SALT LAKE CITY, MONDAY, JUNE 5, 1899.

OFFICIAL DISSEMINATION.

The Democratic District of Columbia Convention will be pressed to know just how much of truth it was in claiming, and just to what extent it is proper for the committee to claim to be the representative of the Democracy of the Lake City.

Frank Armstrong is one of the leaders who are to be summoned, and he has a prominent place in some circles of both city and county affairs. He was elected the public auditor of Salt Lake City, and he acted as a public officer, and made a bid for public favor, and there have been numerous and complaints here authorized for which he is an accusing client. He should be entirely from home all the same and absent.

It is not hard that the time in the Pacific coast, could temperate the political condition, and that his health could be restored. But the time was all too brief, and he is still absent, probably embracing until he can friend it necessary to return from public duties.

The whole community will join the Deseret News in hoping that may the friend his recreation and that he will be spared to mingle again with those who have learned to love and respect his character, and who may not know cylin-stained copies.

SCANDAL-MONGERING MUSTY.

The call "Mormon" urges in this city is not alone with its source and inventors, and repetition of stories established by gossips and scandalmongers. It is directed on to the courts of the economy that "the opposed conditions" under which Statehood was granted "are being violated every day." In the particular instance of President George Snow, in the opinion of Mr. Hodge, published in the Deseret News on Saturday, "that alone is claimed to be President of the Church there have been to plural marriages authorized by the President of the Church." We give the words as presented by the paper that critically charges President Snow with falsehood.

But excuse has it for the Deseret News? It goes Bill Sutton, and on the whole body of Editorial facts and fictions from the hole of Old Ingalls, in these words:

"There is no 'Mormon' who does not by implication when these conditions are, There is no Latter-Day Saint, from the President of the Church down, who does not know that these conditions have been made to order, and are being violated every day. The country now knows that the President of the great Mormon Church is not a man of his word, and will not permit the conditions imposed upon him."

It is of no use that the source of this charge comes it is made in the form of a statement and is repeated in the country is branded in every line. We repudiate the statement of President Snow or that in the verbatim report of the Deseret.

"I will never take more wives, and I have not married any since the manifesto. I have none in my mind whatever, nothing my power to have married, and I have not married any so much marriages in the month of May, and but three such during the time of my presiding over the Church. There is no man or woman that can say that I have taught them to do the thing contrary to the law of the land. I have never taught it, and I do not believe it is right. I have never taught it, and I do not believe it is right. I have never taught it, and I do not believe it is right
