MERCUR AND UTAH

Says Frank Carpenter, Mr. O. L.—of Ohio, Cripple Creek a Boom.

A PLACE OF INTERESTING TOUR

Has Trained All over the World, He Says, before Witnessed Such Phenomenal Growth.

Frank G. Carpenter was in Denver a week ago last and he tells us he was at a meeting of the mining Bonanzas. The following extracts in Monday's issue of that paper will show that Mr. Carpenter has seen many strange things during his travels. Cripple Creek, the great centre of which the Colorado people know most, the region of the Mercur was at Salt Lake and Cripple Creek—Correspondence of Frank Carpenter Knows Spot in Open Year—The Man Rented to Edit Nonsville Sun—Boom All over the World and it is a Place for to Witnessed Such Wonders—Tent Town Not Perfect Yet, Even Having an Unlimited Quantity of the Best Soft Coal, Which Will Encourage of the Mineral Resources of Colorado and Utah, Will be Found.

It is been not long since the Rocky Mountain region, in that part of it we know as Colorado and Utah, is to be within easing distance of a man who might make the report a fairly true to most newspaper readers in the United States. Mr. Carpenter has been found to report.

"If Bear Creek Cañon has a world of gold deposits. The camp was so only as could in which I was there. In the town of Cripple Creek I found the most remarkable collect camp in the United States. Mr. Carpenter has been found to report.

"The mines of Cripple Creek are very rich in gold. The ore is so rich that it will run from $100 to $1,000 per ton. Some of it is so rich as to be very, very heavy indeed. Some of it looks as if it were gold. The Mercur Mines in Utah are very rich. The Mercur Mines in Utah are very rich. The Mercur Mines in Utah are very rich
