UTAH MAN MURDERED

Christopher B. Heaton Killed By Mexicans at Colonia Dublan.

GREAT LOSS TO MORMON COLONIES.

Prompt Action of the Authorities in Apprehending the Guilty Parties —Funeral of the Deceased.

Special Correspondence of the News:

COLONIA JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 15.—I am exceedingly sorry to have to communicate a shocking event that has lately happened by which we have been bereft of one of our best men in the colonies.

On Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., Brother Cristopher B. Heaton, of Cane Valley, was shot and brutally beaten over the head and killed. He had been making molasses for the brethren of Colonia Dublan, assisted by Brother John Hardy, of Colonia Pacheco, on the west side of the Casas Grandes river, at San Jose, where some of the colonists live. They were camped some little distance from the molasses mill, and they had been raided by some thieves, who stole two barrels of molasses, a brass kettle, steelyard and other things. As they were closing up their business, having got through their season's work, they accidently found under a heap of pummace, the pressed cane stalks, one of the missing barrels of molasses that had been hidden awaiting a favorable time and opportunity for taking it away.

Talking this over it was deemed a favorable time to catch the thieves, by letting the barrel remain where it was and watching for them to take it away; have them arrested, as it would doubtlessly lead to the discovery of the other barrell and missing things. Brother Heaton communicated this to one of the brethren holding an office under the government with power to make the arrests. But unfortunately that was not done. Brother Heaton was left alone. The thieves, with a wagon and oxen, went to the place loaded up the molasses and started.

It is presumed Brother Heaton tried to stop them and was shot down and beaten over the head and killed. In the hurry to get away the thieves lost the barrel of molasses, it rolled off the wagon and was found by the officers the next morning. Hearing a gunshot some of the brethren went in search of Brother Heaton and found his dead body. Word was sent to the officials at Casas Grandes who promptly were on hand and succeeded in capturing the wagon and two men in it, and arrested several, who were suspected, at the place where the wagon was tracked to. The authorities acted with much promptness and decision. They took charge of the body and conveyed it to Casas Grandes. They also detailed some of the brethren to guard the prisoners. An examination was held in the judge's office at Casas Grandes and eventually the body was delivered to his friends for burial.

Bishop W. Farr, assisted by Brother John Robinson, took the body to Colonia Dublan and Counselor Frederick G. Williams, Philip Hurst and James S. Cardon, attended to the care and dressing of the body. On Thursday, the 14th inst., the funeral obsequies were held in the Dublan ward school house. The choir sang the hymn commencing "Sweet friend of the needy, kind helper of youth." Elder Daniel E. Harris offered prayer. The hymn, "Thou dost not weep, to weep alone," was sung and the following speakers bore testimony to the integrity of the departed, who was in every sense a true son of Abraham and disciple of the Lord Jesus Christ, filled with the love of God and His righteousness and faithful worker in his cause: Henry Eyring, Austin Farnsworth, W. R. R. Stowell, Miles P. Romney, Alma P. Spilsbury, J. L. Brinkoff, George Teasdale, Helaman Pratt, George Lake and Winslow Farr.

There was an excellent spirit, no feeling of the gloom of death but of life everlasting, notwithstanding the desolation caused by his departure to his family and friends. He had passed from death unto life, his record entitled him to associate with the Patriarchs, Apostles and Prophets, whose life and example he followed, because he had the faith of Abraham and believed God.

The large building was filled with the Saints who sympathized with the family in their loss, for his departure is a loss to the mission. The choir sang "The Resurrection Day," and Philip H. Hurst offered the closing prayer.

A long procession of some twenty vehicles went to the graveyard. Elder Alma P. Spilsbury dedicated the grave and delivered a closing address and thanks, in behalf of the family, for sympathy manifested and assistance rendered on this trying occasion.

Christopher Bailey Heaton was the son of William and Esther Bailey Heaton. He was born at Windsor, near London, England, May 17, 1852. Emigrated with his parents in 1855 crossing the Plains in the handcart company of Captain McAllister. The family located at Payson, Utah. In 1864 they were called on the Muddy mission, where they remained until it broke up. In 1870 they moved to Long Valley and were associated with the United Order in Orderville until it was disorganized. For ten years Brother Heaton was the presiding Priest at Moccasin Springs. He was also a High Priest and member of the High Council. In 1889 he moved to Mexico and was chosen first counselor to Bishop Jesse N. Smith Jr., of the Pacheco ward, which office he held at the time of his death. He was the father of nineteen children. His death is a heavy loss to the colonies.

UN HERMANO.

MRS. SEELEY'S DEATH.

Particulars by Letter as to How the Sad Fatality Occurred.

Additional particulars by letter concerning the death of Mrs. W. J. Seeley, of Castle Dale, to those published in the News on Saturday, are now at hand. They show that the deceased was on her way from Castle Dale, where she resided, to Orangeville with a neighbor and his little boy in a wagon when they came to a hill, where the horses became frightened and ran away, but were finally stopped and Mrs. Seeley got out, but was persuaded by the man to get back in.

They rode a few rods farther and came to another hill when the team again became unmanageable and ran off at a lively rate of speed. Mrs. Seeley was thrown over the dashboard and both wheels of the wagon passed over her. No bones were broken but she received injuries which caused internal hemorrhage from which she died seven hours afterward. She was able to sit and stand until just a few moments before she passed away.

Mrs. Seeley was a respected lady in Castle Dale, and leaves a husband and two children and a host of friends to mourn her death.

The man and little boy escaped with a few bruises from which they will soon recover.

Sugar Industry.

GUNNISON, Nov. 23, 1895.

To the Editor:

Enquiries have been made as to what limit of altitude, within the valleys of Utah, the raising of sugar beets was feasible for the profitable manufacture of sugar.

In 1879 the writer of this article raised a few acres of sugar beets in this valley, altitude about 5,000, obtained the seed through A. Milton Musser, of Salt Lake City, from the U. S. agricultural department; grubbed sagebrush bench land of good quality, plowed once, cultivated well, sowed the seed broad cast, harrowed down and laid it off like wheat land; irrigated about four times; and in the latter part of July the irrigation stream gave out, and the beets had no water after that time; but they continued a healthy growth, yielded a good crop compared with treatment, and were harvested at the proper time. I sent specimens of the beets, the same fall, to Superintendent Gennert of the Alvarado beet sugar factory in California, for analyzation. The specimens were well packed in air-tight, in order to have the analyses correct. Mr. Gennert reported that the beets contained 15 per cent of sugar. I informed him of my doubts of his analysis being correct, and wanted him to try again. To this he answered me, that if I would inform him as to the altitude, the amount of balmy and sunny days of our valley during the growing time, he might expel my doubts by long experience and many data as to the effect of climate on the amount of sugar in the beet. I answered him at once. His return answer was: that according to my statement he was convinced that our climate, latitude, altitude, few cloudy and many balmy and sunny days during the vegetation of this sugar plant, was as favorable as could be found on our globe; and would prove in the future that the valleys of the Rocky mountains would be among the most remunerative localities for the best sugar industry; likewise in regard to the raising of the seed. Undoubtedly, whenever we arrive at the proper and most favorable physical and chemical conditions of the soil, and the proper treatment of the plant in connection with our genial climate, Utah will form a center for the most profitable sugar industry.

If consistent with the modern diffusion process, only the crude juice should be piped to the factories, and diffusion batteries located in the most convenient places for the pulp to be disposed of for feeding and fattening purposes.

Without doubt, this sugar industry will incite the farmers to adopt the most advanced measures in agriculture, and they will soon discover that the beets will pay him in sugar, in proportion to his applied intelligence and rational practice.

Yours truly,

CHRISTIAN A. MADSEN.

"BOGIE" MAN PURSUED HIM.

Gus Neumann Declares That Satan Was Attempting to Get In At the Window.

The hallucinator Gus Neumann, who was taken from the Hampton house on Saturday and placed in the city jail, had a merry time of it in that institution yesterday.

He occupied a cell with George Veach, the young incorrigible, who was arrested for stealing $20 from his aunt, and was making all sorts of contortions in his attempt to get a whack at the devil whom he declared was trying to get in at the window.

Young Veach was terror stricken, and between his screams and those of his demented companion, pandemonium reigned supreme for a time. Finally, however, two of the officers appeared on the scene and after removing the lad to another cell, and chastising the devil for his attempts to get in with Neumann, the demented man became somewhat composed and all was again still.

Neumann was removed to the county jail today, there to await the action of the probate court, before whom he will shortly undergo an examination as to his sanity.

THE VERY BEST

Butter is monarch of the table. Its right to first place, there's none to dispute, and in Utah none can dispute that our butter is always the best. Such a triumph of the dairy can at best be only equalled, never surpassed. The only butter hereabouts like ours is ours, and our price for it is only 25 cents a pound. Your butter is never cheap, vaunt it ever so much. "Eat the best of everything" is the first rule of good digestion. That means hereabouts out from our stock of groceries.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first event of the day was the ten mile road race, in which McConahay finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. Then came the track races, Joe Beck taking second in the novice, Fowler first, Waite second, and Thatcher third in the mile scratch; class B, all "Rambler" you will note. In the half mile class A, May took second, Cortes third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a yellow suit cut his head and fell, Connihear and Waite being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for these parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, May taking first, Joe Beck second and McConahay third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
And dogs may howl if they please,
But Rambler's win races wherever they go
Regardless of how others feel.

Moral—Buy a Rambler! Ride a winner and you'll be a spinner.
