FOR WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH LINE.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN.

A Contempt Case.

ST. PAUL, 1.—Thomas Wilson, formerly chief justice of the State supreme court, to-day appeared before Judge Nelson of the U. S. district court, to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for instituting a suit against McGrath, receiver of the southern Minnesota road without first obtaining the consent of the U. S. court; the case was argued and taken under advisement.

Suicide.

COLUMBUS, O., 1.—A man who threw himself in the front of a train near here last Tuesday, and was killed, has been identified as Christopher Lynn, a resident of the Western States. Parties incriminated by the card found on his person are reliable citizens, who deny any connection with the affair.

Nebraska State Fair.

OMAHA, 1.—Fifteen thousand people visited the State fair to-day.

Congregationalist Council.

NEW HAVEN, 1.—The Congregational Council resumed its session to-day. The time was chiefly occupied with the reading of papers and a discussion over the reports. The committees representing the Methodist Episcopal and Reformed churches were welcomed.

The Saratoga Fire.

SARATOGA, 1.—The efforts of the firemen to-day resulted in saving the Grand Union and Congress hotels intact; the fire is as yet a mystery. It originated in the north end of the south wing, in an upper story, and the opinion prevails that the fire was intentional. That the principal hotels escaped the conflagration is regarded as providential. The wind was blowing almost a gale from the southwest, carrying a shower of burning cinders over the roofs of the Grand Union and Congress hotels. At one time, about noon, the firemen had the flames pretty well under control, and it was believed that they would be confined to the south wing, when suddenly fire was seen to burst from the grand central tower, driving the firemen out of the building, and gaining sudden and considerable headway. At this time it seemed as though the destruction of the Grand Union and Congress was certain, when all at once the wind shifted more to the southward, and the flames were thus driven in the direction of Congress Park. Several times the fire caught in the roof and windows of the Congress and Grand Union Hotels, and was only extinguished by a great effort in the face of blinding heat and smoke. As soon as the wind shifted the firemen regained control of the fire. It seemed at one time as if the destruction of half the village was inevitable, and help was sent for from both Troy and Whitehall, which came from both quarters and from Ballston, and the fire was prevented from spreading. The Grand Hotel is entirely destroyed. The building is worth about $300,000, and was insured for about $200,000; the furniture was insured for about $65,000.

The Public Debt—The Sherman Marriage.

WASHINGTON, 1.—The public debt statement shows a total debt of $2,256,937,536; total interest $32,681,177; coin balance in the treasury $77,408,677, currency do. $16,115,840; special deposits held for the redemption of certificates of deposit, as provided by law, $56,350,000; total in the treasury $149,875,518; the debt, less cash in the treasury, $2,139,753,136. The decrease during September was $483,417.

At the wedding of Miss Sherman to-day, the officers of the army and navy present were all in full uniform, and seats were reserved for them and their ladies upon each side of the church. About one half of the general public, to whom invitations had been extended, and the crowd was greatest in this part of the edifice. When the ceremony was over the bridal party returned to Gen. Sherman's residence, and received their friends from one to four o'clock, the bride and groom in the back parlor, while the General and Mrs. Sherman occupied the front parlor. The bridal party received congratulations in front of a niche containing a bust of General Sherman under a canopy of flowers, draped with smilax, from which also was suspended a marriage bell of snow white flowers. During the reception ceremony the marine band, stationed in the grounds of the parlor, played appropriate airs. After the guests had paid their respects to the bride in the Sherman mansion they passed into the adjoining house, occupied by assistant master-general Routh, where a magnificent banquet awaited them. The table was set with covers for a thousand persons, and although so many were present there was no disagreeable crowding. The residence and its entrances were profusely decorated with palms, century plants, dragon plants, euphorbios, maranta, American Yucca, ferns, and numerous exotics. The halls and banisters were wreathed with evergreens, and the doors leading into the various rooms were covered with cedar. The bridal presents were numerous and valuable, and were exhibited in the library room.
