

HOWELL TO OPEN HEADQUARTERS.

H. Bullen Jr. Comes Down from Logan to Do so for Congressman.

CUTLER HAS CACHE COUNTY.

Claim of His Managers Today is That He Will be Nominated on The First Ballot.

Congressman Howell is getting into the fight to succeed himself. It is not likely that he is going to have any considerable difficulty in securing the nomination again. But he believes in taking time for the forelock. Therefore, H. Bullen, Jr., of Logan, came down from the north today to open up headquarters for Mr. Howell, which he proceeded to do at room 200, Wilson hotel. By Wednesday morning the congressman himself will be there to meet and greet his friends and supporters and to direct that which he concludes needs direction. "This will only be the day before the big convention, but his friends say that it is ample time, and that he will receive the nomination by acclamation."

Mr. Bullen, who is a candidate for secretary of state makes it clear that the published report that he had been turned down as a delegate in his own convention, is incorrect. He has with him a copy of the minutes that shows that he was elected by a large vote and that he withdrew voluntarily, contenting himself with the position of state committeeman from Cache county, to which he had been elected.

Being interviewed upon the much mooted question as to which of the gubernatorial candidates controlled Cache county he replied: "There are 33 delegates from our county. Twenty-five of them will be for Cutler without any doubt. The remaining eight will be divided between Hammond and Wells. Take the convention itself—whereas the Cutler and Hammond forces came together the former controlled, as they did in nearly all of the primaries. There were only four or five exceptions in the entire county and the delegates to the state convention will be divided as I have said, at least 25 for Cutler and the remainder between Hammond and Wells."

Cutler headquarters, large and spacious, were opened in the Kenyon hotel this morning. With Mr. Cutler personally present. A large number of callers were received by his managers and himself. When asked as to the outlook his managers said it was never as bright as now, and that the indications were that Mr. Cutler would now be nominated on the first ballot.

Law as secretary of state."

The Cutler people claim two-thirds of the delegation, but a careful canvass indicates that Hammond can safely count on 18 and all are agreed that should the delegation be able to secure

THE AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS

tion, and we are told that it is settled. If it is settled, the miners have settled it. The miners of the country have not the political knowledge of mining, but the gold standard. The gold miner with his pick ax has answered the argument for a cheap and fluctuating currency. Considering the mining congress is an appropriate if not a necessary institution. In a multitude of counsels there is wisdom. There is a decided advantage in the consultation of men who have a practical knowledge of mining, for one man may know of ways and means for profitably conducting the business not known to another, and if enough of them are known to a common fund of knowledge, then the knowledge of all becomes the knowledge of each, and the knowledge of each the knowledge of all.

OUR MINING INTERESTS.

Science and experience produce new and improved methods of conducting mining operations. Congress ought not to be inattentive to the mining interests of this country. Nature has stamped the country west of the Rocky mountains with rough and rugged features, but to compensate for this has buried in its mountains, rocks and hills, the precious metals in untold quantities. California, Nevada, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon are great states, all of which are united together by a network of metallic veins whose riches are not unlike the wealth of "Ormus and of Ind."

PERMANENT HOME.

If it should be decided to fix a permanent place for the meetings of the mining congress, it seems to me that it ought to be somewhere in this large mining region, and I know of no location more desirable than the city of Portland for the purpose. Time was in the early history of the country when it was thought necessary for the convenience of the people that the meetings of a state legislature should be located in nearly as practicable as its geographical center, but steam and electricity have exploded that idea, and the prevailing opinion now is that such meetings be in the most prosperous, beautiful and healthful of our states; but if geographical considerations are to weigh upon this question, then it is only necessary to say that Portland is midway between the vast mineral riches of Alaska, British Columbia and Washington and the mines of California, Nevada and Colorado. Portland is easily accessible by land and water. For all purposes of travel it is the terminus of three transcontinental railroads, and ocean-going ships from all parts of the commercial world fly their streamers in its harbor. Nowadays, when one starts on a journey to Alaska, British Columbia, whether he goes 500 or 2,500 miles, as traveling in a Pullman car on a palatial steamship is little more than a luxurious respite from the labor and care of business at home.

PLEASANT PORTLAND.

It is not a sin to combine pleasure with business. Assuming that the meetings of the Mining congress will be held in the summer, as they now are, I can confidently say that there is no city in the United States in which the meetings of the congress would be more pleasant than they would be in this city. Some people might say as hot as it is elsewhere, but the atmosphere is enlivened by a steady cool breeze from northern latitudes, so that the heat of the day is not oppressive, and the nights are always cool and comfortable. Our average summer temperature is about 66 degrees. We have no cyclones or blizzards, and storms accompanied by thunder and lightning are rare. The climate is always pleasant, more so than a dozen of these since I came to Oregon over 50 years ago. Our city is supplied with water from a mountain stream 30 miles distant, and is so situated that it is to be as free from impurities as any water that flows.

DOWN THE COLUMBIA.

Excursions seem to be a fashionable part of the convention, and the enjoyment you can get 100 miles up the Columbia river, whose magnificent scenery of towering cliffs, deep canyons and splendid water falls is unsurpassed anywhere in grandeur and beauty; or you can go down the Columbia river miles to the sea and revel in the freshening breeze or bathe in the invigorating waters of the Pacific ocean, or you can get an address car lines into the rural districts of the state. Prolific sources of enjoyment for the sportsman may be found in forests, fields, lakes and rivers, easily accessible from Portland.

WE WELCOME YOU.

Portland is a prosperous and healthful city, and in scenic beauty and surroundings we believe it to be unequalled by any city. We are desirous of giving Portland that prominence to which it is entitled on account of its natural advantages and attractions, and we hope that the impression that you and the members of this congress at this time will be helpful to us in that direction. Portland feels flattered and honored by your meeting here. We are pleased to have with you the leading industrialists of Oregon, I am here to welcome you to this city. Whatever is good here, we want you to have, and whatever is beautiful here we want you to see. Make your stay as pleasant and happy. I trust that your meeting will not only be of advantage to Portland, but of benefit to the whole country, and a credit and honor to the American Mining congress.

RESPONSES.

Responses to the addresses of welcome were made by the following: J. T. Small of Maine; O. W. Powers of Utah; H. C. Cobb of Texas; J. F. Calbreath of Colorado; and Hon. John Daggett of California.

Secy. Mahon announced the appointment of the following committees, selected by the board of directors: J. T. Small of Maine, recounted the general resources of that state and urged that the congress should take action looking to termination of wildcat inflations and encouraging payment of dividends.

Prof. J. E. Talmage, in responding on behalf of Utah, took occasion to speak in behalf of Salt Lake City's claims as to the geographical center of the mining states of the United States.

H. C. Cobb of El Paso, following the lead of the Utah speaker, declared that the metropolis of a section of greater mineral resources than any other; the greatest jewel in an international "diamond" area, and you can get an address car lines into the rural districts of the state. Prolific sources of enjoyment for the sportsman may be found in forests, fields, lakes and rivers, easily accessible from Portland.

Immense bouquets of roses were on the table in front of the presiding officers and the drapings of flags and floral decorations from the balcony above added to the picturesque scene.

SALT LAKE'S OFFER.

It was announced today that one of the inducements offered by Salt Lake City on behalf of its selection as permanent headquarters of the congress will be a building site, on Fourth South street, facing the city and county buildings of the Utah metropolis, valued at $30,000, and a pledge of additional cash consideration that will go far toward erecting the building and the maintenance of the headquarters.

TILTON COMES HERE OVERLAND.

Overland trips over the route of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road are becoming quite frequent now that the ends of the grades are drawing so close together. The latest arrival from Los Angeles via The Devil's Playground, Las Vegas and Moapa is that of Assistant Engineer Tilton of Los Angeles, who made the trip between the two termini of the road in a buckboard. While Mr. Tilton recently made the trip when Engineer Hawgood was here this is the first time he has been over the road in his official capacity.

The object of the trip was to look over the work thus far completed on the line and final decision as to the letting of the remaining 42 miles of grading, which, reports to the contrary, notwithstanding, has not yet been placed. Mr. Tilton, who arrived in Salt Lake last night, is best known for his work performed by him on the construction of the west end of the Canadian Pacific.

Track is now laid on the Salt Lake route to milepost 102 west of Caliente. The Western Union wires stringing to Moapa, 50 miles from Caliente, and telegraph service installed between the two points named.

A band of 200 Austrians, who have been working on the road since they were paid off on Saturday, as it was found that they were next to useless as railroad laborers.

JACK FROST ARRIVES.

Davis County Visited by Cold Snap Last Two Nights.

A cold snap lasting through two nights has visited the valley, and between this city, and almost as far north as Farmington, there were frosts Saturday and Sunday nights. As a result, the tomato, squash, pumpkin, cucumber and potato vines and the corn leaves have been badly bitten; and while the vegetables themselves are not injured to speak of, it will be necessary to harvest most of them shortly, as they will now ripen all at once. The change in the weather has been a relief, as the nights are now fine for sleeping, but the local weather office predicts warmer weather again, with local showers in the southern part of the state. Heavy rains continue in the east, noticeably at Kansas City where the fall yesterday, was 2.30 inches. Chicago also had a fall of nearly two inches. The local humidity has decreased, going down yesterday, to about 20 per cent, though today, it is higher.

Meet your Ogden friends at Lagoon Aug. 24th. They'll all be there.

SERVICES AT THE TABERNACLE

Elders Andrew Jensen and John Henry Smith Were the Speakers.

TWO INTERESTING DISCOURSES.

Large Building Filled With Strangers Who Listened Attentively to The Discourses.

The services at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were presided over by President John R. Winder. The large building was well filled with saints and strangers and Elder Andrew Jensen preached a discourse on the present religious condition of the world and the necessity of the Gospel of Jesus Christ being preached in its purity by men having authority. He was followed by Apostle John Henry Smith, who spoke about salvation for the dead.

As the opening hymn the choir sang, "Jesus once of humble birth."

Prayer was offered by Elder Arnold H. Schulthess.

Elder Andrew Jensen prefaced his remarks by saying that the Latter-day Saints had been entrusted with a divine commission to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ in its purity to every nation, kindred, tongue and people, and that ever since the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was first organized in 1830 its Elders had been very diligent in promulgating the Gospel in every land where they could find an opportunity to do so. "Our efforts and zeal in this respect," said the speaker, "have often been criticized by the Christian ministers, who think we ought to confine our preaching more particularly to our own people, and let the thousands of other Christian preachers who are found in other countries attend to the work of evangelizing them." But the speaker contended that the whole Christian world had gone astray; that, in fulfillment of the predictions of Isaiah, "the law of the Lord was despised, the commandments were broken, the everlasting covenant," and therefore it was necessary that a thorough reform should be made throughout Christianity, that the true principles of the Gospel should be substituted for the precepts of men, and the ordinances of the plan of salvation be administered by true ministers of the Gospel, having authority from Jesus Christ.

The speaker referred to the first vision of the boy Prophet Joseph Smith; how, in answer to his earnest and sincere prayer, Jesus Christ Himself pointed out the deplorable condition of the Christian world by saying that the professors of religion "draw near to me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me; they teach for doctrines the commandments of men; having a form of godliness, but they deny the power thereof." The Elders of the true Church of Christ," continued the speaker, "who since that time have visited nearly every country in the world, have found that statement to be true, for there was not in 1820, when the divine declaration was first made, nor is there at the present time, any church or Christian denomination on the whole earth which is a true pattern of the Church organized anciently by Christ and His Apostles, save the Church organized by direct revelation and authority from God through the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith."

Elder Jensen spoke of his travels in the Holy Land, where the different Christian sects contend and quarrel with each other in regard to the prophecies of Isaiah, bearing a faithful testimony to the truth of the Gospel, and showed that similar contentions and strife were going on in nearly all countries until hundreds of souls, all pre-occupied with words and honor and the desire for power, were perishing. To counteract this condition and to settle all disputes concerning points of doctrine, the Lord had revealed the true Gospel plan anew in the flesh to a faithful man in all parts of the globe.

The speaker closed his discourse, which throughout was listened to with great interest, by reading a faithful testimony to the truth of the Gospel as restored to the earth through the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and rejoiced in the privilege he had had already in his life to bear witness of this in many lands and climes. He had filled his missions for the Church already, and was now about to start on his seventh mission abroad.

Apostle John Henry Smith followed Elder Jensen in a short and spirited discourse on baptism for the dead.

The choir and congregation sang, "We thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet," and benediction was pronounced by Elder George R. Emery.

TURKEY IS TRICKY.

Diplomatic Triumph of United States is Gravely Doubted.

London, Aug. 22.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard considers that the diplomatic triumph of the United States in the matter of that government's demands upon Turkey rests upon a slender foundation, and proceeds to give in detail the developments already announced in the dispatches to the Associated Press.

The correspondent says that the council of ministers, thrice recommended yielding to the American demand, but that the sultan absolutely declined to agree to this step. The correspondent is emphatic, says the correspondent, by the fact that the sultan did not receive Minister Leishman in audience after Friday's telegram, as it had been expected he would.

DIED.

TRIPLET.—At the home of Mrs. John D. Park, Granger, Utah, Agnes Iretta, daughter of George H. and Mary I. Triplett, died, bearing a faithful testimony to the truth of the Gospel, and proceeded to give in detail the developments already announced in the dispatches to the Associated Press.
