A Sample Ballot.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 22.

To the Editor:

Would you please inform your readers tonight that the Western Bell Fueling company, 20 Richards street, has a sample ballot which the Mutual Improvement association at this city has been set? It would be an excellent method to educate the young people to enable them to vote intelligently on election day. Our sample ballot is 3 feet 8 inches by 4 feet 6 inches.

HOME FOR THE GUARD

Local Companies Get Disappointed and a Drill Hall

IN THE MORMON TEMPLE BY A NIGHT.

Adjutant General Nelson Has Lots to Do Besides Look for the Path—Guard Boys Happy.

National Guard members of the local companies are highly elated over the announcement from the adjutant general's office that permanent headquarters and drill hall have at last been secured for them.

Negotiations to that end have been carried on by Adjutant General Carlton for some time past. They were terminated by that office yesterday in leasing a temple lease on the West Temple street Nelsonian, just south of the Valley House. The owner of the property is Mr. Joseph Hoole, and the consideration is very fair one.

The building will at once be placed in proper shape for the use to which it is to be put. Several business houses will have to be moved to congregate after this result. The lower floor will be used for company rooms, quarters, drill and exercise rooms, while the upper will be set apart for drill and tactics purposes.

The encouragement of the Utah city and county building was considered by the last that the Legislature will mostly meet again, when a vision such as is necessary to locate in winter weather will, no doubt, prove to be a reality. The Guard officers and soldiers are glad to have had the use of the joint building so long and feel that to have accepted to have occupied it longer would not only have been inconvenient, but an imposition on city, county and State officials.

Illinois Eagle Blade.

The election for mayor of the First battalion, First infantry, N. G. U., yesterday, resulted in Captain S. G. Grow being chosen. He received seven votes and Captain Lund one.

The election to fill the unexpired vacancy in the Fire battalion, second infantry, resulted in the honor falling upon T. R. Cutler of Logan. He received seven votes to against three for his competitor, Captain R. D. Page of Brigham City.

Troop C, Captain Naylor's cavalry troop, were inspected last night by Major Smith. There were twenty-eight men and officers in line. The showing was satisfactory.

Battery A, under Captain Gibbs, was inspected last evening in the use of machine guns.

Last of the Colored Troop.

The last of the colored troop, companies A, B, C and H, commanded by Captains A. Angus, arrived in this city last night on a train from Ogden. They remained in their cars until after daylight and marched through the city to the post to the music of martial music nearly after 8 o'clock.

BITNER CANNOT RUN.

His Certificate of Nomination Declared to be Illegal.

At 4:00 yesterday afternoon County Clerk Hamilton received a decision to the Bitner nomination case to the effect that the certificate was not presented in legal form. George P. Costigan appeared for the objectors and H. C. Richards for Mr. Bitner. The reasons in its part as follows:

Section 3 of chapter 60 provides that "each voter signing a certificate shall add to his signature his place of residence, and shall, before an officer duly authorized to take such a voter signature, acknowledge his signature and declare that he is a voter within said district for which such nomination is made, and that he is a qualified voter in said city, and that he truly states his residence."

There is a majority of signatures of the said Hermann H. Bitner certificate shows, in the case, that either no oaths were taken or the oaths were not properly administered, and that, in the absence of the certificate, did not acknowledge that the signatures affixed to said certificate of nomination were their signatures, and did not take an oath that the signer was a voter within said district for the political office for which such nomination is made, and that the affidavit of signers that they were qualified voters in said district, and that the signers of said certificate were not properly sworn, and that the said certificate of nomination was not properly sworn to, and that the said certificate of nomination was not properly sworn to, and that the said certificate of nomination was not properly sworn to
