SPOONER SENDS IN HIS RESIGNATION

Reason for so Doing That He Can No Longer Afford to Make Sacrifice Position Demands.

WILL RESUME LAW PRACTISE.

President Says Nation Loses One of The Ablest, Most Fearless and Upright Servants it Had.

Washington, March 3.—Senator Spooner has written a letter to Gov. Davidson of Wisconsin, tendering his resignation as a senator of the United States, to take effect May 1 next. The letter was dated yesterday, but the fact that such a letter had been written or that Mr. Spooner contemplated resigning did not become known in the senate until late today, when it created great surprise and the Wisconsin senator at once found himself the subject of many anxious inquiries. To all these he replied that his mind was fully made up. He had found, he said, that to continue in his present position would require a sacrifice on his part that he could not justify himself in making. In reply to questions he said he would resume the practise of law, but declined to say whether he would be located in Wisconsin. He did say, however, that he would continue to be a citizen of that state as long as he lives.

Vice President Fairbanks was one of the few public men to be made acquainted with Mr. Spooner's plans before he wrote his letter. The knowledge came to him through the personal confidence of the senator, but the latter made no official communication on the subject to anyone. The law does not require that a resigning senator should do more than Mr. Spooner has done, but some senators who have resigned have given notice to the senate.

SENATOR SPOONER'S LETTER.

Senator Spooner in his letter to the governor says:

"I hereby resign the office of senator of the United States from Wisconsin. This resignation to take effect on the 1st day of May, 1907.

"Both by law and custom the foregoing formula suffices, but I cannot bring myself to surrender the trust with which Wisconsin has so long and so highly honored me by a curt sentence which includes no word either of explanation or of gratitude.

"On the 4th day of March I shall have served in all 16 years as a senator. This is a long time for one neither willing nor financially able permanently to abandon it, to take from his profession. It has been taken from mine, for I have not thought it compatible with the full and uninterrupted discharge of public duty to pursue it, and I have, therefore, during my service, with two or three trifling exceptions, purely local, absolutely abstained therefrom.

"For years private duty has plainly demanded of me an early return to the practise of my profession, and I have never, since I first took the oath of office, wavered in the determination to retire on the expiration of my present term, March 3, 1909. I might well content myself with a public declaration of my purpose so to retire, if it were not for a like declaration made on a former and similar occasion, and what followed it. In the year 1900 I announced through the press over my signature to the Republicans of Wisconsin that I had 'unalterably determined to retire from public life at the expiration of the term ending March, 1903, unless I should deem it my duty to resign earlier.' I justified the announcement upon the ground that the people, and those who might aspire to the office, were entitled seasonably to know from me that I would not accept a re-election. Despite that declaration, circumstances with which the people are familiar seemed to make it my duty to accept a re-election, proffered as it was in a manner which made it at once a command and a finer honor than any which I had ever dreamed would come to me; one, indeed, which ought to satisfy the pride, and ambition of any man. A similar declaration by me at this time, however strongly phrased, would, I am persuaded, prove unavailing to withdraw my name from consideration during the next two years, as did that which I so publicly and unreservedly made in 1900.

"As my purpose to retire from public life is and has been irrevocable, I am unwilling to be further considered in connection with an office which I could not in the circumstances accept.

"A senator will be chosen for the term beginning on the 4th of March, 1909, and there will be and should be, during the next two years, grave and wide consideration among the people as to the person upon whom the honor shall be bestowed. After much thought, I deem it to be my duty, all things considered, to the people of the state and to the party to whose partiality I am indebted for the highest honors within its gift, to take myself now, beyond recall, from the field of possible choice. I am therefore impelled, not only for the reason suggested, but also that I may be free to devote to the discharge of private duty, too long neglected, the remainder of my term, to resign the office at this time, while the legislature is in session to choose a senator for the unexpired portion thereof.

"I avail myself of this opportunity to say, albeit I am sure it is not needful, that I am inexpressively grateful to the Republicans of Wisconsin for the generous and abiding confidence which had led them three times to elect me to the high office of senator."

PRESIDENT'S COMMENTS.

On being informed of Senator Spooner's resignation, the president made the following statement:

"I cannot sufficiently express my regret at Senator Spooner's resignation. We lose one of the ablest, most efficient, most fearless and most upright public servants that the nation has had. Four years ago I knew the extreme reluctance with which Senator Spooner finally consented to serve in the senate, and year by year since I have feared he would resign, as he finally has resigned, for I have known that every year of his stay in public life has been to him a direct financial loss which he could but ill afford. I understand fully the senator's feelings that he cannot longer stay in the public service at such cost, not only to himself, but also to his family, and much as I regret his resignation, I am most sincerely grateful that he has been willing to serve as long as he has. He has been in his life a gallant soldier, a trained public servant of the highest standard of ability and faithfulness, and at all times an American citizen who did his whole duty."

WHAT TAFT SAYS.

Secy. Taft said:

"The country suffers a great loss in Senator Spooner's withdrawal from public life. He is concededly the greatest parliamentary debater of his day, and really deserves the title so much applied, of a great constitutional lawyer. Every great act of congressional legislation in the 16 years of his service has been made better and more lucid and more clearly within the constitutional limits of congressional authority by amendments and suggestions of his, which did not bear his name but which were prompted by his sense of responsibility for the body of which he was a distinguished member. His power as a lawyer and debater is not only in his readiness of invention, his facility and aptness of speech, his great logical faculty and his power of application to the subject matter, but also in the judicial quality of his mind which forces him to weigh and consider the arguments of his opponents and to meet them on their own ground.

"He has sacrificed much of comfort and wealth in order to serve his country with an eye single to the public interest. He has not thereby escaped the darts of malicious calumny, but he has seen them fall harmless and forgotten. His unanimous return to the senate after a declination to stand and after the wiles of persistent enemies, was a most remarkable evidence of the position great ability and integrity had won for him. The good he has done entitles him to retire, but we must regret that he feels compelled to withdraw. Senator Spooner has honored me with an intimate friendship for 16 years. I feel a genuine personal sorrow that he is to leave Washington."

WISCONSIN SURPRISED.

Milwaukee, March 3.—The announcement that John C. Spooner of Wisconsin had resigned came as a surprise in Wisconsin. Gov. Davidson said he had not received the resignation and could hardly believe it to be true. As to Senator Spooner's successor, Gov. Davidson said it would be left to the present legislature to elect a successor to fill the unexpired term. Gov. Davidson would not discuss the probable successor other than to say he presumed one of the Wisconsin congressmen, such as Cooper and Esch, who were candidates for the senatorship at the time Senator La Follette was elected to succeed Senator Quarles, would again enter the field. Gov. Davidson said he would not be a candidate.

Lieut.Gov. W. D. Connor, of whom mention has been made at various times as a possible successor to Senator Spooner when his term expired, expressed great surprise at the news of the resignation, but was not prepared at this time to make a statement.

TO BREAK UP A COLD.

Inexpensive Ingredients For Simple and Effective Formula

An eminent authority on lung trouble, who effected many remarkable cures in his camp for consumptives in the Pine Woods of Maine, advises the use of the following formula: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good whisky, one-half pint. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours. It will break up a cold in 24 hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expensive and can be secured from any good prescription druggist, but great care should be exercised to have them pure, as there are many adulterated imitations of this pine tree product, and these create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up in half-ounce vials for druggists to dispense in filling prescriptions. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name—"Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)"—plainly printed thereon. To avoid substitution, it is best that the ingredients be purchased separately and the mixture prepared at home.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nervine and three boxes of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I have spoken on all the pain in my chest and arm, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. CYPERMAN, Reading, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

President Fallieres of France is an expert Nimrod, and his predecessor, M. Loubet, is equally devoted to the sport. It was the latter who organized a series of official shooting excursions, the first of which was in honor of the diplomatic corps. M. He is to be seen quite frequently in the suburbs of Paris attired in hunting rig, gun on shoulder and dog at hand. The latter is a present from M. Loubet and is a very valuable animal.

STATEMENT ON MRS. EDDY'S BEHALF

In Common With Many Friends She Does Not Believe Her Son Took Initiative.

IS A CASE OF PERSECUTION.

Her Ability to Deal Accurately With Business Proposition Clearly Demonstrated in Last Two Weeks.

Concord, March 3.—Gen. Frank S. Streeter, legal adviser of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, issued a statement tonight replying to various allegations in the bill of equity which has been brought against trustees and directors of the Christian Science church by relatives of Mrs. Eddy with the view of obtaining an accounting of funds.

"Early Saturday morning," he says, "I sent to Mrs. Eddy a copy of the bill in equity as published, but not yet served upon any of the defendants, so far as I am informed. I have since had a conference with her, at which this proceeding and matters connected therewith were fully discussed.

"In common with her many friends, she believes that the initiative was not taken by her son or other relatives, but by others who in a markedly unusual manner and by unique methods are undertaking, under the guise of court proceedings, to continue the persecution begun some time ago.

"From my conferences with her at the time and on recent occasions I am able to speak definitely and positively. Her clearness of mind and resoluteness of purpose has been in no respect impaired by her advanced years. Her capacity to think clearly and to deal accurately and justly with important business affairs has never been more perfectly demonstrated than in her conferences and acts in the last two weeks and in numerous business letters in her own handwriting which I have received from her during that time.

"The amount of Mrs. Eddy's property has been grossly multiplied by rumor and unfounded report. She is not possessed of large wealth as the term is used. Mrs. Eddy receives no income from the church nor from the church publication society. Her sole income for many years has been from the copyright on her own books, and the amount from this source has been overestimated.

"Mrs. Eddy's business affairs have been managed by herself, with the aid of Mr. Frye and under the oversight and personal audit of another gentleman, whose name has not been mentioned, but who stands for all that is honorable and of good repute in financial circles in Concord. Accurate accounts of all her property and investments, as well as her annual income and expenditures, have been carefully kept and frequently audited. The last audit was in October, 1906. None of the defendants named, except Mr. Frye, has any connection with the management of her property or investments, or has any knowledge whatever pertaining thereto, nor have any of the said defendants ever received any property of Mrs. Eddy which they hold in trust or otherwise, except in one instance for the benefit of a relation.

"Inquiry has been made whether the various defendants would accept service of the proceedings. I cannot say as to that. With my partner, Allen Hollis, I am counsel for Mrs. Eddy alone. While the defendants undoubtedly would be guided largely by Mrs. Eddy's wishes, I cannot, as her legal representative, undertake to speak for them.

"With reference to the report that within a few days Mrs. Eddy has placed in the hands of trustees a large amount of money to be held and used for the benefit of her son and grandchildren, I have nothing to say. Whatever she may or may not have done toward providing for her family is a matter which ought not be discussed by me.

"It is obvious that I ought not to talk about the legal aspect of the case, nor what will be the course of the proceedings so far as Mrs. Eddy is concerned. The proceedings are unusual. So far as this case can be considered a legitimate proceeding in equity it seems to be an attempt to have the personal rights and privileges of a citizen adjudicated in a way unprecedented in New Hampshire. So far as I am aware, and if it shall appear that these proceedings have been instituted for purposes other than ascertainment and protection of the plaintiff's legal rights, the method of dealing with such a case will be carefully considered by Mrs. Eddy's counsel before making any public statement."

Messrs. Kelly and Martin, counsel for the nominal plaintiff in the bill of equity, have an appointment with Mr. Streeter for tomorrow afternoon. If at that time Mr. Streeter declines to accept service in behalf of the defendants the process of serving the defendants individually will be instituted. Former United States Senator William E. Chandler, senior counsel for the plaintiff, will arrive here from Washington on Tuesday, and will join with the others in the conduct of the case.

It was learned tonight that about 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon, the day on which the bill in equity was filed, a messenger from George W. Glover of Deadwood, S. D., son of Mrs. Eddy, delivered to her a letter in which Mr. Glover stated his purpose of beginning the suit. At 4:50 o'clock that afternoon, Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson, one of the defendants named in the suit, left Concord, his mission being, it is understood, to go to Mr. Glover. Mr. Tomlinson is said to have in his possession for delivery to Mr. Glover a deed of trust for a certain sum of money, variously estimated at from $100,000 to $250,000. This money, it is declared, was to be delivered to Mr. Glover on three conditions, as follows:

First, that neither he nor his household should make any further demands upon Mrs. Eddy; second, that they should offer no objections to the probating of any will that might be offered after her death; third, that they should not seek by any legal process to set aside any gifts, deeds or conveyances that Mrs. Eddy might make during her lifetime. Meanwhile John W. Kelly of Portsmouth, one of the attorneys interested in bringing the proceedings, had filed the bill in equity with the clerk of the superior court and notified Mr. Streeter, counsel for Mrs. Eddy, of the fact. Mr. Streeter had a long conference with Mr. Kelly and Mr. Martin, during which he made it known that the deed of trust was to be given to Mr. Glover. This conference came to an end when Mr. Streeter was informed of the fact that the bill that had been filed had been given to the press, and Mr. Streeter then recalled Mr. Tomlinson from his mission.

HARRIMAN FINDS IT NECESSARY TO ISSUE DENIAL

New York, March 3.—The Times tomorrow will print the following telegram received from E. H. Harriman, who is now in Washington:

"To the Editor of the New York Times: The statement, like others preceding it, during the last five or six years, is made for some ulterior purpose. To my knowledge the transcontinental lines have taken no action in any way to delay legislation or work favorable to the construction of the Panama canal, nor have they taken any part directly or indirectly in influencing the lettering of contracts."

The Times adds that Mr. Harriman's message was brought out in response to a reported intimation by John B. McDonald in an interview at Augusta, Ga., on Saturday. Mr. McDonald was credited with intimating that the great transcontinental lines were the influences responsible for "the apparent disorganization of the personnel of the government's canal building forces."

Abrahams charged that both men Mr. Gompers and the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor were lukewarm about the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone question. Mr. Gompers said in reply:

"The delegate has charged that we are dilatory in not taking the matter up. I want to tell the delegate who spoke just now that goading and baiting the officers of the American Federation of Labor will not influence them in any way. I have not stood on soap boxes in the streets and shouted about this affair, but I have done all that could be done, and will do more, when the proper time comes. I have repeatedly denounced the arrests as an outrage both by tongue and pen."

ARGENTINA FORGING AHEAD.

Buenos Aires, March 4.—Irving B. Dudley, American ambassador to Brazil, is here on a visit. In an interview he declared that he was surprised at the immense changes and improvements made since a former visit to Argentina three years ago. He congratulated the country on the railroad building, especially that to the northward. As Peru and Bolivia are also engaged in building railroads the Pan-American line will be relatively easy. The ambassador spoke of the progress made in Chili and Peru and said that the whole of South America has entered an era of progressive development.

TILLMAN WANTS INFORMATION

Introduces Resolution Calling on President for All Papers in Panama Contract Case.

CALLS IT HOCUS POCUS GAME.

Evidently He Thinks That Oliver Was Badly "Jobbed" in Rejection Of His Bid.

Washington, March 3.—Senator Tillman introduced a resolution today calling upon the president for all the papers relating to the recent agitation of the question of having the Panama canal built by contract, and in support of the resolution said that Mr. Oliver had complied with all the requirements, and that his bid had been rejected after a delay of a month or more. He expressed dissatisfaction with the course of the canal management, and said that his suspicion led him to believe that the intention had been to compel Mr. Oliver "to let in some of his competitors who were too greedy in their bids."

Senators Hopkins and Lodge made objection to the present consideration of the resolution, and under the rules it went over until another day. In the course of the discussion Senator Carmack said that Mr. Oliver had spent from $30,000 to $40,000 of his own money in complying with the requirements of the administration.

In a speech supporting the resolution, Mr. Tillman said the whole country wanted the canal constructed with as little scandal as possible. "There have been some remarkable occurrences in connection with this work," he continued. The resignation of Mr. Wallace, Tinsmuch, was followed by the secretary of war, "then came the information that Mr. Shonts was retaining his railroad business; that the canal work was insufficient to occupy his entire time, and the statement that he was going out. Then came Mr. Stevens' resignation. Now comes the rejection of Mr. Oliver's bid for the work."

Mr. Oliver, he said, was an efficient and able contractor, and his bid was the lowest. "But at once hocus pocus came into the game. As I understand it, Mr. Oliver has complied with every requirement. Now Oliver has disappeared and the army engineers are said to be out upon the job. I want a little information," said Mr. Tillman.

Mr. Culberson remarked that the one great engineering problem was the construction of the Gatun dam, and he [illegible]
