DEMOCRATS MEET.

heritage and hence votes expressing that belief the people hereafter shall say, "Silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 regardless of the action of any other nation, so that the people may say to Messrs. Cleveland, Carlisle and Hoke Smith, 'Put that in your pipes and smoke it.'" The vignette on it should not be a Jenness Miner goose-hog in both directions. The Democratic party should declare in favor of the money of Jackson, Jefferson and the Constitution which was gold and silver both coined without the vote of capital and the masses of the people were being starved, he believed, through the operations of the Great Father Himself. They would yet declare for freedom and prosperity, and will yet sweep the country, the dulcet notes of Chauncey Depew to the great American humorist, and the yellow chrysanthemum salesman from Nebraska who presides over the agricultural interests of the United States; the country notwithstanding. The American people could easily be trusted. They knew how to govern themselves. The administration opponents to silver next autumn would be as much as three to one while metal was sure to be triumphant at Chicago. The bankers of the country would yet learn the power of the people. The speaker didn't mean Salt Lake bankers because they were out of the ilk to which he referred. He meant the eastern copper cents and money gorged whose business was to oppress the poor.

Referring to the money plank of the Republican platform to be adopted at St. Louis Colonel Bills said that that party's confessedly successful candidate for the presidency, Mr. McKinley was already bewitched by the insinuations of the antikinity of it. It would in all probability be double-meaning and indefinite. One man from every state in the Union would write the Democratic money platform; a majority of them would be for silver and one of them would be from Utah with the same power as the delegate from the great empire state of New York.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Credentials—Beaver, Mrs. Louisa Jones; Box Elder, Mrs. Mary E. Snow; Cache, Frank Nesbitt; Carbon, B. F. Coffey; Davis, H. W. Egan; Emery, Miss Brewer; Grand, ——; Garfield, ——; Iron, John Perry; Juab, Mrs. Ellen Whitbeck; Kane, ——; Millard, Jos. Day; Morgan, John Hopkins; Piute, ——; Rich, John Kennedy; Sevier, B. F. Barr; Summit, J. L. Ryder; Salt Lake, T. Ellen B. Ferris; Sanpete, Agnes Adams; San Juan, J. E. Letcher; Tooele, Arnold Bennet; Uintah, Mrs. Clara O. Jones; Uintah, B. Beltman; Wasatch, Henry Cluff; Washington, George F. Whitehead; Weber, Thomas D. Dee; Wayne, ——.

Permanent organization — Beaver, R. R. Tanner; Box Elder, Mrs. Eleanor Call; Cache, I. C. Thorson; Carbon, M. B. Bradley; Davis, T. H. Phillips; Emery, Jos. L. Brown; Grand ——; Garfield ——; Iron, Wm. Halpner; Juab, Jno. McCrystal; Kane, Jos. E. Taylor; Millard, Alma Greenwood; Morgan, Josh Williams; Piute ——; Rich, Geo. Hadley; Sevier, H. Taft; Summit, Jno. H. Sweeney; Salt Lake, P. J. Daly; Sanpete, T. B. Bringhurst; San Juan, F. A. Hammond; Tooele, P. J. Fennell; Uintah, W. A. Clark; Uintah, Wm. Gibson; Wasatch, J. W. Fitz; Washington, D. H. Morris; Weber, Jno. Seaman; Wayne ——.

Resolutions—R. H. Roberts, Davis; J. L. Rawlins, Salt Lake; E. D. Hoge, Salt Lake; A. J. Weber, Weber; Jos. Morgan, Cache; S. R. Thurman, Utah; W. J. Robinson, Tooele; Helen Spite, Summit; E. W. McDaniels, Sevier.

A resolution by Dunning of Salt Lake to prevent proxies being honored from the counties whose delegates had not come to the convention was overwhelmingly voted down.

On motion of John Seaman of Ogden, all resolutions were ordered sent to the committee on resolutions without debate. The mover accepted an amendment offered by Judge Newell which read "and without debate," after which a recess was taken until 2:30 o'clock.

THE AFTERNOON.

The convention on reassembling this afternoon at 2:45, first received the report of the committee on credentials which was to the effect that all the counties except Grand, Piute and Wayne were fully represented. It transpired, however, that two other counties were only represented in part. This matter was remedied on motion of David Evans of Weber by allowing each county to cast the full number of votes to which it was entitled. The report was then adopted as amended and the committee discharged.

Pending the arrival of the committee on permanent organization and order of business, Delegate Corey of Kane county demanded a speech from Judge Powers. The latter came forward and said he would make such a talk as to cause the delegates to be sorry for the call upon him. He said the Democratic party prepared to make a vigorous campaign; it needed money with which to send out literature and to assist in wiping out the obligations of the last one. He would therefore first call upon the member who demanded the infliction for the purpose of a speech. Every eye was turned towards Mr. Corey and amid the good natured importunities of his colleagues he was compelled to subscribe $10. In a few minutes $250 was subscribed and paid in. During the noon hour, Judge Powers said, he had received a letter from Senator Jones of Nebraska, who said the battle of the white metal was already won. It would simply be a question of the size of the majority at Chicago.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

The committee on permanent organization and order of business reported the following:

For Chairman—The Hon. David Evans of Weber county.

For Vice Chairmen—Mrs. H. A. Deal of Utah county; Dr. G. H. Fennemore of Beaver county; Aaron F. Farr Jr. of Cache county; Mrs. Cynthia Stewart of Davis county, and Dr. M. H. Cannon of Salt Lake county.

For Secretary—Mr. M. F. Murry of Sanpete county.

Assistant Secretaries—G. F. Whitehead of Washington county; E. W. McDaniels of Sevier, and Mrs. Samuel Francis of Morgan county.

Sergeant-at-Arms ——.

Chaplain—A. F. Hammond of San Juan county.

Order of Business.—First: Report of committee on credentials.

Second: Report of committee on permanent organization and order of business.

Third: Report of committee on resolutions and platform.

Fourth: Election of six delegates and six alternates to represent Utah in the national Democratic convention to be held at Chicago July 7th.

Fifth: Election of central state committee.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First: That the participating speeches be limited to five minutes.

Second: That nominations be made by roll call of counties.

Third: That delegates and alternates be elected by ballot, one of the six delegates and six alternates having received the majority of the votes cast, shall be declared elected, and the chairman of each delegation having the privilege of withdrawing the number of votes of their delegation for the respective candidates received.

The report was amended by inserting the name of Henry D. Jenkins below of the vice presidents.

Pending Committee Reports.

Delegate Cummings of Iron made a strong appeal on the floor of the convention pending the arrival of the report of the committee on resolutions.

BRIEF, PROPER AND TO THE POINT.

The following brief and pointed speech introduced and replied to by Chairman Rawlins of the committee:

The Democratic party of Utah, in convention assembled, reposes its trust in the honesty, intelligence, independence and patriotism of the people, —standing upon the great essential principles of justice and liberty upon which our institutions are founded,— we reaffirming its devotion to these principles as declared from time to time in the party platforms and especially those principles announced by the Democrats of Utah in the memorable convention of 1893,—now believing that the restoration of the money of the Constitution is of paramount importance desirable in favor of the immediate coinage of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 as was coinage existed prior to 1873 regardless of the action or policy of other nations; gold and silver coin to be a full, legal tender for all debts public and private.

And the delegates selected by this convention to the national Democratic convention are hereby instructed to vote as a unit in favor of the adoption of the foregoing principle by that convention and for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President known to be sound and steadfastly in favor of carrying the principle into operation.

The resolutions produced very little discussion and were almost unanimously adopted.

The City's Health.

Following is the report of the health department for the week ending June 6th, 1896:

Births reported, 30; males 19, females 11.

Deaths, 11; males 5, females 6.

Contagious diseases: flags (diphtheria), 10; scarlet fever, 14 cases; infectious diseases reported, 1; whooping cough, 1.

Educational.

The State board of education was to have met this morning, but the absence of some members precluded the possibility of a meeting. In the meantime State Superintendent Parks will receive all communications and refer the same to the board at its first meeting, which will probably be held within two weeks.

Primary Conference.

The quarterly conference of the Primary associations of Salt Lake Stake will be held in the Assembly Hall, this city, at 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p.m., on June 14. An excellent program has been prepared.

MRS. E. C. CLAWSON, President.

Notice to Sunday Schools.

The Presidency of the Stake and the High Council invite the children of each of the city Stakes whole to attend the Sunday morning session of the Stake conference, tomorrow, June 7, to come in a body from their respective ward houses.

J. H. PARRY, Secy.

Singers for the Carnival.

All members of ward choirs, and church choirs generally, are cordially invited to join the Carnival chorus at the Tabernacle Monday night at 7:30. New choruses will be taken up at once, and such as desire to take part in the grand Carnival concert should be present at the first rehearsal.

E. STEPHENS, Director.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. This is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed, everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

THE SALT LAKE STAKE.

Two Days' Meeting Begin — The Sessions Today.

The Conference is Furnished with Eloquent and Instructive Discourses Concerning the Stake.

The monthly Priesthood meeting and quarterly conference of the Salt Lake Stake opened in the Assembly Hall this city, at 10 a. m. today, June 6. There were present Elder F. M. Lyman, of the quorum of the Apostles, Elders Angus M. Cannon, Joseph E. Taylor and Charles W. Penrose, of the Stake presidency, Bishops Preston, of the High Councilors, Yates, Goddard and Geo. R. Walker, of the presidency of the High Priests' quorum, five presidents of seventies, and seven other prominent men. All the wards of the Stake were represented except the Second, Fifth and Fifteenth city wards, and Hunter, Pleasant Green and Cottonwood of the country.

The First, Second, Sixth, Tenth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first quorum of Elders were partially represented. Members of the Lesser Priesthood quorums were in attendance from a large number of the wards, together with a goodly representation of the Saints residing in the Stake. Representatives of the Stake organizations of Relief Societies, Sunday schools, Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. A., Primary associations and the Kindergarten associations were present.

The conference was opened by the choir and congregation singing the hymn commencing:

Come all ye saints of Zion,
And let us praise the Lord.

Prayer was offered by Elder Geo. R. Walker.

Hearing for the choir,

Praise ye the Lord, my heart shall join
In work or pleasure, in divine.

On recommendation of their Bishops, thirty-three brethren were ordained by vote of the conference to be ordained to the office of Elder.

Elder F. M. Lyman addressed the conference. He spoke of the duty of the Father, and the labor of the Apostles in traveling among the various Stakes to instruct those who assemble, and always traveling under the direction of the First Presidency, whether their labors be performed at home or abroad. Being representatives of the First Presidency, the Apostles were worthy of the confidence and obedience of the people and Priesthood. If the Apostle should make a mistake, it would be corrected in proper court; all were liable to error and responsible for their instructions and the carrying of them out. Propriety should be observed in all gatherings of the Church, that every meeting might be valuable and profitable. Business might be brought before a conference, if it be properly presented and with that conference, but care should be taken that business was pertaining thereto be not introduced. In the absence of the written word on any important matter, the living oracles of God could be consulted, with the loss of very little time. Having the keys of the kingdom, the Apostles were in possession of the power to regulate and set in order all things pertaining to the Church. These Apostles traveled among the people with powers of observation and of sitting at rights all things which were out of order. If the counsel of the Apostles should not be accepted in a locality, the people of that place would become responsible for the neglect. If it were accepted and found to be wrong, the Apostle would be responsible, and the people clear of error. Instead of being discarded, the instructions of these oracles of God should be acted with activity and carried out to the best ability of the people.

Elder Lyman inferred that an account of the work spreading and the ministrations of the Apostles being needed elsewhere, they might not be so easy access in the future as in the past; hence their instruction should be appreciated. He questioned the propriety of bringing into the Stake conference the routine business which had been transacted in the present meeting. He urged the competency of the various wards to decide upon the worthiness of the candidates for the offices of the Lesser Priesthood and of the Elder, therefore gave instructions that all such cases be presented in the future before the ward gatherings of the Saints, according to the revelation in the Doctrine and Covenants. This would be perfectly proper, and would meet all the requirements of the case. This should be followed when there is a regularly organized branch of the Church; but when an emergency arises where there is no organized branch, a man possessing the proper authority might take upon himself the responsibility of special ordinations. The speaker referred to special officers who should be appointed with the approval of the High Council or the conference, but there were of extraordinary importance. Too much of detail in the transaction of business in any meeting was deprecated; everything should be done in proper order, but brevity should be observed, where it is consistent with care and correctness. The scattering of officers should be observed with propriety; Stake officers in Stake gatherings, ward officers in ward gatherings, etc.

Elder Lyman suggested that ward and Stake officers seek the assistance and confidence of the Apostles, that all might be sustained and the powers of darkness successfully opposed. The necessity of the Salt Lake Stake setting a proper example before the other Stakes was emphasized because of its being the most populous and central Stake of Zion, and the likelihood of its example being followed elsewhere. Mistakes would likely grow and spread, and be difficult of correction; hence the necessity of care that as few mistakes as possible be made. The proper gradation of ordination in the Priesthood was emphasized, that all might be given an opportunity of laboring in the various offices of the lesser Priesthood before being ordained Elders. Proper discipline should be observed in the making of Elders and their attendance upon their various duties.

The speaker closed by taking a vote of approval of the counsel, which was unanimously given.

The choir sang the anthem:

God is in these great throngs.

Benediction was pronounced by Elder William C. Dunyon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The choir sang the hymn commencing:

Brethren we have met to worship.

Elder William C. Dunyon offered the opening prayer.

Singing by the choir,

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope in years to come.

Elder Angus M. Cannon, President of the Stake, urged the acceptance of the counsel of the living oracles, for the guidance of the people under their changing conditions. Upon the disappearance of these oracles from among us, the people suddenly had fallen away from a perfect understanding even of the written word. He stated that instruction had been given lately to adhere to the written word in the matter of the Temples, and changing the wording of the ordinances. The pioneer monument fund was referred to, and the people urged to be more liberal in their donations to it, that the appointment to the Stake might soon be made. The monument would be a credit to the Latter-day Saints, and even strangers had shown their appreciation of it by making contributions.

Brother Cannon stated that two new wards had been organized in the Stake since last conference, and it was the design to organize others where required, that good facilities might be offered for the people to attend their Sacrament meetings. He spoke of the sparse attendance of officers at the morning session, stating that it was due to men being employed in work from which they could not be excused. The work of the High Council and home missionaries was spoken of as being in a satisfactory state, the general diligence of the latter class being especially commended. A good indication was to the less frequent meetings of the High Council and the unity of decision in their meetings and in the Bishoprics' courts. The fact of the recent Church address being loyally sustained throughout the Stake was commented on, the people having been led to rejoice because of the rule of consent laid down. A few cases were made of exposures of the sinners and in respect to its acceptance among the people.

The discouraging financial condition of the people was referred to, and care was urged in seeking out the needy, and in dealing with them and not making their wants known. Care in financial matters and economy of life were recommended, that the people might not come into bondage. Rather should the Latter-day Saints become masters of the situation, through their care in their work and in sustaining home industries.

Co-operation and union in the affairs of life, to employ the poor, and make them self-sustaining, that all might rejoice in prosperity, was the closing counsel of the speaker.

Elder John Henry Smith, of the council of the Apostles, followed. He referred to the financial condition of the people, and pointed out the way of relief in the utilizing of surrounding resources. The spirit of industry and sturdy independence should be encouraged, for it seems to be dying out among the young. Referring to the pioneer monument he stated that the people of this city should not consider it a hardship to donate to its erection. The adornment of the temple block should be a matter of pride to the people, who could well sacrifice for the accomplishment of so excellent a purpose. The difficulties of keeping up the institutions intended to keep the people employed, was spoken of with regret, and the hope was expressed that the time would soon come when these would meet success. The speaker could not think of final failure; success would reward persistent effort. The experience of occasional failure would make men cautious, and appreciative of recurring success. But the spirit of hopefulness should be encouraged, for the loss of hope would lead to most evil consequences.

He hoped that the spirit of love, industry, and ability might grow with a speed commensurate with the claims and desires of the people. He closed with a strong testimony to the work of God, and an exhortation to obedience to the officers laboring in it.

Patriarch John Smith was the next speaker. He referred to the preparation of young men to take missions to the various portions of the earth. Excellent facilities being offered for the labor of preparation, results should be proportionate to these advantages. The value of the foreign mission as a promoter of a testimony, was spoken of, and the youth were exhorted to faithfulness in preparing for this work. The speaker related some of his experiences, which had tended to strengthen his testimony of the truth.

Elder Francis M. Lyman, of the council of the Apostles, was the next speaker. With regard to the work of the Patriarch, he felt that a vast field could be opened up if all would magnify their calling. The presiding Patriarch could spend much of his time to advantage in teaching the other Patriarchs their duties. The great amount of good to be accomplished by blessing people was spoken of as beyond comprehension. Patriarchs should be profuse in blessings, that they may be Patriarch indeed, and stand side by side with Adam and the other Patriarchs of old. The requirements and duties of the patriarchal office were explained and amplified, and faithfulness in its exercise was enjoined. The Church being perfectly secure, the Saints were safe in adhering to the principles pertaining to it. It had never been in danger, and had always advanced toward its rare destiny. Failure and lasting error in the work would be impossible. Men would always be found ready and able to perform God's work. Those who fought against the prophets of God had never been successful in some of their efforts the world had gone on toward perfection. Every experience of the Church had led to the greater strength and efficiency. Referring to the various movements against the Church Elder Lyman pointed out their uniform failure.

Now, the Church could never be destroyed, because of being an enemy ordained. It never had expected upon the arm of flesh, and it never would do. No matter how many should leave the work and fight against it, it could not be moved. Great was the Lord God, the strength of the Lord would assist them. Death, though serious, could not be compared to the desertion of the work of God. The latter was always a corrupter to Saints—he former often a triumph.

The choir sang the hymn:

Hail to the brightness of Zion's glad morning.

Benediction was pronounced by Patriarch Jno. Horne and the conference adjourned to Sunday at 10 a. m.

Arson Case Continued.

Today the arson case against F. M. Wentbolt was continued in the Third district court till Monday morning at 9:30.

THE FREE SHOW.

Witnessed by More Than Eight Thousand People.

The free entertainment given by the Shaker Medicine company from their elevated platform on the vacant lot next the Knutsford hotel seems to be the greatest drawing card that has ever visited Salt Lake City. Their novel way of doing business, as the same time entertaining, has caught the people by storm, which is proven beyond doubt by the immense crowds of people who gather nightly around the platform, beginning to congregate long before time for the entertainment, and remaining, almost invariably, to witness the closing scene.

Mr. O. W. Smith, the "bloviator" for the Shaker system, encountered no his first appearance that he could and would produce more laughable extravagance and nonsensical nonsense for the amusement of the people than any other advertisement agent now doing business in the open air. The Japanese boxing act was something we have never before seen, and are convinced that if there was a single lady or gentleman in the great audience who did not laugh until their sides ached, they were surely both tired and blind.

Now comes the future attractions the tea contest, the dancing contest, the whistling contest, the moonshining contest, participated in by girls only, for a large prize to be awarded the girl sawing a stick of wood in two in the next time, the Japanese telephone, and other laughable attractions too numerous to mention.

The songs produced by this company rank to the latest and most sentimental and pathetic songs of the day.

The result of these attractions is mammoth sales of the Shaker medicines, with each dollar's worth of which is given a card entitling the purchaser to see the Shaker Doctor at his rooms in the Walker House during office hours, between 9 and 11 a.m. and 7 and 8 p. m.

A uniformed porter with "Shaker" on his hat will be ready to usher in those holding cards.

Owing to the number of persons who called yesterday without cards, we again embrace the opportunity to inform the public that it will be useless to attempt to talk with him unless you have a card. His business in the office is merely to instruct in the use of the medicine and refund you your money if the remedies are not applicable to your case.

The entertainment begins every evening at 8:15 at the vacant lot adjoining the Knutsford hotel.
