ROW ABOUT COXEY.

The "General" Invited to Dine With the Clover Club.

GENTLEMEN DECLINE TO SIT BY HIM

General Snowden Says He Might Soon Have to Rest Coxey in a Strong Cell Hot.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—General Coxey caused a sensation by accepting an invitation to dine with the Clover club. After he was invited Colonel A. K. McClure, ex-Minister Charles Emory Smith, Major General Snowden, Colonel John I. Rogers and other members of the club said they would sit at dinner with Coxey. They were told he would not be there, so they came, but he was there too. When Colonel McClure walked in with ex-Governor Curtin there was a deep row. Coxey was hustled from the hotel where the banquet was spread and taken to the Art club by Colonel Thomas Donaldson. The Blues resented General Snowden bold the Coxeyites that he would not dine with Coxey, as he might soon have occasion to meet that general in a proper conflict.

Coxey had sent a declination, but nevertheless he appeared and regretted at the Bellevue. After a brief consultation it was decided that he should not be admitted to the banquet room. He was invited to have supper at the expense of the club served in another part of the house, but this he spurned. A few members of the club led Coxey in hand after the dinner. He was angry over the turn-down.

GOOD NEWS FROM BLUE FIELDS.

Henry Corrosse Reinstated Chief of the Mosquitos.

BLUE FIELDS, May 17, via New Orleans, May 18.—Ward reached here yesterday morning from the San Francisco, which was anchored off the reefs, that Robert Henry Clarence, the Mosquito chief, would be brought back here to-day from Pearlagoon on board the British man-of-war Magicienne and would offer to Blue Fields to stay, or in other words that he would be reinstated in his rights as chief of the Mosquitos by the English.

The news has created the wildest excitement here and much rejoicing. The Americans were particularly happy. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the Magicienne arrived and immediately Captain Clark came ashore with Clarence and a few of his native, and he was domiciled at his old home in the city.

THE MURDERER ESCAPES.

Aguela, the murderer of William Wilson, the American, is reported to have escaped on Wednesday last. Governor Roeding, the new official at Rama, who supplanted Torres, received at the demand of Minister Baker and Captain Watson, arrived here last night and reports that Aguela is located in a dense jungle ten miles from Rama, where it is almost impossible to get at him. From reports he learned the escape was planned and carried out by a number of Aguela's Spanish friends.

ROBBED THE FARMER.

A Stock of Cards, a Roll of Greenbacks and a Foolish Victim.

LIMA, O., May 18.—A couple at strangers drove up to the house of John Applin, a wealthy Wood county farmer, and made him a proposition to buy his farm. It was the old game of a deck of cards, a roll of greenbacks, the farmer winking, and he went to the bank and drew $4,000 to prove to them that he was worth that amount. The money he drew from the bank and what he had won was put into a box. When he arrived home and attempted to open it, he found he could not. He broke it open and found his money gone. The fellows cannot be found.

A CURIOUS CRIMINAL RECORD.

A Bookkeeper Wanted for Forgery Captured.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May. 18.—Edward E. Grimmell, a bookkeeper, 19 years of age, wanted here for forgery, was captured in Detroit Wednesday. His theft was a curious criminal record. His most notable feat consisted of driving up to the Delaware avenue Methodist church with two wagons in close company and carrying away all the furniture that was loose. Then he forged some checks and skipped for them successfully. Robert A. Wallace, whose name was used on these checks, offered a reward for his arrest, and from the description sent out by the police, Grimmell was arrested in Detroit. Detective Geary was sent after him, who brought his prisoner safely as far as Dunkirk. At the police Grimmell asked to be allowed to go to the toilet room. As his hands were cuffed, the detective stood outside the door while Grimmell went in. After a wait of a few minutes Geary knocked on the door and receiving no response, broke in. The room was empty. It was supposed that the prisoner had jumped from the window. When the train drew into the East Buffalo yards Police Operator Maloney saw a man rise from a prostrate position on one of the passenger cars, jump to the platform and then to the ground. He saw that the man was handcuffed and running to him recognized him as Grimmell. He arrested him after a struggle. Grimmell had climbed from the window from the top of the coach and had laid down there.

Is Hard Times in Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Among the arrivals from Alaska today was H. G. Sylvester, proprietor of the Alaska herald, at Sitka, and the Journal at Juneau. Mr. Sylvester says the interior northwestern parts of the continent seems to be the only section not affected by hard times. There is, in fact, minimal prosperity there, so he says. Already over 200 miners have passed in via Juneau for the gold mines in the Yukon, among them were three or four women and several children, who will work the long distance of 600 miles. The women were men's trousers as well as the ordinary dress, in order to protect themselves from the severe cold.

"Last year the miners got a good haul of gold," said Mr. Sylvester. "I know quite a number who cleaned up from $6,000 to $8,000 and $10,000 each, and this has enabled an increased number of married women to go in and join their husbands."

Cody for Liquor Inspection.

ORANGE, N. Y., May 17.—The Presbyterian general assembly met in its biennial session here today. Prof. Willis G. Craig, retiring moderator, in his sermon took a decided stand for the doctrine of the literal inspiration of the Scriptures.

Set Sails for Bering Sea.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., May 17.—The Admiralty, patrol fleet sailed for Bering sea today. It will rendezvous at Unalaska.

CONGRESS PROCEEDINGS.

Resolution for the Investigation of the Attempts to Bribe Senators.

WASHINGTON, May 17. — Lodge's resolution to investigate the charges of attempted bribery of Kyle and Hunton was discussed in the Senate today and passed with amendments that make the resolution a veritable drag net, including all the charges of bribery and all allegations of contributions made by the sugar trust, either directly or indirectly, to campaign committees, or to be used to elections by either party, or any senator in any way improperly influenced in the tariff legislation.

Hoar brought read the letter from Butts asking for an investigation.

Hunton asked a speedy investigation, and so did Hoar.

Allen, in behalf of Kyle, who was absent, declared that he would demand an investigation. Allen made the resolution more specific by adding, "or whether any senator has been approached by or known to engage stock while the tariff bill has been pending."

Senator Gallinger gave another installment of his speech against the tariff bill.

Will Ship No More Grain.

CHICAGO, May 17.—The Grand Trunk announced today that, pending a settlement of the coal strikes, no more grain will be received for shipment.

Shot a Tramp.

TOPEKA, May 17.—Twelve tramps tried to capture a train in Fe Dale at Hanlin, Mo., in the night. Conductor Fielkenstein shot one tramp, and Brakeman Blume was badly cut.

THE DANGER TO CHURCHES.

Not to Romanism nor to Science, but to Other Churches.

DUNCAN, O., May 17.—The general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church opened in this city today.

This morning after the opening exercises, the retiring moderator, Rev. Dr. Ferguson, of Illinois, delivered a sermon taking as his text, "Because the king's business requires haste." He dealt with some of the reforms which are needed at the present time and how the church should work in co-operation with the state in the accomplishment of the desired end. He said the part of the church in this united work is not in making laws, but in education. There is not so much to fear at the present time from Romanism or science, as from the evil of his indiscriminate little criticism.

THE ALLEGED BRIBERY ATTEMPT.

How the Son of Senator Hunton Was Approached by Butts.

BALTIMORE, May 17.—A special to the Sun from Richmond, Va., says Mr. H. O. Claggett, private secretary of Senator Hunton, gives an interesting story of the manner in which the effort was made to bribe Hunton. Butts went to Warrenton with letters and sought a interview with Eppa Hunton Jr., the senator's son. He approached Mr. Hunton as an attorney and told him he wished to engage his services in an important case. He also told him his fee was to be $25,000 or more.

He asked Hunt what manner of service was required in consideration of such a handsome fee, and then it was that Butts delicately intimated it was to secure his father's vote against the tariff bill. Mr. Hunton indignantly ordered him from the office, and at once acquainted his father with the fact. Senator Hunton told the matter before the finance committee, and they prevailed on him to keep it quiet for a few days until they might get a few of the facts in the case.

BERING SEA MATTERS.

Another Dispute Possible Between England and America.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The exact status of the British sealer Triumph, which recently returned to Victoria after a "warning" from the British cruiser Nyasanin, is not clearly known here, and it may be the subject of another dispute between the governments of the United States and Great Britain. The Nyasanin was sent north at the urgent request of the British Columbians, to give notice to the sealers of the passage of the restrictive act. Some of the officers were told if she encountered the Triumph with freshly taken seal skins aboard, it was the duty of the commander under the act to seize the vessel and return her to port. Then it would remain for the court to decide whether the master of the Triumph was guilty of the crime knowing the result of the arbitration. It was this point that caused delay in the final passage of the British act, because of Secretary Gresham's insistence upon this point, and when the British government finally yielded, it was supposed there could be no doubt remaining as to the inability to seize or vessels that sought knowingly to take advantage of the delay in passing the British act.

ANOTHER DENVER WAR.

Warden McAlister Fortifies Himself in the Penitentiary.

DENVER, May 17.—It appears that in removing Penitentiary Commissioners Reynolds, Chamberlain and Boettcher, Gov. Waite has inaugurated another political war. Commissioner Reynolds has said the understanding between the members was that they would take all legal means to resist the governor's action.

Gov. Waite has not yet appointed a new board, but when he does it will be composed of men who will remove Penitentiary Warden McAlister and give the governor an opportunity to appoint his son-in-law, Dan Stone, to that office.

It is reported that, anticipating trouble, Warden McAlister has the penitentiary in a state of defense and is prepared for a long siege.

The governor is also having much trouble with his new fire and police board, and is preparing to remove them.

A DESTRUCTIVE CYCLONE.

Houses, Fences and Trees Swept Away with Irresistible Force.

Five Persons Killed and Over Bodies Found in a Mangled Condition.

KUSHLE, O., May 17.—A cyclone passed one fourth of a mile west of here at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, killing five persons and fatally injuring two others, and slightly wounding several more.

The scene of the cyclone is a hard one to describe. Houses, fences, trees and outbuildings of all kinds in the path of the storm have been carried away, and nothing is left to mark the spot where they stood except huge holes in the ground.

The building in which were Daniel Barnett, his wife and their two grandaughters, is so completely demolished that not even a portion of the foundation is left. The first remnants of the house are at least 100 yards from where it stood. Mrs. Barnett, who was the worst mangled, was carried over a quarter of a mile and dropped in a cemetery, her dismembered limbs being found about 100 yards farther on. Daniel Barnett was carried about forty rods from where the cyclone struck him. His head was torn off at the wrist and scattered to the winds. One leg was twisted in a pulp and he suffered internal injuries.

George Gainger was in the field ploughing. He saw the storm coming and ran to the barn. He succeeded in getting his horses inside. He started for the house and was ten rods distant from the barn and exactly in line with the storm. Witnesses say the team was lifted from the ground and buried into the soil at least 100 feet. Gainger's lifeless body was found about 100 rods from where it was lifted into the air. His house protruded from the flesh and his body indicates that he came in contact with many of the flying trees and beams.

The whirling cloud seemed to go very slowly in its forward course, and gave many people who would otherwise have been killed time to get out of its course.

The scene seemed to be somewhat zig-zag, and ruled from right to left, as well as upwards in its course. Where at 4 o'clock stood fields of wheat, now stand ponds of water. All vegetation is cut off close to the ground. Hundreds of people from every direction flocked to the scene.

The scenes around the dead and dying were heart-rending. Mr. and Mrs. Gainger are being tenderly cared for in other houses, and all that money, skill and tender care can do is being done.

TELEPHONES KNOCKED OUT.

ALLIANCE, O., May 17.—The worst storm experienced in this part of the state in years struck this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and for half an hour wrapped the city in nearly total darkness. The wind blew over sixty miles an hour, and hundreds of shade trees and chimneys in the town went down before it. Lightning destroyed the Central Union Telephone exchange and burned out nearly every phone in the city.

RAIN, HAIL, THUNDER.

CLEVELAND, May 17.—The worst rainstorm that has visited this city in years raged here nearly an hour this afternoon. The storm was accompanied by heavy rain, hail, thunder and lightning, in which many of the hailstones were as large as hen's eggs and were driven before a heavy wind. Thousands of windows were broken, greenhouses were wrecked and several runaways resulted from horses trying to escape the bombardment of hail. The damage will amount to several thousand dollars.

BRYAN TO RETIRE.

His Decisive Renomination and Status the Reason Why.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Representative William J. Bryan, of the First Nebraska district has sent a letter to the chairman of his congressional committee declining to be a candidate for re-election.

His reasons for retiring from congressional life are that he is unwilling to enter a contest which, to be waged successfully, would confine him to his district during the campaign. In his letter he expresses some doubts as to the future of the Democratic party, saying:

"If the President's financial policy becomes the policy of the party, I do not see any reason for the continued existence of the party, because the Republicans, having followed that policy longer, are better prepared than we to support it. On the other hand, if the party repudiates Mr. Cleveland's financial policy and renews its devotion to the common people, it may yet become an effective instrument in the securing of good government."

A Storm on the Sea.

GALVESTON, Tex., May 17.—Professor Larkin of Rice College observatory, after watching all day the solar cyclone, says its dimensions exceed those of any storm he has seen on the sea during his career as an astronomer. It is now at its full height; its length is 36,000 miles and the width varies from 22,000 to 27,000 miles. The whole mass has a twirling, rotary motion. There are two storm centers and at a distance are spots.

A Cold Storage Building Wrecked.

MEADOW LAKE, CONN., May 17.—A large cold storage building recently erected was wrecked by dynamite and an attempt was made to fire another similar building. The trouble is attributed to the opposition to the sale of liquor.

SIXTY-THREE LIVES LOST.

Mr. John S. Bowdidge Relates an Interesting Experience of Life on the Sea.

From 1862 until 1872 Mr. John Bowdidge was captain of the merchant vessel Bend. His life on the sea has had many hairbreath escapes. In relating his experience he says:

"I remember once when I was sailing in the Jersey Channel Islands, belonging to England, we encountered a terrible storm. There were sixty-three souls, all told, and the wind and wave was such that we knew it would be impossible for us to live through it. The massive ship shook the terrible lashing of the waves for hours, but at last gave way, and we fully realized we must face death. In a very few minutes the ship began to sink and my comrades were fast disappearing under the mighty waves to be never seen again. I knew I could not stand longer so I lashed myself to a mast and for hours floated, nearly frozen by a passing steamer. I was the only man left to tell the story. To-day I wear the mark of the rope that was tied around my waist.

This is the only one of the many interesting stories told by Mr. Bowdidge. He was the youngest captain at sea during his time, being only fourteen years old when entering the service.

In speaking of his wife's case, Mr. Bowdidge says:

A SWORN STATEMENT.

"For some months my wife's condition was such she came to Drs. Shores & Shores. Other doctors in Salt Lake could do her no good, they always made her worse, and it was but a small portion of her time she was able to be about her.

For four years she was a weak, suffering woman. She could do no housework, she had terrible headaches, a discharge from the ears, was nervous, slapped up, was thin, had lost a lot in the month, severe cough, always felt worn out, in fact it was perfect misery for her to move around. She had no appetite and lost flesh rapidly. This was her condition when beginning treatment with Drs. Shores & Shores. I said I take care of both, that in one month she has look much a new woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowdidge reside at No. 701 South Second West street, where they can be interviewed.

Mr. Bowdidge leaves Saturday on the country where he has large sheep interests, but Mrs. Bowdidge will be home to greet all inquiries friends. Call and see a woman who has been given up by the regular profession and cured by Drs. Shores & Shores' new system of treatment.
