NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A special meeting of the stockholders of the People's Equitable Co-operative Association is hereby called and will be held on Wednesday, the 5th day of December, A. D. 1894, at 2 o'clock p.m. of said day at said company's store, being numbers [illegible] and [illegible] south, East Temple street, said street being commonly known as Main street, in Salt Lake City, Utah, for the purpose of changing Article V of the articles of incorporation of said People's Equitable Co-operative Association, which now reads as follows: "The board of directors shall consist of thirteen members by which the corporate powers shall be exercised. The president and vice-president of the board of directors shall be ex-officio president and vice-president of the corporation. The offices of secretary and treasurer may be held by the same person, but neither secretary nor treasurer shall hold the office of director."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Announcement by the Superintendency of Salt Lake Stake.

The Sunday School Conference of the Salt Lake Stake will be held in the Tabernacle on Sunday, Dec. 2. Three sessions will be held, commencing at 10 a. m., 2 and 7 p. m., to which the public are respectfully invited. At the morning session the officers and members of the city Sunday schools are requested to attend in a body, coming from their several schools in that manner to the Tabernacle; those from the first twelve city wards entering by the southeast door and those from the remaining eleven wards by the northeast door, and occupying the center seats of the building. The officers of the other schools of the Stake, while continuing their sessions as usual, will please arrange to be present at the conference in person or arrange to have their schools properly represented. The officers in charge of each city ward Sunday school will please see that their several schools are fully prepared to repeat the Articles of Faith in concert, in response to the wishes of the general Sunday school authorities, who expect to be present. A portion of the intervening time should be devoted to diligently rehearsing the Articles of Faith by classes and in concert.

Prof. Evan Stephens will conduct the musical exercises, and will meet all over fifteen years of age for rehearsal at the Assembly Hall on Friday evening, December 7, at 7:30, and all under fifteen years of age at the same place on Saturday, December 8, at 2:30 p.m.

All are requested to bring with them copies of the Deseret Sunday School song book.

T. C. GRIGGS,
R. S. HORNE,
W. C. BURTON,
Superintendency of Salt Lake Stake Sunday Schools.

School Board Nominations.

Republican primaries will be held in the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth precincts this evening for the purpose of nominating candidates for board of education membership. The meetings will be held in the Tunnel, Seventeenth ward meeting house, Darlington school building and Twelfth ward school house respectively.

First precinct Democrats will meet in the Exposition building tonight to name a candidate, while the Third precinct members of the same party will meet in the Seventeenth ward meeting house tomorrow night to perform a similar act.

As to Utah's Constitution.

The executive council of the Territorial Bar Association (Messrs. Parley L. Williams, John A. Marshall, Franklin S. Richards, E. M. Allison and Grant H. Smith) held a meeting on Wednesday evening to arrange for the annual meeting of the association at Salt Lake City on the second Monday and Tuesday of January, 1895. The two days will mainly be devoted to the discussion of constitutional questions, and eight of the leading lawyers and the Supreme Court judges will be invited to read papers on the various questions pertaining to the new Constitution. On the second evening of the meeting there will be a reception and banquet.

Nearly one hundred of Utah's lawyers are already enrolled and an effort will be made to double the membership before the annual meeting. The new members will take part in the proceedings and vote at the general election of officers the first day of the session.

In Sevier and Garfield Counties.

PANGUITCH, Garfield Co., Utah,
November 25th, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

Leaving Gunnison on Saturday the 17th inst., a beautiful sunshine lent its genial smiles to make the scenery the more sublime, as we sped on in our carriage southwesterly through a lovely valley of about two miles in width, level and smooth as a barn floor, and well cultivated, mostly by Scandinavians who have acquired pleasant homes here in Utah, which they could never have hoped to have done in their native land. Three beautiful fields extended five or six miles when more enough who [illegible] valuable land, without fence or more of the husbandman's improvements, until we come to a very lovely square of [illegible] trees, shrubs and a variety of shade trees. This is in the midst of the desert, between the Gunnison fruitful fields and Redmond, about twelve miles southward, where stand two great red mountains.

The Sevier river is crossed several times before we arrive at Salina, a pretty fair sized town named in view salt mines near at hand. In many parts much salt and mineral infests the ground, especially at Redmond, where fifty families have struggled hard to subdue the rich black soil so much mixed with minerals. I learned they are gaining experience and are likely in time to make a final success.

Between Salina and Richfield, twenty miles, are Aurora and Vermillion, two thriving towns on the Sevier river where we encounter terribly dusty roads, rough as a washboard. The Sevier Valley railroad stops twenty miles beyond, at Salina, leaving this bad road the worst part of the thirty-six miles from Gunnison to Richfield.

Two days interestingly spent at Richfield, attending the Sevier Stake conference, which was very fully reported by the editor of the Richfield Advocate, who is the son of a Presbyterian minister, Mr. John Meteer. In a brief note he said, "By one of the speakers at conference Sunday afternoon the political campaign was aptly compared to the game of euchre. It was advised that now the game is over, we all wash our faces and shake hands."

Holding meetings at Elsinore and Monroe we passed over a tolerably high pass, leaving the Sevier river and valley, to Marysvale, fifteen miles, to Presiding Elder James Taylor's, who presides over a small scattered branch strung along the valley. Marysvale has a store, saloon and postoffice—a little mining town. The balance of the vale is scattered in a radius of eight to ten miles up and down the Sevier valley. Elder Taylor claims a large fish pond and a fine fodder farm on the bench lands extending far above the natural fish pond. Our noon lunch was made all the more sad by our host's damaged physiognomy by an accidental fall from his horse which fractured his skull slightly and otherwise marred his visage, and for a time his mind was disturbed.

Elder George W. Bean, an old pioneer and an Indian interpreter, has many reminiscences of interest to relate regarding the Indian war, commonly known as the Black Hawk war, lasting about four years, when finally peace was made with the redskins. Now Elder Bean reviews homes, ranches and farms and improvements in lieu of wild Indian raids. He handles the reins managing the team wonderfully well considering minus one arm which he lost during the Indian battle at Provo, by the accidental discharge of a cannon. He made an interesting traveling companion from Richfield, Sevier county, to Panguitch, Garfield county, 75 miles over a most wonderful country.

We arrived at Panguitch in time to attend the two days' Stake conference, having held meetings at Circleville by the way and leaving appointments at Kingston, Junction, Elsinore, Salina, Gunnison, etc. Our two days' conference, Priesthood and two Seventies' meetings closed last night, with most excellent results; and now we leave the nice little town of Panguitch with its steepled meeting house, many fine brick dwellings, and comfortable homes. Patriarch J. L. Heywood, our U. S. marshal of olden times, of Salt Lake City, now resides here, and although quite aged still enjoys his health. He attended the conference and took a part therein.

We are now 250 miles away from Salt Lake City, have held forty meetings, enjoyed many new friends, good health, fine weather, and now turn our faces homeward, passing some excellent ranches, farms and a postoffice ten miles down the river. We lunched near Kesler's ranch—owned by a son of Bishop Kesler, of Salt Lake City. Thirty miles from Panguitch brought us back to Circleville, Piute county, safely.

EDWARD STEVENSON.

Mission Work in Tennessee.

SHELBYVILLE, Bedford Co., Tenn.,
Nov. 19, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

Knowing the interest and susceptibility made manifest in the noble labor of eternal salvation by the Latter-day Saints, we address these lines from this part of the vineyard in humility. Since last heard from we have been called to labor in another county. We wended our way westward from the scene of many pleasant hours among our many friends and some newly made Latter-day Saints. Elder Sanderson had the privilege of baptizing nine souls since our arrival in Warren county. We parted with tears on both sides, with a hallowed, peaceful influence of joy and satisfaction that a few honest souls were ferreted out from the awful reign of sin extant in the world today—doubt, discomfort, unrest, confusion, strife, envy, division, superstition and selfishness prevalent on every hand.

After giving a hearty hand shake with an earnest "God bless you," we parted with a cordial invitation to a Christmas dinner at several homes whose noble hospitality has been proven time and time again by the weary Mormon Elder.

We directed our face westward through Coffee county, where Elders McAllister and Ogden are now laboring, expecting to see them and pass a few moments in greeting salutations, but when calling at Manchester, the county seat, where they get their mail, we found our letter written about a week before, at the office awaiting them. With a slight tinge of disappointment we still wended our footsteps in the direction of the setting sun, landing within the borders of Bedford county, where we were to spend the winter months.

By the way, it may be deemed of interest to mention our notable friend Mr. J. C. Cook, of whose hospitality we partook of in Coffee county. We also listened with much interest to the history of his career. He is the father of four blind children. One of these, called "little blind Maud," developed in infancy great musical talent. Her father therefore traveled with her in many parts of the United States. He had many contracts to fill when Maud was taken from the darkness here, at the age of 16 years. Others of the family are highly gifted, but not to compare with the lamented one. She is still fresh in the minds of people who listened to the sweet renditions, vocal and instrumental. The father, who is now living in retirement near the city of Manchester, Coffee county, Tenn., is completely discouraged in a financial view; he has been in good circumstances but his wealth has slipped out of his hands. In surveying the new field where we now travel we find low hills and abrupt rising cliffs, and bluffs on the river banks of the limestone rock, which form a foundation to river beds, also some of the farms have this foundation after a few inches of soil. There is a peculiarity about this country I never found before in my travels elsewhere. There are sixteen pikes running into the city of Shelbyville from every point of the compass, with gates, each one owned by a company. To get into town one must pay, driving, riding or in any manner except walking it. One can walk the highway without being charged. The roads are graveled, smooth and fine. A ride through the country in the balmy breeze of the "sunny South" is invigorating, as also is a walk, as we experience the latter daily. The people are kind and hospitable. There is an unmistakable gentleness everywhere of the great change manifest regarding the people called Mormons. There is a growing desire for investigation.

We are now opening up this country, finding friends in abundance, as well as a few who are direct enemies of divine truth. We are finding it advantageous to get before the people of the cities first; then we are received freely in the country. We are hailed by friends whom God raises up almost miraculously to our own wonder and amazement. Tonight the Campbellite is going to define the difference between our faith and his—a Mr. Smith from Nashville. We will be present and perhaps be given a voice. They would in many cases like to take us by the hand and say we are congenial in the same line, but a different feeling is shown when we are heard on the Holy Ghost, authority, organization, etc.

We visited our former companions in Navarre county last week—Elders Rushton and Larson, where we spent a pleasant evening, rejoicing as only Elders in the vineyard can. They are just closing the county, having canvassed it pretty thoroughly. The county is very small with a wealthy population who manufacture whisky from corn in great abundance. We were shown through some of their bonded warehouses, which are in charge of a United States revenue officer. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth are stowed away in these large warerooms with the date of manufacture, awaiting the release of the same by the individual owners, for it to go toward the large consumption of this article, the procurement and traffic of which bears the stamp of debauchery.

PLEASANT GROVE, Nov. 28, 1894.—The young man, Peterson, who had his leg broken, an account of which appeared in the NEWS, is progressing favorably under the [watchcare] of Dr. Rogers.

The case of diphtheria in the family of Brother P. P. Driggs is past the danger point we trust.

Brother David West, who has been confined to his bed for a long time is, we are pleased to state, on the road to recovery and we trust soon will be around again.

The Sunday school [teachers'] annual ball, given on Friday evening, was a time of sociability and pleasure. The only thing to mar the pleasure of the event was some of the young men from the neighboring settlements appropriating to their use hats that did not belong to them, for which one of them was arrested and paid into the treasury of Justice Cullen $5. Most of the people here think the amount should have been $50.

Mrs. J. T. Thorne received a letter today from relatives in Mexico informing her of the death of her mother, Julia Ann Farnsworth. Sister F. was the wife of Stephen Farnsworth and resided for many years in this place. She was loved by all who knew her; she was of a kind and loving disposition, one that bore with patience trials and disappointments in life; a true wife, devoted mother, and an exemplary Latter-day Saint. She was one of the first settlers in Pleasant Grove, and passed through many hardships in the early history of this place. In 1875 in company with her husband she removed to Joseph City. From there she went to Arizona, locating at Tuba City, where she buried her husband. From there she went with three of her sons to Mexico, her last days having been spent on the frontiers in building up new places. Her memory is dear to many and we feel assured she has gone to reap the reward of the just.

On Tuesday night the residence of Edward Bolton of Stevens Creek, near San Jose, Cal., was completely destroyed by fire. Mrs. Bolton was awakened by the loud crying and scratching of the cat. She arose from the bed and was surprised to find the kitchen ablaze. A strong wind was blowing and the occupants barely had time to escape in their nightclothes before the house was a mass of flames. The house was elegantly furnished and contained many valuable paintings. It was totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at over $12,000. There was no insurance. Mrs. Bolton was severely burned about the hands and face.

AN OPINION GIVEN.
Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."
