MINING, BUSINESS AND STOCKS

NEVADA STOCKS SHOW GREAT LOSS

Depreciation of Fifty Million Dollars in Five Months is Announced.

TEN MILLIONS EVERY MONTH.

Comparisons Between Prices Paid Last November and Present Figures Startling—Decline Gradual.

During the past five months Nevada mining securities have depreciated in value $50,000,000. This is at the rate of $10,000,000 a month. The authority for these figures is the Reno Evening Gazette, which shows some startling comparisons between prices paid November 15 and May 6. Among the Bullfrog favorites National Bank on Nov. 15—five months ago—brought 77 cents. It changed hands at 25 Monday. Bullfrog has dropped from 55 to 15 during the past five months, and Montgomery Mountain, from 75 to 15 in the same time. Gold Bar has lost just $1, selling Nov. 15 for $1.87 and Monday for 87 cents. The Goldfields show even a greater decrease. Consolidated sold Nov. 15 at $10 and Monday brought but $7.50. Silver Pick has lost just one cent less than a dollar, having dropped from $1.39 to 91 cents. Atlanta has dropped from 95 to 65; Combination-Fraction from $6.50 to $2.85, and Kewanos from $1.50 to 98 cents. Similarly large declines can be cited for other stocks.

NEVADA PUZZLED.

The figure is staggering—$50,000,000 difference in the stock board valuation of a state's stocks for five months is startling even to those who know how stocks go up and down. The Reno paper says everyone is at a loss to understand this change for the worse. "There is no feeling of panic and no one seems to believe the bottom has fallen out," it reasons. "Many guesses are made but they are mostly born of a lively imagination. The thing is mysterious, and more so when stocks are weaker than ever just when labor troubles are at an end and better things might be expected. The mines are here, and they are the greatest mines in the world made none the less so by stock fluctuations."

PUBLIC IS WARY.

The stock game throughout the United States is not being played so heavily by the general public as it was last summer. Affairs like the recent New York flurry have frightened the small buyer out of the game. He has been shown how far outside the circle he is while dabbling in stocks with his little savings. Now he wants to be sure that he is buying something safe as mining stocks go, but finds the really safe offerings are too high priced. The stream of money pouring into the stock pits last summer has been shut off and diverted to other channels and things are settling gradually as a result. The elimination of speculation is bringing about a safer state of affairs. More good than harm will come out of the changes now taking place.

TRADING LIVELIER.

Favorite Stocks Are Firm and in Demand at Advanced Prices.

Trading was somewhat livelier this morning on the local mining stock exchange and better totals were chalked up for the session. May Day continues to be a favorite, while Uncle Sam is still drooping a little. Beck Tunnel dropped a few points during trading. Colorado is at the $3.05 mark and looks good to the brokers at this advanced figure. Yankee is strong at 52 and in demand. All stocks are firm and a feeling of satisfaction was a result. The forenoon sales, totals and closing quotations follow:

LIKE LOST CHANCE.

Caliente Investors Over-Subscribe First Allotment of Stock.

Subscriptions were opened in Caliente last Saturday for the first issue of the capital stock of the Last Chance Mining company. This is the property which John Janney, E. P. Gordon and P. B. Locker of this city have taken up the bond. Operation is to be started at once. The Caliente Express says the incorporators, intended to divide the issue between residents of Caliente and Pioche but Caliente men over-subscribed and another issue is being considered. Mr. Janney and Locker have a number of Pioche properties under their control.

VELVET CUTS LEDGE.

E. P. Miller of Salt Lake and Dr. C. A. Wherry of Ogden went to Goldfield a few days ago to look after their mining interests. Both are among the principal stockholders of the Utah Velvet Mining and Leasing company, which has a lease on the Velvet. The shaft is down 300 feet. A ledge was cut at 30 feet and at the 200-foot level a good quality of ore was uncovered in drifting, 15 feet from the shaft. Another ledge was cut at the 95-foot level and M. Miller expects that the same ledge will be encountered in the shaft in another 20 feet. They will then drift on the ledge.

TO INVESTIGATE A NEW INDUSTRY

Big Party Goes to Spring Valley, Wyoming's Oil Fields.

THIS TRIP IS INVITING.

As Guests of Pittsburg-Salt Lake Company Local Men Will Visit Wells and Refinery.

A party of representative business and mining men of this city, Ogden and Provo, will spend Sunday in Spring valley, Wyoming, where the oil wells and refinery of the Pittsburg-Salt Lake Oil company, will be shown the visitors. Special Pullman cars will be attached to O. S. L. No. 5, this city, at 7:10 o'clock Sunday morning, May 12. The cars will be switched off on the refinery spur for the exclusive use of the sight-seers during their stay in Spring Valley. The return trip will be made Sunday night, the arrival here being set for 8 o'clock Monday morning.

The purpose of the trip is well explained in a paragraph in a letter sent out by the executive committee of the oil company. It reads: "The production and refining of oil so near our door will be an important factor in the future business of this state and an industry entirely new to this region. Information may prove interesting." Information about an industry entirely new to this region is interesting and no sooner had a committee comprising O. K. Lewis, C. N. Strevell, S. S. Porter and A. V. Taylor, representing the oil company started talking the trip than friends on all sides expressed a desire to go along to see for themselves. The excursion was an assured success from the start and the men going represent the best and most prominent of this and neighboring cities.

BIG MEN GOING.

The list up-to-the-minute is as follows:

H. G. Whitney, D. C. Jackling, H. P. Clark, Byron Groo, S. A. Whitney, W. S. McCornick, M. H. Walker, Heber M. Wells, F. E. McGurrin, F. A. Druhl, Wm. Bradley, W. V. Rice, J. A. Reeves, C. A. Walker, Duncan McVichie, J. S. Bransford, Gov. Jno. C. Cutler, James Salisbury, Walker Salisbury, W. J. Halloran, Don H. Porter, W. H. Bancroft, S. V. Derrah, F. J. Hagenbarth, Jos. E. UNCLE SAM AND MAY DAY.

Dowries Arranged; Details Considered And Merger Ceremony Comes Next.

The Uncle Sam and May Day properties are to be consolidated and brought together on an equal basis. This plan was adopted at a meeting of directors of both companies, and it was further decided that the company taking over the May Day and Uncle Sam would not take in the Humbug ground nor the four-fifths interest in the Richmond & Anaconda, also held by the Uncle Sam company. The name of the new company, its capitalization and similar items will be brought up for consideration after the decision of the companies' directors has been ratified by stockholders of both companies. The Uncle Sam ground is much lower than that of the May Day and the latter can be worked at a good depth from the former. The Uncle Sam's mill, which goes in with the other item, will be enlarged so it will be able to handle the output of both properties. Both properties have good bodies of ore and the deal, it is believed by those most interested, will make one big mine really worth while.

PRESERVING TIMBERS.

Decreasing Supply of Wood Leads to Series of Experimental Treatments.

Mining people are well aware of the decreasing supply and increasing price of timber suitable for mining purposes. The time has come when every stick of timber used either inside or outside the mines should be so handled during its entire life that it may be expected to give its greatest service. The Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co. and the United States Forest service, in February, 1906, planned a series of experiments to be conducted along practical and economic lines with the primary idea of saving timber and money. Actual tests have been carried on to discover just what methods of handling and treatment would give the greatest service at the least expense.

Timber for mining purposes has heretofore been rushed from the woods to the mines and placed in the mines in an absolutely green and unpeeled condition, with the result that decay or dry rot causes rapid destruction. We believe by better methods of handling, such as peeling and seasoning and by a preservative treatment with oils or chemical salts, that the life of this timber would be prolonged and its general condition, both as to soundness and strength, considerably improved.

Ventilation is a large factor in the destruction of timber by decay. In badly ventilated air-courses, where there is sufficient moisture and temperature, decay is maximum. For wood-destroying organisms to exist, they must have air and water. If it were possible to keep the timber always wet or always dry, it would not decay, it is the alternation of wet and dry conditions which produce rot. By direct experiment, it has been definitely proven that in durability, peeled timber is superior to unpeeled timber. In unpeeled timber the space between the bark and the wood favors the development of wood-destroying organisms and furnishes a breeding place for many forms of insect life. Peeled timber is 7 to 8 per cent lighter than unpeeled timber.

Of the treated timbers those treated with creosote and a solution of zinc chloride by the open-tank method have been very successful. A good penetration of the wood by the preserving fluid (2 inches to 5 inches) has been easily secured and timbers so treated are effectively resisting decay.

Timbers treated by the cylinder process are also standing well, but in order to be a profitable investment, they will have to show a considerable increase in life over those treated by the far less expensive open-tank process.

The success of the superficial brush treatment has yet to be proven. Timber so treated is not as effectively resisting decay as with other treatments. On account of its comparative cheapness and ease of application (requiring no plant) it may be of benefit to small operators or a situation where the timber is apt to be broken.—Mines and Minerals.

MOSCOW Mining and Milling Company.

MATTHEW CULLEN, President. L. H. FARNSWORTH, Treasurer.
FRED T. M'GURRIN, Secretary.

This company is capitalized for one million dollars, divided into one million shares of the par value of one dollar each. The company owns the famous Burning Moscow group of mining claims, consisting of the Burning Moscow, the Local, Equinox, Uranus Fraction, Moscow Extension and Kremlin Fraction. The value of this property is known to every mining man who ever visited Beaver county.

The company is now extracting and shipping ore to the smelters. To at once equip the property with suitable machinery, one hundred thousand shares of the treasury stock of the company will be sold at fifty cents per share. When this amount has been subscribed, no more stock will be sold, and any subscription over this amount will be returned. Subscriptions for this stock may be made at the brokerage office of De Witt B. Lowe & Co., No. 12 West Second South, and at the office of W. H. Alexander, room 517 Atlas Block. The company courts an examination by prospective subscribers to verify the above statement. Subscriptions will be received up to and including Saturday, May 11, 1907.

NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE.

Pollock's Private Wire Brings in Batch of Short News Items.

James A. Pollock & Co., bankers and brokers, furnish the following, received over their private wire, this afternoon. Boston News Bureau says: Ely, Nevada.—The recent strike of high grade copper ore in the veteran shaft of the Cumberland Ely has continued to show increasing values since the ore shoot was first entered and it is now known that the body is of an immense size and will undoubtedly be one of, if not the richest workings of the company. Several small strikers are reported in the Brilliant shaft of the Ely Consolidated in the past few days, but they have none of them, as far as is now known, proved of any great extent.

The Granby company smelter in British Columbia has been shut down for 10 days by reason of the coal miners' strike.

Houghton, Mich.—The C. & A. directors will meet at Calumet next Wednesday and a dividend of $5 is expected. This is the same as the last dividend.

A broker who has bought a considerable line of Balaklala in the past says: "I cannot make out the game played in Balaklala but then I suppose it is not meant that I should know. New stock to the amount of 125,000 shares was issued an dimmediately after it was issued the stock was rushed up to above 12 and every stockholder or underwriter was given an opportunity to sell out his stock at a substantial profit. Many of them did so. The stock has been allowed to gradually work off to $10 per share and it has been maintained at this price for several weeks and a number of thousands of shares absorbed at $10 or a slight fraction above, the stock was made easy to sell as stockholders and underwriters could immediately get their certificates by paying for their stock in full. The peculiar situation in Balaklala is that its intrinsic value is now well known there being $25 per share net value in sight in the mine, yet the big interests in it, and they include the Guggenheims, Heinze, McCornicks and others who generally like to have their securities sell high, discourage any speculation in Balaklala. The whole situation at present seems to be a game of "puss in the corner," with no two interests willing to combine."

Globe, Ariz., wires: Globe Cons blasted into Josh Billings vein on 500 ft. level in cross-cutting north from the Gem shaft. This is vein from which United Globe has extracted a great tonnage of ore.

Boston wires: The average price which companies selling their copper through the United Metal Selling Co. will receive for April is very close to 25¼c gross per pound.

Butte, Mont.: The 1,800 foot level on the Edith May vein of the North Butte is looking better than any other part of the mine; car samples taken this week showed 15 per cent copper.

AMONG THE UNLISTEDS.

Copper Glance ranged from 17½ to 20 cents this morning with sales around the lesser mark. Standard ranged from 50 to 52 cents. Other stocks were quiet. Emma Copper sold from 25 to 28 cents yesterday; Consolidated Flagstaff sold at $1 even and Mason valley at $1.85. Ohio Copper was quoted at $4. Yerington Ironsides is fluctuating between 20 and 25 cents and Montgomery Mountain at 17½@20. Kentucky was at $2.85. The unlisteds are just about holding their own.

CONCENTRATES.

W. A. Williams of Provo, Utah, and of the W. A. Williams Plumbing company, Ely and Ely City, has bought of Ralph Herbert a half interest in the Herbert group of four claims; the Miller's Hope group of seven claims; the Argus group of seven claims and the Lookout, Lida and Lou claims in the Tourmaline mining district.

Lower Mammoth directors hold a meeting in this city Saturday and the story is out that the first dividend for this company will be arranged at the gathering. The profits of the corporation have been more than lopping over the expenses since shipping began in earnest and a nice surplus has accumulated. Whether or not a dividend is declared, it will be discussed and whatever action may be taken will have to do with dividends, either immediate or in the near future.

LOCAL MARKET REPORT.

Today's local markets are well supplied with a wide range of eatables from a wide range of country. The feature of the day is the increase in prices of flours which will be marked up at this afternoon's meeting of the Produce Exchange. Family flour is advanced from $1.65 to $2; straight grade from $1.95 to $2.10; and high patent from $2.15 to $2.30. This is due to the advance in prices of wheat at eastern markets; but it is claimed by several local dealers that the trade here will cut prices, so that the schedule just given will be honored only on paper, for a time. It is said that flour is being sold for less than it now costs to make it, as there is so much wheat on hand that was bought months ago when prices were considerably lower than they now are.

Butter is off 5 cents; strawberries are down to 15 and 20 cents per box; cherries are in hand from California—both the red and white varieties; onions are cheaper; but poultry is scarce. Carload lots of fine oranges, bananas, Winningstead cabbages, Irish spuds from Idaho, also a car of fine lemons, have been received. Texas is sending cucumbers, peas and beans; Cuba is sending pineapples, fine peas, and new potatoes are arriving from California. Utah vegetables are a little late owing to the spell of cold weather which retarded things. Shad is now in the market, with a small quantity of shad roe. The prices obtaining today are as follows:

SHOTWELL SHOT WELL.

Shot the Sheriff and Deputy While Trying to Arrest Him.

Williamsburg, Ky., May 9.—Sheriff W. B. Croley and Deputy Cheriff Zeb Ward were both shot and seriously wounded by John Shotwell last night while the officers were attempting to arrest him on a warrant issued by Gov. Beckham for violating a parole. Shotwell was serving a life sentence when paroled two months ago.

STOCKS SHOW NO BUOYANCY

New York, May 9.—Prices of stocks moved downward in the opening today on a small volume of business. United States Steel was an exception with a small fractional gain. The New York utilities stocks were notably depressed on account of the agreement at Albany to support the house utilities bill. Brooklyn Rapid Transit declined 1¼. Interborough Metropolitan preferred 1⅛ and New York Central a point.

Temporary support was extended to the list whereby New York Central and others made up their loss and the tractions partially.

The demand dwindled and prices began to ease off again. The Interborough Metropolitan stocks got down to 1¾ and 2¼ below last night on this decline.

There was some improvement in the market, American Smelting and Union Pacific rallying ¾ above last night. The general movement was extremely narrow and the transactions were small.

Bonds were steady.

Traders took quick profits in Smelting and it went back to yesterday's closing. Other stocks were not seriously affected and the tone became better, when Smelting and Union Pacific were again lifted to a point above last night.

After the board of directors of the Union Pacific had assembled the stock began to rise rapidly and touched 143¾, a gain of 2¾ before 2 o'clock. Northern Pacific and Reading rose to the extent of a point.

The market reacted and Union Pacific fell back more than 2 points.
