THE RED CROSS SOCIETY

A Comprehensive Summary of Its Work in This City This Summer.

WOMEN WHO TOILED DURING THE WAR.

The Local Branch and What it Has Done for the Alleviation of the Distressed.

When war was first declared and the call for volunteers was made the patriotic juice was quickened and the hearts of the people thrilled more than ever with love for country and the flag. The youth of the land, first with patriotism, were ready to offer their lives, the more conservative but as true patriots were helped with money and supplies, and the women sew saw a field of work opening for them in assuaging wants and healing in the many conceivable ways that only women can. The war department did not furnish among its pallets the things the volunteer soldiers had been accustomed to at their pretty homes, and sympathies of home per soul reached the core of the true patriotic women. A meeting was called and a committee given organized for the soldiers' benefit, the sum of something over $100 was raised in one night and divided among the boys, every one of whom was a hero from the beginning. Then came hospitals of first and the editors were daily taken to their camp and distributed to the kind of work was most needed, in the stress of some and they soon found how best to help the sorrowing and assist their country in its hour of time. A few of the women felt that if an organization greater good might be accomplished. Accordingly a call for a meeting to consider a Red Cross society was made. The call was signed by some twenty or more prominent women and asked the girls generally to be present. The response was more than gratifying. Over a hundred women attended the first meeting and expressed a desire to organize a Red Cross society, but it took some time to get the organization to a thorough and permanent organization. In the meantime a temporary organization was effected and work began. Under the temporary organization a work room was opened in the Pioneer building and Mrs. Martha Hyde was placed in charge.

The use of the room was given by Aberbach Bros. Chairs and tables loaned by the Deseret News, a sewing machine by L. E. Hall, and Mrs. Morris Paintin donated by James Anderson, and printing by the Star Printing company. Material for comfort bags, scissors, ink, account books, and other little things were donated by different people at this time. Three hundred and twenty-six bandages and twenty-one comfort bags were made. After the permanent organization, Mrs. Julia Dyer was made chairman of the work committee and a vast amount of work was accomplished as the following report will show in report and full, compiled satisfactory as the work of Mrs. Orro always is. During the busiest summer months she cut and planned and managed the work room and made the distribution of the many supplies the report contains.

The Red Cross society began to work on the 19th day of May of this year. Since that date it has purchased 36 1-2 yards of flannel for bandages and has had some flannel donated. From this flannel has been made 1,116 bandages. There was sent in July some twenty bandages from the Parowan society as well as about the same number of comfort bags. The box from Parowan contained sheets, pillow cases, 9 bandages and comfort bags.

We furnished 36 more with comfort bags, giving one to each man who was enlisted in Utah.

After all these were supplied with bandages and comfort bags, but twenty C. in addition, was supplied with 72 blankets, 3 dozen pairs socks, and 21 pairs of shoes.

In the comfort bags were put 1½ dozen cotton, white and black thread, wax, six safety pins, pins, needles, and a few comfs.

To Miss Barton we sent one dozen suits of pajamas, towels, sheets, pillow-cases, bandages and comfort bags and the same to the San Francisco society.

Under the supervision of Mrs. W. J. Parks numerous lunches were served to the soldiers, those passing through the city as well as our own recruits. The wants of the home were well looked after, as the many requests for such as "God bless the Red Cross," "How good you women are," etc., can testify. In all about 3,000 soldiers passing through the city were served, to the lunches. The winding up scene of the most beneficial work was the reception and dinner given at Fort Douglas on the occasion of the return to our city of the gallant Twenty-fourth. Under Mrs. Dewey Richards's management, generous entertainment for raising funds have been given, notably the barbecue at Calder's and the dollar excursion, while many ladies, some of them not members of the society, have given social teas, mackinaw and lemonade at their homes. Our very able treasurer, Mrs. Julia Dawson, reports a total of receipts and disbursements as follows: From May 19 to June 18, 1898, received $1,131; disbursed, $1,100; balance on hand, $30.31. From June 18 to July 17, 1898, received $1,231.31; disbursed, $1,201.31; balance, $30.31. From July 17 to Sept. 15, receipts, $1,131.31; disbursed, $1,131; balance, $30.31.

This is the treasurer's report up to Sept. 15, but since that time there have been numerous children invoiced to us who need such benefits, and entertainments which have greatly figured in the treasury. The correspondence of the committee has been conducted by Mrs. Annie W. Cannon.

In all about one hundred letters have been received and answered. The work of the committee properly organized under Mrs. Annie W. Young, to whom papers are constantly refer for information of labor and visible evidence with the work of the meetings of the general society.

But for the whole, the work of these ladies, organized and carried on on behalf as they are in themselves, would be far from the required standard were it not for the philanthropists and earnest work of the president, Mrs. Emmeline B. Wells, who has given to University of her time, means and labor. In the workroom, at office, committee, at the stations where the soldiers passed through, departed or came, everywhere she is known and her love have been felt, and cheerfully we bear to the work of our territory president, Mrs. Rachael Hyde and Mrs. Annie Adams, always ready, always willing. The work of the twenty-five hundred dollars we have made have been at times arduous, but now the year is virtually performed. Many cases of sickness and want among the families of our soldiers have been relieved sympathetically. There is no report from Dr. Pierpont, the chairman of the sick committee, but we know of the good work he has personally taken care of individual cases, and with their own family hands, and from their own accomplishments have relief been and served those worthy cases. Compliments among these cases, for instance, our president, Mrs. Eliot, who even at present is so constantly attending to the care of our family, and yet has proved time into her neighborhood, that she might better care for these cases. Our first vice president, Mrs. Roberts has been particularly and case under her constant care and watch, and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Harris.

It has not been the intention in this paper to dwell at many length on any one person or personal work, but to mention and hold up for the benefit of the work that has been accomplished during the summer by the society. There are many others, whose names are worthy of honorable mention, even much time, as well as means, to the society. Among those should be mentioned Mrs. Lawrence, our house superior, and the many ladies who assisted in the workroom, taking turns at the machines and attending to the constant needs of the workroom, and the ladies who, we know, too frequently among them would be some Miss Ellen Cohn, who, though not in special committee, has worked and helped on every way and been always ready to work when needed.

The amount of work completed is not dated, and the work of the Red Cross society, and while it is to be hoped more signal days, the war being ended, there will be found not only an army of men but of women who have fought as heroes in our cause.

Action of Canadian Pacific Refusing to Accept Differential Decision Staggers R. R. Men.

RIO GRANDE WESTERN EXTENSION.

Engineers Surveying to Clear Creek Canyon—Old Rails Being Exchanged for New Down South.

The action of Vice President Shaughnessy of the Canadian Pacific in refusing to accept the decision of the arbitrators with regard to differentials has staggered the railroad men of the city. This is a new case and what the action of the road interested in transcontinental traffic will be is hard to tell. Unless the matter is settled in a very disinterested way it will war which will again unsettle business.

Rio Grande Western officials who are the only ones seen who can speak with authority are of the opinion that a meeting will be called and pressure brought to bear upon the Canadian Pacific to arrange the rates. This will doubtless be done into thoroughly the entire general manager of the transcontinental bureau, which was only waiting the action of the arbitrators to convene in New York.

A Free Entertainment.

Monday night a free entertainment of great interest will be given music lovers, young and old in the large Tabernacle. It is to be a talk on musical matters by Prof. Brian Stephens. He will have, to illustrate his points, his children's chorus of nearly six voices, who sing wonderfully well. Mr. Higgins of Ogden will appear once more before returning to his missionary field. The young contralto, Miss Judith Anderson, the Utah Male quartet, who was at the Humboldt, and Master Charlie Pike will come down from Ogden. Mr. Stephens's reappearance after a two years' silence. He will be remembered by many who over had the good fortune to hear him, as the finest boy soprano Utah has ever known. Prof. Stephens, who for many years has had practical charge of his voice, is delighted to be able to reintroduce him, the voice having now developed into a marvelous baritone. Children are especially invited, but it is desired that they attend only in company with parents or some other person in charge. The gates will be open at 7:30 o'clock and will be closed at 8 when the performance will begin in order to have no disturbance in the building by late comers entering. It is expected that the house will be filled.

The work in general theology forms a most interesting feature. The principal address at each session, is made by a member of the doctrinal theology class, who reviews the subject of modern advancement. The topics are arranged in regular order, so as to secure a systematic and thorough treatment of the fundamental principles of the Gospel. Other interesting exercises are given, and occasionally one of the prominent officers of the Church favors the students with remarks appropriate to the occasion. The class meets every Friday at 2:30 p. m. and the public is invited.

Some Coffee Experiences in Mexico.

"Some years ago I went to a city of Mexico, where I increased my coffee allowance very considerably.

"In about three months my nerves became seriously affected. A sort of stupor seemed to possess me all day and I suffered great discomfort from dyspepsia. I kept on, however, with the black coffee until had blown I left, when I could not keep it down any longer. I had to quit, and took to milk water and milk.

W. A. DISBOROUGH,

"When I reached New York City, I met an old friend who said, 'Postum Cereal Food Coffee' instead. Recommended it. I gently tried some of his coffee and found it all the same claimed it, a very delicious beverage the way it was served.

"I have been entirely cured and am in perfect health in every way. Am a regular missionary for Postum.

"Whenever I meet a man or woman complaint of any pain or disorder that comes from the nervous system, I immediately recommend Postum. Several of my friends have followed my advice and have cured their dyspepsia.

RESISTED BY MRS. CLARK

Bertha Law's Mother Unwilling for Mrs. Cullahan to Have Care of Her Daughter.

GIRL'S STORY ON THE WITNESS STAND.

Case Goes Over For One Week—Supreme Court Decision Affecting Judge Hunt of Lower Court.

"Mrs. Bertha Cullahan shall never have the guardianship of my girl, as long as I have breath enough in my body to protest against it," were the words of Mrs. Lena Clark spoken in the corridor of the third floor of the city and county building this morning.

Mrs. Clark's daughter, Bertha Law, on Tuesday last filed a petition in the probate court asking that Mrs. Bertha Cullahan, residing at 135 east Third South street, be appointed her guardian, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment on the part of her mother. The case was set for today and a citation issued to Mrs. Clark to be at Mrs. Cullahan having the care and custody of her daughter.

The first witness examined was the petitioner, a bright looking girl of sixteen years, in answer to Judge Anderson she said she had been with her mother had of late been in the habit of beating her. A little while ago, the girl said, her mother had her over the head and body with a strap, at the same time telling her that it wouldn't surprise her to see her on Commercial street before long. The girl also said her mother had called her a whore, a fool and other vile names. The girl further testified that her mother took in washing, and that frequently she was compelled to accompany her on the rounds of collecting the clothes. Her mother, the girl said, had taken her into houses of "ill fame, where she had seen men and women drinking and other vile conversation.

The witness admitted that she had been guilty of acts of disobedience. "But all other children," she retorted.

Mrs. Bertha Cullahan said she rented part of her house to Mrs. Clark. The mother's treatment of the child had been abominable. On further informed the court that she had an interest in the Kline Mattress company's place of business on East Temple street between South and Fifth south and that she was in a position to provide for the girl.

Two other witnesses named John Schofield and W. J. Parks testified to Mrs. Cullahan as to the cruel treatment of the child by the mother.

Judge Anderson then said he had no further testimony to assist. Mrs. Clark took the witness chair. In answer to Judge Hiles the witness said she had no intention of leaving, when a continuance was taken until next morning the court appointing Judge Henderson to look after Mrs. Clark's rights in the premises.

Mrs. Clark talked with the reporters and if half of what she stated is true, Mrs. Cullahan should never be awarded the custody of her young ward.

Mrs. Cullahan was divorced from David Cullahan last November, on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Clark says she got married again before the decree was obtained and was once threatened with arrest for bigamy.

Mrs. Clark is willing that her daughter should go to the Nurse home.

LOWER COURT AFFIRMED.

Supreme Court Decision in the Case of Clarke Co. vs. Fred Simon.

Justice Miner today delivered an opinion, concurred in by Chief Justice Zane and Justice Bartch, in the case of the H. H. Clarke company, appellant, vs. Fred Simon, respondent, and Dora Simon, affirming the judgment of the lower court.

Action in this case was brought by the plaintiff in September, 1896, to recover from the defendants the sum of $1,313.16, for goods alleged to have been sold and delivered. A portion of the claim's account was for goods, merchandise, part of which was not due when the suit was filed. There were two separate and distinct causes of action set forth in the complaint, and these based upon a note alleged fraud. At the time of filing the complaint, plaintiff also sued out a writ of attachment, which alleged that the defendants had assigned and disposed of their property with intent to defraud their creditors.

The defendants demurred to each cause of action, which Judge Cherry sustained. The plaintiffs refused to amend, which a decision was rendered and judgment rendered in favor of defendants. From this judgment an appeal was taken.

The court finds that the action of Judge Cherry in sustaining the demurrer and dismissing the complaint was correct, and adds that when a note is not due the allegation necessary to make in the affidavit for attachment with reference to the fraud must also be included in the complaint, with the addition that the facts constituting the fraud must be specifically stated and enumerated in the complaint in order to constitute it a proper pleading.

"It is not sufficient," says the court, "to charge fraud in general terms, the nature of the fraud must be set out."

Many other errors were assigned, but as the complaint was properly dismissed, the court says they are immaterial.

GAS RATES MAY BE CUT

That is, if the Flow of the Natural Article Is Increased.

UNION LIGHT CO. RUNNING FULL BLAST.

A New Well to Be Sunk Next Week—Driver & Co. Hopeful of Great Results.

Some misleading statements have been made by the morning papers concerning the natural gas situation in the city and the rise in prices to the manufacturers of the manufactured article. In justice to the Union Light & Power company it should be said that the step on their part was taken only when the conditions as a business proposition for some mandatory. A "closer" representative went over the books of the company this morning which proved that in the last seven months the flow of natural gas has only averaged about fifty per cent of the total supply, dropping as low as twenty per cent in February of this year.

The situation is simply this: On account of the alighting up of the wells at the gas fields the pressure fell so low that at one time a back pressure had to be made through the mains running from the wells to supply consumers along the line. At present there is a flow of Lake cities feet per hour from the new well just opened up, which is only twenty per cent of the amount of gas called for, but this is encouraging.

In discussing this question it must be understood that the supply is inadequate to the maximum demand, which varies from 2,000,000 cubic feet per day in warm weather to 22,000 cubic feet on cold days. The company has not sold gas for fuel in solid for. To keep this supply up, the private have to be kept constantly running, and a full set of wells will be sunk next week, according to official of the Union Light and Power company, the reporter visited the gas works this morning. The gas was running at its fullest capacity, the full twenty one reports of the plant being charged.

The Union Light company has now fifty wells in the gas fields, and they have sinking a new well in the gas fields. The situation at the gas fields briefly stated is that the oil wells have been exhausted and the gas wells are giving all adjacent to the consumption, the wells must be sunk from seventy to one hundred feet below the depth attained at present, when a new flow of gas is encountered from which the well that is now working draws its supply. It will be readily seen that it will require at least three weeks of time to sink a gas working drawn its supply. It will be readily seen that it will require at least three weeks of time to sink a new well, which is now the capacity of the present one to be adequate to supply the maximum amount that must be kept up but it is expected by Mr. H. L. Driver that this will be secured.

It was learned at the Union Light office that in case the supply of natural gas reaches sixty per cent of the maximum amount, that a meter rate may be made which will be lower than the rate of $1.75 now charged. In the meantime the company is going ahead putting in a new plant so as to be ready for any emergency that may arise.
