By Telegraph to the News.

RELEASED.

William O'Brien and John Dillon Emerge from Prison.

DUBLIN, July 30.—Messrs. William O'Brien and John Dillon, the two Irish members of Parliament who have been undergoing a sentence of six months' imprisonment for inciting the tenants of the Smith-Barry estate at Tipperary to resist the payment of rents, were released from Galway jail this morning. Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien showed but slight traces of having suffered from the rigors of confinement in jail, and, in fact, seemed to be enjoying a most perfect health.

Large crowds of people gathered outside the jail long before the hour set for the deliverance of the two Irish leaders and when the latter did appear, they were greeted with loud shouts of "Hurrah for Parnell," intermixed with others, "Down with Parnell!"

Many addresses of congratulation upon their release were offered. After replying briefly to the addresses of welcome, and shaking hands with a number of the most prominent people present, Mr. Dillon and O'Brien entered Mrs. Wilson O'Brien's carriage and were driven, followed by repeated cheers and showers of good wishes, to the residence of Bishop McCormack, where the entire party were entertained at breakfast. The released prisoners and their families will start for this city during the afternoon.

A Decision of Judge Beatty.

SPOKANE FALLS, Mon., July 30.—Word has been received today that Judge Beatty, in the United States district court, Idaho, has handed down an important decision in the case of Lackawanna versus the Mammoth in which the mining property of Jesse O'Abler valued at several million dollars is involved. The lease originally came up on the contest by the Mammoth when the Lackawanna applied for a patent to its claim. The Mammoth won, and the case was carried to the supreme court, which remanded it for a new trial. At the second trial the Lackawanna won. Then the Mammoth raised the point that an Idaho court was not competent jurisdiction and asked that it be heard by a United States district court. The Idaho Judge, Beatty, decides that the court had jurisdiction. The case will now be appealed to the Supreme Court of Idaho.

LONDON, July 30.—The congressional party of Chile, through representatives, has appealed to the Portuguese government not to allow Portuguese subjects to embark on the new Balmacedist war vessel "Presidente Errazuriz." The government has not yet replied to the communication. It is stated the British charge d'affaires has declared that if he is not allowed to see the Englishmen who are supposed to be on board the Chilean war vessel, he will have them forcibly released by the British war ship when the "Presidente Errazuriz" reaches open sea, and is no longer enjoying the protection which the Portuguese waters afford her.

It is asserted that "Presidente Errazuriz" will sail today. Her commander yesterday promised to leave Lisbon immediately, if his power, who was arrested for enlisting men for the Balmacedist service were released. This request was refused.

A DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Adopted by the Maryland State Convention.

BALTIMORE, July 30.—The platform after commending the candidates nominated, takes up matters of national interest and contrasts unfavorably the administration of President Harrison and the late Republican Congress with the administration of President Cleveland and the Democratic Congress. It declares that the Republican administration and Congress have disregarded the pledges of its party with regard to civil service reform and the reduction of taxes incident to the tariff.

The civil service of the United States as a whole today, it declares, is a partisan organization, during political service for the administration by which it is employed.

President Harrison and the Republican Congress found on their advent to power a large surplus in the treasury left by the economical Democratic administration. The surplus told a plain tale to the people, demonstrating that the taxes imposed by the Republican administration are in excess of the needs of the government economically administered, and therefore unnecessary and unjust.

In place of the reduction which the people were led to expect, the finances of the country have been mismanaged and wild speculations and extravagant disasters have followed in its train. The surplus was wasted in extravagant expenditure, and the unjust and unnecessary taxes were continued. The Republican party found, on the advent of Harrison to the office, the people no longer divided by sectional lines, but in separate and thoroughly united. The Republican party through the agency of the Speaker had deprived the Democratic representatives of their rightful seats and sought to perpetuate its powers and destroy the autonomy of several States by means of the robber force bill. The Democratic party was deeply grateful to the senators and representatives who contributed to the defeat of the obnoxious measure, and more especially to Ex-Speaker Samuel J. Randall, whose leadership contributed largely to the defeat. The existing tariff system, the platform declares, exists an unnecessary burden upon the people, tends to accumulate enormous wealth in the hands of few and promote monopolies. These abuses, it believes, can only be corrected by the election of a President and Congress pledged to a careful and thorough revision of the tariff system.

"A dollar in gold coin and a dollar in silver coin should be of equal exchangeable value," the platform declares, "in all the markets of the United States and any attempt to depreciate by legislation either of these standards ought to be deprecated and condemned."

The platform closes with the endorsement of Senator Gorman for re-election to the next assembly to the Senate.

There were twenty-four hearses in line from the town hall to the cemetery.

Thousands of mourners followed the bodies to the grave. All the houses of St. Ouen were draped with crepe emblems, half-masted flags and other signs of mourning. The air was filled with the wailing and crying of the relatives and friends of the dead, many women reaching such a pitch of hysterics that they had fits, hysterics which the others fainted.

LIBERAL PREVARICATION.

A Correspondent of the Ogden "Commercial" Caught Tinking.

The Ogden Standard on Tuesday published the following reply to a tissue of Liberal prevarications which appeared in the Commercial some time ago:

RANDOLPH, Rich County,
Utah, July 22nd.

Editor the Standard:

Dear Sir—Please publish the following, it being in answer to an article published in the Ogden Commercial of July 15th, and also in the Salt Lake of July 16th, purporting to be an interview with John Johnston, late of Randolph, Rich county.

Mr. Johnston says the reporter that he still had interests in Rich county and had gone back there to attend the school election, he being one of the school trustees and not a single voter there. This is one misquote, Mr. Johnston was one of the school trustees and clerk for the trustees, and all present at the meeting, held before the election, which was for the purpose of hearing the annual report, fully expected to hear Mr. Johnston make his report for the year but could. The reason why they wished to hear the report was that the year ago, when he made his report, the taxpayers would not accept it, and even his liberal friends. We were disappointed, as the year Mr. Johnston had no report to make. At about time, we thought he might hand up James Brown, the treasurer of the school board, who was supposed to be somewhere near Salt Lake City. He was gone two weeks to gather his records. It was at this point where Mr. Johnston had that interview, when he stated to the Commercial man, "Yes, when I showed up there to act as judge of election they wasn't going to have it." He said "Gentlemen, I had legal advice," etc., that "they formed around and was going to put me out by force; that there was threats in the Field, Liberal, Republican and Democratic, etc., etc. It is false from first to last.

The facts are, when Mr. Johnston told the taxpayers present that it was impossible for him under the circumstances to give a report, things being in the shape they were, a single taxpayer expressed himself as very favorable to Mr. Johnston in regard to there being no report, hard words and far more Salt Lake, as one stormed around not that one taxpayer, hence that interesting item.

Mr. Johnston says that when the time came for the election there were three tickets in the field; that when they got to counting votes they thought the Liberals would win, that the Bishop called the members of his Church together, both Republican and Democratic, and made them have on a Church ticket, and that the Liberals were but two tickets in the field, each claiming to be citizens tickets. Some time before the election a meeting was called. The notice is as follows:

"The citizens of school district No. 1 who have covered their connections from the old parties, people and Church, are invited to meet in the county court house, July 6th at 8 p.m., in caucus, to nominate two school trustees, one for three and one for two years. Come one, come all, we are for all political strife behind." The citizens did meet and nominated by acclamation John C. Gray and Edward H. Smith.

The other ticket was got up by the three political parties. On the ticket were placed the names of Isaac Smith, a Liberal, and Peter Johnson, who was a people's party man, but now a Republican. Johnson told one truth when he said the election was warmly contested, for Liberals, Democrats and Republicans voted each ticket. Gray and Smith were elected, and "Liberal" Democrats were defeated and elected them. Bishop McKinnon did not peddle tickets, nor did he get any party or parties together and make a union ticket. No one was called upon to run ticket but Mr. Johnston, and he had to look through the brush walls of the school house to see the Church party ticket, that pleased him. One of the Bishop's boys and a non-Mormon dispensed the Gray and Smith ticket.

[Space of a page is the reason why the facts in the school case, as furnished by our correspondent, are omitted from this letter.—Ed. Standard.]

The reporter says what the liberals of Rich county think of the new movement? Mr. Johnson replies, they don't think much of it; very few of them have any faith in the sincerity of the Mormon workers, etc. The fact is the vine out of every ten liberals in Rich county, with the exception of a few anti-Mormon converts, have faith in the sincerity of the Mormon leaders and echo the sentiments of the Rev. S. W. Greene of Logan, who said while honoring the energetic Democrats, Liberalism is dead and I hail the day, new sons, when we can work together."

About that "union ticket" that Mr. Johnston tells about. "Its said there is nothing new under the sun, but the colonization movement is new to everybody. Nobody heard of it till they saw Mr. Johnson in print, but several who claim to know say that if there is such a ranch John Johnson would have had an interest in it years ago, but it not been that the gift went back on him.

Mr. Johnson said that he left the Mormon Church and commenced to train with the Liberals twelve years ago, and that they made a pretty hot for him, according to Joe, ex-Mr. Editor. There is so much truth in this last as is all the rest of his report. Lose than five years ago John Johnston was a very active teacher in the Mormon Church and was president of the Y. M. M. I. association, which is purely Mormon. I am told that Mr. Johnston was so active in his time that he wanted the Bishop to nominate both county and precinct officers, lest have both men at that time. And the people did make it not for him on two different times. It was so hot that he was arrested twice for selling a white horse, and he got over the hot to his dive. The first time he imbibed the whole thing on a Frank Mathews, a teamster; the second he pleaded guilty. The judge took Johnston's notes for the fines, but they are not good for the very reason that Mr. Johnston knows nothing that the law can touch everything is in his wife's name. A hint to the wise is sufficient. Mr. Johnston has left Rich county, but he little remains with whisky and women still remain. Ogden will soon find out the rest.
