A DASTARDLY ACT.

Carl Anderson Shot in the Leg, at Union, This Morning.

AND PETERSON HIS ASSAILANT.

Amputation Became Necessary, and the Operation Was Performed This Afternoon.

At 4 o'clock this morning, at Union, Carl Anderson was shot in the right leg, just below the knee, by Andrew Peterson, inflicting a wound which resulted in the loss of the limb. Anderson was brought here later and placed in St. Mary's hospital, where he was asked for a statement.

It appears, according to the man's story, that he was out in his field watering a part of the farm about 500 yards from the house, when Peterson came up and accosted him saying: "Now I have met you, you d— — of a b—," and immediately poured the contents of a shotgun into him. The shot took effect in the right leg below the knee, literally tearing the member to pieces. The load also killed Anderson's dog, which was with him at the time. Anderson crawled on his hands and knees a distance of 300 yards to his home, when assistance of the surgeons was summoned.

Anderson says that for some time past there has been "bad blood" between himself and Peterson, on account of some objection raised by the former to the marriage of Peterson with his niece. Mr. Anderson thinks that the shot was fired solely on this account, as there has never been any other trouble between them.

Peterson has disappeared and Constable Van Valkenburg of Union is researching a search for his man. Mr. Peterson was entirely ignorant of the shooting, her husband having left her on Sunday evening about 8 o'clock, saying that he was coming to Salt Lake to seek employment.

Anderson's deposition was taken this afternoon and Doctors Pinneton and Worthington amputated the limb at the knee. The wounded man is about forty-five years old, and at present doing nicely under the circumstances and will in all probability survive the ordeal.

Sheriff McQueen was apprised of the shooting by telephone about 10 o'clock this morning and at once left for Union.

A Holiday at Brighton's.

Judge Powers left the city on the "Fourth" to join his wife and family at Brighton's "retreat" near Park City. Since then he has been having a delightful time in the mountains. The judge is expected here in Salt Lake about Thursday next. He will remain for business a few days and then return to Brighton's.

They Took a Bath.

The excursionists from various points in Colorado brought to this city by Edwin W. Sexton, and who have been for some days enjoying the beauties of Salt Lake, accepted the offer of a free bath at the Sanitarium this morning. The "plunge" was greatly appreciated by the entire party.

Under Investigation.

Al Campbell, a youth, is having a hearing in U. S. Commissioner McNulty's court this afternoon on a charge of petit larceny.

FELL 300 FEET TO DEATH.

Horrible Fate of Byron Allred of Spring City.

The Fatality Happened on Friday, But the Body Was Found on Sunday.

Special Dispatch to the News.

SPRING CITY, Utah, July 8.—Byron, the son of our esteemed townsman, N. W. Allred, Jr., and a noble lad of 18 years, accidentally fell over a steep, rocky ledge at the east mountains Friday morning and was instantly killed.

Word was not received here until Sunday, and the body was found by a search party sent from here the same day. He had fallen almost three hundred feet and the body when found was in a crushed condition and, being exposed to the rays of a hot sun for three days, was badly decomposed.

The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their terrible bereavement.

Today's Probate Court.

A couple of orders were made in the probate court this morning by Judge Blatchford:

Estate of James Smith, deceased. Hearing on petition for letters of administration. J. J. Snyder was appointed administrator on filing a bond of $10,000.

Estate of Emma A. Williams, deceased. Order entered revoking the appointment of W. H. Wallace as special administrator and appointing Mart H. Tay ar in his stead.

For Petit Larceny.

Fred Smith, a railroad laborer, and James McMann, a painter, were run in by a police officer this afternoon on a charge of petit larceny and will have a hearing before Justice Smith tomorrow.

Ended Fatally.

The surgical operation upon Ephraim G. Davis, of Spanish Fork, resulted fatally a few minutes after midnight on Saturday night. All seemed to be progressing favorably for his recovery until late Saturday afternoon, when he became suddenly taken to fall, and sank into a final slumber. Brother Davis was a highly respected citizen of Spanish Fork, where he has resided many years, and where the sympathies of the people were specially drawn out towards him because of his protracted illness. He was 41 years of age and leaves a wife and five children. The body was taken to Spanish Fork Sunday evening for interment. A post-mortem examination was held in this city, as when the deceased realized that his good constitution was still in his favor, he gave the surgeons permission to make it, that purchance they might thereby learn something that would be of benefit in relieving others similarly afflicted.

23rd Quorum Elders.

The members of the Twenty-third quorum of Elders will hold their meeting this (Monday) evening, in the Fifth ward meeting house, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Members of the Mob.

The cases of John Palmer and Charles Roberts, members of the mob who prevented for a time the going out of a Rio Grande train on Friday evening, were being heard before Justice Smith, in the police court, at the time the NEWS went to press. The charges in each instance are very mild, being simply that of disturbing the peace.

The Utah Commission.

There was to have been a meeting of the Utah Commission this morning, but owing to the inability of Commissioner Thatcher of Logan to be present it was adjourned till Thursday next.

AN EVENTFUL NIGHT.

Long Hours of Weary and Impatient Watching by Salt Lake Police.

WHOLESALE JAIL BREAK NIPPED.

A Cunning Plan, a Determined Effort and a Lot of Desperate and Disappointed Prisoners.

Last night was an eventful and unusual one with the officers of the Salt Lake police force. Early in the evening the information reached the desk sergeants' office from the jail that there was to be an attempted delivery during the night. In fact, that the work had already commenced.

To act effectually and promptly without arousing the suspicion of the prisoners was a move that was well and quietly made. Confined on the ground floor in two rows of cells with open doors is a gang of desperate and hardened criminals. In the middle of the small, fenced-off corridor that separates the cells is a somewhat referred to in a more and ominously shove it is a wooden ceiling the boards of which were torn out. Through the opening thus made about ten of the prisoners intended by means of a blanket rope. From there they made their way to the southwest corner of the jail and at once, with files finely tempered small steel saws and a lifted screwed file, began to saw sooner the iron bars intended to cut window nearest the corner.

Chief Pratt and Captain Donovan held a consultation and immediately surrounded the jail with officers and awaited developments. They expected that they would not have to wait long, but they were mistaken as the work of delivery proceeded slowly through the prisoners often relieved each other and kept sawing away continuously.

At the east end of the jail under the shadow of the wall lay the cunning, Detective Sheets and Desk Sergeant Ferguson. At the west, stationed near the foundation in the big Agnew excavation was Policeman McDonald, while across the alley leading into the jail yard, directly under the window behind a board fence crouched the form of Captain Donovan. That he was not seen by the prisoners in the darkness is inconceivable, as he was only a few feet away. Every officer expected to be informed straight and when after that time they were still compelled to lie on the ground with faces down, the hours dragged slowly, but they had no doubt of the inmates to spoil the little game, and so were up as hot they could.

At four o'clock this morning enough of the bars had been wrenched from their fastenings to allow the passage of a man's body and at that hour James Doran, recently sent up for ninety days for vagrancy and who was supposed to have committed the Atwood safe robbery at Murray, dropped from the window and sprang over the fence almost on top of Captain Donovan.

He was the most surprised man in the country when he was confronted by the officer, who presented a formidable looking revolver at his head and told him if he stirred another foot he would shoot to kill. Doran fell back almost paralyzed, while in the jail there was a great commotion among the prisoners to get back to their places. Doran has spent the whole of today in the sweat box. He is regarded as the toughest character in the custody of the city officials.

THE OLD FOLKS' EXCURSION.

Final Instructions Given by the Committee.

The special train to carry the Old Folks to Saltair will leave the Rio Grand railway depot tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock sharp. All the committees side, and all the special ward aids, both male and female, are requested to report for duty to the general committee at the depot at 8 o'clock a. m.

They will be furnished with badges by Wm. L. Binder, a member of the committee, without which they are not entitled to ride on the train. Only those who wear red, blue and white badges are entitled to free rides on the street railways.

Returning from the Lake in the evening the train will leave Saltair at 8:30, and arrive in the city at 9:30. The management of the respective street railways have kindly promised to have extra cars at the depot at the hour named to convey the old people to their respective homes in the city.

All arrangements are regarded to be at the depot on time.

By order of the committee.

ANDREW JENSEN,
Secretary.

Maori Meeting Postponed.

The Maori meeting to have been held in the Fourteenth ward hall July 10th, will be postponed till further notice on account of the non-arrival of the New Zealand missionaries.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Merrill's Ruling in Against Justice Peter Lowbrie.

"BOG" NUNN AND HIS "BLACK OIL."

A Divorce Granted.—Decision in the Pembroke-DeWoody Case.—The Dyer Suit.

Chief Justice Merrill this morning rendered his deferred decision in the case of the Merchants' Protective Association vs Justice of the Peace Lowbrie, the arguments in which were made a week or more ago.

His honor admitted that he had studied this case with great care and devoted a good deal of time to it. There were two questions raised herein. The first was as to the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace to try actions in which the sum involved did not exceed $300 and in the specification of such jurisdiction, among other clauses in the statute defining the same was one providing for injuries to the person. The question therefore was whether that would include personal injuries occasioned by libel or slander. He was clearly of opinion that the section of the statute referred to personal or physical injuries—injuries to the person—and that a justice of the peace had no jurisdiction in this particular class of cases. As to the second and more difficult question—whether the remedy would be by a writ of prohibition, on an examination of cases previously decided by the supreme court of this Territory his impression was that the writ in such cases would not lie. Whatever his own individual opinion might be on the matter, it was not his intention to make any ruling contrary to the decision of the supreme court of the Territory; therefore he felt impelled to sustain the demurrer, being bound by the supreme Court's ruling.

Attorney Varian, of counsel for the Merchant's Protective association, said—As the court is in some shape that an inspection of it would not convey the views taken by the court, I am persuaded that if the opinion of the court was placed upon it there magistrates, or justices, would follow the judicial indication.

Judge Merrill—My opinion is that you have to go here for relief in this class of cases, but the Territorial Supreme court says they have a plain, adequate and speedy remedy at law. Having said that, I am of course bound by the decisions. As to whether I am right or wrong is another subject, but I am not going against the decision.

THE DIVORCE CASE.

Attorney W. H. Dickson mentioned the divorce case of Irvine vs Irvine, saying he would like to have the motion for a new trial set down for hearing on the 23rd inst. Judge Merrill, in the present condition of business in the courts, did not, however, seem disposed to set any definite date at present.

A DIVORCE.

On the ground of failure to provide Elizabeth A. Smith, a lady about thirty years of age, was granted a divorce from her husband, Amos Smith. Rufus Ferguson was the petitioner's attorney. The parties intermarried on October 23rd, 1886, and there is one child, William J. They formerly resided in Summit county, but a separation took place about two years ago, since which time the defendant has not contributed anything towards the support of his wife and little one.

THE PEMBROKE-DEWOODY MATTER.

In the case of Sarah J. Pembroke vs J. F. DeWoody, submitted last week upon motion of the defendant to dismiss the action, and to sustain of plaintiff for judgment quashing the motion, the motion to dismiss was now overruled, and judgment for plaintiff granted. The clerk was ordered to pay over the funds to plaintiff, less his (the clerk's) fees.

THE DYER MATTER AGAIN.

Ella F. Dyer (Shorter) vs M. P. Henderson and P. L. Williams, administrators of the estate of Frank H. Dyer, deceased. Upon stipulation and motion of Judge Henderson, this action was dismissed.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

G. P. Colmer vs F. D. Cluff et al. Extension of thirty days' time in which to settle statement in motion for a new trial, from June 23.

The case of Amanda A. Barlow et al vs J. W. Whitehead Jr. Order to show cause, originally set down for hearing today, was postponed till next Monday, on application of P. L. Williams, the defendant's attorney.

MOTION FOR AN INJUNCTION.

The only case left for hearing today was that of Charles W. Nunn, veterinary surgeon of this city, vs Charles E. Johnson, of the firm of Johnson, Pratt & Co., druggists.

The complaint was necessitated by Judge Hey and the defendant by Attorney A. S. Pratt.

In substance it set forth that plaintiff sought an injunction restraining the defendants, his agents and others from using or causing to be used the words "black oil" upon any label or wrapper for bottles, boxes, or packages of Barnum as a distinguishing mark, or as part of any circular or circulars, show cards, or advertisements; and from exposing for sale any liniment having the label "black oil" upon it, and from imitating or selling the same kind of liniment or compound as that manufactured by plaintiff. It is further asked that defendant be ordered to render an account of all his sales of "black oil" as alleged to have been fraudulently compounded and vended by him during the year 1893 and since that time, and to pay over to plaintiff the profits of such sales.

The arguments this morning were had upon the application for a temporary injunction pending the trial of the suit and on the demurrer to complaint, and the court, at their conclusion, took the matter under advisement.

For Dispensing Sisters.

Members of and sympathizers with the mob which assembled at the Rio Grande western depot last Friday night are exhibiting a commendable amount of confidence in themselves. They have asked with an air of injured innocence, of whom, that Chief Pratt and Captain Donovan be "investigated" for dispersing the rioters and arresting some of their number. They claim the officers overstepped the line of law and duty in seeing that peace and good order was maintained.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." Carlos Martyn, D. D., 77 Lexington Ave., New York City.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." Edwin F. Parsons, M. D., 1724 Pine Street, Philadelphia.

TODAY'S COUNTY COURT.

An Economical Move Made on the Part of the Selectmen.

The County Collector's and Assessor's Maps—Reports of Officers and Other Business.

The county court has been in session again today, but it was nearly 11 o'clock when business was taken up with the reading of the minutes.

IN THE HOSPITALS.

The County Physician (Dr. Worthington) reported that there are four patients in the city hospitals at this date, divided equally between St. Mark's and St. Mary's.

PRISONERS' BOARD BILL.

Sheriff McQueen presented a bill for the board of county prisoners under his charge for the month of June, showed that 1,649 meals had been served to them during that period.

A DIFFICULTY IN THE DECK.

For the bridging and repairing of engineer's and assessor's maps to date two men were employed during the month of June, and filed bookkeeping. One was paid at the rate of $75 per month and the other at the rate of $60 per month. Beside Sadler and Kirkham, one Mark Hendricks $65 and $60—made a big difference. Last year the work was done by the hour, and cost the county upwards of $2,000. This year it is a contract job, to be executed under bonds, and a big saving, as may be seen, will be effected by the new method.

Not Yet Recovered.

Clerk and Deputy Sheriff J. L. Welsh, who has been on the sick list for the past two weeks, ventured down to work again today, but he was soon in no hold out and had to return home. His place at the desk in the sheriff's office will therefore be also more or less vacant for a colleague until he has quite recovered from his illness.

Educational Notes.

Prof. Stewart gave the first of a series of popular talks at 13th Church today before the Summer school.

Attention is again called to the lecture in the art room of the University this evening by Prof. Mendall, upon the subject "What and How to Read."

Y. M. C. A. Day Tomorrow.

The Y. M. C. A. excursion to Garfield occurs tomorrow. The Deseret baseball club will play for one day only with a Salt Lake organization, and a big observation train will leave the Utah Nevada depot at 2:15 at which time will begin the exciting series of events.

PLENTY OF SUGAR.

It is Being Shipped from Ogden to Z. C. M. I. Trains.

At 3:30 this afternoon a train of heavily loaded wagons rolled into Z. C. M. I. yard in this city. They were from Ogden, and sugar was the cargo of each.

When the management of the institution realized that the interruption of freight business between these two cities and Ogden would continue until there might be a scarcity of the necessitous product here they made arrangements to have sugar, of which they had a very large shipment lying in Ogden, awaiting the usual order, brought in by teams. A little less than forty wagon loads from this city to the junction, and returning with sugar, shipping will now go on steadily until the railways resume, and the public in consequence will remember that it is due to the kindness and courtesy of Z. C. M. I. that the sugar market is plentifully supplied.

Could Not Ride, So Walked.

The interruption of railway traffic between this city and the north and east prevent an unusual entrepreneur of the News coming to Salt Lake from Pocatello, Idaho. He wanted to get here and came, arriving in town Saturday. He made the entire journey on foot. After concluding his business here he will return, by the same conveyance if necessary.

Organ Recital.

There will be a grand organ recital in the Tabernacle this evening beginning at 8:30. The affair is given gratis and for the express benefit of the three or four thousand strike-delayed tourists who are now sojourning in this city. An unusual program has been prepared and there is no doubt but that the time will be most pleasantly and profitably spent.

Will Wait a Few Days.

Several Utah people whereabout from Southampton, England, on June 30, on the American liner Paris arrived in New York Saturday evening, all while trying to the information concerning of passenger traffic, through the great strike, they will remain in New York and vicinity until the railways resume and that can pass through without danger of encounter of strike.

Was a Bear.

The report can long published that during the excitement at Ogden a bear was thrown into the Z. C. M. I. cellar vault. The report is without foundation in fact, nothing of that kind having occurred.

RUNNING ON TIME.

The eastbound passenger train which left the Union Pacific depot at 7 o'clock this morning passed Evanston, Wyo., an adequate mark. Two freight trains will pass Ogden this afternoon for the east, one for the north and one for the south.

STRIKE ON AT DALLAS.

DALLAS, Tex., July 9. The Pullman car strike began on the Santa Fe at midnight, west bound, and reached here this afternoon.
