A HANDSOME GIRL.

The Czar and Czarina of Russia Have a Little Daughter.

AND THEY NAME HER OLGA.

Hopeless Report That Those Concerned are Doing Well—No Cause for Alarm.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.—The announcement of the Czarina occurred this evening at 9 o'clock. A daughter was born to the czar and czarina. Both mother and child are doing well.

The czarina (Grand Duchess Alexandra Feodorovna) was born at Darmstadt, Hesse, June 6, 1872. She was the Princess Alix Victoria Louise Beatrice of Hesse, and was married to Czar Nicholas on Nov. 26, 1894. In accordance with the laws of Russia, and by manifesto issued by Czar Nicholas II on the first day of October (Oct. 19 O.S.), 1894, she was renamed Alexandra Feodorovna, and received the title of grand duchess and imperial highness.

Princess Alix was the daughter of Grand Duke Louis IV of Hesse and of Alice, princess of Great Britain and Ireland, third child and second daughter of Queen Victoria. Her brother is the present Grand Duke of Hesse, her sister Irene is the wife of Prince Henry of Prussia. Another sister, Princess Elizabeth, is the wife of Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, and her elder sister is the wife of Prince Louis of Battenberg.

When Princess Alix was but 12 years of age, and while in attendance at the wedding of her sister Elizabeth, she met Nicholas, then grand duke, who was in his sixteenth year. The children became attached to each other, but the czarewitch's affection for the princess was diverted for some time. Six years later her father made a visit to the Russian court, accompanied by Princess Alix, and her presence in the Russian capital was the means of renewing their liking for each other; but the princess was then an ardent Lutheran, and the question of her being a member of the orthodox church had to be considered. Owing to the ill health and subsequent death of the czar, Alexander III., the marriage of Princess Alix and Nicholas was hastened. Concessions, such as never before had been secured in entering the orthodox faith were obtained from the holy synod. The princess was not required to declare her former religion to be accursed, nor that her conversion was due to the conviction that the truth lies not with her sect, but with the Russian church. The holy synod was satisfied with the simple declaration that the princess joined the Greek church in order to be of the same religion as her husband.

The czarina has artistic tastes, loves music and is fond of outdoor sports. She is of a sweet disposition, sympathetic and kind, and has made many friends. It was thought that she would exercise a strong influence over the czar, and this was encouraged by the issuance of a ukase by the czar on the subject of establishing a central council of administration for workhouses and reformatories, which was designed to provide the poor with honorable means of employment, in which the czarina proposes to take the institution under her patronage. It is understood that her majesty drew up the statutes in question herself.

Court physicians in attendance at the accouchement of the czarina report the child to be a handsome girl, and they agree that the daughter is rapidly recovering. Services consecrated with the birth of the infant were held in accordance with the rites of the orthodox Greek church. The baby has been named Olga.

LISTEN TO HARRISON.

The Ex-President Preaches in a Presbyterian Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Carnegie Music hall was filled tonight with a great crowd of Presbyterians interested in foreign missions. The platform was occupied principally by ministers. The announcement that ex-President Harrison was to preside proved a great attraction. When the ex-President arrived he was heartily applauded. The Hon. John W. Foster, ex-secretary of state, was also on the platform. The Rev. John R. Davies acted as chairman and introduced ex-President Harrison as a "great and good man."

Gen. Harrison began his speech by saying that the Presbyterian church had been greatly celebrated for its power of resistance. It had stood fast for love and liberty; it had stood fast for education; it had been in the United States the pioneer of education; it had stood for the highest scholarship and it had stood against that pseudo sentimental philosophy, that from the study of God's work, finds there is no God, and from the study of His word that He had given us no word.

He continued: "It has been strenuous in its opposition to this doctrine, and has stood with the stiffness of a steel beam for the faith delivered by the fathers, and it still stands for the essential doctrine of the inspired word. It is not an illiberal church. No body of Christians in the world spent its arms more widely than those who love the Lord. It is cathlic in its co-operation with the churches. The missionary spirit is inherent in Christianity, and we meet here tonight in this meeting, which culminates our efforts, to take counsel as Presbyterians as to how we can advance the cause of foreign missions.

"I have sometimes in missionary meetings heard speakers talk about the needs of the board. That seems to me very much like the man whose grocery bills are not paid and who will talk about the needs of his butcher. We are not here to talk about the needs of the board, but our needs, the needs of the church. We are here to summon you to the duties which your church membership implies, and which implies much more when we consider the great head of the church. I think I may say in you: 'Hold fast the good doctrines, not the shepherd.'"

JOHN W. FOSTER.

The next speaker was the Hon. John W. Foster, ex-secretary of state. Gen. Foster's address was a summary of his observations on the work of the Protestant missions in Asia, first in a tour of the world made two years ago, and in a second visit to Japan and China in connection with the peace negotiations of the present year. The review embraced the work of the missionaries in Syria, India, Burmah, the Holy Land and Egypt, in the Turkish empire, Ceylon, the Straits settlements, China, Corea and Japan, and he also discussed the three great non-Christian religions, Mohammedanism, Hinduism and Buddhism.

Rev. F. B. Clark, D. D., president of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, spoke of missionary work in general and the limitless needs of the heathen world. Referring to the Armenian atrocities, he said: "Even when we came to the land of Mohammedan superstition and bigotry, we find that though the unspeakable Turk has ruled for a thousand years, the capacity to die for the name of the Gospel has not been crushed out by the long series of tyrannous rule. God is still in the heavens. The impressed and murdered Christians call to Him for vengeance. The awful tyranny and the petty interference of the past must alike come to an end in the better days that are coming, and either some justifiable revolution on the part of the subjected races, or the interference of enlivened Christian nations, will bring better days and better prospects to the aid of the sultan."

Our Coast Defenses.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The annual report of Gen. Creighton, chief of engineers, to the secretary of war, has been made public. He says that since the date of his last report, the board has prepared projects for the artillery defense of Philadelphia, Key West, San Diego, the mouth of the Columbia river, Galveston and Puget Sound.

Allotments have been made during the year for improvements for fourteen sea coast sites, twenty-one mortars and seven eight-inch guns and eighty twelve-inch mortars, to be distributed among Portland, Boston, New York, Washington, Hampton Roads, Charleston, Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans and San Francisco.

Gen. Creighton attaches much importance to the defense of forts by submarine mines, supplementing the artillery defense. With the small funds in hand he has completed twenty-five casements for the defense of the Atlantic coast and San Francisco, and he should undertake the construction of one at Galveston. He submits estimates of $50,000 for additional casements and $50,000 for the purchase of sub-marine mines and appliances.

Joint Naval Demonstration.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says a Constantinople dispatch received there reports that the Ambassadors will, on Saturday, give notice to the Porte of their intention to arrange for a joint naval demonstration.

A Daily News dispatch from Constantinople says the sultan is engaged in examining every report of the Armenians in the capital for the purpose of arresting and shipping all of the unemployed Armenians into Asia Minor. This measure is regarded as a great one, even admitting that they reach their destination.

The Daily News also publishes an extract from a private letter from Erzerum to the effect that over 600 people have already been buried of people supposed to have been killed in the second massacre. Thousands are wandering homeless and starving.

Waller's Case Again.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—M. Berthelot, according to the Matin, is desirous that his department, the ministry of foreign affairs, should settle the question of the legality of the proceedings in the case of Mr. John L. Waller as promptly as possible. This desire is brought about by the fact that the United States government is insisting upon a definite reply to its representations.

Speaking of the Populists.

OMAHA, Nov. 15.—Senator William V. Allen, Nebraska's senior representative in the United State's Senate and the recognized leader of the Populists in both houses of Congress, has been in Omaha for two days, previous to going to Washington to be in attendance at the reconvening of the national legislature.

"It goes without saying," said the senator today, "that the Populist party will have a Presidential ticket in the field, and that it will be the only one of the old parties that will be conscious of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

"As to the reorganization of the Senate, I do not think the Populist senators will cut the figure that has been predicted for them. I believe the Republicans and Democrats will agree upon a plan of organization that will not depend upon Populist assistance. I do not believe the Populists will care to enter into negotiations for a division of the Senate spoils."

Meeting of Bimetallists.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The executive committee of the American Bimetallic league today unanimously adopted a resolution accepting the invitation of the national committee of Chicago in calling a conference of those who believe in the free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1, independently of other countries, to meet at Washington, January 22, 1896, for the purpose of arranging for a national convention. By the terms of the resolution each organization is to be equally represented, neither to have more than twenty-five representatives.

Looking for "The Healer."

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 15.—The latest report of the whereabouts of Schlatter, "the healer," which seems to be authoritative, is that he is occupying a house on a claim belonging to Miss Alice Rooney, daughter of A. Rooney, at whose home he was first reported to be. The claim is six miles from Mr. Rooney's ranch, and the house is only occupied part of the year, in compliance with the pre-emption law. It is near Golden, and about twenty miles from Denver. Parties left Denver in carriages tonight for the place to learn the truth of the story.

MAY GIVE AWAY CUBA.

But Not to the United States, Says a Spaniard.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Nov. 15.—A report from Mexico City, dated November 6th, says: A prominent Spaniard here says: He is in close touch with the Spanish government, says that before Spain will concede Cuban independence or permit the island to come under a United States protectorate or rule, she will throw Cuba into the hands of England, according to Spain's recent extension possession for a number of years until England collects the sum of money which is due her from Spain for advances made to carry on the war with Cuba.

Another Utah Road.

STOCKTON, Cal., Nov. 15.—The Mail publishes an interview with D. H. Oliver, a local real estate dealer, who says a railroad is to be built from Stockton to Benora, and eventually to be extended to Salt Lake through a pass in the Sierras. A number of lots in Stockton have been sold, and will be platted here as soon as a railroad is built. The construction of the road will be commenced next March.

San Francisco and Denver capitalists are said to be interested in the project, among them Governor Waite, ex-Governor Hayward, a millionaire of San Francisco. The road is designed to tap rich mining districts in California.

The Duke at the Horse Show.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Inclement weather caused a dropping off in attendance at the horse show today, but tonight the Madison Square Garden was crowded. The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough were present, and the usual crowd of curious spectators surrounded the Vanderbilt box. The couple left the garden early, as they departed the band played "God Save the Queen," amidst enthusiasm of the assembly.

He great has the desire of New Yorkers to see the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough and to such lengths has it driven the populace at the wedding and horse show, that the officials of the steamship "Furnia," on which the couple will embark tomorrow, have taken extraordinary precautions to keep people at bay. Admission to the deck and the ship will be granted to those who are not passengers only on pasres. Persons not provided with passes will be required to prove that they are friends of the passengers booked on the steamer before being admitted.

KILLED BY SOLDIERS.

Colombian Troops Fire on a Crowd with Deadly Effect.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Nov. 15.—A special from Rigata, dated November 10th, says: Heavy firing early this morning in the barracks drew an immense crowd, which was ordered to disperse. The crowd was so great that it was impossible to move quickly, and the impatient officers ordered the troops to charge with bayonets, which they did, but meeting with resistance from the mobs being fired from the crowd, the troops began firing upon the people. A battle ensued, and the crowd, being unarmed, were obliged to fly, leaving twenty-three killed and wounded in the field.

The cause of the fight in the barracks was that part of the guards had attempted to desert and resisted arrest.

DR. SALISBURY'S WORDS.

Anyone who has ever met Dr. Salisbury will never forget him. Although over eighty, he has as bright a mind and intellect as most younger men. Of course, everyone knows him as the inventor of his water cure and the Salisbury steak, and that he is the authority on digestion and stomach troubles.

"I studied the subject direct from nature," he said. "In order to know just how much nourishing power there was in the various foods, I employed four men whose only duty it was to remain in the house with me and eat a certain food only as I directed. They thought they had secured the finest kind of a position. I began by taking a diet of beans, and in thirteen days there was not a man who could walk across the room. I myself was nearly prostrated. After recovery, we tried various other vegetables. A person can live eighteen days on oatmeal, and twenty days on cracked wheat."

"What are the most unhealthful things, doctor?" was asked.

"The most unhealthful vegetable in the world is asparagus. No man or woman can exist to exceed seven days on the insidious vegetable. Why? is that people have the idea that it is healthful I cannot understand, unless it is from the peculiar odor it gives to the flesh that pass from the body. Some people believe it is healthful for the kidneys, but there is nothing which I know of that is more injurious. As for meat, it is vitalizing and strengthening and invigorating, should not be eaten too much as possible and avoid such vegetables as they know to be unhealthful.

Troubled With Periodical Dysentery.

Henry P. Silvers, of Lucea, Jamaica, West India Islands, says: "Since my recovery from an attack of dysentery, some ten years ago, it comes on suddenly at times and makes me very weak. A teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy takes it in little while, gives me immediate relief. I could get a dozen testimonials from people here who have been cured by this remedy."

You may eat cheap food and not be seriously hurt by it; but you cannot take cheap medicines without positive injury. If you use any substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, you do so at the peril of your health, perhaps of your life. Insist on having Ayer's, and no other.

The demand for Ayer's Hair Vigor in such widely-separated regions as South America, Spain, Australia, and India has kept pace with the home consumption, which goes to show that these people know a good thing when they try it.
