PREST. TAFT SHOWS HIS MAGNANIMITY

At Columbus, Miss., Said That Jefferson Davis Is One of the State's Great Heroes.

CABIN JOHN BRIDGE CASE.

Glad Administration at Washington Wiped Out Evidence of Extreme Partisan Bitterness.

Columbus, Miss., Nov. 2.—President Taft received a joyous welcome here today when he came to visit the birthplace of Secy. of War Dickinson and brought the secretary with him. Mr. Taft held a reception at the old home of General Stephen D. Lee of the confederate forces, as the guest of the son of the house, Blewett H. Lee. Later he made an address from a grandstand erected on Main street, and before leaving at 2:30 for Birmingham, Ala., attended his first barbecue of the trip at the girls' industrial school.

The president took occasion here to pay a tribute to Secy. Dickinson. In fact, ever since he has entered Mississippi, Mr. Taft has lost no opportunity to give evidence of his high regard for the secretary of war.

In the course of his midnight speech at Jackson last night the president said of Secy. Dickinson:

"Now I have got 'Stan' Dickinson in the cabinet. He did not come because he wanted to. He came because I knew why. I wanted him. I wanted him because I wanted to give an earnest example to the south of the truth of my declaration that I was anxious to bring you closer to the government at Washington, and I also took him because I wanted one of the ablest men of the country. I wanted of the Panama canal built, and I knew if he took hold of it it would go.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

"One of the great heroes of Mississippi is Jefferson Davis, and I am glad the administration at Washington has wiped out the evidence of that extreme partisan bitterness of Cabin John Bridge and that his name is restored there, and I am glad because I know and can testify from my experience in the south that the same joy that they experienced at that act on the part of the administration is the joy of a common country and loyalty to a common flag.

"I cannot pass from these walls without testifying to the gratitude I feel toward all of Mississippi for this most cordial welcome. I am glad to believe that you would cordially receive the president of the United States under any circumstances, but I am also glad to believe your reception most highly as an evidence that we are coming closer and closer together, and that we are one country with the same ideals, the same aspiration is in some degree warmer because you believe I value that reception and the same determination to make us all better and raise the standard of our citizenship beyond anything that heretofore has been seen."

En route to Columbus today the president made brief car-end speeches at Kosciusko, Ackerman, Starkville and West Point. At each place he was greeted by an enthusiastic throng, the negroes being drawn up on one side of the track and the white on the other.

At Kosciusko the president gave further utterance to his desire to bring the people of the south closer to the other states. He said:

"I have been glad to be here because I think this state, as nearly as any, represents the opinion and types of the south, and I am anxious to come as closely in contact with the southern people and explain to them as sincerely and sympathetically as I can, my desire to unite them and bring them closer to all the other states.

"It is not that we want to make you Republicans, or that we want to become Democrats. We all have our views and our tastes in that regard, but it is that we shall bring you, and that you shall come, to believe that you are as near to the heart of the central government as now administered, as any other people in the Union."

PORTO RICAN HAD NO COUNTRY TO RENOUNCE

Washington, Nov. 2.—A man without country enlisted the sympathy of the navy department and tomorrow he will be a chief yeoman in the United States navy. His promotion comes after a struggle for American citizenship, waged against innumerable obstacles.

The man is Diego R. Carrion, a Porto Rican. Once by the courts in New York and once by the federal courts in Norfolk, Va., was Carrion refused his first naturalization papers, "because he had no country to renounce," coming from Porto Rico. Finally the department of commerce and labor waived the renunciation requirements. Recently he was recommended for promotion in the navy. On account of the U. S. S. Montana, on which he is serving, moving from port to port, he has never been able to gain a residence and hence obtain full citizenship. The navy regulations were recently amended so as to limit promotion to citizens of the United States. Under these conditions Carrion was about to be cheated out of his merited position. The mater was laid before Asst. Secy. Winthrop of the navy, who today ordered that the requirement in the regulation be waived in the instance of Carrion.

OUSLEY DIED OF WOUND.

Silverton, Colo., Nov. 2.—Henry Ousley, who was shot by his wife Sunday night when she suddenly turned back from a trip to Salt Lake City and found him intoxicated, died yesterday. Mrs. Ousley is said to have confessed that she hired two men to carry her husband home from a saloon and shot him as he lay on the bed in a drunken stupor.

DEPOT FOR DISTRIBUTING PLANETARY NEWS

Flagstaff, Ariz., Nov. 2.—Dr. Percival Lowell of Lowell observatory, today issued notice to the observatories of America that by an arrangement with the Centrals Stelle at Kell, Germany, the Lowell observatory instead of Harvard hereafter will be the distributing center for planetary news in America.

STRONGER EVIDENCE FOR AGE OF ETCHINGS

Washington, Nov. 2.—Stronger evidence than has heretofore been necessary as to age of etchings brought into this country free is required in instructions issued today by the treasury department. The instructions are to harmonize separate paragraphs in dealing with etchings so as to make them conform to requirements proposed in section 717 of the new tariff law.

That section calls for affidavits and other declarations as to etchings and engravings being in existence for 20 years prior to their importation.

MRS. FRED MAC MONNIES TO MARRY ARTIST LOW

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 3.—Plans for the marriage of Mrs. Frederick MacMonnies, the former wife of the sculptor, to Will H. Low, the artist, were announced here last night by Frederick Fairchild, who is an uncle of Mrs. MacMonnies.

In a letter received by Mr. Fairchild, Mrs. MacMonnies writes that she will be married to Will H. Low in Paris, Nov. 4. The religious ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. Charles Wagner. A civil ceremony will precede the religious function. Mrs. MacMonnies was formerly Miss Mary Fairchild, daughter of Mrs. Sidney Fairchild of this city.

ORDINANCE LIMITING TIME AUTO MAY STAND IN STREET

Chicago, Nov. 3.—A new city ordinance which limits to one hour the time an automobile or other vehicle may stand continuously in the down-town streets, was put into effect yesterday. Vigorous protests immediately came from down-town physicians who regard their motor cars as almost indispensable to their work.

"I don't believe the ordinance is constitutional," said Dr. John A. Robertson, president of the Chicago Medical society. "An automobile is as necessary to a Chicago physician nowadays as are his instruments and medicines. And the car must be always at hand, ready to carry him without loss of time to where he is needed. To deprive us of the use of our cars by limiting the time they can stand outside our offices is legislating against our business. I doubt if such a law would stand the test of the courts."

WANTS STATE TROOPS WITHDRAWN FROM BASIN

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 2.—Mayor W. S. Collins of Basin yesterday sent a telegram to Gov. Cooks asking the withdrawal of state troops sent there to preserve order during the trial of cattlemen charged with murdering three sheepmen.

Mayor Collins says the situation does not warrant the presence of troops and that the militia here is a menace to the peace. If the sheriff does not do his duty, the mayor says he will guarantee to see that peace is maintained.

Prosecuting Atty. Metz declares that the presence of nearly 300 cattlemen in Basin makes the troops necessary.

NEEDY FAMILIES TO BE GIVEN ASSISTANCE

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Four hundred needy families are to be put in the way of raising their own food on vacant lands in Chicago next summer, according to the plans of the City Gardens association. That the prospective gardeners may understand how to get the most out of their plots of ground when they take possession, the association will establish classes in gardening this winter and furnish instruction by lecture and demonstrations.

This was the project announced yesterday by Miss Harriet Vittum, a leading spirit of the City Gardens association, in a talk at the annual meeting of the Outdoor Art league.

"The garden on the land donated by the International Harvester company, near the Bridewell, has been so successful that next year we expect to place 400 families on vacant lands in the west, south and southwest parts of the city," said Miss Vittum. "We intend to have classes during the winter and teach them as much as possible about gardening. The returns on the harvester tract for the season just closed averaged $25 for each plot, and the expenses were only $6 a garden; 86 out of 100 allotments were worked through the season by those to whom they were originally allotted. Forty of the plots already are sold for next year's use and the rest are spoken for."

WOMAN PROBABLY LURED TO DEATH BY ADVERTISEMENT

Chicago, Nov. 3.—That Mrs. A. Jansen, who was murdered and whose body was cremated in a log hut five near Cordonia, Wash., met James A. Logan, the man under arrest charged with the crime, through an advertisement inserted by Logan in one of the Chicago newspapers over a year ago, is a probability brought out by an investigation among the people who knew Logan in Chicago.

Logan is said to have been acquainted with a number of men along South Water street, to whom he represented himself as a dealer in Washington real estate.

In October, 1908, an advertisement appeared in a Chicago newspaper calling for a housekeeper to go to Spokane. This is said to have been Logan's and was answered by Mrs. Jansen.

A search to locate the former residence of Mrs. Jansen in Chicago, failed to bring out any clow.

POLICE CAUGHT MURDERER RED HANDED

Newark, N. J., Nov. 3.—The police caught John Madelon driving a dagger into an unknown man prostrated on the sidewalk of Bloomfield avenue early this morning. Although two officers rushed up and grabbed the assailant his victim had by that time been fatally stabbed and died on the way to a hospital. Madolon and Joseph Wello, a young man who had been standing calmly by watching the killing, were both arrested.

LEADING CITIZENS WHO DID NOT VOTE

New York, Nov. 3.—Many of the country's "leading citizens" failed to exercise their right of suffrage. President William H. Taft did not vote in Cincinnati because he was in Mississippi. Former President Theodore Roosevelt did not vote at Oyster Bay because he is in Africa. J. Pierpont Morgan and Andrew Carnegie did not vote because they were in Europe, when it was time to register.

Cardinal Gibbons did not vote at Baltimore, because he failed to register. John D. Rockefeller did not vote in New York because he was detained in Cleveland through the illness of his wife. Only two members of President Taft's cabinet voted.

FOOTBALL RESULTS IN HEART FAILURE

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 3.—Harry Houston, 19 years old, fell dead of heart failure as the result of over exertion here yesterday afternoon at a football game. He suffered fainting spells after a scrimmage and complained of pains in the region of his heart. Other players assisted him from the gridiron. Houston succumbed a few minutes later. Steps will be taken, it is said, to abolish football among high school players here.

HOW JAPANESE VISITOR LOST HIS VANDYKE

Washington, Nov. 3.—Lack of complete mastery of the English language was responsible for the loss of a carefully cultivated beard that graced the chin of S. Zumoto, editor of the Japan Times of Tokio, and a member of the commercial commission now touring the country. Mr. Zumoto visited the barbershop yesterday in the hotel here in which he is a guest.

"I would like to be shaved," he said "Not altogether, but conservatively," in halting English.

He caressed his Van Dyke lovingly as he spoke. The barber, a taciturn workman, said nothing, but tucked the towels and aprons and other articles of his trade in and around the Japanese editor's neck. Then he began.

Americans in the shop were startled when they suddenly listened to a fluent flow of what probably was strong language in Japanese. The barber had encroached on the Japanese imperial, with the result that half of it fell beneath his keen blade before the customer could protest. It was necessary then to cut it all off.

Members of the Japanese party enjoyed the situation. Mr. Zumoto declined to see it in a humorous light.
