APPEALS FOR TROOP I.

President McKinley Asked to Discharge Men Who Want to Come Home.

BELIEVED THEY WILL BE RELEASED.

Senator Cannon Says that Men Who are Desirous of Being Mustered Out Should Have That Privilege.

Amid the organized effort started in this city yesterday to secure the discharge from service of all the Utah regiment, consisting Troop I, of the Torrey Regiment, United States Senator Frank J. Cannon said today to a representative of the "News" that the request, coming as it did, should and would without doubt, be complied with. The war, he said, was not yet settled. We are still in a state of uncertainty over the outcome of affairs in the Philippines and Cuba, and large numbers of the volunteer forces would of necessity have to be kept under arms for an considerable time to come. Still if any of the rough riders wanted to come home on account of the health being broken down or for the thousand and one reasons for which they should be allowed to do so without delay. He was to hearty accord with such efforts and had already interpolated to the President in behalf of individual members of the troop, seeking for their discharge from military duty. The telegram sent to President McKinley yesterday was signed by Senator J. L. Rawlins, State Senator Agnes Nelson, Hon. Heber J. Grant and others. It read as follows:

To the President:—Troop I of the Second Volunteer cavalry, now stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., is entirely composed of volunteers from the state of Utah. We are informed by telegram that many of them are so enfeebled by sickness that they would be unable to render military service if called upon, and if desired to make present situation, many of them will certainly die. We therefore respectfully request that all of said troop who may desire it, be, without delay granted their discharge.
