DEDICATION OF THE TEMPLE AT MANTI.

IT has been decided to dedicate the Manti Temple on MONDAY, MAY 21, 1888. The dedicatory services will commence at 10 o'clock a.m.

The Quarterly Conference of the Sanpete Stake will be held on Saturday and Sunday, the 19th and 20th of May.

It may be necessary to continue the service of dedication more than one day. This will depend upon the number of persons who may be present, and who may desire to witness and take part in the proceedings. At Logan the number of persons present was so great that it required three days' services to enable all who desired to be present to get admission to the Temple.

The facilities for reaching Manti are not so good as they were for reaching Logan. The Utah Central Railroad runs from the north and south to Nephi. At that point the Sanpete Valley Railroad connects with it and reaches into Sanpete as far as Chester, a distance of about fifteen miles from Manti. From this point conveyance will necessarily be by teams.

While it is desirable that all the officers and members of the Church who can possibly be present at the dedication should be there, still it will be necessary for all who go, to make their own arrangements for transportation from Chester to Manti, and also for their entertainment while there, either at Manti or some of the adjacent settlements. The accommodations at Manti are limited; but on such an occasion as this, no doubt, everything will be done that is possible by the residents to make the visitors comfortable and to furnish them the necessary entertainment.

By addressing letters to the Presidency of the Sanpete Stake — President Canute Peterson and his Counselors, Henry Beal and John B. Maiben — or to Superintendent William H. Folsom, of the Manti Temple, arrangements, doubtless, can be made by visitors both for transportation and accommodation.

Admission to the Dedication services will be by ticket. These tickets will be given to the Presidents of Stakes, and, in their absence, to their Counselors or the Bishops, and by them will be distributed to the members of their Stakes and Wards who are in good standing. It will be well for the members who desire to go to Manti on this occasion to ascertain beforehand whether the Presidency of the Stake or the Bishop and Counselors of the Ward to which they belong will be at the Dedication services; for if none of these should be present, they ought to provide themselves, before leaving home, with letters of recommendation, so that they may be admitted to the Temple without question.

Special rates on the railroads will be made to all persons going to and returning from Manti on this occasion.

WILFORD WOODRUFF,
On behalf of the Council of the Apostles.

CONDEMNING LAWLESSNESS.

OUR readers have been made familiar with some of the details of mobocratic outrages perpetrated recently in West Virginia upon John Metz and his family. The sole cause of the violent and brutal persecution of these people was that they had been baptized by missionaries from Utah and become members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The writer heard one of the brethren who has done a good deal of missionary work in the Southern States say recently that such occurrences were quite common, and many instances as striking in their barbarous features as that in which the Metz family were the victims, never reached public notice beyond the regions where they transpired.

The same Elder said that such disgraceful treatment was not, in its bestowal, confined to members of the church but frequently extended to people who were not Latter-day Saints and probably never would be. The reason for the persecution of that class was generally because they had treated the Elders hospitably or befriended them when in peril. He had been lately in communication with a man who had, for these causes, been driven from place to place, his property destroyed and his life threatened, and his means of living swept away. At last accounts he was driven to the extremity of accepting a contract to carry the mail from one part of the country to another, semi-weekly, at 00 cents a trip, he and his family being thus compelled to eke out an existence for the time being on an income of $1 80 a week.

The rule with newspapers, when facts of this kind are made public, is to either pronounce faint condemnation against the mobocratic lawlessness and cruelty exhibited in these affairs; or condone with and apologize for the barbarous element which perpetrates the outrages. Occasionally a bold, independent, outspoken journal comes out flatly against the mobbers and their inhuman deeds. Among this latter class is the Martinsburg (W. A.) Herald, which under the head of "Brute force vs. the law," speaks in this unmistakable manner of the inhumanity and lawlessness manifested towards John Metz and others:

"History and every-day occurrences prove that man has a barbarous origin and an animal tendency, despite all the civilizing influences and teachings of time.

"The constitutions of the Union and of the States provide that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property, except by due process of law and the judgment of a man's peers.

"Yet day after day, life, liberty and property are taken by human frenzy, and the despoiled have no appeal to law because sentiment is against them, and the law being a semi-political and a semi-human measure, fears the maddened crowd and demonstrates the superiority of brute force to the law—small-scale revolutions.

"There should be no crime or breach of the peace sentiment could not be reached by the law, if properly carried out; yet many sections of the country are dominated by unlawful bands that respect neither age nor person, and take life with as much composure as they burn property.

"In Calhoun County, W. Va., lately the homes of a Mormon and his friends were burned, women and children made desolate, and terror inspired into a whole neighborhood. If the Mormon had committed any crime, there was a legal procedure for his punishment; if he had not, the men who burned his property and made his life insecure were no better, but far worse, than the religious butchers that assailed every creed and sect through all the centuries of persecution and confiscation; for inquisition was never so fanatical that it did not accord some form of trial, and royal decree never so sweeping that it did not follow at least a semblance of law. We have not much love for the Mormon but the heresy of the burner is more damnable than the heresy of the burned."

AN ENTERPRISING AMERICAN.

AN instance of American enterprise is exhibited in the business career of Mr. A. J. Jordan, of St. Louis, manufacturer of cutlery. He went over to Sheffield, England, the great centre of production in that line, its name for superiority of goods being ahead of that of any other city in the world. He there established a cutlery manufactory, his object being to supply the American trade with the best article that Sheffield skill and materials could produce. This gentleman was eminently successful, but an attempt was made lately by Messrs. Chas. Chambers & Co., Sheffield manufacturers, to place Mr. Jordan at a disadvantage. The latter placed on his Sheffield wares the trade mark he used on his American goods—two large A's a small one and the figure 1. The trademark of Chambers & Co. was A 1, and they entered a criminal action against Mr. Jordan on the ground of imitation and a purpose to deceive. A large quantity of his goods was seized pending the trial of the suit, which took place last month. It resulted in the complete vindication of Mr. Jordan, it being shown that he neither practiced nor intended any deception, merely using his registered American trademark on his Sheffield wares.

The Sheffield Telegraph praises Mr. Jordan highly, showing that if he had intended a fraud he would have resorted to the subterfuge of putting the word Sheffield upon his St. Louis goods. Instead of doing so, however, he had established and built up a flourishing trade in the town, and thus benefitted it. The same journal criticizes with well deserved severity the course taken towards him by Chambers & Co.

Mr. Jordan has a number of friends in Utah, where his wares are popular. They will doubtless be pleased to learn of his late complete vindication in the Yorkshire courts.

THE WOOL MARKET.

THERE should be no hurry to sell the spring clip. The market is still in a very unsatisfactory condition, with a continued tendency to still lower prices, though it is thought that territory wool will not go much if any lower.

The tariff question is accountable for the present depression more than anything else. With the uncertainty of the result of the Mill's bill, clothiers have curtailed their orders for goods, manufacturers have reduced their production, and the demand for wool has correspondingly decreased. On the other hand, the wool houses are anxious to dispose of old lots before beginning on the new clip, and this desire to sell, in the face of no spirited demand, has caused a drop of two to three cents per pound on the scoured basis.

It is almost certain that present prices are lower than would prevail were the Mills bill a law. Suspense and uncertainty in regard to it are, it is believed, having a worse effect than would the positive knowledge that it is soon to be in force. Following are the Boston quotations for May 1, on Utah wools: Fine, 14 @ 17 cents; fine medium, 15 @ 19 cents; medium, 17 @ 21 cents.

Within a few days the sense of the House of Representatives upon the tariff will probably be definitely shown, which will likely have a tendency to settle and perhaps to strengthen the wool market. In the meantime it is tolerably safe to assume that there is a much better chance to gain than lose by waiting a while before selling.

A WAR CLOUD.

RUSSIA has recently made a heavy appropriation of money for the construction of three military railroads leading to the Austrian frontier, a work to be commenced at once, and which will be enormously expensive. The object, of course, is to facilitate the transportation of troops, stores and supplies. The move wears a threatening aspect, and means that Russia is making extensive and important preparations for war.

The Triple Alliance, Germany, Austria and Italy, are, it is stated, about to demand from Russia an explanation of her meaning, and it is expected that her answer will be a casus belli. If so, the three allied nations, on the one hand, and Russia and France on the other, will suddenly be plunged into a war, from participating in which England can scarcely be prevented. Thus, apparently, six of the leading and strongest nations of the world are ready to engage each other in a death grapple. The times are portentious of the most momentous occurrences of all history.

ANOTHER TRANSLATION.

DR. ISSACSON has a room at the Historian's office and is there engaged in in a work in which every Latter-day Saint will feel an interest—the translation of the Book of Mormon into the Hebrew-Jewish language. This tongue was decided upon in preference to the pure Hebrew, for a very important reason; it is understood and spoken by the great body of the Jews in all parts of the world, including those of Germany, Austria, Russia, Servia and Roumania. This language is of modern origin, having developed during the last three hundred years, but it already has a literature. It will be observed that in this widely-spoken language, the book is capable of reaching many millions of Hebrews of all classes when the proper time shall come to carry the fulness of the Gospel to that race—when the times of the Gentiles shall be fulfilled.

THE UINTAH BILL.

YESTERDAY the Senate took up, made some verbal amendments to and passed the House bill restoring to the public domain a portion of the Uintah Indian Reservation. On account of having been amended in the Senate, the bill will have to be returned to the House for concurrence in the amendments, and a delay of some weeks, or even months, may occur before it is made ready for the signature of the President. Precisely what amount of land the bill takes from the Indians and gives to the whites, that is, opens for settlement, we have not been able to learn; but in the light of the history of such legislation it is reasonably safe to assume that this bill, to whatever extent it goes, benefits the white at the expense of the red man.

Disposal of Sewage.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 8, 1888.

Editor Deseret News:

Anent the sewerage question, and its disposal in the Jordan River, frequent reference is made to the condition of Denver, which has the same system as that sought to be introduced into Salt Lake. There the sewage is emptied into the river below the city, and carried off, there being but little smell a mile or so below the mouth of the discharge pipe.

But can Denver's position be compared to Salt Lake.? I thing not. In the first place, the river is below the city, and from the direction in which the sewer drain lies there is scarcely, if ever, a breath of wind—an exactly opposite condition to that which is met with in Salt Lake where almost every breeze comes from the northwest, and would waft the stench over the entire western and southern portions of the city.

And again, the South Platte is a turgid, rapidly flowing stream, carrying a large body of water, which increases as it goes down. It flows away, joining the North Fork of the Platte, and onto the Missouri. The natural drainage is perfect—the stream does not crawl sluggishly along, and settle in a lake almost at the edge of the city. With Jordan the conditions are precisely the opposite. The volume of water is comparatively small. What there is scarcely moves at all, the land is so nearly level. There is quite a slope from the centre of the city to the river, but from there to the mouth it is nearly a dead level—just fall enough for water to run, and that is all. The rapids that are met with in the Platte do not exist in the Jordan. Then there is the lake, within fifteen miles of the city, and long before it gets there the river is a stagnant pool. There is no way to draw the water off, nor can there ever possibly be.

There is need for sewerage, but let no mistake be made in counting on conditions that do not exist; in imagining there is a drainage from the mouth of the sewer, as is pointed to in Denver, when the reverse is the case. It is better to "make haste slowly," and go to a little more expense for the final disposal of the sewage, than to give a grievous cause of complaint that must result in a revolution of an adopted system.

The Walk

NEW YORK, May, 8. — Littlewood still continues to lead in the six days walk. Since the start he has been off the track only two hours and twenty-eight minutes. Hughes hangs on with dogged persistency, and Cartwright has been steadily losing ground. He He stays off the track for a longer period than any one of the walkers. But few people were in the garden after midnight and nothing of interest occurred. Score at 9 o'clock this morning: Littlewood, 171 miles; Cartwright, 155 miles; Golden, 153 miles; Hegelman, 150 miles; Campana, 128 miles; Saunders, 124 miles; Hugher, 162 miles; Berly, 155 miles; Guerrero, 135 miles; Dillon, 129 miles; Viet, 127 miles; Noremac, 149 miles.

An exciting scene of today occurred shortly after noon. Hughes, knowing Littlewood was probably disabled, rolled off lap after lap. Slowly he gained on Littlewood until at 12:15 he passed him amid the enthusiastic shouts of the spectators. At 2 o'clock he was six miles in the lead. Hegelman and Day have withdrawn.

Jealousy and Murder.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The deady body of Nathaniel W. Hatch, a member of the firm of Walter T. Hatch and sons, bankers and brokers, was found in the yard of No. 64 West Twentieth Street this morning. The story of his death cannot now be told, but the story of Mrs. Lillian Scofield, a handsome woman about 30, suggests that the murder may have been activated by the jealousy of Mrs. Scofield and her husband, Charles W. Scofield, were taken to the police station this morning, where Mrs. Scofield said she had dined with Hatch, who accompanied her home about midnight. She invited him into the house. Scofield was asleep in the the back parlor, but was aroused by the movements of his wife and Hatch. The latter was hastily concealed on the second floor. Scofield's jealousy was aroused and he questioned his wife in the most violent way concerning the man who had been with her. She steadfastly refused to give the man's name and insisted he had left the house. Scofield then left the house. She searched for Hatch, but could not find him, and thought he also left the the house. She retired and knew no more of the broker or what happened in the night until the body was discovered in the yard this morning. Scofield was formerly a broker in good circumstances. He told the police that he had had cause on several occasions to doubt his wife's fidelity. Hatch was 63 years old and lived with his wife in a handsome house on 53rd Street. His wife was formerly one of the most prominent ladies in Brooklyn society.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The general accepted theory is that Hatch was killed by falling from the window while trying to make his escape.

Two Murderers Hanged.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Robert G. Hall and David Vincent were hanged at the county prison at 10:18 this morning. Hall was the actor who murdered Mrs. Lillian G. Hall, his mistress, about a year ago, in a very sensational way, then attempted to take his own life, but failed after lacerating his throat terribly. Hall prepared for his death with remarkable coolness. During the past fortnight he has given most minute directions for the disposal of his body and effects. His novels, songs and poems are methodically tied in bundles ready for mailing to his friends in the west. Vincent was an Italian. His victim was an Italian sailor.

A Murderer Escapes.

LEBANON, Pa., May 8.—Wm. Showers, under sentence of death for the murder of his two grand-children, escaped from jail here last night. He dug a hole through the solid stone wall and lowered himself from the opening with a rope made from pieces of a blanket. Showers is 70 years old. He left two letters, one addressed to the counsel and the other bidding defiance to the people who threatened to lynch him.

Corner on Corn.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Daily News says that a syndicate composed of local bankers and two wealthy merchants are practically in control of all the corn in sight with few exceptions. Shippers and receivers did their buying for them, consequently their movements have attracted but little attention. The syndicate propose to keep the corn well up to sixty cents for all the months up to the marketing of the new crop.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—At the conclusion of the morning's business, Senator Voorhees arose and, after stating that he had been ill for almost a week, said: "Referring to a discussion in which I participated last week, I desire to say to the Senate that however severe the provocation which was given, yet I made use of language at that time contrary to the rules of this body, the parliamentary rules and usage and decorum of this Senate. I regret having used such language and tender a proper apology to the Senate of the United States for doing so. My high respect for the dignity of this body of which I have so long been a member as well as my self-respect induce me to make this statement.

Albuquerque, New Mexico, May 1.—The rock train on the Magdalena branch of the Santa Fe Railway ran away yesterday. A few miles from Socorro the road comes in on a heavy down grade, and when about four miles from the town the air-brakes gave way and, the engine not being able to hold the train, it dashed through the town at a tremendous rate of speed. An old Mexican woman, Josefa Jaramillo, walking on the track, was run over and her body was torn to pieces. All the men jumped and saved themselves. The engine and four cars were piled up in the ditch.

The president of an eastern railroad is credited with making the following sensible remarks: "I have some views as to newspaper advertising which I presume may be classed an unique, as they are given from a railroad standpoint. It is my opinion that railroad managers have a false idea as to how to advertise, especially in the passenger department. Thousands of dollars are expended in showy cards and pictures which do the road less good, in my opinion, than would one-tenth the amount expended in a judicious way in newspaper advertising. As for the cookery books, pronouncing dictionaries, books of verses of doggerel and other book issued by some of our passenger agents, I think it is all absolute waste of the stockholders' money on individual fads, doing the railroads no particle of good."

Uncle John was not a member of the Church, though his wife, who survives him, was one of the first to embrace the Gospel in the state of Kentucky. Since that time many Elders from Utah and adjoining Territories have shared his hospitality, and all can testify to his honesty and integrity. I have been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking; indeed for years I was not able to speak more than thirty minutes, and often this with great difficulty. I also, to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all droppings of mucous have ceased and my voice and hearing have greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, Attorney at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY.

ORDINANCE No. 6, 1888.

An Ordinance Providing for Paving, Grading and Repairing Sidewalks in Salt Lake City.

SECTION 1.—Be it ordained by the City Council of Salt Lake City:

That whenever the City Council shall deem it necessary to grade, pave, plank or repair any sidewalk, or any portion thereof in any street or alley within the city limits, the Mayor, under direction of the City Council, shall publish a notice for at least twenty days in a newspaper published in said city, describing the character, location and extent of such proposed grade, pavement or repair with the estimated cost of the same, and designating the time fixed by the Council for determining whether the proposed grade or pavement or both shall be made. If, at or before the time so fixed, written objections to such sidewalk grading or paving, signed by the owners of one-half the value of the property so to be affected or benefitted, as shown by the last preceding city assessment roll, be not filed with the City Recorder, the Council may in its discretion, order the making of such grade or the paving of such sidewalks, and the cost thereof shall be defrayed by levying a legal tax according to the linear foot frontage on all of the lots or parcels of land abutting upon the sidewalk along which said grading and paving is to be made, or otherwise if the Council so order, which shall be paid by the owners of said land; Provided, That one-half of the expense of bringing such sidewalks to the established grade shall be paid out of the street or contingent fund; and Provided further, that the expense of paving the sidewalk across the street shall be paid out of the street or contingent fund.

SEC. 2. All sidewalks constructed, widened or repaired as herein provided, shall be laid to such established grade as the City Council direct, and unless otherwise specified, by resolution or ordinance of the City Council, shall be built of brick, stone, cement or asphalum. If of brick they shall be good, substantial, hard brick; if of stone, not less than three inches of thickness, dressed square, with flat dressed or hammered surface, and shall be laid on a bed of good coarse sand, in a good workmanlike manner, with even surface and close joints.

SEC. 3. All improvements made in pursuance of this ordinance shall be executed under the immediate supervision of the City Street Supervisor.

SEC. 4. The Assessor and Collector of Salt Lake City is hereby constituted the assessor and collector of said taxes for grading, paving and repairing sidewalks.

SEC. 5. All local taxes for grading and paving sidewalks, or special assessments made, levied and assessed in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, and the costs of collecting the same, shall attach to and constitute a lien upon and against the property so assessed from and after the date of assessment, and said taxes or special assessments shall become payable and delinquent at the expiration of sixty days from the date of the assessment of the same, and they shall be collected in like manner as other city taxes.

The bulls are an extra lot in every respect and include the 7th Duke of Kirklevington 41797 (Pure Bates) that cost $1000 when a calf. The most attractive part of the sale is the 23 two year old heifers, that are bred to one of my Bates bulls or to The Baronet 88260, Clay & Winn's grand show bull.
