SCHEDULES OF LEAGUES READY

Those of Big Organizations Show Number of Innovations.

THE UMPIRE BRIBERY CASE.

White Sox Will Have Advantage of Playing Long Engagement Home Before Long Trips.

(By I. E. Sanborn.)

Chicago.—Another week will bring the schedule meetings of the National and American leagues and with them the coveted playing dates for the season of 1909, the arranging of which, the baseball fan thinks, is the best thing the club owners do with the exception of boosting favorite players' salaries.

An innovation for both leagues will be holding the schedule meetings in this city, and it will be the first time Chicago has been honored with a National league meeting in a good many years. The city organization hitherto has held all its gatherings closer to the great White Way. It also will be the American league's first schedule meeting here since it became a major league, but up to this winter the younger organization has chosen Chicago for the place of its annual business meeting.

The schedules of both leagues have been drafted for some time, as the work of the schedule committee practically was completed at Cleveland last month. The dates as agreed upon then have been printed and will be submitted to the club owners on Feb. 18, merely for ratification. If such ratification is forthcoming, all recent precedents will fall. To object seriously to either schedule and produce changes of any importance in the dates would undo much of the work of the schedule committees, which in late years have devoted the greater part of their efforts toward wiping out all possible conflicts between rival clubs in the same city.

The opening date, April 14, and the initial series of games in both leagues already have been announced. In the National league the Cubs will open at home with the St. Louis Cardinals as their guests at the pennant raising. For the other games, Pittsburg is dated in Cincinnati, Philadelphia in Boston, and Brooklyn in New York. The White Sox are given the pennant-hoisting date in Detroit this year, and the other American league openings are:

Cleveland in St. Louis.
Boston in Philadelphia.
New York in Washington.

The four eastern clubs will start their season on April 12 instead of the 13th.

EAST AND WEST.

For the first four weeks of the season the western clubs will be pitted against the west and the eastern clubs against the east in both leagues. On May 10 the eastern clubs of the American league will be brought into the west for their first invasion, and it will take them until May 27 to complete the trip. The western clubs of the National league will start their initial trip through the east on May 11 and it will keep them from home until close to the end of May. Following that, there will be another session of games with the east against east and west against west in both circuits. This will last over Decoration day.

The eastern clubs of the National league will not come west until June 6 and for their invasion the dates will be extended up to June 21. At nearly the same time the western clubs of the American league will be making their first trip over the eastern end of the circuit, although they will not start playing there until a couple of days later than June 6, and their trip will be correspondingly later in finishing. With these trips finished, the two sections, east and west, will play among themselves once more until after the glorious Fourth of July.

Following the second holiday of the year the Cubs and the other western teams of the old league will depart for the east again, and the trip will occupy their time from July 8 to 21. At the same time the western teams of the American league will be making their second trip over this end of the line. From July 21 to near the middle of August the National league battleground will be in the west, with the eastern teams the invaders, and on the above-named dates the White Sox and their southern rivals will be going over the eastern circuit for the second time of the year.

GOING AND COMING.

Once more the scene will shift from east to west and west to east in each league, western clubs will be making their last jaunt over rails in the east, and at the same time the American league eastern teams will be completing their year's battles on western diamonds. Labor day, which falls on Sept. 6, this year, will find the situation to be west against west and east against east in both leagues, and this sectional series will continue until after the middle of September.

Then the eastern clubs of the National league will come into the west to fight for their final games and the Western league teams of the American league will be doing battle in the east for the last time in 1909. These intersectional trips will extend until close to the end of the schedule, leaving only a series or two in both sections of each league.

The schedule gives the Cubs the disadvantage of having to make the first long excursion into foreign grounds, but the greater advantage of having the finish on their own west side lot this year. Last year they had to fight it out far from home, it will be recalled. The White Sox will have the advantage of entertaining the east for a long season on their own grounds before they have an extended trip to make, but this will be more than offset by the fact Comiskey's men will have to finish on the road in the east.

RESULTS OF COMPARISON.

These facts were not obtained by violation of anyone's confidence. They are merely the results of comparing the schedules of both leagues for the last few years and reversing them of 1908 and 1907 so as to make it correspond in outline to the schedules of 1907 and 1908. If these dates are not accurate to the minute, they will be found to be close enough for all purposes except catching trains.

Aside from the formality of adorning these dates the club owners of either league will have a great amount of business to transact. The National league has a few matters left over from the winter meeting, including the umpire bribery case, to dispose of. In New York it was announced that the National league intended to enact some legislation looking to the regulation of double-headers for playing off postponed games, and to curtailing passes issued in violating ball players.

Both leagues would do well to entertain a suggestion which has been made by more than one major league manager. That is, to remove the present unfair system of leaving the naming of ground rules to the captain or manager of the home club. It is the belief of the majority of the managers, themselves, that this matter should be left in the hands of the umpires.

FANCY SKATING CONTEST.

The fancy skating contest on roller skates at the Auditorium last evening drew another large crowd and the contest was entered by over 50 couples. The judges selected from this number 12 couples and from that number Miss Deaman Dewey and G. Meakin; Miss Minnie Parry and Earl Lamont, and Mrs. Myers and Toney Nelson were chosen for the final round. The time was waltz and two-step and the contestants were cheered for their graceful skating. The judges finally awarded the prize to Mrs. Myers and Tony Nelson. This evening there will be a two-stepping contest, the spectators to be the judges and prizes awarded according to applause.

MANTELL ON HIS WAY.

Local Welterweight Defeats Rube Smith and Is After Tippets.

Word has been received from Frank Mantell, the well known local boxer, that he has left Sacramento and is on his way to this city to fill his engagement with Jack Tippets, scheduled to take place at Murray, Feb. 22. Last Tuesday Mantell defeated Rube Smith of Denver in 12 rounds by the knockout route. Mantell probably thinks Tippets will be easy but upon his arrival here Peter Sullivan will probably knock that notion out of his head. In the meantime Tippets is working hard and getting fit to good shape for the mill.

The annual bench show of the Utah Kennel club will take place on May 20, 21 and 22. This was agreed upon at a meeting held last night by directors of the club. An effort will be made to get a suitable place on Main street for the show.

WATER FOOTBALL.

Stanford Defeated at Old Style Rugby By Australians.

Palo Alto, Cal., Feb. 10.—On a field covered with pools of water and with a steady downpour of rain almost hiding the teams from the 1,500 spectators, the Wallabies, the Australian Rugby football team, defeated the Stanford varsity this afternoon 13 to 3. The game was hard-fought from start to finish, weather conditions marred the play, but the men battled for every inch of ground.

Stanford's one score was made in the first half, after a long run by Miller. The Australians scored twice in the first half and once in the second, converting two trys. Stanford showed to distinct advantage in dribbling rushes and threatened the Wallabies goal several times. The kicking of Carmichael of the Australian team was the feature of the game.

IF THIS IS TRUE IT IS REAL FUNNY

New York, Feb. 10.—According to a story published here today, Billy Delaney has posted $1,000 with Al Smith as stakeholder to bind a match for the world's champion in the heavyweight class between Al Kaufmann of California and J. J. Jeffries.

According to the report, Delaney, who once handled Jeffries, believes Kaufman can defeat Jeffries and is willing to allow the $1,000 to go as a forfeit for a $10,000 side bet. Delaney is quoted as saying that is all his fights he has never permitted Kaufmann to exert himself, desiring to teach him all the five points of the game. Now he considers Kaufmann to be fit to do battle with any man in the world.

FRANK GOTCH MATCHED TO MEET FRENCHMAN

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, will meet Raoul de Rouen, the French champion, the night of Feb. 19 unless present plans miscarry. Assistant Chief of Police Schuter today rescinded the order prohibiting de Rouen from giving any exhibitions in this city. If Gotch will accept the terms offered by the Empire club today he will probably be given between $2,500 and $3,000 for his share and that de Rouen will receive 25 or 30 per cent of the gross receipts.

AMATEUR BOUTS.

Denver, Feb. 10.—The bouts in the heavier divisions of the contest for the Rocky Mountain amateur boxing and wrestling championships, which were held at the Denver Athletic club tonight brought out a poorer class of material than was shown in the lighter classes. All of the bouts were fast, but in many science played but a small part. The exception was shown in the bout between R. Lafaver and J. Linn, in the middleweight division. Both men showed exceptional class and speed. The judges were unable to give a decision at the end of the third round and qualified both men for the semi-finals.

FALSE SCALES USED TO DEFRAUD GOVERNMENT

New York, Feb. 10.—With a scale wheeled into the courtroom and set in position before the jury, counsel for the government in its suit against the American Sugar Refining company today demonstrated the methods through which it is alleged that the company defrauded the customs revenue by underweighing sugar imports. Albert B. Lambert, a scale expert from the government mint at Philadelphia, superintended the demonstration.

Counsel for the defense objected to the demonstration, but Judge Holt overruled the objection on the attorney's statement that the scales were identical with those used by the sugar company.
