Cotton Congress.

RALEIGH, N. C., 13.—The cotton congress met here to-day, President Butler in the chair. Gov. Brogden welcomed the members to the capital of the State. He said it only remained for our people, and particularly our mechanical, manufacturing and farming interests, to work together more harmoniously, advisedly and energetically, to make this country all that its most ardent friends could wish—the pride of our own people, and the admiration and envy of the world, and in this effort the people of the south and the great west had much to do, as upon their exertions depended the success of every enterprise in this great country. F. B. Busley, in behalf of the mayor, extended a hearty welcome to the representatives of the great west present, and said that, deplore it as much as we may, the west was the granary and smoke house of the whole south, and the coming line of the representatives of the two sections was peculiarly appropriate.

The Relations Between the U. S. and Venezuela.

WASHINGTON, 13.—An extraordinary council of cabinet members having been called by Secretary Fish, met to-day at the Department of State, continuing in session about three hours; all were present excepting Secretary Belknap, who is absent in the West. The subject of our relations with Venezuela was laid before the council by Secretary Fish, who read the latest communications from our minister to that country, and stated the general facts in the case. It may be recollected that in Dec. 1872 the President announced that the government of Venezuela had made no further payments on account of the awards under the convention of 1866, and expressed the hope that it would lose no time in providing for the unpaid balance of the debt to the U. S., which, having originated in injuries to our citizens by the Venezuelan authorities, and having been acknowledged pursuant to treaty in the most solemn form among nations, would, the Prest. said, seem to deserve preference over debts of a different origin and contracted in a different manner, and he recommended this subject to the attention of Congress for such action as might be deemed proper. In pursuance of this recommendation Congress, in a joint resolution, expressed its sense in regard to the awards, and the joint commission under the convention with the Venezuelan government was furnished with a copy of the resolution, which excluded all doubt of the earnestness of our government in its demand for the payment of the amount due. But there was no satisfactory response on the part of Venezuela. In 1873 the President, in his annual message, said to Congress that he apprehended that that government did not realize the character of its obligation under that convention; as there was reason to believe, however, that its hesitancy in recognizing them sprang, in part at least, from real difficulty in discharging them in connection with its obligations to other governments, the expediency of further forbearance on our part was believed to be worthy of the consideration of Congress. Since then our minister at Venezuela has been repeatedly instructed to urge the payment of the deferred installments, until, at last, the Venezuelan government has expressed a disposition to do so, but claims the privilege of designating the particular parties to whom the money shall be paid. To this our government will not consent, the proposition, apart from this consideration, being contrary to the terms of the convention. The Venezuelan government will be informed of the rejection of the proposition, and unless the money shall be paid as the stipulation requires our minister will promptly be withdrawn.

A Very Important Letter.

NEW YORK, 13.—The Tribune, to-morrow, publishes the following letter from Professor Marsh of Yale College, to President Grant—

"Sir—In two interviews I had with you on Indian affairs, I was impressed with your earnest desire to do justice to the Indians, and with your broad and philanthropic views on the whole Indian question. This must be my excuse, as a private citizen, for coming again to you, to lay before you statements of wrongs committed against the Sioux Indians, mainly under my own observation during a recent visit to their country. My visit to this region was wholly in the interests of science, with no intention or wish to investigate Indian affairs. The frauds I observed were brought to my knowledge by Red Cloud, who refused to allow my party to enter the bad lands until I had promised to submit his complaints to you in person.

"Since my interview with you on this subject I have been informed by the commissioner of Indian affairs, of the appointment of a commission to investigate affairs at the Red Cloud agency, and I am invited to lay a statement of the facts before them, which I am quite ready to do, whenever the commission requests it, but I must decline to give my statement to the Interior Department alone, for the following reasons: 1st, I have no confidence whatever in the sincerity of the Secretary of the Interior or of the Commissioner of Indian affairs when they publicly announce their wish and determination to correct the abuses in the Indian management, because I have reason to know that they have long been aware of these abuses and have made no sincere effort to reform them. 2nd, in all my intercourse with these two officials, their object has manifestly been to find out, not so much what the frauds actually were as the extent of my information concerning them, so as to prevent by every means in their power, all publicity or exposure of them; 3d, the evidence now in my possession reflects unfavorably on both Secretary Delano and Commissioner Smith, and for these reasons I have thought it best to lay before you, to whom, in accordance with my promise to Red Cloud, I made the first communication, the accompanying statement in detail, in full confidence that the evidence presented will meet the consideration which its importance demands.

"In the statement which accompanies this letter I have given the results of my investigation into affairs at the Red Cloud Agency, the largest and most important in the west; these results clearly indicate both mismanagement and fraud, especially in the following particulars:

"First—the agent, J. J. Saville, is wholly unfitted for his position, and is guilty of gross fraud upon the Indians in his charge.

"Second—The number of Indians at his agency has been systematically overstated for purposes which can only result in fraud.

"Third—The last issue of annuity goods, which I witnessed, was a suspicious transaction and, in part at least, fraudulent.

"Fourth—the beef cattle given to the Indians have been very inferior, owing to systematic frauds practised by the agent and beef contractors.

"Fifth—the pork issued to the Indians during my visit, was not suitable for human fare.

"Sixth—the flour was very inferior, and the evidence of fraud in this article was conclusive.

"Seventh—sugar and coffee issued were not good, although better than other supplies.

"Eighth—the tobacco observed was rotten, and of little or no use to Indians.

"Ninth—in consequence of fraud and mismanagement, the Indians suffered greatly the past winter for want of food and clothing.

"Tenth—the contract for freight from Cheyenne to the Red Cloud Agency was fraudulent, as the true distance is 145 miles, while the contractor was paid for 212 miles.

"I would especially call attention to the evidence of fraud in the beef cattle as presented in the accompanying statement. This subject I investigated with great care, as beef is the principal article of food of the Sioux Indians, and the frauds I observed had caused great suffering among them, as well as great pecuniary loss to the government.

"The statement I have prepared is supported in all its essential parts by the testimony of officers of the army who were with me and my expedition at the Red Cloud Agency. Among these officers are several personally known to you, and all gentlemen of high character. Should any part of my statement be seriously questioned I trust you will allow these gentlemen to be heard. If the commanding officers of all the posts near the agencies, or other equally trustworthy and disinterested observers there could likewise testify, I think it would be found that I have but faintly indicated the corruption pervading Indian affairs.

"I have purposed to confine myself in this statement to a single agency, and mainly to the time of visit, without reference to much other testimony which has come to me incidentally in the prosecution of my inquiries, showing frauds of equal magnitude at other points. This corruption is a constant source of discontent and hostility among the Indians themselves, and is, in my judgment, the natural result of the present loose and irresponsible system of furnishing Indians goods and supplies, a system that lies directly to invite fraud. I do not believe that anything but a radical change in this respect will prevent the continued demoralization of the Indian service. You have the will and the power to destroy that combination of bad men known as the Indian ring, who are debasing this service and thwarting the efforts of all who are endeavoring to bring to its full consummation your noble policy of peace.

"Very respectfully,

"Your obedient servant,

"O. C. MARSH.

Coming to the U. S.—A Dangerous Counterfeit—The Tweed Case—Erie Directors Elected.

A cable dispatch from London says that Sir Edwin Watkins, who has accepted the chairmanship of the Erie Protection Committee, will sail for the U. S. in two weeks.

A dangerous counterfeit is in circulation on the City of Erie, Pa., of 500 ship yards bonds of 1867, due in 1887.

Charles O'Connor and Wheeler H. Peckham appeared before Judge Barrett in the Supreme Court at chambers to-day, as counsel for the people, in obedience to an order to show cause why the order of arrest in the new six million dollars civil suit against Wm. M. Tweed should not be vacated, or the bail reduced from three millions to a reasonable amount. Wm. Dudley Field appeared for the defendant. The case is still on and is likely to occupy three days.

The ticket headed by Jewett for the Erie directorship was elected. The whole number of votes cast was 262,485, representing $26,248,500 worth of stock. Of these the Jewett ticket received 261,735 votes, while the opposition ticket, containing the names of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mr. Livingstone, and others, received 750 votes. Livingstone challenged the votes on the ground that a number of the shareholders had voted by proxy, but the inspectors of election declared the votes legal.

Declared Blameless.

PHILADELPHIA, 13.—A council of Baptist clergy to investigate the charges preferred against the Rev. Bett, of improper intimacy with certain ladies of his congregation, met yesterday p.m., and continued in session till this a.m.; they agree on a verdict of not guilty, holding the pastor altogether blameless.
