A proclamation was issued by the governor of New Mexico Thursday which annuls that of the former governor prohibiting California cattle from coming into the territory. It is now provided that such cattle be allowed to enter or pass through on permit from the United States bureau of animal industry, stipulating that all stock must be perfectly healthy and free from Texas fever. Provision is also made that the cattle shall be subject to all regulations of the territorial veterinary board. With these provisions obeyed, California cattle are now free to come into the territory.

C. J. Smith, general manager of the Pacific Coast company, returned from Southeastern Alaska Thursday, in reference to a report brought out from Dawson that the low stage of the Yukon river would probably interfere with navigation this summer between St. Michaels and Dawson. Mr. Smith said: "The story was told me at Juneau and it was published in the Alaska papers. I did not have the opportunity to inquire into the reliability of the man who brought out the report or the truthfulness of the story, although it bore evidence of reliability. It was also reported at Juneau that the Chilkoot authorities have issued an order requiring every prospector going in to have 500 pounds of provisions. Many people are now going from the river to Lake Bennett. The Rev. Spencer was advertised to leave the lakes for Dawson June 10th. The rumor that Circle City had been burned is untrue. The fall of Dyea and Skagway, I have all that was destroyed, the fire following the order to Sheep Camp. But I do not believe that Sheep Camp was threatened."
