FRAGMENTS.

F. D. Cluff has filed suit in the Third District court against Calvin W. Vance and twenty-five others to recover the sum of $[illegible], given for three promissory notes dated July 30, 1891.

The American Natural Gas company has struck a splendid flow of gas in its new well at Lake Shore at a depth of a little more than 1,000 feet. This well joins those in volume that the company has.

The J. H. Bowman fraud case is being investigated this afternoon before the County Commissioners. It was not finished this morning, but owing to the absence of some of the witnesses, it was continued till 2 p. m.

The February term of the Third District court opened this morning. A report of the proceedings will be found in another column. It was expected that the session of a grand jurors would be completed this afternoon.

N. R. McCune, who has recently made a spot of "The Old Week," will open a series of free lectures on what he saw in Russia, Egypt and the Holy Land, in Tabernacle hall, No. 28 east, Third South street, beginning tomorrow evening at half past 7 o'clock.

Articles of incorporation of the Wellsville Mercantile Company have been filed with Territorial Secretary Sells. The capital stock is placed at $[illegible], divided into 1000 shares. John Adamson and twenty-seven others are the incorporators.

One of S. F. Walker's teams ran away with a carriage last night. The scene of the runaway was on East South Temple street. It was brought to a sensational by collision with an electric light post. No one was injured, though the vehicle was badly damaged.

Yesterday's election seems to have had its effect upon the courts. Business was remarkably light in and about the building today, but nearly everybody appeared weary, and seemed engaged in the Cullinan case. It was remarked that they "looked as if they were just about tired out." And they looked it.

There are several small civil cases lingering on in Commissioner Thomson's court. He disposed of one of them on the 1st this morning in which the Edison Pioneer Chemistry was the plaintiff and a prominent citizen was the defendant. The plaintiff got judgment in their favor.

Those who desire to see the magnificent spectacle allowed by the natural gas well can be gratified if they will have the Pacific express train which leaves this city at 7 o'clock on Thursday evening. There will be an illuminated car for the use of all who may desire it. Forty cents is charged for the round trip, the rate.

A notice of divorce has been filed in the Third District court by Virginia Carlgren against her husband, James W. Carlgren. The petitioner in her complaint alleges that she was married to the defendant in this city on December 1, 1886. For some time past her husband has treated her cruelly. Two instances are mentioned, the first on November 1, 1890, when he struck her in the face, and the second on January 31, when he knocked her down and threatened to kill her, so she says for a description of divorce, for alimony and for the custody of her three children. A notice to the defendant has been issued by Judge Zane, so that the defendant cannot dispose of his property, which is considerable, until the case comes on for hearing.

SUPPLYING LIQUOR TO INDIANS.

Four Men Committed on This Charge to Await the Grand Jury's Action.

Deputy Marshal W. H. Monahan of Provo and Deputy Marshal Enger of Salt Lake arrived in the city this morning from Provo, having in their custody W. H. Tenbrunsel, J. G. Burr and two other men whose names the deputies decline to disclose for the present, for certain reasons. The charge against them is that of selling liquor to Indians on the Indian reservation, Fort Duchesne county, and they are held to await the grand jury's action. The defendants were caged in Marshal Parsons' department until the latter part of the morning, when they were wheeled away to the penitentiary, pending the further investigation to their case. They form a rough and unwashed sort of party.

OPENING OF THE TERM.

The February Session of the Third District Court Began Today.

Chief Justice Zane presided in the Third District Court this morning upon the opening of the February term. There was but a small attendance of attorneys, and the proceedings were of an almost formal character.

THE GRAND JURY.

The impaneling of a grand jury resulted in the selection of the following gentlemen:

C. M. Hammond, Henry Wallace, Henry Babcock, H. Grassler, J. R. Scott, W. S. Henderson, Green Miller, S. J. Lyon and Charles H. Brink, all of Salt Lake City; Thos. P. Pitts, Westland, Summit County; O. F. Miller, Riverton; Byron A. Beckstead, South Jordan; Mike Kopsanteis, Highland; Thos. Wardle, Park City; E. T. Sears, Salt Lake City.

Excused—George E. Ellsworth, Oscar Harry, and W. H. Noyes, Salt Lake City; and Marion Gray, Sugar House.

PETIT JURY.

The petit jury panel was called and a number of jurors having been excused, another venire was issued, and marshal's aide of 12 p. m.

A CORNER COURT'S ADDICTS.

The minutes of Commissioner Greenman were presented and allowed.

SO A COURTER CLAIM.

Judgment for the defendant on the counter claim was allowed in the case of Velick Moss vs. Ellen Mc Omie.

CASE PROCEEDING.

Frank Mayne vs. George H. Davis et al.; trial to progress when the court adjourned at 12:30 for the week recess.

BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

Result of Yesterday's Election in This City.

DEMOCRATS LOSE THE FOURTH PRECINCT,

But Hold On to the Third by a Goodly Majority.—The "Liberals" Get the Rest.—An Obvious Official.—Other Incidents.

The result of yesterday's municipal election was a victory for the misnamed "Liberal" party. It is not our present purpose to enlarge upon the ways and means by which this result was reached, or even to comment upon them, but merely to record incidents, facts and figures. The Democrats have lost the Fourth precinct, notwithstanding the rejection of numbers of proffered votes of the electors who had office under oath, substantially that they were men, and have carried the Third by a considerable majority. The net is all "Liberal."

One of the surprises of the contest is the increase of 125 per cent in the Republican vote of the city.

The returns by precincts appear below. They tell their own tale so far as a merely superficial exposition of a subject can. In the First precinct, where there were two "Liberal" election judges, and elsewhere, where the Democrats and Republicans judges either did not act as harmoniously, or as deterministically as at the Fourth, there is to present telling how many unnecessary votes and how much confusing knavery the more not misspelled ballots are made to cover up. Even in the Fourth, where the utmost vigilance was the rule, where the challengers would not let "Jiffed" and the judges insisted according to law in nearly every case, there were some, perhaps many, which slipped through the meshes and got in their votes.

High-handedness prevailed extensively for a while and at times in all the precincts, and the accounts given of some of them in the "Liberal" organs are simply scandalous, so utterly at variance with the facts they. Notably in this so is the case of the striking of Election Judge Wells and the subsequent clubbing.

One incident that has not been mentioned for or concerns to be placed on record. Joe Rooz, a deputy marshal, made himself very officious around the polling place in Fourth for a while, taking advantage of every opportunity to let those present know what he was there for. A Democrat in very shortly before noon, and having an ballot, one of the challengers passed one to him across the judge's table. "Don't you pass anything across that table again," said Rooz. "All right," said the unfortunate offender. "If you so that you can't handle it, I'll do you a favor." Rooz, on receipt of the ballot, the challenger had as much right there as Rooz had, perhaps more, and that was all there is to it. Whether the officer's action calling forth was repeated, the affair should have received attention from some source, but it did not.

J. M. Hamilton, who had the appointment as judge for the First precinct on the part of the Democrats, neither appeared nor had good in time, and the result was the election of a "Liberal" in his place.

Yesterday's election probably leads the Utah record in the matter of scratching, as the labor more in the following returns by precincts:

DESERT LAND ENTRIES.

An Important Communication From the General Land Office, Washington.

A letter has been received by Registrar Hooks of the land office, in this city, from Assistant Commissioner Stone of the General Land office at Washington, dated Feb. 2nd, pointing out that in all desert land entries initiated since the passage of the act of March 3rd, 1891 the price of lands included therein is $1.25 per acre, without regard to railroad limits, consequently something no initial payment of 25 cts. per acre necessary.

"Where parties have initiated entries since March 3rd," the communication goes on to say, "and have made the initial payment of dirty cents per acre, you are authorized to accept the balance of payment, viz: ninety cents per acre upon their subsisting final proof. Entries initiated prior to March 3rd, 1891, will be governed by the regulations given in Circular of Sept. 1st, 1890, and the price of lands must be paid for at the rate of $2.50 per acre."

A DISASTROUS BLAZE.

The Lace House Again Burned; this time Rasmuhl Cook House.—Heavy Losses.

The Lace House has again been visited by a disastrous fire. This time the building was discovered in flames shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. Immediately before the sounding of the alarm the department had been called to the Rasmuhl corner by message.

On the occasion the West Side engine arrived on the scene and poured a considerable amount of hose and water on the Opera House, just below the Emporium corner. Unfortunately the rap could not be removed owing to some breakage. The main engine had reached the spot by this time and procured a large supply of water from the hydrant in front of McCornick's body. Before this new dam, however, the flames had gained great headway and for a time it seemed that the entire structure was doomed. The loss is estimated at not less than $10,000.

Just how the fire originated is not known, but incendiarism is believed to be the cause.

The flames were communicated to the Rasmuhl and Schweitzer cloak houses, and did damage to the extent of perhaps $1,000. Both establishments, together with their stock were covered by insurance.

The losses were being adjusted today.

Natural Gas.

The following communication, which is of considerable interest just at this time, has been received from the General Land Office at Washington, D. C., dated February 6th, 1892:

Register and Receiver, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Sir—Take in receipt of your letter of January 30, 1892. You state that numerous parties are now discovered within Uintah Indian reservation, and that they want to be informed as to whether the state of Utah to which their contention is based, will be allowed to exercise under the United States laws at last date.

I am unable to refer you to any case in point, but I think that the rule in this case would be been definitely decided.

In a recent letter, however, I expressed the opinion that the state of Utah is not at liberty to grant permission to parties to render a tract of land from which it can be shown it is known to be valuable for natural gas.

I am still of this opinion, and you are therefore instructed not to allow mineral entries of such tracts.

Very respectfully,
THOS. H. CARTER, Commissioner.

EUREKA TOWNSITE.

The Case for the Protestants Comes to a Close.

The further hearing of the above-named case was resumed this morning at the United States Land Office, when the case for the protestants was concluded, after about an hours' sitting, and a continuance was taken until Thursday next.

Mr. Sullivan, who occupied the stand yesterday, was recalled for cross-examination. He admitted he sent two experts to the Wolfe Tone shaft on the purpose of making an examination, with a view to giving testimony in the case, but at no time did he offered, he said, to sell any lots or parcels of land within the Wolfe Tone. Robert L. Lee, or Little Chief claimed, he said, to be a Sioux and actually made. He had built three dwelling houses upon the Wolfe Tone claim, outside of the mining improvements, and had dug a well and set water in the Home Rule claim. He built a house upon ground within the limits of that claim, since the Indian commission visited it as soon as it was no longer necessary.

Q.—Was not that house built against the orders of the officers of the claim?

A.—They have pretended, but never complained. After that suggestion they sold off half.

Witness was then interrogated in regard to what he offered the mineral work upon the claim, and which, it seemed, simply meant the sinking of a well.

The witness's examination by Major Iron had reference to certain assays of ore which the Wolfe Tone claim and the adjoining Home claim had.

These proceedings ended, and the inquiry was adjourned until Thursday at 10 o'clock, when the case will be resumed. Mr. Sullivan's examination will probably last for some time to come, there being quite a number of intending witnesses in the other side.

THE FOUR SUSPECTS.

Hearing of the Cullinan Murder Case Resumed Today.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

The Testimony of Police Officers Taken This Morning—It Was a Brief Session.

All of which this morning, one hour after the time appointed, the preliminary examination of the four persons charged with killing part in the plot to murder Edward Cullinan was resumed before Commissioner Greenman. The hall of the county commissioners proved all the two previous hearings were conducted by their absence on this occasion, having probably worn themselves out with excitement during election day, and legal business actually engaged in the investigation, counsel and witnesses, not more than half a dozen individuals were in the room at any stage of the inquiry.

The prosecution was conducted by Assistant Attorney General Dickson; Moses, Attorney A. Hamilton again represented John Hill, Lottie Miner and Bill Larkins; Delbert Edwards ("Cripple Dick") was defended by Attorneys Glean and Goodes.

Marshal Young was recalled and asked he had summoned the bailed bound in Cullinan's body to a generally, who responded it is a Hamilton. On the morning of the 6th June, 1891, he was present when Officer Dunn informed Lottie Miner of the arrest of John Hill, on a charge of being interested in the killing of Cullinan. Miner asked, "Does he know?" referring to the detention Larkins, and said she would go up and see Joe.

To Mr. Armstrong—Witness did not be first learned of the murder from Officer Dunn, near the Passello Avenue house, about three minutes on the morning of the tragedy. Witness called up the patrol wagon and went down with several others to where the body of Cullinan was lying.

Frank M. Dunn, assistant deputy city marshal, stated that he visited the house of Lottie Miner, on Franklin avenue, on the morning of June 6th, about 11:15. At the door of the house he encountered John Hill, who was endeavoring to get in without ringing the bell in advance of him. The defendant had his hand on the door, and was leaning his shoulder against the door. Witness asked Miner if she wished to see him, as he had previously stated to that effect. She said "Yes," and took him into her private room. She then stated that John Hill and Co., from the back door, had shot Cullinan in the Springs, that they were going to run him, even if they had to kill him, and that she did not want anything of that kind to happen in her house.

Attorney Glean, interrogating, said there had been no conspiracy proven here so far, and no attempt to prove it. Unless a prima facie case of conspiracy was made out, the statement of no place of the defendants was inadmissible against other of the defendants. Consequently, he asked the latter part of the officer's testimony be stricken out.

Prosecuting Attorney Dickson—We can prove this conspiracy by circumstantial evidence altogether—by parts, and Gen. counsel it.

Mr. Glean—This being a preliminary examination, and it being out of the power of the court to impose any penalty, I think the question asked and the answer given would be completed in the case. You may proceed, Mr. Dickson. Anything that will throw light on this matter will, I think, be considered.

Officer Dunn, continuing, testified to Lottie Miner further telling him that she had a horse and buggy hired and ready for him and Officer Birmer to follow their parties. The horse and buggy were in the alley—state had up in the station, near opposite Miner's house. Miner said to him just before he left the house, "If they do not kill him, I will not be responsible for what I say—I'm going myself in my carriage to find you." She did not send for him, however, in the night before the finding of the corpse, but a boy at Miner's house, he saw a man—who afterwards turned out to be Cullinan—leaving the house, and he in one of the rooms. Mrs. Miner handed witness a sum of money, in all $[illegible], which he said she would hand him by mail—she wanted it sent to him in the presence of witnesses—so that if the men to whom it belonged should afterwards "catch," she would have those witnesses ready to show the correct amount. She told him after the last one had given the man his money back.

The defense here strenuously objected to the admission of what they termed hearsay evidence, which drew from Attorney Glean the remark that the contract document would show that there day's election seemed to have entirely silver legal principles out of course' law.

This soft impeachment was denied by the other side.

To Mr. Armstrong, witness said he was searching for the number of Fine Arts and Commercial streets, about 10 in the morning, when he received the first information of Cullinan's murder. He went down the Plaza and met with others and saw the dead body of Cullinan, which he first identified as that of the man whom he saw trying on the bell in Miner's house the night previous (not long before midnight). Officer Dunn was with witness when the money was counted. Mrs. Miner said it belonged to a man in Dunn Hooper's room, and that she (Miner) had taken it from his pocket.

Police Officer W. H. Poole testified that he was called with Sergeant Dixon to go to Franklin Avenue on the night of June 6th, to a man named Bill Hill, who was said to be hid with the daughter at Lottie Miner's house, and that he would then to get her out of there. They went to the place but did not find the girl. It was then that Lottie Miner asked witness and his mother-in-law to go into her room and read the money taken off of Hill by witness. She read out the total and returned money afterwards with the remark, nearly all in $20 bills, which Dunn counted.

Cross-examined by Mr. Armstrong, witness said the girl then about eight years on the city. Witness saw the man in Dunn Hooper's room. Mrs. Miner said then that she wanted them to count the money, so that there would be no subsequent trouble. He had heard of Cullinan's murder about 4 o'clock the same morning. Witness did not go down to the spot and where the dead body of Cullinan lay, the first time he was, but remained at the City Hall to take charge of Jane Hill, who was born in custody.

At this stage the inquiry was adjourned until 2 p. m.

UTAH LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL.

In the Council this afternoon, Potter, of the Elder County, presented a petition from citizens of Box Elder County, asking that $200.00 be appropriated for maps. Committee on claims.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

The Queen's Speech—Sessions to be Prorogued.

London, Feb. 8.—Parliament reassembled today. The Queen's speech opening the session was read. Everyone congratulates her the expressions of the people to her late bereavement. Among other things the message states that an agreement had been negotiated with all the powers relating to Behring sea to be referred to arbitration. England's relations with Russia, France, the Triple Alliance, and other friendly Powers will continue to pass upon numerous matters, among which the prospects are cheering to Ireland the general principles of home government already adopted in Great Britain, a measure for securing a number of small holdings in the agricultural district of Great Britain, a bill extending the advantages of assisted education to Ireland, a scheme modifying the system of procedure in regard to private bills so far as it affects Scotland or Ireland. Proposals will also be submitted for conferring the rights of the established church in regard to burial allowed, revising existing agreements between the government and the Bank of England, and amending the law which compels the training of employees for injuries sustained by employers.

Converting Bullets in the Bahama.

New York, Feb. 8.—At a whole this morning the whole force of men at work on the Cuban and Bahama Dept examined to clear away the debris in the cellar which was underneath dining room and over the corner chiefland saloons. Three hours later the eleventh body was unearthed. All the three bodies found this morning were those of women, but none of them has been identified.

CONGRESS.

AN EAST TEXAS ACTION.

A bill has been introduced at Washington requiring all letting produce containing sugar and amounts to be a tax of one cent per pound, and for purposes, and has been long introduced by the action of state legislatures, boards of health, and secondary schools, etc., in this country. The bill adopts mental protection to the people, for the existence as in the injurious effects of whisky and amounts to very heavy. In it the bill particularly be bought bitterly by the manufacturers which it affects who are accustomed to sell their goods as "pure Cream of Tartar," "absolutely pure" etc.

The bill is something needed. If a maker uses a dime in his power, the issue of a bill for does not want to have printed on his label, it is prima facie evidence that there is something wrong. We hope the subject will be vigorously prosecuted all over the country, so only as regards baking powder, but also all other food adulterations.

The bill may incidentally benefit the makers of pure article, but it is should, this is only an additional point in its favor.
