OLD,

TRIED,

AND TRUE.

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the

MEXICAN

Mustang Liniment,

FOR MAN AND BEAST

This liniment very naturally originated in America, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 25 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless remedy for all external ailments of man and beast.

To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable.

A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox, cow, or sheep.

It cures foot-rot, hoof-ail, hollow horn, grub, screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life.

It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, swinny, sprains, founder, wind-gall, ring-bone, etc., etc.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc., and for rheumatism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Miners.

It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportionately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

Mrs. Jenks in Good Humor.

NEW YORK, 30.—The Times' Washington special says: On Mrs. Jenks' examination, that she did seem to be in good humor, and appeared to take umbrage at many of the questions put to her.

Potter, who conducted the examination, became so irritated at her persistent rudeness, that he completely lost his temper, especially when Mrs. Jenks angrily told him that he must be very dull of comprehension not to understand one of her answers, and added that she spoke very good English.

Springer, with a view of ascertaining her financial condition, interrogated her as to her occupation, when she promptly retorted by saying—"Othello's occupation's gone. The republican party is dead in Louisiana," which reply evoked a peal of laughter, Potter himself heartily participating. Her reply drove Springer out of the case for a time. A long pause occurred at this juncture, while waiting for Butler, who asked her a day or two ago to produce the Anderson letters, which she expressed her willingness to do, provided she was permitted to introduce copies of her replies. When Butler entered the room Potter informed him that Mrs. Jenks had some letters for him, but the General declined to receive them quoting from Virgil the line "I fear Greeks bringing gifts in their hands."

Butler evinced the greatest delight at Chandler's testimony, which, according to his theory, lays the foundation for the charge which he is striving to substantiate, that Hayes was a party to the bargain by which he secured the support of the democrats to the completion of the electoral count, and thus obtained the presidency in consideration of his pledge to abandon Packard and Chamberlain, and recognize Nichols and Hampton. Butler is reported as saying that if this allegation can be proved, it properly forms the basis of articles of impeachment, and no doubt he intends to accomplish this object if he can do so.

Sinking of a Ferryboat.

A special from Richmond says: The ferryboat at West Point, Va., sunk to-day. Congressman Beverley Douglass, who was a passenger, was nearly drowned.

Births and Deaths.

The deaths last week were 554; births 440. The authorities are proceeding against midwives, physicians, etc., for not properly reporting the births and deaths.

Warm Weather—Sunstroke.

Several cases of sunstroke occurred here and vicinity yesterday, one fatal. The weather keeps warm, the thermometer marking among the nineties for three days.

Thrown from the Track.

ALBANY, 30.—The oil train was thrown from the track of the New York Central road, last night, by the removal of a rail, and 19 cars were wrecked. The oil took fire, and the brakesman, named Truax, was burned to death. The engineer and fireman were both injured.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

LINWOOD, Pa., 30.—The southern express from Philadelphia, at 9.30 this evening, was thrown from the track near Claymont, Del., and the engineer and fireman killed. As far as ascertained, none of the passengers were killed.

A man, supposed to be William R. Hough, of Chicago, and Christian Krauch, of Baltimore, were also killed.

$15,000 Fire.

ST. LOUIS, 30.—A fire in McLean's block partly destroyed the house; loss $15,000; insured. The fire marshal, Sexton, broke his arm during the fire, but continued to direct the operations after he had it set.

Fight Between the Metropolitan Police and City Marshals.

The state of chronic disturbance which prevailed in East St. Louis for months past, culminated this evening in a fight between part of the metropolitan police force and the city marshals, organized by Major Bowman. It appears that last January the Metropolitans, under Chief Renshaw, took forcible possession of one of the engine houses and prison cells, which have been used as a police headquarters, and although Major Bowman demanded that it be vacated by them and returned to the city, his demands had been refused.

About noon, to-day, city marshal Walsh learned that there were but three of the Metropolitan force in the engine house, and thinking it would be easy to capture it, he mustered his deputies at his head quarters, a little more than a block away, and made a dash for it. He was seen, however, and the occupants of the engine house, officers Wallace and Gleyre, and Hankey, Chapman, barred the door, hastened up stairs, and the two first named appeared at the windows armed with Springfield rifles. Walsh and his men rushed on, armed with clubs and revolvers, and found officer Slack near the door of the engine house, whom they assaulted with clubs, shocked him down, and three pistol shots were said to have been fired at him, one of which wounded him in the head.

Wallace and Gleyre then called on the crowd to disperse, when more shots were fired by Markham. Wallace and Gleyre then shot into the crowd, and Deputy Marshals Neville and O'Connor fell dead, and James Doyle was wounded.

The marshals then retired, taking with them their dead. Mayor Bowman, in the meantime, appeared on the ground, and, he says, narrowly escaped, as one of the men in the engine house took a deliberate aim at him, but by a quick jump sideways he avoided being hit, the ball entering the ground only a few feet from where he stood.

While the fight was progressing the bell on the engine house was rung and the Metropolitans hastened to their headquarters from all directions, but the marshals had retired, and nothing further was done. Mayor Bowman immediately telegraphed to Belleville, the county seat, for Sheriff Weber and County Coroner Conly, who arrived this afternoon. Weber went to the headquarters of the Metropolitans and arrested Wallace and Gleyre, and Coroner Conly will hold an inquest to-morrow.

The circumstance which led to this unfortunate affair cover much time, and many events, dating as far back as 1867, when the Metropolitan law was passed by the legislature. This law has been pronounced unconstitutional several times by the supreme court, but the force has some way managed to exist. It has been totally ignored by Mayor Bowman, who organized a force of deputy marshals under a city ordinance, and the result has been two distinct forces of police, which have been at sword points for months, and conflicts, more or less serious, have been almost a daily occurrence.

There are also two political factions in the city called Bowman and anti-Bowman, which are very bitter, and stop at no means to damage each other. Mayor Bowman says: Even granting the legality of the existence of the metropolitan police commissioners and force, the original legislature specially provides that they shall be entirely separate and definite from the city of East St. Louis, and shall not use or occupy any of the city property, therefore he or his officers has a right to dispossess them of the engine house.

Further trouble was apprehended, to-night, but up to the present writing, 12:10, a. m. all is quiet on the other side of the river, and the probabilities are that no further violence will occur.

The Steppers.

LOUISVILLE, 30.—At the instance of the owners, Col. Clark has ordered a policeman to guard the stables of "Tenbroeck" and "Molly McCarty," day and night until after the races. Both animals are fit to run for a man's life. "Janet" and "Harkaway" are to run mile heats on Friday next, and the "Belle of Nelson" will run two mile heats the same day, if Kate Claxton will accept, $1,000 a side.

The Mexican Cattle Thieves.

WASHINGTON, 30.—The order formerly issued, authorizing military pursuit into Mexico of cattle thieves, will be more rigorously enforced irrespective of Mexican protests, on the ground that Mexico, by herself preventing incursions, can obviate an invasion of her soil by our troops.

FOREIGN.

TURKEY.

Continued Fighting.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 30.—The Russians at Adrianople have introduced the Russian fiscal system of levying high duties in advance, and farming out tithes.

GERMANY.

Halting Stations for the Turks.

BERLIN, 30.—Congress has agreed to grant the Turks halting stations on the road to the Balkans, but they will not be allowed to be quartered on the inhabitants. If objections are raised to the acts of Turkish generals, the consuls will remonstrate, and if no redress is obtained they will forward protests to the ambassadors at Constantinople.

The Condition of Crete.

The memorandum presented to the congress on Saturday, by Delyanius, simply described the unhappy state of Crete, and set forth the necessity for a better definition of the Greek frontier. This moderation had a very favorable effect, as actual resistance of Turkey would alone hinder the realization of the Greek proposals. It has been decided, in consequence of the energetic representations of England, that the Roumania delegations shall be heard on Monday. The plenipotentiaries declare they will sign the final treaty before leaving Berlin.

GREECE.

Levying High Duties.

ATHENS, 30.—A telegram from Syra reports that fighting continues at Apocorone, and several Turkish men-of-war took part in the conflict. Armed mussulmans have encamped outside of Canea and demand the dismissal of the governor of the island.

The Peace Congress.

In the congress yesterday, Delyanius, the Greek plenipotentiary, submitted a memorandum, the reading of which occupied an hour and a quarter.

The Roumania delegates will be heard to-morrow.

A series of preliminary deliberations of the second plenipotentaries, presided over by Prince Hohenlohe, began on Saturday.

HUNGARY.

Favorable View.

PESTH, 30.—The Emperor Francis Joseph closed the Hungarian Diet, yesterday. He took an exceedingly favorable view of the relations with foreign powers and the probability of peace.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Bosnia and Herzegovina.

LONDON, 30.—A Constantinople dispatch says: The Turkish plenipotentaries in the congress will demand that only a limited portion of Bosnia and Herzegovina be occupied by Austria.

The Turkish Plenipotentiaries.

It is stated that the Porte is dissatisfied with Carathedori Pasha, its plenipotentiary to the congress, and possibly Safvet Pasha will himself go to Berlin with final and irrevocable instructions. Should the congress result unsatisfactorily for Turkey, the opposition will probably attempt a rising.

Troops Moving.

News from Serajevo shows that the Turkish troops are moving westward. Five battalions from Navi Bazar will enter Herzegovina.

Austria and Turkey.

Austria has concentrated a considerable force on the frontiers. Turkey is negotiating with Austria, and an understanding may be arrived at.

A dispatch from Berlin announces that the Austrians will cross the frontier on Tuesday.

Austria refused to allow Montenegro any portion of the shore south of Antavori.

Let a man, who has been a frightful example of drunkenness, put himself forward as a temperance lecturer, and the tougher and more disgusting stories he tells about his previous character, the more eagerly he is listened to, and the more middle-dated ladies exclaim: "He's too nice for anything."

Psychological Mysteries.

Will some philosopher, deep learned in the mysteries of the human heart, take a week off and try to find out why even single men turn pale when about to enter a dry goods store? Why the soldier who has walked calmly up to the cannon's mouth trembles and looks like a sneak thief when commissioned to buy a yard of ribbon for some domestic tyrant in the country, and why a married man who has agreed to match a piece of silk by carrying the color in his eye, always impresses the public with the conviction that he has just failed for a million dollars, or is on his way to the wharf to commit suicide.—San Francisco Post.

SHORT AND SHARP.

"He was generous to a fault." That is just what is the matter with most of us. We treat our faults too kindly.

The man who wrote "Revolutions never go backward," had never turned a somersault over the tailboard of a farm wagon.

A Deadwood paper mentions the shooting of a saloon-keeper of that city, saying he was "shot twice in the abdomen and once in the barber-shop adjacent."

"Have you got the lesson to-day?" asked a Sunday school teacher of a pupil, whose head was bandaged up in a couple of inches of red flannel. "No, ma'am," replied the pupil. "Have you got your catechism with you?" asked the teacher. "No, ma'm." "Have you got anything?" again asked the teacher, getting a little impatient. "Yeth ma'm," was the timid reply. "What is it?" "The mumpth, ma'm."

"Habit" is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter it does not change "a bit." If you take off another you still have a "bit" left. If you take off still another, the whole of "it" remains. If you take off another it is not "it" totally used up. All of which goes to show that if you wish to be rid of a "habit" you must throw it off altogether.
