EASTERN.

The Indian Situation Serious—Preparing for War.

CIMARRON, N. M., 26.—The Indian situation here is still serious. The government has demanded the delivery to the civil authorities of the Indians engaged in the shooting at the agency. Thus far the Indians have failed to comply and their ranks are stopped at the agency. Capt. McCleve's Company of 8th Cavalry are here and the citizens are arming in anticipation of further outbreaks. Capt. Allison's Company of Volunteers and from two to three hundred other citizens will take the field in case of further hostilities. The Apaches are camped in the mountains to the number of 250 warriors, and they expect reinforcements from the Utes. Their women and children are sent away. The Interior Department has sent orders to the agent to turn over the control of the Indians to the military. The citizens, with few exceptions, are urging the removal of the Indians to reservations to prevent further depredations.

Troops from the Black Hills—Miners going in—Cold in the North—A Murderer Escaped.

CHEYENNE, Wy., 26.—Col. Stanton arrived from the agencies last night. He reports extreme cold north and the escort suffered considerably. Captain Pollock's command has evacuated the Black Hills and arrived at Fort Laramie to go into winter quarters. Hundreds of miners were met going into the Black Hills, which are now unoccupied by troops. California Joe, after being released on the charges for the murder of old man Richard and nephew, was arrested at Red Cloud for an attempt to murder his partner, and placed in guard in a house at Camp Robinson. He escaped the same night, notwithstanding a number of shots fired by the guard, and is now at large. A number of persons have been arrested for selling whiskey at the agencies and are coming to Cheyenne under guard for trial. J. S. Hastings, the newly appointed agent for the Sioux, arrived here today, en route to Red Cloud agency.

The Southern R. R. Convention Committee.

ST. LOUIS, 26.—The members of the committee appointed by President Matthews, of the National Railroad Convention, to draft a memorial to Congress for aid in the construction of the Texas Pacific Railway, still remaining in the city, met at the Southern Hotel today, and elected Jas. O. Broadhead chairman, and Judge Kennard secretary. Resolutions were adopted requesting the chairman to obtain proof sheets of an address to the people of the U. S., to be prepared by President Matthews, and forward them to the members of the committee for information or comment; authorizing the chairman to convene the committee at his discretion, three members to constitute a quorum at any such meeting; requesting the chairman to appoint a sub-committee, of which he shall be a member, to appear at their discretion before a proper committee of the Senate and House, to explain and advocate the measures adopted; authorizing the chairman of the committee to add the name of each member of the committee to the address of President Matthews, when completed.

The committee adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

Indian Council.

ST. PAUL, 26.—A special from Bismarck says that a big council was held at Standing Rock on Sunday between the Indians of that agency and the Cheyennes, the Black Hills being the subject under consideration; it was determined that the Missouri river Indians should offer to dispose of their interest in the Black Hills region regardless of the other tribes. These Indians embrace about 70 per cent. of those originally joining in the treaty; they are satisfied that the whites will take the Hills and they are unwilling to surrender.

Suicide.

CINCINNATI, 26.—Harry H. Silsbee, secretary of one of the building associations in this city, suicided, it is supposed, about six this a.m., by shooting himself through the head; the deceased had induced a number of women to take shares in a building association, and the concern becoming bankrupt he endeavored to have them repaid by the association, but failed, and it is supposed that this prompted the act.

The Funeral Proceedings at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., 26.—The military escort, under command of General W. H. Emory, consisted of a full battalion of U. S. marines, stationed in this city, headed by a marine band of the First Regiment District Militia, under Col. Robt. J. Fleming, and the First Battalion, colored, under Major Charles B. Fisher. The staff officers of the district military, and Col. Pontiers and three other officers of the 5th Maryland regiment, also formed part of the military escort.

The funeral car was elaborately trimmed with black, surmounted by five heavy black plumes, and was drawn by six white horses, caparisoned in black, each one led by a groom in mourning. Surrounding this car was a guard of honor, consisting of three non-commissioned officers, and ten privates, under command of G. B. Haycock. Twelve soldiers from the Signal Service Corps detailed as body bearers, followed. After the carriages came on foot members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Massachusetts State Republican Association, and Maryland Republican Association of this city, and a considerable number of white and colored citizens.

When the procession reached the station, the President and Cabinet, pall bearers, committee of arrangements, Supreme Court, and Massachusetts committee followed the casket and car, the guard of honor presenting arms as the remains and the President and Cabinet passed. The casket having been placed on a platform, Senator Thurman, chairman of the committee of arrangements, addressing the Massachusetts committee, said—

"Gentlemen of Massachusetts, the funeral ceremonies at the national Capitol over the remains of the late Vice President are here concluded, and we now deliver them to you, to convey them to the State of which he was a citizen, by which he was so much honored, and which he so well deserved. In the performance of your mournful duties you will carry with you the sympathies of the nation, and everywhere meet with sincere marks of respect for the illustrious dead."

Col. Wyman, in reply, said, they accepted the precious trust confided to them, and would convey the remains to Massachusetts, where they would receive all the honor that love and affection could bestow.

The body was placed in a car and the following gentlemen, who will accompany it to Massachusetts, took their places in the train—Col. Edward Wyman, aid to Gov. Gaston, Col. Geo. H. Campbell, private secretary of the Governor, Hon. Seth Turner, Hon. E. H. Dunn, members of the executive council of Massachusetts, Senator Boutwell, Capt. Haycock and guard of honor from the marine corps, Deputy Sergt.-at-arms James J. Christy, delegation of officers from Maryland Regt., A. G. Hill, of the Boston Journal, and Fred. Douglass, James Wormsley and Robert Parvis, who as personal friends of Mr. Wilson, were especially invited by the Massachusetts committee to accompany the remains to Boston.

Among the floral offerings on the casket in the Senate chamber was a large monument bearing the inscription, "Floral offering from the South, by Rev. David Wills, for the funeral of the lamented Vice President, the student, statesman, philanthropist and Christian, whose name will ever live in the annals of his admiring countrymen, and whose memory will be cherished by the wise and good, without respect to sect or party." A large cross from Mrs. Grant also rested on the casket.

Reception of the Remains at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, 26.—The funeral train with the late Vice President arrived at Union Depot, Charles Street, at 3.11 p.m. Notwithstanding the rain, Charles Street and the approaches to the depot were crowded with people. Within the depot enclosure the First Brigade of Infantry, under Gen'l Herbert, 5th Regiment, Lt. Col. Loney, 6th Regiment, Col. Peters, and a body of soldiers and sailors of the late war under Gen'l Felix Agnus, were drawn up as escort. The command of Gen'l Agnus was joined by about 30 ex-soldiers and sailors under Gen'l Tyler, who had gone to Washington this morning and accompanied the procession to Baltimore.

Immediately after the arrival the casket was borne to the hearse, the band of the 6th Regiment playing "Rest, Spirit, Rest." The procession formed in the following order—Platoon of police under Capt. Earhart; 6th Regiment, six companies in full dress uniform, preceded by the band and drum corps; soldiers and sailors of the late war 100 strong and a detachment of post 7 G. A. R., about 30 men, colored; 5th Regiment, ten companies, with band and drum corps; four carriages, containing members of committees from Washington; the hearse, containing the casket, drawn by four black horses, and guarded by an escort of marines under Capt. Haycock; five carriages with members of committees of escort.

The cortege moved from the depot to the funeral dirge along Charles Street to Baltimore St., down Baltimore to Holliday and to the City Hall. The line of march nearly one and a half miles was thronged with spectators, who defied the drenching rain. At the City Hall and vicinity full five thousand persons awaited the procession. On its arrival a little after four o'clock the escort was drawn in line facing west to the City Hall. The hearse then moved forward and halted at the east entrance, the regiments standing at present arms, and the band of the 5th playing the "Dead March in Saul." The casket was borne from the hearse and placed on a bier in the Rotunda, which was tastefully draped in mourning and festooned with white fringe and tassels, as were the halls and doorways leading to the Rotunda. The several committees with the remains were received by Mayor Batrobe, in the Mayor's reception room, assisted by ex-Mayor Geo. Wm. Brown, present Chief Judge of the city courts, Ex-Mayor Robt. T. Banks, and ex-Mayor Joshua Van Sant. The casket was profusely strewn with crosses and bouquets of camelias, calla lilies, immortelles and other flowers, the tribute of admirers and friends of the distinguished deceased. The doors were thrown open and the vast crowd passed through the Rotunda for an hour and a half, taking the last look at the features so long familiar to the public. About half-past five o'clock the casket was closed, the line of march again formed, the body removed to the hearse, and the procession marched to Calvert Street depot, where the remains were placed on the train, which left for Philadelphia at 6.25.

During the ceremonies in the city the bells were tolled and there was every demonstration of respect to the deceased.

Executions in Mississippi and Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, 26.—Nine persons have been executed for murder in the three years that the present State administration has been in power and three other death warrants have been signed and await executions. The records of the Secretary of State's office show that in the preceding fifteen years only three executions for murder have taken place by process of law in the State of Louisiana.

Vice-President's Body Lying in State.

PHILADELPHIA, 26.—The council committee with the Mayor, left this city at 8 this evening, in a special car for Wilmington, to meet the Massachusetts committee having charge of Wilson's remains. The train containing the body arrived at Wilmington at 9:25 p.m., and the cars with the body and the Washington delegation were detached and conducted with the special car, which said on for this city ahead of the regular train, arriving here 11:05 p.m. Mr. King, chairman of Philadelphia council, first made a few remarks extending hospitalities, which were responded to by Col. Wyman. On the arrival there was a large crowd in waiting at the depot. General Hamilton and staff and General Mulred were present. A procession was formed, consisting of the committee and the 2nd regiment, under Colonel Lyle. The remains were transferred to an open hearse, and drawn by six horses were removed to Independence Hall, arriving there at 11.40 p.m., where another large crowd had assembled. At 12 the upper half of the lid of the casket was removed, and up to 2 a.m. the public was admitted to view the body. A detachment of the 2d regiment was on guard at the hall. The body lies in the room in which the Declaration of Independence was signed, on a low catafalque in the centre of the hall, under a canopy consisting of the American colors trimmed with black. On the casket are flowers formed into various designs. At the head of the casket to the east are beautifully arranged many floral offerings, gifts of our citizens, consisting of broken columns, crowns, harps, etc. The room is beautifully draped.
