Superintendent Ross suggested that the children take up a time with the officers and teachers who do not attend regularly.

After singing by the choir, Elder Benjamin Goddard introduced the resolution and the meeting adjourned for one month to meet at the same place at 7:30 p.m. The Union Ward Sunday school was requested to furnish the singing at the next meeting.

Scofield Mid-Summer Festival.

A grand Scofield mid-summer festival will be held at Scofield, Pleasant Valley, on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the 28th and 29th inst., under the auspices of the Carbon County Musical association. It is expected that thousands of visits of music and literature from the central counties of Utah will attend. Governor Wells will preside over the meetings of the Scofield and concerts, while Hon. J. R. Sharp will act as master of ceremonies on the occasion. Prof. A. G. Smythe of Manti, who is well known as an able teacher of music and music teacher, is the arrangement of music, and Prof. Stephens of Provo is the supplier of poetry, and Henry E. Jones is arrangement, and William R. Jones the artist. Over $500 is offered in prizes, and there is a request of large contributions for cards, tents and lemonade and ice cream, etc.

The town is now filled and deserted property is accumulating nearly every two or three thousand people. The Rio Grande offers very cheap rates, and also has the usual rates, and only $2 from Provo and Salt Lake. The good manners of Scofield and Pleasant Valley are kind and hospitable people, and will see that some one money is spent in the Scofield Festival. There is great due to the management, which is composed of Robert Owens and Sam, for their great labors in the interest of the summer exam, and their preparations for the ensuing grand annual Eisteddfod and musical festival. The last year's Eisteddfod was a success, but this one for this year will be a great success. The committee give a general invitation to all to come, regardless of creed or nationality, that they may visit the cool breezes of the mountains, and where they can enjoy spring in the midsummer season. The cool of mid and pioneers should come here to the valley of the mountains to see the wines of nature and enjoy the music and speeches of the leading singers and orators of the new state of Utah.

PERCEVAL.

From Germany.

Elder Lorenzo Fuchsbrunch of Lorenzo, Juab county, reached this city at 3:10 a.m. today on his return from a mission to Germany. He started on his mission from this city April 15, 1894, and some has been about two years and three months. Most of the period of his absence he spent in the Reuss valley. He enjoined from the government permission to distribute tracts in the city of Hamburg, where he spent about ten months. This is the first missionary labor ever done in that city by a Latter-day Saint, though other Elders have visited it before. None of them, however, ever obtained government permission to labor as missionaries. He did not hold any public meetings in Hamburg, as he would have been obliged to obtain a further permission from the government to do this, but he distributed a large number of tracts and did much private preaching.

Elder Fuchsbrunch also labored in Cologne and Mecklenburg. In the former city he was in private, distributing tracts, etc., but in Mecklenburg he held public meetings. In the latter city there is a branch of the Church numbering about fifty-six members. The last three months of his mission Elder Fuchsbrunch spent in Hamburg, the second largest city in Germany. There is there a flowing branch of about ninety members, and the condition of the work there, and the prospects of the future, are excellent. Elder Fuchsbrunch was accompanied on his homeward journey by fourteen emigrating saints from Germany and Switzerland, and five returning missionaries.
