NO. 118 THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

ADIEU TO UTAH!

Kelly and Command Already in Wyoming.

THE "CAPTURED" TRAIN,

Quickly Boarded at Midnight and Sent Ahead Rejoicing.

EVANSTON AT SEVEN THIS MORNING

Supper Tonight at Green River—The Commissary Well Supplied—Deserters for the Coal Mines.

Special Dispatch to the News.

EVANSTON, Wyo., April 12.—The Kelly army is no longer on Utah soil, it having crossed the Wyoming state line shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. So far as that contingent is concerned, it is gone from the West forever and the East will have a taste of what has been experienced here the last few days. When the army marched from Ogden last night, it was under the guard of two companies of infantry and of the cavalry. It camped temporarily about three and a half miles from the Junction City, but later fell in line and tramped to Uintah, four miles further, near the mouth of Weber canyon, where the men halted at midnight, built fires and waited to take possession of a U. P. freight train, which, it was surmised, had been arranged for them to capture that no blame, responsibility or odium might attach to the company for transporting paupers from one state to another.

This arrangement was freely discussed by the army leaders as having emanated from the Southern Pacific as a quasi-repentance for foisting the helpless unfortunate men on Utah, and a bid for the forgiveness of the people of that Territory.

THE TRAIN HELD UP.

The hold-up of the train was a remarkable proceeding, as the engineer, conductor, brakemen, and even assistant superintendent O'Neill of the Wyoming division, who were in charge, were perfectly submissive and became as clay in the hands of General Kelly and Colonel Baker, who proved to be most skillful pilots. The train was an immense one, consisting of thirty-five cars, twenty-five of which were close box, seven open and one caboose. There were two engines. The News correspondent witnessed the capture, boarded the train, and started with the army accompanying it as far as Evanston.

THE MILITIA AS ESCORT.

One company of the Utah militia, under command of Colonel Tatlock, followed to Wasatch, near the line, but did not cross, it being against the law for a body of armed men to go from one state to another or for the militiamen to go out of the Territory while in service. That part of the militia camped in a special car at Wasatch during the day. It will be attached to the westbound passenger at [illegible], and is due in Salt Lake at [illegible] this afternoon.

Colonel Tatlock is feeling pretty well today considering the severe shaking up and bruising he received last night by a fall from his horse while galloping along at the side of Captain Gilbert, of cavalry company A, at 10 o'clock last night.

PROVISIONS IN PLENTY.

The army has plenty of good provisions for four days. It will reach Cheyenne at noon tomorrow, where arrangements for more food and a brief rest will be made. It breakfasted heartily at Evanston today, from the commissary provided by Utah, and will make a stop at Green River for supper tonight.

A [illegible] of fifteen men deserted here to go to work at the Almy coal mines. Others who were at Rock Springs, [illegible] the army, will [illegible] [illegible] the Missouri river is reached.

General Kelly said this morning, however, that he expected to carry at least [illegible] of the present [illegible] to Washington, and that some [illegible] greater than the [illegible] are being made.

MR. KNAPP HASN'T RESIGNED.

Shortly before midnight a News representative called on Supt. Knapp of the S. P., at Ogden. Being questioned regarding a statement that [illegible] he temporarily tendered his resignation by telegraph to his superior officers at San Francisco, in order to escape being in contempt of court, and that the same was promptly accepted by the officials, Mr. Knapp appeared to be surprised, but coolly responded, "It is news to me." He then supplemented his reply by saying, "I am still superintendent here and do not intend to resign." An Ogden gentleman, who claimed to speak by the card, declared that Mr. Knapp would not have withheld his resignation but the army still remained there, and the contempt proceeding [illegible] [illegible].

HOMEWARD BOUND.

OGDEN, April 12, 1894, 3 p. m.—The 3 o'clock passenger from the East over the Union Pacific arrived promptly on time, carrying within on a special car Col. Tatlock and the Battalion Rifles and Utah Militia and representatives of the Salt Lake daily papers.

A train was met at the depot by Governor West and Secretary Richards. Drawn up on the north end of the building on the depot grounds were the Sutton military company of Salt Lake and an Ogden company. Governor West spoke to the Utah National Guard, thanked them for their efficient service and complimented them highly on the work they had done.

The Governor and the Salt Lake component of the Utah National Guard leave Ogden for Salt Lake City on the 3:50 train, which will arrive in Salt Lake at 6:30 p. m.

The Workingmen's association of Ogden are circulating a petition to abolish the claim gang. It will be presented to the city council. They give as a reason that it is a work of bad behavior and an expense to the city.

Everything is quiet in Ogden this afternoon.

THE ARMY IN WYOMING.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 12, 3:25 p. m.—The California contingent of Coxey's industrial army, which was held at Ogden for two days pending the controversy between Governor West and the Southern Pacific railroad, has finally resumed its journey eastward and the motley crowd is now making its way across Wyoming. There were a number of accessions to the army at Ogden and at numerous stations [illegible] now.

The army captured a train of Union Pacific coal cars at Uintah station near the Utah line, last night. It was useless for the trainmen to offer resistance, so they agreed to haul the men to Evanston, the end of the division. The men filled the twenty cars, five of which are open coal cars, and were brought into Evanston this morning. Mayor Winslow presented them with six beeves and they were hurried on to Piedmont, a small station a few miles this side, where a stop of two hours was made in order to allow the men to eat their breakfast.

The Union Pacific company has decided to hurry the men through to the Missouri river as rapidly as possible, permitting the train to stop only at small stations. The citizens of Rawlins will furnish food for the men's supper and a stop will be made for them to eat at the first station east of that place. The train is expected to arrive in Cheyenne at about 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mayor Riable and City Marshal Carr have made preparations to supply the men with food, which will be sent out to the Colorado junction five miles west of the city. Governor Osborne at first contemplated calling out the militia to accompany the army across the state, but when the train arrived at that place the men were so orderly that he decided it would be entirely unnecessary to do so.

ON TO COALVILLE.

Simon Bamberger's Views are Buoyant—"Our Army" The Biggest.

Special to the News.

EVANSTON, Wyo., April 12.—Mr. Simon Bamberger and family arrived here at noon today. He has paid some attention to industrial army matters, and finds the one that just left Utah is the largest in the United States. All the others are exaggerated as to their numbers and influence. Coxey himself only turned up with 200 men when he talked of thousands.

Mr. Bamberger has been in New York on business connected with the extension of his railroad to Coalville. His plans have progressed satisfactorily and there is the hope that the road will be built this year.

Back From Provo.

Commissioner Samuel Pratt and Attorney Arthur E. Pratt returned from Provo last evening, where they had been acting as counsel for the Territory in the case of the Territory vs A. O. Smoot, tried in Justice [illegible]'s court. The jury found for the plaintiff.

Blazzr's Arrest Imminent.

A warrant for the arrest of Justice J. H. Blazzr, on the strength of the complaint filed by Fred E. McGurrin yesterday, was issued from the U. S. Marshal's office today and placed in the hands of a deputy marshal. It is very likely, therefore, that Blazzr will be taken before the Third district court late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

The Police Court.

The following cases were disposed of by Police Justice Smith this afternoon at 2 o'clock:

C. Diggs, charged with obstructing sidewalk and interfering with an officer, was given a lecture and discharged.

Tim O'Brien, a vagrant, pleaded not guilty and his word was taken for it.

Messrs. Tadlenham and Blair, the well known contractors, were arraigned on the charge of constructing a building without a permit. They pleaded not guilty and the case was continued till May 12th.

A Chinaman was fined $5 for discharging firearms in the city limits.

Twelve young men who were arrested on April 8th for disturbing the peace in the neighborhood of Ninth East and Second South streets, appeared for trial, and the justice gave them a severe lecture and sent them home.

Theft of Scrap Iron.

Two brothers, named Backwith, aged about 14 and 10 years respectively, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Tom Matthews this afternoon on a charge of stealing scrap iron belonging to a Mr. Apck, near Garden City. They were to go before Commissioner Greenman later.

Alleged Bicycle Thief.

On the 7th inst. a complaint was sworn to in Commissioner Pratt's court charging F. E. Penny with stealing a bicycle valued at $[illegible], the property of the Salt Lake Cycle Co., and a warrant for his arrest was granted. But meanwhile the accused had fled. He has been caught, however, at some point north, and the necessary arrangements are being made this afternoon for fetching him back to Salt Lake.

ANTI-PILGRIM RIOTS.

Serious Demonstrations in Spain Against the Pope.

POLICE CHARGE ON THE PEOPLE.

The More Distinguished the Prelates the More Furious the Attack of the Mad Crowd.

VALENCIA, April 12.—The Spanish pilgrimage to Rome was made the occasion last night for a demonstration here against the pope. Fourteen hundred pilgrims started from Madrid yesterday after the holding of imposing ceremonies in the church of San Jose, and according to the program they were to be met by a number of other faithful who desired to visit Rome and make their obeisance to the pope. Last night a band composed of about 400 of the worst element of the city paraded the streets cheering for Garibaldi and Italian unity and shouting, "Death to the pilgrims."

The police ordered the mob to disperse and were met with a flat refusal, whereupon a charge was made upon the rioters that speedily put them to flight. Yesterday the pilgrims from Madrid arrived. Accompanying them were the archbishop of Seville, the bishops of Madrid and Cadiz, and a number of other distinguished prelates. Shortly before midnight last night a violent mob again assembled in the streets and, proceeding to the quarters temporarily occupied by the church dignitaries, hurled the most offensive and insulting epithets at them. So threatening did the situation become that the pilgrims were obliged to hasten their embarkation.

They were accompanied by a strong escort of the civil guard but this did not deter the mob from trying to assault them. The appearance of the [illegible] seemed to drive the mob to frenzy, and amidst the most insulting cries the rioters tried to reach them. Again and again the civil guard were obliged to charge the mob before the pilgrims reached their point of departure. Once there, the escort formed a cordon and held the rioters at bay until the pilgrims were well out of danger. Then a determined charge was made on the mob, which after a short resistance dispersed.

Brazilian Insurgents Make Gains.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Herald's Montevideo dispatch says: Advices received here today from Rio Grande do Sul say in Brazil confirm the rumor that Admiral Mello has been successful in his siege of that city.

A body of government reinforcements marching thither from Pelotas by Peixoto's orders was also defeated yesterday by the insurgent general Saraiva at Lonquinta.

General Salgado, Pina and Laurenthe have established their forces and now menace Porto Alegre. The Herald's correspondent in Buenos Ayres wires that Argentina still refuses to comply with President Peixoto's demands for the surrender of those Brazilian refugees who escaped from the Portuguese warships.

The Sturgess-Farwell Case.

CHICAGO, April 12.—In the Sturgess-Farwell case, John A. Knox, of Texas, who in 1882-83 was associated in business with Mr. Sturgess, told the existence of a letter, since lost, which was written by John V. Farwell to Mr. Sturgess in December, 1883. This letter, he said, released Mr. Sturgess from making the balance of the losses. Mr. Knox testified that soon after last Christmas he noticed that Mr. Sturgess was losing his memory.

At the afternoon session the defendants commenced the presentation of their side of the dispute. The reading of the depositions taken in England over a year ago was proceeded with and continued all afternoon. The depositions were those of prominent English financiers and were in the nature of expert testimony as to the nature and value of Mr. Sturgess's services.

Gen. Schofield and Party.

PORTLAND, Oregon, April 12.—Gen. John M. Schofield, U. S. A., Gen. Robert T. Lincoln, George M. Pullman and party arrived here from San Francisco. The party drove about the city and left for Puget Sound. They will return here tonight and go east over the Union Pacific.

Backed a Train With a Bike.

CHICAGO, April 12.—A bad scalp wound requiring two rows of stitches, the resultation of a providential escape from death and a considerably injured bicycle are among the possessions of Hillis John Evenson, of Rogers Park. Last evening the 13-year-old son of John Evenson, an insurance agent, was spinning down Park Avenue in the suburbs at the same time the northbound Milwaukee & St. Paul train was approaching. He was going at a high speed and did not see the train until it was too late for him to slacken. The fireman in the cab saw the boy on the wheel and shouted to the engineer to apply the brakes. The engine was whistling past the crossing and the boy came on toward the tracks of the crossing, evidently too badly frightened to put on his brake. In an instant he crashed into the moving train. The framework or guard which was extended the full length of the coach kept him from going under the wheels. The guard was broken by the force of the collision and the boy, together with his bicycle, was thrown several feet, where the bystanders found him unconscious. He may recover.

Horses to a Harness.

GALESBURG, Ill., April 12.—A special train of thirteen cars, carrying the horses and other effects of C. W. Williams and his family, arrived here last night. The train was met at the depot by a brass band and about one thousand people. The horses are all in the best of condition. Mr. Williams says Allerton never looked or felt better than he has during the past winter. As soon as the weather will permit the horse will be put in training and be started in several races this season. In all twenty-four persons accompanied Williams from Independence. The new track has been staked out and a large force of men will be put to work at once getting it in shape and putting up the buildings preparatory to the big meeting to be held here in September.

The Chinese River God.

VAN COUVER, B. C., April 12.—Oriental advices state that owing to the grand canal at Hougpoo having overflowed its banks twice, Gov. General Li Hung Chang stated it was caused by the anxiety of the river god who succeeded himself. The natives claim to have seen him in different guises. A temple is to be erected at the spot.

Boston's Invitation to Artists.

BOSTON, April 12.—The Boston Art club at its last meeting gave permission to offer a prize that will without doubt cause the artists of the United States to look forward to the club's annual exhibition in 1896 with the greatest pleasure. The meeting has just made its appropriation for 1896 of $2,500, when it was announced that Henry D. Hyde and Colonel Albert A. Pope would give, in the name of the Boston Art club, $2,500 for the best American picture sent to the annual exhibition of oil paintings at the club's exhibit in 1896. The pictures in competition for the prize must be new and not be previously exhibited to public anywhere.

SAMPLES OF BRAINS.

Good Gray Matter to be Studied in the Interest of Science.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 12.—The late Dr. W. L. Brantner, who committed suicide in this city last Saturday, before he died left his brains to Cornell university in the interest of science. In connection with this it may be of interest to state that Dr. Wilder, who has charge of this department of the university, has secured by written agreement the brains of some twenty Cornell professors and prominent Ithaca citizens (at their demise,) in the interest of science. The document has a regular printed form which is signed by the donor and attested by a notary public. When Dr. Brantner was discovered dead, a bullet wound was found in the temple and one in the forehead. This led to the belief that but one shot had been fired by the suicide, the doctors claiming that it would have been an utter impossibility for the suicide to have put more than one shot in his brain. When the brain was removed at the university two bullets were found imbedded in the brain and destroyed the [illegible] theory. They claim that this fact is an important discovery and of great interest to the medical world and criminal authorities.

England's Colonies are Costly.

LONDON, April 12.—The Times this morning, discussing the question of increased expense entailed upon the country by the support of the military and naval forces necessary for the protection of the growing communications of the empire, such as the proposed Pacific mail and cable routes, says that the process cannot develop indefinitely without some radical reconsideration of the question of imperial defense. The Times reviews the ideas recently expressed to its columns by eminent residents of the colonies and suggests that the Ottawa conference be followed by the holding of a conference in London for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the colonies in relation to the question of united defense.

HILL CRITICISED.

Governor Stone of Missouri Calls Him "No Democrat."

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—Gov. W. J. Stone left here last evening for Hot Springs, Ark., for the benefit of his health. He is surprised in his denunciation of Senator Hill, of New York, for his speech opposing the tariff bill. He said: "I cannot reconcile such a defense of protection and the McKinley tariff with Democracy. His [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] is the [illegible] of a disappointed man who was not selected to rule and now seems to ruin his party. I am a Jeffersonian Democrat of the old school and believe that the wishes of the people expressed in convention is the party's only law. Hill has now an open enemy of the Administration, disregarded the party wants to suffer and the tariff and receive only approval from the enemy. He is not a Democrat."

TO THE BITTER END.

Colonel Breckinridge Will Run the Congressional Race.

HIS LETTER TO THAT EFFECT.

Continuation of Mr. Butterworth's Argument in the Pollard Suit.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 12.—In a personal letter to a friend of this city Breckinridge states that he will make the congressional race at all hazards. The letter says: "I see from statements going around through the papers, that in the event of an adverse verdict here I would withdraw from the race for Congress. I am in this congressional race to the bitter end. I am not going to be on the defense but am going to make an aggressive fight."

DEFENDING THE COLONEL.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Major Butterworth opened the proceedings in the Breckinridge case by continuing Rhode's lecture declaring that mystery surrounded them. He consumed much time, pointing out a few discrepancies in minor points of plaintiff's testimony.

Then Mr. Butterworth portrayed the opportunities to elevate herself in Washington; how she should have shrunk from continuing a life of shame with a man with a wife and family. Mr. Butterworth argued that a verdict against his client in this case would be only a flagrant instance of vicarious punishment.

Another Account of the Train Capture—Wyoming's Preparations

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Kelly's army captured a Union Pacific freight train at Uintah, a few miles from Ogden. Kelly took charge, the engineer and fireman obeying his orders. The employes failed in their attempt to pull off the leader. The train has thirty-six box cars filled with 1200 men. The railway officials have given up the hope of preventing the seizure and will carry the army east as rapidly as possible. The train will be stopped outside all Wyoming towns. The army will reach Cheyenne at 10 o'clock on Friday morning and will be fed at the stock yards. The army has three days' rations.

A Cheyenne saloon keeper named Sloney has assumed command over the Wyoming division and issued a call for recruits.

Governor Osborne will make an effort to stop the army while acts of violence are not committed. The army is orderly but there is much suffering from rheumatism and pneumonia. There are many well dressed men among them. It is undecided whether to send the army via Colorado or Nebraska. The cities along the line of march are preparing ample food.

THIS IS HORRIBLE.

Story of the Atrocities Committed by Germans Against Cameroons.

BERLIN, April 12.—A weekly journal publishes extracts from the diary of a German resident of the Cameroons, which fully bears out the charges that have been made against certain of the German officers in that country. The diary contains entries showing that Herr Wehlan, the governor's substitute, who led an expedition against the natives, issued an order to his subordinates directing them to cut the throats of all the old women who fell into their hands. The other natives who were so unfortunate as to be captured were conveyed on ship board, where they were bound to the rail of the vessel. The thongs that held them were so tight that in many instances when the sea began to swell it cut deep into the arms and legs of the prisoners. No attention was paid to the appeals of the miserable natives. They were entirely unprotected from the weather and exposed as they were to the tropical heat their wounds festered and then they bred maggots. The appeals of the miserable wretches for water to quench their thirst fell on deaf ears or were responded to with brutal refusal. The sub-details of the treatment of these captives are horrible. When the prisoners were half dead they were simply shot down like wild beasts without compunction.

According to the deposition Daniels discharged Clarke in a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the troupe and [illegible] with Clarke and the women. SERG'T WILSON SHOT

A Sad Accident that His Cost a Life.

BLOOD FLOWS AT THE CITY HALL.

Officer Everill Drops His Gun Among Police Station Habitues and Bones are Shattered.

About halfpast nine this morning the neighborhood of the city hall reverberated with a shot that sounded like a dynamite blast. Everyone within hearing rushed in the center of the sound, and clamored for admittance to the room in which it was believed a tragedy had taken place. Excitement ran high outside the police headquarters, while sympathy and consternation reigned within.

It appears that Officer Tom Everill walked over to the southeast corner of the room to the window near the police sergeant's desk for the purpose of putting his gun away until he again reported for duty, and as he was in the act of reaching for the sill or rather bench in front of the window to put the gun down, it slipped out of the scabbard and fell upon the floor with a crash. Simultaneously there was a thundering report, and as there were several officers close by, the report startled them considerably.

Sergeant A. M. Wilson, however, was not so fortunate as the others. He was sitting in a chair close to where the pistol fell, and as it struck the [illegible] the [illegible] pointed directly at his right leg. The revolver was a 45-calibre Government Frontier, and the large bullet shattered his shin bone below the knee, went crashing through the knee itself and in its upward range fractured badly the bone in the thigh. The blood gushed forth and formed in a great pool on the floor.

The injured man was carefully undressed and placed in a cot near by, while surgeons were immediately sent for. Doctors Benedict, Beer, Richards and others examined the wound and found it of too serious a nature to do anything with it in the man's present condition, and they ordered him taken to St. Mark's Hospital.

A News reporter interviewed the surgeons and they stated it was their opinion that Wilson might not only lose his limb but his life as well. He was suffering very much from the pain before his removal to the hospital, and great sympathy is expressed for the unfortunate man.

Officer Tom Everill deeply deplores the sad affair. The gun was a new acquisition to him, he having borrowed it from D. Beer, to use, if necessary, during his sojourn at Ogden. D. Beer is also much affected over the occurrence because of the gun being his, but it is said at the city hall that the gun has killed several men and that there is a strange fatality connected with it.

Sergeant Wilson is one of the best men on the force, staunch and trusted, and is admired by all for his manly attributes of head and heart. The earnest desire is that he may come off victorious over the deadly wound.

On arriving at St. Mark's hospital the wounded man was given every possible attention and a thorough examination of the shattered limb was made. It was at once apparent that amputation of the limb near the top of the thigh was absolutely necessary, and Drs. Daby and Fisher, with Drs. Benedict, Beer, Richards, Smith and others in attendance, at once proceeded to cut it off. From the moment the operation was performed Wilson began to sink rapidly, and no hope was entertained of his recovery. He continued to grow worse and shortly before two o'clock he breathed his last. His wife arrived at the hospital almost distracted, but her husband was dead a few moments before. Wilson had asked that the sad news be withheld from her, as she was in a delicate condition and he feared the consequences of the shock.

Sergeant Wilson was a middle-aged man who had a large family. Three of them, however, are grown up, one of whom, a young lady, is at present living in Iowa, where the family originally came from. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved wife and children, who reside at 325 Brodgett street this city.

Sergeant Wilson was appointed to the police force on October 2, 1891, and was promoted sergeant on June 11, 1893. He was 51 years of age and a native of Des Moines, Iowa. Prior to entering the city's service he was employed for some time on the Rapid Transit company's lines putting up poles and wires.

Johnny Got His Gun.

A Chinaman was arrested this morning at the corner of Eighth East and Seventh South streets for discharging fire arms in the city limits. He was engaged peddling vegetables and other garden truck, and a gang of boys, he claimed, exasperated him by throwing stones and otherwise annoying him. He pulled his gun and took a shot at them, but no one was hurt. He was placed in jail to cool off, and was arraigned at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the charge preferred against him.
