SCHOOL MATTERS.

Addresses On the Relation of the Press to the Teacher.

THEORIES IN REGARD TO LIGHT.

Closing Exercises of the University Summer School to be Held Tomorrow.

The last afternoon address before the teachers of the summer school was given today by Mr. John Q. Cannon, editor of the News, who spoke on the "Relation of the Press to the Teacher." The address was happily adapted to the occasion, and was listened to with rapt attention. At its conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cannon for his courtesy in addressing the teachers.

The teachers and instructors of the summer school, including the department of physical culture and the academic department, will enjoy an excursion to Saltair tomorrow. It is expected that they will leave on the 400 train, and spend the evening there. A royal good time is expected.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Lyon, Dorey and Spencer was appointed today to induce the instructors in the summer school to continue the school another year.

Address by Prof. Kingsbury.

Prof. Kingsbury delivered a thoughtful lecture on optics before the class in physical culture this morning, it being a preface to a lecture upon the eye to be given tomorrow. "Two theories," said the lecturer, "have been held in regard to light. The first is the emission theory, being that luminous bodies give off minute particles which enter the eye producing the sensation of light. This theory, failing to answer many of the questions of the subjects, has been discarded. The wave theory is that light is produced motion of molecules of the luminous body which transmit their motion to the ether, finally reaching the eye and exciting the optic nerve. This wave theory is generally held and answers all the problems of the subject, the vibrations being at right angles to the line of propagation of the light.

A ray is a single line of light; a beam consists of two or more parallel rays, while a pencil has two or more diverging rays.

Light, on striking a transparent medium, is partly thrown back or reflected and partly transmitted, being at the same time refracted.

The properties of refraction and reflection were then discussed, and the properties of plain, convex and concave mirrors shown.

The subject of lenses concluded the lecture and their action in bending or reflecting rays of light in various directions giving rise to enlarged or reduced images expounded, concluding a profitable hour.

Tomorrow it is expected that Dr. Peaks will lecture on the eye.

Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of the summer school, both in the academic and physical culture departments, will take place tomorrow. The program will be rendered at the University, and will be as follows:

A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

This evening, at 8 o'clock, Prof. Marshall will speak in the lecture hall of the Deseret Museum building on First North street upon the subject, An Historical Tour Through America. The lecture will be illustrated by the fine new stereopticon lately presented to the University, and will be full of interest.

UNIVERSITY ADDRESS.

Synopsis of Remarks Made by Miss Babcock Last Night.

An address was given at the University last evening by Miss Babcock, who spoke upon the subject, "The Relation of Physical Culture to the Public Schools." The speaker said in substance:

The threefold nature of man is physical, mental and moral. It is an absolute law of nature that parts must be used in order to grow, and this is true of the physical nature as well as of the mental and moral natures. In this country where men are now obliged to battle with the elements, build cities, make roads for commerce, the mental faculties have not received attention. And as that which we do not ourselves possess is sometimes most valuable, the popular estimate of mental training as of the greatest value. The relation of the physical to the mental will be given, but first so cogent reasons might be given for the physical effect upon the moral nature. Only through the physical are impressions given to the brain; the brain is itself physical. Light is received through the eye, a physical organ, along the optic nerve (physical), to the brain (physical), and the consciousness, a mental operation. In this same way brain progress is made. If the physical does not reach highest development, or is impaired by disease, impressions will be incorrectly transmitted.

As examples, the bilious person, by the action of the system in its temperament, feels as though all the world is blue. In the case of a consumptive the diseased germs are brought into contact with fresh air, through the process of breathing, and results as the exhilarating effect, so fierce that he will live. The weakness in the psychic Voltaire, the erratic Poe and the short-lived Chopin as contrasted with the sunny characters, Bryant, Beecher, Webster and Washington was exemplified in an interesting manner.

Paul was given as an example of the admirable faith, in which not only the body, but the mind was serene. The reform was brought about through the agency of Luther, Calvin and Wycliffe. One of Luther's productions was read, in which he emphasized the import now of the harmonious development of the entire system.

In the work of teaching, those should be selected for this great work who understand the principles of anatomy and psychology, and who are alive to the importance of systematic exercise as a means of thorough development.

There are three systems now before the public, the German, Swedish and the Sargent. The others, such as the Emerson and Jenness-Miller, have for their aim and scope expression, and are suggestive and should be used with the others. The aim of a system should be threefold in its nature: (1) The attainment of bodily vigor and health; (2) It should be a basis for brain development; (3) to produce beauty and grace. Any system that advocates the gaining of strength without expanding girth is only a fad.

But where little respect little is gained. The systems should advocate gymnastics as a necessity. All systems must be progressive and gymnasiums have their mission as laboratories are a necessity for the teaching of the sciences. The aim should be to send forth students fully equipped for the battle of life. In the words of Dr. Elliott, "The brain worker requires a stronger physique than the manual laborer."

AUGUST FORECAST.

Compilation From a Record of Observations Covering a Period of 20 Years.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The chief of the weather bureau directs the publication of the following data, compiled from the record of observations for the month of August, taken at this station for a period of 20 years.

It is believed that the facts thus set forth will prove of interest to the public as well as the special student, showing as they do the average and extreme conditions of the more important meteorological elements and the extent within which such variations may be expected to keep during any corresponding month.

TEMPERATURE.

Mean or normal temperature, 75 deg.; the warmest August was that of 1876, with an average of 79 deg.; the coldest August was that of 1884, with an average of 72 deg.; the highest temperature during any August was 101 deg. on August 6, 1873; the lowest temperature during any August was 41 deg. on August 27, 1883.

PRECIPITATION (RAIN AND MELTED SNOW).

Average for the month, 0.73 inches; average number of days with .01 or more of rain or more, 5; the greatest monthly precipitation was 1.95 inches in 1891; the least monthly precipitation was 0.00 inches in 1882; the greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any 24 consecutive hours was 0.87 inches on August 28, 1875.

CLOUDS AND WEATHER.

Average number of cloudless days, 17; average number of partly cloudy days, 11; average number of cloudy days, 3.

WIND.

The prevailing winds have been from the southeast; the highest velocity of the wind during any August was 44 miles on August 8, 1876.

In Japan.

From a private source we learn that Dr. Benedict and party have arrived at Yokohama on their tour around the world. All are well and enjoying themselves.

Land Office.

Filings in the local land office under date of July 25 were as follows:

Mary E. Ray, of Fillmore, Millard county, desert land entry of the east half of the northwest quarter, the north half of the southwest quarter, the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter, and lots 1, 2 and 3, section 1, township 22 south, range 10 west.

James E. Merrill, of Fillmore, Millard county, desert land entry of the south half of the southeast quarter, the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter, and lot 7 of section 1, and the northeast quarter of section 12, township 22 south, range 10 west.

The register and receiver handed down decisions today in the following cases:

Isham Wight vs Central Pacific Railway Company; application to contest for relinquishment denied.

Herbert Savage vs Central Pacific Railway Company; same order.

APPEAL FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Mrs. Susan B. Anthony Hopes Utah Will Liberate the Women Politically.

The following communication from Miss Susan B. Anthony is addressed to the ladies in Utah interested in woman suffrage, but it contains a strong appeal to the people of the Territory to enfranchise the women by erasing out the word "male" of the constitution that is to be framed for the future state. The distinguished writer is the president of the American National Woman Suffrage association:

ROCHESTER, New York,
July 15, 1894.

To the officers and members of the Woman Suffrage Association of Utah:

My Dear Friends—I am delighted that you who are in the Union of which, as you have been for nearly years, is the union of the east and the west, Woman Suffrage Association of Utah, of the Congregation State and the District of Columbia (the continental union). I congratulate you—not only because Utah is to be a state, but because I hope and trust that her first act of sovereignty will be to enfranchise women, will be the middle men of Wyoming, which gave political equality to her women. And I tell you that New York will not be the last state to follow in the footsteps of liberty, but the only one of the northern states, with the exception of the two of the Dakotas, which will allow the organic law of sovereign state to be broken on the barbarous rock which women are political serfs of men.

Now is the time for you, proud of your sovereignty of the Union, to straight forward and demand of your people, that adjective "male" be stricken out of your organic law, and women there, don't be cajoled into believing that we think how the women of New York have toiled and toiled over forty years to get "male" out of our constitution. Fifty thousand petitions and scores upon scores the continental congresses of men, and we were and were disregarded, and now over half a million of the men and women of the state have petitioned the continental convention and to all stage committee reports it is a general granting our prayer. And we are really about for the members to get more home than the newspapers appeared to their constituents to consider and report upon the question.

No, no! Don't be deluded by any specious reasoning, but demand justice now. Congressmen in your constitution would pass amendments to secure votes of women as we was in the other state. And mind, the men of your convention should not allow the question to be separately voted upon, either. But the suffrage clause should read, "Every citizen of the age of 21 years." In the old days, very anxious lest the mention of equal rights to women will be too potential, but I shall hope that truth and justice will prevail and that Utah will demand her state constitution with political equality to women established beyond the power of repeal.

I shall hardly be able to have another chance like the Union with women disfranchised. I do not hope that Colorado men did not "make" out of their wives some Hebrews, but that in the new and early states, and I fear more emphatically so, for in no other state is there more to be such a favorable combination of circumstances to have secure the good result. Even Kansas men have had their hands of favorable conditions. The Republican state convention going back on its platform and leaving the amendment—that is saying that women on the platform was to be the plan of the party's last campaign—was the great adversary. Would to one half of the political meetings of the state, to which by my own hope of carrying the amendment, or rather one half of my hope, for now it will be disappointed in the other half of the political meetings—the Populist—secured to all the speakers for both of the great parties of the state, as we had so earnestly hoped, were passed.

Our sisters come to New York and Kansas in our hopeless struggle this fall. I trust the women of Utah will never be compelled to go through such a powerless ordeal.

With best love to each and all of you—and too, now for your sacrificed—I am very sincerely yours,

SUSAN B. ANTHONY.

Funeral at Mill Creek.

The funeral service over the remains of Sister Lucy Caroline Carlisle, wife of Harvey C. Carlisle, was held in the Mill Creek ward house at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Bishop James C. Hamilton conducted the service, and the funeral sermon was delivered by Elder Joseph E. Taylor. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends of the deceased, and a long cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where the grave was beautifully adorned by Elder John Dawson, of Orangeville. The deceased passed away on July 24th. She would have been twenty-four years of age if she had lived until the 6th of September next. She had been married about two years, one of the latter two years and the other six weeks old. Her parents are Andrew and Maggie Cannon, and she was born in South Cottonwood.

Personal.

Mrs. H. Christy, the milliner, will leave for New York this evening to make fall purchases in her line of business.

AMUSEMENTS.

SOWING THE WIND, by Frohman's company, opens Monday next. The entrance sale opens tomorrow morning, and despite the increase in prices, a heavy demand is looked for.

OLE OLSON will open his second engagement in Salt Lake on Monday evening next. He will this time be seen at the Lyceum.

Choir Concert.

Tomorrow, Friday, evening a concert will be given in the Farmers' ward hall, commencing at 8 o'clock. Dancing given by the ward choir, and an excellent program, chiefly musical, has been arranged.

"Check Your Valuables."

Tomorrow a card giving the name of Wm. S. Ross will go before Commissioner Greenman to answer a "house"-breaking. The allegation is that the accused forcibly entered one of the bath houses at Garfield on Monday and stole jewelry valued at $5, cash to the amount of $2, and sundry papers belonging to one George Kenner. Ross says he is not guilty.

Political.

There will be a meeting of the Democrats of the Sixteenth ward Friday evening, July 27, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. C. E. Silverwood, No. 340 west, North Temple street. The call is made by H. A. Smith, president of the ward society.

Temperance Rally.

A "temperance rally" will be held at the Rescue Mission, 226 State street, tonight. The address will be made by a gentleman who worked in the St. John campaign, in Kansas, several years ago. Before the address the following program will be rendered:

Opening Song, Throw Out the Life Line.
Opening of Rally.

OGDEN.

MONDAY, JULY 23, 1894.

Court Item.

The following program was disposed of through by Judge Minn in the Fourth district court yesterday:

In the matter of S. J. Hoit vs Bertha Cook, application was given until September 1st to serve statement on motion for a new trial.

Lisa C. Cannon was granted a divorce from her husband, Henry Chester, on the grounds of failure to provide. Jane Hall was also granted a divorce from her husband, Joseph Hall, on the same grounds.

T. Spaulding pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful cohabitation and was fined $100. A. Olson also pleaded guilty and will receive sentence on the 31st inst.

On All Lines.

The double daily passenger and mail service was commenced on the Union Pacific last night. At 7:40 a train pulled out of the yards with 6 cars, No. 7 arrived. The responsibility of these trains was caused by high water being so trouble over the Southern Pacific, and now that road is again doing business the trains have gone back. The service on all lines this Union is again resumed. The strike here is certainly at an end.

Another Arrest.

The U. S. deputy marshals nabbed J. J. Welsh yesterday at a moment when he was least expecting it. He is charged with obstructing the United States mail and interfering with railroad property in the strike of July 3d. His bonds were fixed at $1,000, which he was unable to secure, and he accordingly lodged in jail. He will have a hearing this afternoon.

Pay Car In.

The Southern Pacific pay car arrived in Ogden on the 23d and was the cause of much loitering as well as injecting among the boys. Soldiers were hustled from the car to meet former employes of the company who had taken part in the strike, whereupon their chest, stating that their services would not be needed in the future operation of the road.

Burglary.

On the 24th the residence of A. W. Childs was entered during an unknown person, and a gold watch, a revolver and other articles carried off. The police have no clue to the thieves.

Notes.

C. S. Varian was an Ogden visitor yesterday.

Two hundred and forty sacks of Australian mail passed through Ogden yesterday en route eastward.

Miss Bessie Lyons, of Salt Lake, is visiting with Miss Posey Wright, in Ogden, for a few days.

Mrs. J. F. Lewkings and family have returned from an extended visit to the coast.

G. S. Gauffman, the individual who got drunk on Saturday night and had discharged a pistol at the depot grounds was yesterday assessed the sum of $10 for his pleasure.

A. Lind was assessed $5 by Justice Bagley, in the police court, for being drunk; Mrs. M. Williams, who has for many months played a prominent part in police circles, was given ten days in the city jail, or else was fined the same from that city and two other tramps received five days on the rock piles.

A large and appreciative audience was present on Twenty-fifth street last evening to witness the three performances by Herbert by two a patron the Great; Mons. Rene Emile and Rex Troubled, who performed many successful feats and at the conclusion of the exhibition the large crowd which had assembled departed surprised at what they had seen. The boys are now making a tour through the Territory and in August will attend the national cycle races to be held at Denver.
