AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

WELL KNOWN IN SALT LAKE.

Sorrow Among Friends in This City Over M. D. Foley's Tragic Ending.

Mr. M. D. Foley, of Reno, Nevada, whose tragic ending is chronicled in the Associated Press telegrams of today, had many friends in this city who are shocked and sorrowful over his untimely death.

The deceased made frequent visits to Salt Lake, where he had valuable business interests. He was president and half owner in the Remington-Johnson company of this city, and was here during the greater part of the strike. He was a native of Maine and was 60 years of age. He came west when scarce out of his teens and started out as a prospector for mineral wealth in the White Pine mining district, Nevada. Later he became a contractor and from that time engaged in various business enterprises. He became identified with the Remington-Johnson company in 1882. In politics he was a pronounced Republican and served as state senator from the Eureka district for eight years.

THE CROP CONDITION.

Grain Advancing to Maturity and Harvesting Under Way.

Geo. N. Salisbury, weather bureau director, has issued the following bulletin for the week just past:

The weather of the past week did not greatly change the crop conditions. It was seasonable weather, although somewhat dry and sultry. It advanced grain more toward maturity, and harvesting has made considerable progress. Thus far the wheat crop has proved excellent.

In the south some heavy showers have injured lucern, and in some cases prevented its being hauled. A hail storm in the central counties last week appears to have done quite a little damage.

Melons and figs are being gathered in Washington county. In the interval of waiting for grain to mature many farmers have been cutting wild hay.

A HORRIBLE "DISCOVERY."

An Aged Man Grossly Neglected By His Son at Heber.

The Wasatch Wave of the 25th inst. relates that a most horrifying condition was unearthed by Marshal Fraughton last Sunday afternoon. Some time since Mr. West's father, a man nearly 90 years of age, came from Brigham City to live with his son in Heber. Rumors have been going the rounds that the old gentleman has not been receiving the proper attention that a man of his age should receive, and Mr. Fraughton concluded to investigate the matter. Accordingly on Sunday afternoon he visited the West domicile. The door was locked and the younger West was away to meeting. Peeping through the window, Mr. Fraughton says he saw the most sickening sight he ever witnessed.

Upon the floor was an old straw bed tick, and upon the bare boards by its side, in a partially nude state, lay old man West. His eyes and nose and mouth were filled with flies, and the old man was too weak to raise his hand to brush them off. The place and the aged man fairly reeked in filth.

Knowing that meeting was just out, the marshal repaired to the Stake house, where he found the younger Mr. West, and summoning T. H. Giles, F. L. Clegg and George Carlile, members of the town board, he returned to the place of suffering.

Arriving at the house Mr. West said he had lost the key and they could not enter. Think of a man losing the key to the door which made his aged and dying father a prisoner! Forcing his way in through the back way the marshal took the lock off the door and allowed the others to enter. The stench was so bad that it made one of the party dreadfully sick.

The unnatural son was given a severe tongue-lashing by the officers, and after they had done what they could to relieve the old gentleman's sufferings and directed the son how to clean up the place they retired. Later in the evening the marshal returned and gave further directions as to the cleaning and care of the old gentleman. The old man has but a short time to live, but what little time he does stay with us he will receive better attention than he has in the past.
