FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Jessie Brown to-night at the theatre, by the Dramatic Combination.

There was an immense audience at the theatre last night to witness "Not Guilty."

Messrs. Riggs and Snell purpose having another excursion to California on the 28th of December.

The two mandamus cases that were set to be heard this morning, have been continued till to-morrow morning.

"They tell me you have had some money left you," said Brown. "Yes," replied Fogg, sadly, "it left me long ago."—Boston Transcript.

This morning W. Whittaker was fined $5 for being intoxicated, besides being taxed with the cost of a Chinaman's window broken by him yesterday.

The mass meeting of the Seventies of the Eleventh Ward will be held to-morrow, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

There are messages at the Western Union Telegraph Office for D. Green, Mrs. Martha Kennedy, C. Kennington, D. C. Dunbar, S. A. Kenner and Miss Estelle Everett.

Mr. S. L. Adams, of St. George, has, we understand, concluded to pull up stakes in the South and make his home in this city. He is building a blacksmith shop on commercial street.

Old gentleman (looking at a very bobtailed horse): "Bless me! how short they have cut his tail." Attendant: "His master is a member of the Society for the Protection of Animals, sir. In this fashion he will not annoy the poor flies."

The corpse of a Chinaman was brought down by the train from the North this morning. He was employed at American Falls and was sleeping in a tent when he was stabbed by some party at present unknown. The supposition is that some one had entered the tent for the purpose of robbery, and the Chinaman, awakening, was killed to prevent his telling any tales.—Ogden Pilot.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Fourth Quorum of Seventies.—Members of this Quorum are requested to meet in the Council House on Tuesday evening next at half past seven o'clock.

W. H. TOVEY, Clerk.

Address Changed.—We are requested by President John Morgan to state that hereafter the headquarters address of the Southern States Mission will be Chattanooga, Tennessee.

High Council.—The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Council House, tomorrow evening, at 7 o'clock, on special business.

W. W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

Patent Obtained. — Mr. John Devey, of Alpine, Utah County, has received a patent on an invention of an iron wheelbarrow, which has several points of superiority to any others made. They are sold by Z. C. M. I. who are agents for the article. The different classes are a heavy or miner's wheelbarrow, weighing about 63 lbs., with a lifting weight of only 18 lbs.; a light or farmer's barrow, about 45 lbs., lifting weight only 14 lbs. Both kinds have steel axles and case-hardened eyes.

Missionary Work. — Writing from Quincy, Franklin County, Pa., Elder James K Ingle, speaking of his and Elder W. G. Brough's labors in that part of the country, says:

"We landed at this place on the first of August, preached our first discourse on the evening of the second and since that time have administered the ordinance of baptism to seven persons, besides three who had been baptized before, organized them into a branch, ordained one Elder and also one Teacher. The branch is now in a healthy condition and the members thereof rejoice, and now we expect to leave them for a season and hunt for other sheep. We have baptized in all since coming to this State sixteen people."

Arrived.—By letter from Hugo O. Peterson, we learn that the following missionaries to Scandinavia from Utah, arrived in Copenhagen, Denmark, on the night of September 12th, all well:

N.C. Stougaard, from Grass Valley; N. W. Anderson, Ephraim; Haivor Olsen, Richfield; Jeppa Monson and Anders Jonson, St. Charles; Hans J. Brunn, and Hans Poulsen, Mount Pleasant; Charles E. Anderson, Logan; Jeppa Nilson, Pleasant Grove; Hans Anderson, Logan; Jacob J. H. Jensen, Mount Pleasant; Christian J. Christiansen, Fountain Green; Chas. A. Tietjen, Santaquin; L. H. Outsen, Richfield; P. Christensen, Elsinore; Nils Johnson, Santaquin, and John Capson, East Mill Creek.

The Concert.—There was a large audience at the Tabernacle on Saturday evening, the huge building being nearly filled, especially the body of the hall. The entertainment gave great satisfaction. Mr. Stephens is not only a success as a musician in a general sense, but is an able conductor as well, and Brother J. J. Daynes preformed on the organ with his usual ability. The Mendlessohn Club manifested progress, the singing of that body leaving nothing to be desired. One of the chief attractions was the singing of the 400 children, pupils of Brother Stephens. It was soul-inspiring. Master Alvin Beesley's "Twenty years ago," and Master F. Derbidge's Morgan Boy, were well sung; the Swedish sacred song, by that sweet singer, Miss A. Olsen was delightful; Miss Minnie and Master W. Pardoe, sang "The Photograph" in fine style. "Surprise," sung by Miss Nellie Druce, took the audience by storm; Miss Nora Cannon sang with exquisite sweetness "Some Folks," this being a remarkable performance for one so young; Misses Bezzant and Poulton were very rich in "The Return of Spring;" while "Hard Times Come Again No More," by Brothers Goddard and Willes, caused the mind to revert to the long ago. The duet, "Loved," by Misses Olsen and Druce was brilliantly executed. The Concert gave universal satisfaction.

ZION'S CENTRAL BOARD OF TRADE.

The regular semi-annual meeting of Zion's Central Board of Trade was held in the Council House last night, beginning at 7 o'clock, Vice President William Jennings in the chair. A number of subjects pertinent to the objects of the Board were discussed. One of the leading features of the meeting was an elaborate, carefully prepared and able report by A. O. Smoot, chairman of the committee on wool and woolen manufactures. It will be published at an early day.

In the hands of Secretary Webber is a report on salt, furnished by W. Budge, chairman of the committee on that subject, which is quite interesting, especially in view of the fact that it has been considered difficult to get that article of a kind suitable to its more delicate uses in this part of the country: We herewith present it:

REPORT ON SALT.

To the President of the Central Board of Trade, Salt Lake City:

SIR:—Your committee on the subject of salt, have succeeded in obtaining an analysis of the salt from near Bear Lake, and of the Liverpool salt, and also of the waters of Salt Lake, which we respectfully submit: The Salt Springs near Bear Lake—where according to the report the best salt is found—is situated about 25 miles east of Montpelier, in Bear Lake County, Idaho, and are capable, if worked to advantage, of producing three tons of salt every twenty-four hours. The road to the Salt Springs is not good, but can be improved at comparatively little cost, and salt can be delivered in Montpelier at a cost of about 60 cents per 100 pounds. We are pleased to present as a positive fact the superiority of salt found near home, as it is important to procure at a cheap rate an ingredient that is so necessary in the manufacture of butter and cheese, rapidly growing industries, as well as for household and many other purposes.

WM. BUDGE, Chairman.

UNIVERSITY OF DESERET,
Salt Lake City, Utah,
October 10, 1881.

The Bear Lake Salt submitted to me for analysis gave the following results:

	PER CENT.
Chloride of Sodium (common salt)	97.431
Sulphate of Soda (glauber salt)	.347
Sulphate of Lime (plaster of Paris, or Gypsum)	1.180
Sulphate of Magnesia (Epsom salts)	.069
Sulphate of Potassa	Small quantity
Organic Matter	Trace
Total	99.127

In making an analysis of Liverpool salt, I found the following substances:

Chloride of Sodium	94.236
Chloride of Calcium	.488
Sulphate of Lime	2.261
Chloride of Magnesium	.981
Soda	.533
Chloride of Potassium	Small quantity
Total	98.489

Analysis of solid matter in the Salt Lake water gave the following:

Chloride of Sodium	79.199
Chloride of Magnesium	10.011
Sulphate of Soda	6.639
Sulphate of Potassa	2.485
Sulphate of Lime	.879
Excess of Chlorine	.550
Total	99.763

Some of the above combinations of the elements in the salt are only the probable forms in which the elements exist. The true combinations could, however, vary but little from those here given, and, therefore their action on butter and other substances can be quite accurately determined. In making the analyses, the Soda and Potassa in the Bear Lake and the Liverpool salt were obtained and weighed together as chlorides. The limited time did not permit me to separate the soda from the Potassa; and, in consequence the results as above given are not so definitely stated as they would have been had the separation been made. They are, however, sufficiently accurate for the purpose for which the analyses have been made.

Of all the substances in the salt from Bear Lake region, Salt Lake and Liverpool, sulphate of soda, sulphate of magnesia, sulphate of potassa, chloride of calcium, chloride of magnesium, chloride of potassium, are the ones capable of producing a bad effect on butter. All these substances are more or less bitter. The most disagreeable one is sulphate of magnesia; it is extremely bitter and nauseous. The Bear Lake salt, according to the above analysis, contains a very little of this substance, not enough to produce any unpleasant effect. Sulphate of soda, another ingredient of the Bear Lake salt, is somewhat bitter and acrid, and is probably found in sufficient quantity to impart a very slight bitter taste to butter with which the salt is combined. The sulphate of potassa is a nauseous and slightly bitter substance, but exists in a very small quantity in the Bear Lake salt; so that it could produce only a slight change in the normal flavor of butter.

In the Liverpool salt, the bitter substance, chloride of magnesium and cloride of calcium, are greater in quantity than the bitter substances found in the Bear Lake salt. chloride of potassium in its properties is much like chloride of sodium, yet if present in large quantities in common salt, it is very apt to injure the flavor of butter in which such salt is used.

The bitter substances exist in greater quantities in the solid matter, or salt, of Salt Lake water than in either the Bear Lake, or the Liverpool salt.

In accordance with the above analysis of the salt from each of the three places named, the Bear Lake Salt contains the least amount of bitter substances; and, although it contains a little of the most disagreeable one, the quantity is so small that it is probably the best of all for salting butter, and for other family uses.

The Bear Lake salt is not so clean as the Liverpool. It contains a little organic matter of which the Liverpool is entirely free. With a little care, however, in preparing the salt for use, the organic matter could, doubtless, be eliminated, and the Bear Lake salt be made as clean as that of Liverpool.

An Alien Appointee.—A rather comical sequence to the last appointments by the Governor, well worthy of note, occurred this week. It seems that among the number of appointees was the name of C. Collister, for Sheriff of Iron County. It also seems that the individual in question was an unnaturalized alien, but the fact had escaped the notice of the "Liberal" who forwarded the list of names up as candidates. Accordingly, when the dispatch containing his name among the list of those appointed, came to Parowan, he suddenly became aware of his peculiar situation, and after conferring with his fellow office-seekers, he concluded to start immediately for Beaver and get formally "blued;" so rustling up a work horse he saddled it and started out at midnight, arriving here next morning, and calling upon two citizens who knew him he proceeded along with them to the District Court, answered the necessary questions, paid his V to the clerk and emerged a full blown American citizen, ready for any office that the Governor might bestow upon him.—Beaver Utonian.

SAN RAPHAEL VALLEY.

A DESIRABLE PLACE FOR SETTLEMENT.

To-day we had the pleasure of a visit from Brother Thomas Tidwell, just in from San Raphael Valley, Emery County, a locality newly opened for settlement, about which very little is known in this part of the country. It is about 160 miles southwest of here, is over 800 feet lower than Salt Lake Valley, and consequently much warmer, taking the year throughout. Brother Tidwell was the first man to enter and settle in the valley, which he did two years ago. Quite a number of others have taken claims but have not yet got down to business, being mostly at work on the railroad. There are about six families living there now, but no organization has yet been effected.

The valley is about thirty miles long and varies in width, the average being two miles. It affords over 40,000 acres of tillable land, stretched along the bottoms, the soil being rich and productive, the growth of nearly all kinds of vegetables being wonderfully rapid. Melons, squash, pumpkins and corn thrive remarkably, and small grain yields well. The San Raphael river, which is of about the same proportions as the Sevier, runs through the valley, affording an ample supply of water. Among the peculiar features of the country is that many thousands of acres of land are covered with a dense growth of cottonwood trees.

Brother Tidwell's place is five miles from the line of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, the work upon which causes an intense flush in business, a sample being that hay now commands the high price of $60 a ton. Of course this rate is merely transient, and will soon go down with the completion of the railroad work in the vicinity. The Tidwell farm is also fifteen miles from Green River. There are openings affording desirable facilities for numbers of new settlers.

Oleaginous.—A good quality of fresh butter is generally a thing difficult to find in this vicinity, the demand being occasionally greater that than the supply. There is, however, a superabundance of that kind which is "strong enough to speak for itself," "lets you know when it is around," and is generally considered useless for culinary purposes. In Germany the people have a method of utilizing this "strong kind," by boiling it for about one hour, in a kettle, similarly to the manner in which lard is rendered first putting into the vessel a little water, to prevent burning, against which great care must be taken. This will also prevent it boiling over. It should be cooked until it becomes a shade darker in color than when first liquified in the kettle. It is then poured off into jars and set aside to cool. This process rids it entirely of all rancidity, and makes it fit for all culinary uses, although it extracts that flavor desirable for table purposes. Salt may be added before pouring off if desired.
