CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 15.—The committee on foreign relations reported favorably the Senate bill authorizing the issue of passports free to colored citizens going to Brazil. Passed.

Anthony, from the printing committee, reported adversely the resolution to print extra copies of the report of Professor Hayden's geological surveys of the territories; also the arguments before the elections committee regarding the sixteenth amendment, conferring the right of suffrage on women.

The Senate bill appropriating $750,000 for continuing improvements in the Galveston harbor. Passed.

Sargent submitted an amendment to the House bill to place the name of James Shields on the retired list of the army with the rank of brigadier general, so as to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof a provision authorizing the President to place on the retired list of the army a large number of the officers named with the full rank held by them when mustered out of service. Among those named were the following: U. S. Grant, John A. Dix, Geo. B. McClellan, N. P. Banks, B. F. Butler, A. E. Burnside, John A. Logan, Carl Schurz, A. Pleasanton, James Shields, J. A. Garfield, Chas. Devens, J. D. Cox, and some fifteen or eighteen other well known officers in the late war. Referred to the committee on military affairs.

Rollins, from the committee on manufactures, submitted a resolution directing the committee to consider and report to the Senate the probable effect of any changes in the tariff laws upon manufacturing industries of the country. Agreed to.

Hereford spoke in favor of his resolution requiring the committee on finance to report the House bill to repeal the specie resumption act within the week, and gave notice that he would ask a vote thereon to-morrow.

Morrill, chairman of the finance committee, said he thought the committee would report the bill, with certain amendments, to-morrow. He said perhaps the fact was not known to the Senator that specie resumption was resumed in some cities on Saturday last, and there would be specie resumption throughout the country before action could be had in the Senate on the bill.

After the morning hour consideration was resumed of the bill to repeal the bankrupt law and McCreery favored the repeal.

Windom called up the Senate bill for the narrow gauge railroad from Bismarck to the Black Hills.

After several amendments were made the bill passed, and Eaton moved to reconsider the vote.

Teller called up the Senate bill to incorporate the National Pacific Railroad and Telegraph Company. Postponed.

Blaine and Windom were appointed members of the conference committee on the deficiency bill. After an executive session, adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 15.—Bills were introduced and referred as follows:

By Kimmel, to provide a mode for trying and determining by the Supreme Court of the United States the title of the President and Vice-President to their respective offices, when their election to such office is denied by one or more states of the Union.

By Swann, the resolution of the Maryland legislature, reopening the presidential question. After the reading of the resolution, Garfield objected to its reception now.

A long discussion took place on a parliamentary question, in which Stephens took the ground that the House had a right under parliamentary law to refuse to receive petitions, but that the question presented here was whether it was wise to refuse to receive them. He thought that as the memorial was respectful and presented a subject of very grave importance, it should be received and referred to a committee.

The Speaker generally coincided in that view. Before the determination of the question, however, the hour of 2 o'clock arrived, when, under the standing rule, business of the District of Columbia came up as a special order.

Eden moved to strike out the provision regarding the interest on the 3.65 bonds.

Eden, Randall and others advocated this.

The amendment of Hanna, providing that government shall not be bound to pay the principal of these bonds, was adopted, and the bill postponed, the Speaker deciding that the disposition of the Blair resolutions was unfinished business.

The House took a recess till 7 o'clock, the evening session to be for debate on the tariff bill.

EVENING SESSION.

McKinney, Ohio, opposed the bill as a public calamity, and of advantage only to a very few people. The bill meant a reduction of laborers' wages, and was therefore poor public policy.

Bridges, Evans, Beacon and Brewer opposed the bill. Adjourned.

EASTERN.

The Beecher-Tilton Scandal—Mrs. Tilton Confesses—Beecher Denies.

NEW YORK, 15.—The following letter will appear to-morrow, from Mrs. Tilton:

Mr. Ira B. Wheeler:

Dear Sir.—A few weeks since, after long months of mental anguish, I told, as you know, a few friends, whom I had bitterly deceived, that the charge brought by my husband of adultery between myself and Henry Ward Beecher was true, and that the lie I had lived so well the last four years had become intolerable to me.

That statement I now solemnly reaffirm, and leave the truth with God, to whom also I commit myself, my children and all who must suffer. I know full well the explanations that will be sought by many for this acknowledgment. A desire to return to my husband, insanity, malice, everything save the only true one, my quickened conscience and sense of what is due to the cause of truth and justice. During all the complications of these years, you have been my confidential friend, and therefore I address this letter to you, authorizing and requesting you to secure its publication.

(Signed) ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

Brooklyn, April 13, 1878.

Frank B. Carpenter, artist, in an interview this evening, stated that there was no doubt of the genuineness of the letter. Mr. B. Wheeler, he said, had been the private legal adviser and confidential friend of Mrs. Tilton, all through the trouble. Lawyers Sherman, Morris and Price refused to be interviewed.

The Tribune says: Mr. Wheeler called at the Tribune office yesterday afternoon, with the original of the above document and submitted it for publication. There was no question of the genuine character of the document, no matter under what circumstances it had been obtained and promulgated, and at Mr. Wheeler's suggestion and wish it was put in type. A Tribune reporter subsequently had an interview with Mr. Wheeler, but he was very reticent. He stated that he was a distant relative of Mrs. Tilton. He said he was very reluctant to be known in any connection with the matter, and that, in fact, his only connection was in the submission of the document for publication. Mrs. Tilton had at once authorized and requested him to see that it was published. He added he did not feel at liberty to state any of the circumstances which led to the confession. About four weeks ago Mrs. Tilton had verbally made a confession in detail to Mrs. Anna M. Field and four other ladies of Plymouth Church, stating all the circumstances of the various adulteries, and about the same time she had written a letter to the same import to certain members of the Plymouth Church, probably the same persons. This letter he could not furnish, and he said it was of such a confidential character that it was not likely to be published. At the same time, or about that time, he had received a private letter from Mrs. Tilton, but could not think of publishing it. The document given now to the public was all he was authorized to publish.

"Mr. Wheeler, does not Mr. Tilton know of this confession?"

"Emphatically not."

"Mr. Tilton says truly when he states that he has not made overtures for reconciliation with his wife."

"I wish you would state this positively."

A gentleman who was prominently connected with the defence in the Beecher suit, on being shown a proof slip of the letter, after reading it carefully, without evincing any surprise, looked up and said, "Well." On being asked his opinion of it, he at first declined to express any, but subsequently remarked that Mr. Beecher's friends had expected something of the kind for some time. As to the statement of Wheeler, to whom the letter was addressed, that Tilton did not know of its existence, the gentleman remarked with a smile, "That would be the way he would go to work."

"Frequently, during the winter," said he, "Mr. Beecher has been applied to for money to aid Mrs. Tilton, the request or demand not technically coming from her, nor purporting to be made with her knowledge or consent, but for her benefit. This demand was accompanied by threats and intimations that if it was not met something would turn up. Mr. Tilton's influence over his wife is very great," this gentleman continued, "and she cannot resist it."

A gentleman living near Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Tilton, and intimately acquainted with both, says: The events of the last few months have led me to believe that arrangements for reconciliation between Tilton and wife have been completed. He frequently sent a carriage to Mrs. Morse's house for his sons, meeting them on Yates' Avenue, two or three blocks away, and after a drive of several hours the boys would return alone. On one occasion, Tilton drove back to the house, but did not alight. He has sent Mrs. Tilton money on several occasions. Mr. Tilton went to Warwick notwithstanding Mrs. Morse's denial, and the sons are my authority for the statement that she engaged rooms there for the summer.

Mr. Beecher was out of the city to-night when Mrs. Tilton's letter was made public, and his whereabouts was not known save to a few friends.

Beecher Contradicts.

The New York Tribune telegraphed him a copy of the letter at a late hour to-night, and received the following dispatch in reply:

WAVERLY, N. Y., April 15, 1878.

To Editor New York Tribune:

I confront Mrs. Tilton's confession with explicit and absolute denial. The testimony to her own innocence and mine, which for four years, she had made to hundreds in private and in public, both in writing and orally, I declare to be true, and the allegations now made in contradiction of her solemn and unwavering statement hitherto made, I utterly deny. I declare her to be innocent of the great transgression.

(Signed) HENRY WARD BEECHER.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Queen Replies.

LONDON, 15.—The Queen has replied to the address of Parliament, thanking her Majesty for calling out the reserves. She thanks both houses for their loyalty, and says she feels sure she can always rely upon their adopting measures for the honor of the crown and stability of the empire.

Interchange of Views.

A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs: There is said to have been an amicable semi-official interchange of views between the London and St. Petersburg cabinets. The former declares a sincere desire for a peaceful situation, and disclaims a wish to put unnecessary obstacles in the way of the negotiations, but adheres to the desire to have the whole treaty placed before the congress; the latter also adheres to its previous attitude, and cites Prince Gortschakoff's reply to Lord Salisbury, as proof of readiness to discuss even the most important clauses. In unofficial conversation the Russians still cling to the idea that England seeks to humiliate them and tear up the treaty. They will not allow the treaty to be cancelled, although they are ready to make negotiations. The preliminary conference seems to be the most promising issue out of the difficulty.

TURKEY.

Spread of Typhus.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 15.—In consequence of the spread of typhus in this city, all departing vessels receive foul bills of health.

Suleiman Pasha's Trial.

The trial of Suleiman Pasha has commenced. His condemnation is regarded as extremely probable.

Occupied Shumla.

The Russians have occupied Shumla.

More Massacres.

The Volo Circassians and other irregulars under Asaf Pasha have massacred between 800 and 900 persons, of all ages and sexes, at Palatizza.

Proposals Renewed.

It is stated that Count Zichy, Austrian ambassador, has renewed the proposals for the eventual occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria, pointing out that unless the Porte agrees to this measure it will be impossible to bring about the return of Bosnia refugees to their homes or to establish the security of the frontier. Russia is in accord with Austria in this matter, and would consent to modify the requisite portion of the San Stefano treaty if the Porte should consent to Count Zichy's proposal. It is untrue that Count Zichy has also asked to occupy the Salonica railway.

Prince Milan.

Prince Milan is expected to start for Nisch on Thursday. He will probably issue a proclamation.

Still Uneasy.

There was a manifest uneasiness on Sunday and Monday lest the Russians should attempt a coup de main against Constantinople. The suspicion is only traceable to the general discontent of Russians at the prolonged uncertainty.

AUSTRIA.

Confidence in the Meeting of Congress.

VIENNA, 15.—According to Berlin advices, Germany will only really attempt a pacific intervention when all is prepared on both sides, so as to insure almost certain success. The first step in the direction of mediation seems to have been the obtaining of some authority to undertake the task, and all these preliminary difficulties seem to be overcome. There is more confidence in the meeting of the congress.

GERMANY.

Officially Denied.

BERLIN, 15.—The Roumanian agent here officially denies the report that Prince Gortschakoff has requested the recall of the Roumanian agent at Vienna.

A General Levy.

Preparations are making in Russia for the organization of a general levy. Passports will only be issued to persons over 46 years of age.
