SENATE FOR SILVER.

Pass a Resolution on the Question This Afternoon.

PROVOKES SARCASTIC DEBATE.

A Bill Defining the Law of Newspaper Libel Introduced by Miller of Salt Lake.

The Senate was called to order this afternoon at precisely 2 o'clock. Prayer was offered by Senator Shaw, of Washington. Minutes of yesterday's proceedings were read by Clerk Cleve, a task that required thirty minutes, on account of the rules being embodied in the journal. Fifteen minutes more were consumed making amendments, after which the regular order of business was called for.

FOR A SILVER MONEY SYSTEM.

Senator Allison presented the following:

To the Congress of the United States:

Your memorialists, the Governor and Legislature of Utah would respectfully represent to your Honorable Body:

That the progress of the United States in manufacture and agriculture, that the maintenance of our supremacy as the choicest dwelling spot of earth, that the general freedom and individual independence of the people, rest in a vital sense endangered by our financial financial system, which affords a premium to other lands in the commercial and industrial controversy with us, which multiplies the weight of public and private debt while decreasing the power of the nation and citizen to pay, which darkens the future of our generations with an impenetrable cloud of hopelessness.

That every step recently taken in financial legislation has either been a direct increase of evil or grossly inefficient to correct existing wrong.

That further attempt to follow the policy of foreign money lenders, will not make more steps to be retraced in pain and wrinkled cost.

Now, therefore, we most respectfully urge the passage of a law to achieve anew what all our history and the experience of mankind have taught us is the protection of national right and the happiness of the millions of our own against the corporate of the funeral gold cities which are without a country. We ask that by a mate of the United States, the mint shall be opened to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 of silver to 1 of gold without waiting for the consent of any other nation on earth, and your memorialists will ever pray.

Warner moved to suspend the rules for the purpose of immediately adopting the resolution. Seconded by Evans, of Utah.

Booth, of Salt Lake, was in favor of some such resolution but urged the necessity of moving slowly in a matter so important.

There was a sarcastic tilt between Warner, Evans and Allison on one side and Booth on the other, after which the rules were suspended and the resolution unanimously adopted.

Senator Glen Miller, Salt Lake, introduced a bill for an act relating to and defining the law of libel.

The further amendment of the rules was under discussion when the News report closed for the day.

House Proceedings.

It was 2:30 this afternoon when Speaker Denny of the House called the assembly to order, a roll call showing the presence of a quorum.

After prayer by the chaplain, Mr. Lowry of Sanpete moved that an adjournment be taken today at 3:30, in order to allow certain members the privilege of going home, which adjournment to be until Monday at 2 p.m. seconded and carried.

The minutes of yesterday's session were then read and approved, after which a member arose and made inquiry as to the reading of yesterday's minutes.

The chief clerk informed the House that they had not yet been received from the printer, but that they had been promised by 3 o'clock, until which time the reading of them would have to be deferred.

A communication from the Senate asked for the appointment of a committee to act with a committee from the Senate to consider a bill introduced by Mr. Critchlow.

The chair appointed Mr. Beard and Mr. Neisker of Kane.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

H. B. No. 7, by Mr. Harris, providing for the establishment of free employment offices.

H. B. No. 8, by Mr. Mansfield, providing for the changing of county boundaries.

H. B. No. 9, by Mr. Taylor, limiting exemption from judgment of mechanic's and laborer's wages.

H. B. No. 10, by Mr. Cushing, by request, providing for the issuance of notes.

H. B. No. 11 by Mr. Ferguson of Carbon, making eight hours a legal day's work.

H. B. No. 12 by Mr. Critchlow, providing the number of officers in the Legislature, their duties and salary.

H. B. No. 13 by Mr. Sevey, authorizing the secretary of state to furnish dockets for use in the district courts.

H. C. R. No. 4 by Mr. Beard, providing for the appointment of a Governor's messenger to serve during the legislative session at $3 per day. Amended to $2 per day and passed.

H. C. R. No. 5, by Mr. Rollins, by request, appointing a committee of three from each house to make arrangements for rooms in the joint building or elsewhere for Governor, Secretary and other state officers.

H. R. No. 3, by Mr. Robinson, directing the sergeant-at-arms to post bulletins of the House proceedings to a conspicuous place in the legislative halls.

Amusement Notes.

A great many people desiring to witness the performance at the Theater last night, where In Old Kentucky was the attraction, were disappointed because they could not obtain even "standing room only;" so crowded was the house in every corner. And this morning the rush for tickets continues, indicating another immense audience tonight. The play is of the melodramatic character with some really pretty scenery and some bits of good acting, occasionally relieving up a long story of various kinds of villainy. It takes well with the part of the audience which always expresses its appreciation in a manner that resembles a mad performance on a thousand penny whistles, all trying to drown the piercing noise of the others in their own discords. But this is no serious objection to the play, as that part of the music undoubtedly has as much right to their enjoyment as others have. In Old Kentucky introduces a heroic mountain girl who risks her life and saves her lover from death; an honest moonshiner with murder in his heart; a villain who adds to his list of crimes an attempt to kill a horse; the horse itself; the so-called Pickaninny band and a colored gentleman with a horse whip, and various other characters. There is some shooting, a deadly fight between two rivals, an incendiary fire in a stable, a horse race, a manger and a few other incidents, all of which were duly appreciated.

The cast is a fairly good one. Miss Laura Burt is a handsome Madge and acted her part splendidly. Mr. Kingsley was also good as the broad-brained moonshiner. The rest of the cast sustained their roles satisfactorily.

Miss Laura Lloyd Burt, it was be stated, is a niece of Hon. Elias Morris, of this city, and was born at Carnarvon, North Wales, in 1872. Mr. Morris never saw the little lady until yesterday, and was unaware of her presence in the city until notified by Secretary James of the local Cambrian association.

Today Miss Burt was made the guest of the Cambrians, and all afternoon was being shown the many attractions of the city. This evening an informal reception will be tendered Miss Burt at the Knutsford, and the local Cymric will turn out in a body to greet her at tonight's performance.

This evening the play goes again.

The arrangements at Saturday's opening morning for 1896, which will be the attraction at the Theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

At the Grand and Lyceum hotels continue fair, both places having strong attractions. The Silver Lining at the Grand is favorably commented on by those who have seen it.

The concert at the Tabernacle tonight is the first of a series to be given for the benefit of the Mutual Improvement League and the Tabernacle choir. A fine musical program will be rendered by some of Utah's best talent.

The Iron King Company.

Articles of incorporation were filed this afternoon in the office of County Clerk Stanton by the Iron King Mining company. The following constitute the board of directors and officers: Robert J. Gibson, president; John E. Wheomb, vice-president; Charles Stewart, treasurer; William McMillan, secretary, and George Arbogast.

The capital stock of the company is $500,000, divided into two hundred and fifty thousand shares at $2 each, divided as follows: Robert J. Gibson, 91,667 shares; Charles Stewart, 116,667 shares; George Arbogast, 9,833 shares; John E. Wheomb, 25,000 shares; William McMillan, 8,833 shares.

Probate Court.

There were but two orders made in the probate court today. They were as follows:

Estate of Frank H. Dyer, deceased, order made approving and allowing executors, fourth annual account.

Estate of Benjamin Rush Pickering, order made appointing Fred J. Paby administrator upon giving a bond in the sum of $6,000.

Committed to the Asylum.

Russell Higginson, aged 23, was committed to the insane asylum this afternoon by Judge McNally. He was examined by Drs. E. R. Wright and H. D. Niles. He came from Denver, Colo., four months ago, and for some time past has labored under the hallucination of seeing varied colored lights at all hours of the night and thought some one was possessed with the desire to injure his mother. He would spend hours at a time washing a single tea cup, and frequently raised his hands and eyes as if in prayer. The unfortunate man will be taken to Provo tomorrow morning by Sheriff Hardy or one of his deputies.

Col. Morris Much Worried.

Col. Geo. Pepper Morris, who is laboring under the hallucination that he will be named as one of the Senators from Utah, was more conspicuous and persistent in the legislative lobbies today than ever before. He was much worried by the curious crowds that thronged about him and plied him with immediate questions concerning his candidacy and what would do in the event that he should be successful in his aspirations.

No District Court Today.

The judges of the district court have not yet got down to the transaction of much business. Up to the time of going to press this afternoon there had been no orders made, or cases heard today.

AMONG FAIRVIEW FARMERS.

A Pet Deer Makes a Fight to a Finish.

Progress Among Farmers—Cause of Mortgages—Cattle and Pigs—Birthday celebration—Notes.

FAIRVIEW, Idaho,
January 8, 1896.

To the Editor:

On Sunday a five-year-old "pet" deer belonging to Mr. Sam Parkinson, of Franklin, broke loose and left his farm yard on a stampede, and after wandering about Round mountain four days, this morning made a never-to-be-forgotten visit to the home of Mr. Chas. Smith, an old-time farmer of Fairview. Mr. Smith was out in his yard at the time, and upon hearing the tingle of a bell, turned around to see from whence the sound came, and was somewhat surprised to see the "pet" deer with a bell around its neck. He seemed pleased to see the graceful looking animal, started towards it with the intention of stroking it, and thought he would bring it around in the back of his house to amuse a number of children who were playing together; but when within a few feet of the "pet" it started for him like a wild bull, with its head down, and looked as though it would gore him to death in short order. In less time than it takes to tell, Mr. Smith was knocked to the ground and was being thrown around in the snow by the animal in a very rough manner. He wrestled with the deer long enough to get some severe bruises, and would no doubt have been killed had it not been for the appearance of Mr. Smith's dog on the scene, which startles the animal and it at once started for the dog.

A messenger was at once sent for Mr. Peck, a neighbor living near by, to come up with his gun to put an end to the life of the "pet" before it could repeat its viciousness. Mr. Peck at once started for the scene with his loaded shotgun, and when near Mr. Smith's farm, the "pet" started for him in the same furious manner that it had for Mr. Smith, and no doubt would have done him bodily harm had it not been for the fact that he was a good marksman. When the animal got within a few feet of Mr. Peck he shot its eyes out. If Mr. Peck had not been quick in doing his going, the beast would most likely have gored him, as it was quite vicious than ever through chasing the dog, and started for him fiercely, but fell dead two feet from Mr. Peck. Upon examination it was found that besides having many bruises Mr. Smith was badly suffering about pain through gashes of his hoofs being skinned as a result of holding the animal's horns.

Mr. Parkinson had sent the "pet's" horns down considerably a few weeks ago; had he not done so, Mr. Smith would most likely have been killed.

WHO WOULDN'T BE A FARMER?

Most of the farmers in this little burg are in a prosperous condition, the soil is good and water is plentiful. Some of the farmers raised fifty bushels of wheat to the acre last season, others forty-five and quite a number forty-two and a half. A few of them sold most of their grain last fall at thirty-five cents a bushel to pay the interest on borrowed money. I am sorry to say that some of them have mortgaged their homes to buy machinery, etc., but not very many. Most of them have got their granaries full of wheat, etc., ready for the spring trade, when they expect to get fifty or sixty cents a bushel. The market price of grain at the present time is forty-one cents per bushel.

In visiting around I find that the majority of the farmers here have got their winter supply of wood out of the canyons and chopped ready for the stove. Their coal sheds are also full, and although the thermometer sometimes reaches 10 below zero, we assemble around the stoves and keep ourselves warm. Birthday parties, sleighing, socials, balls and card parties are the amusements that are going on nightly, and the life of most of the farmers, during the winter, is very pleasantly spent, only having to look after his stock.

THERE ARE FARMERS AND FARMERS.

While making my visits I find that there are farmers and farmers. Some of them are found with their machines cleaned and put away ready for work next spring, while others leave their machinery out in the center of their fields to be rained by the storms. At one farm house I was much surprised to see a $1,000 threshing machine out in the field with not even a sack over it; these same farmers have to "pull out" in the morning and chop wood before they can start a fire, never preparing for a rainy day; I suppose they believe "there is a tomorrow;" they have their homes mortgaged, pay their yearly interest, but do not seem to try to pay off the principal.

CATTLE ARE PLENTIFUL.

Quite a number of the farmers here are feeding stock ready to be marketed in the spring, and cattle-buyers will find a few hundred good beeves by visiting this part of the globe. Two or three of the farmers are feeding as many as fifty head each, while others have not got quite that number. They all look to be in first-class condition.

Pigs are also numerous, nearly every farmer feeding as many as twenty-five hogs; others have as many as fifty.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

This afternoon we are celebrating the 70th birthday of Mr. Richard Rawlins, one of the oldest settlers in this section. He is the father of 10 children, 7 of whom are living (as the table day) 3 have passed away. He also has 40 grandchildren living and 9 dead; 7 great-grandchildren living and 1 dead. Mr. Rawlins is hale and hearty and does his farm work as though he was a boy of seventeen. He says that he is going to live to see his great-great-grandchildren. He is the father of Mrs. George J. Dent and Mrs. Robert Avery of Salt Lake City. Speeches, music, etc., are the order of the day. A humorous report has been circulated and Mr. Rawlins has received the best wishes of his children and friends.

At 4 o'clock a recess was taken for the farmers to go home and feed their stock.

SOCIAL.

As Mr. Lawrence Lake was leaving the residence of Mr. Walter Rawlins about 4:30 yesterday afternoon he left his sleigh with his wife and a lady friend in it, to close the gate he had previously driven through. As soon as he left the vehicle his team started to run. A try at stops went up and the horses became more frightened and went galloping down the road. After having gone two miles Mr. Lake placed her body at the bottom of the sleigh and leaned over the cushions and succeeded in picking up the reins, and a few moments later she brought the frightened animals to a stop, with no damage, but a sad fright.

Fairview has three district schools, two large ones and 1 of each, and one is an old timer, built of logs, all left to overflowing. The school efficient teachers and the pupils are all making rapid progress in their studies.

'Tis an ill wind that blows no good. Tomorrow the "pet" deer will be skinned and we will get venison for sale of turkeys, ducks, etc.

R. F. AYRODE.

Small Blaze.

The fire department had a call to Second and L streets between 3:30 and 4 o'clock this afternoon where a small blaze was reported from Carlisle's house. The flames were so easily extinguished. The loss is estimated at $200. Insurance $2,000.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

Lehi Banner: The sugar factory that has just closed has had the most successful run the past season of any yet. It cut about 3,000 tons of beets during the campaign. The largest run was when in three days it cut 1,115 tons. The average cut of beets per day was 858. About 7,000,000 pounds of sugar has been manufactured, a somewhere near one-fourth the amount needed for Utah, thus keeping at home at least about $280,000 which would otherwise have been sent out of the State for this article. Will be ready to foster and protect such an institution!.....The edge factory employes held their annual ball Wednesday night in the opera house. There were about forty ladies and gentlemen from Salt Lake present. Among those present were President Elias Morris, President Joseph F. Smith, Apostle Heber J. Grant, John Beck and Barlow Ferguson. The house was beautifully decorated, and all present had a rapid good time until the wee hours of morning. We would have been pleased to have given a full detail of the evening's enjoyment, but are unable to do so for the reason our representative was not one of the invited guests this season.

Manti Sentinel: While celebrating at Ivie on Monday an accident occurred which may cost a young man his right arm. In the machine used for driving wells, there is a narrow space, the distance was 18 or 20 in the ground and the hollow filled with powder. On top of this was placed a pole driver hammer. The wood made a good substitute for a cushion, and has been used frequently in Ivie. But as usually happens sooner or later, it was fired once too often, and on Monday it burst. Some of the flying pieces struck a young man named Wm. Smith, shattering his right arm. Two of the boys came to Manti on Monday evening and secured the services of Dr. Matney, who had been called to Mona, where he is at present. Smith's home is in Salt Lake City and at the time of the accident he was visiting his uncle, Chas. Beardsley, of Dover.

The stockholders of the Lehi Irrigation company meet on Jan. 13 to elect directors for the company.

STOCKS AND MARKETS.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The tone of stock prices were stronger, but the changes were insignificant. Sugars were decidedly the strongest feature, rising from 1 to 2 per cent. Confidence seems to be entertained that there is no danger of a change in the dividend rates of the company this year. It is also believed the chances for the success of the Cuban sugar bill in the Senate are very slight.

A general fractional recession ensued in which sugars and Rock Island were most conspicuous. The market at 11 o'clock was showing signs of the inevitable of reactionary stocks. Sugar scored a gain of 1½ per cent.

At the second hour the general market ruled higher.

MUNYON

RECEIVES A VOLUNTARY TRIBUTE OF GRATITUDE FROM MR. GARMAN.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

Of Eighteen Years Duration Cured by Munyon's Improved Homœopathic Remedies.

Mr. Michael Garman, 2202 Broad street, Johnstown, Pa., says: "Eighteen years ago my rheumatism began to my knees and hips and finally spread all over my body in such a severe form that I had to use a cane to walk with. The pains in the shoulders also became so bad that I was unable to lie down. My wrists, shoulders and knees were continually swollen and I had to lay off work month at a time. I employed doctors without number and so to patent medicines I've taken barrels of them. Liniments I used until the flesh was raw, all to no avail. Pains would shoot through me almost tearing the joints apart. Then days after beginning the use of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure I noticed decided benefit and in less than four weeks I was completely cured. Have not had an ache or pain since."

A Specific for Each Disease.

Professor Munyon puts up a separate remedy for every disease. His Rheumatism Cure never fails to relieve rheumatism in from one to three hours and cures in a few days. His Catarrh Cure positively cures catarrh. He prepares cures specially cures all forms of stomach troubles. His Cold Cure cures the most severe cold in a few hours. The Munyon Remedies sold at all druggists, mostly 25 cents a vial.

Personal letters to Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.
