LITERARY NOTES.

Under the title of America's Interest in Eastern Asia, Hon. John Barrett, United States minister to Siam, presents in the opening article of the 20th American Review for March, an impressive statement of the growing neglect of American maritime and trade interests prevailing in that part of the world, and points out the methods whereby a remedy may be obtained. An interesting paper on the Revival of the Olympian Games is contributed by Mr. George Horton, Unite States consul at Athens, and in our Foreign Trade and Consular Service, Mr. Charles Dudley Warner sums up some considerations with a very important subject.

The March number of The Progress of the World is compactly filled with interesting and valuable information on a great variety of subjects. Aside from the usual Brisbane summary of the political history of the month the world over, are interesting articles on new discoveries in the scientific and mechanical fields. Mr. E. Dewey's wonderful invention, by which he is enabled to see thousand words per minute, is entertainingly described. The latest developments with the Roentgen X rays are chronicled with good pictures and a very lucid explanation of this mysterious phenomenon. Some ingenious adaptations of the bicycle for use on the water will interest cyclists. A well illustrated and readable article is a description of "Billstore," the superb estate which Mr. George W. Vanderbilt has created in North Carolina at the cost of a number of millions of dollars.

Among the many things in Table Talk this month is an article on Candy Making by Miss C. C. Bedford, an acknowledged expert in that line. A description of A Modern Dinner, the regular department of Housekeepers Inquiries, which contains every fifty recipes—a veritable cook-book in itself; the new bill of fare, which is full of women's interests; the new moon for March, which includes one for every week of the month; and The Lenten Calm, in which the writer delves among the treasures of Fashion's world.
