IN THE BLUE GRASS STATE.

How Missionaries Find Matters in That Part of the Country.

Locked the Church Doors—People Aroused to Kindness—Notes by the Way.

DAMRON, Caldwell Co., Ky., April 6, 1896.

To the Editor:

On the 25th of December last Elder Pace and myself finished our labors in Calloway county, and on the 26th we started on our journey, visiting Saints and friends in eleven counties. Since that time we have traveled over eleven counties, holding many meetings and adding eight good honest souls to the fold of Christ.

After an absence of one month we returned to Murray on our way to Trigg county and found that our friends in the city of Murray had been earnestly investigating and had concluded that we were preaching the Gospel as it was taught in the days of Christ and His Apostles. They seemed very desirous that we should preach in their city. Of course we consented. We applied to Mr. Hale for the use of the Campbellite church. He told us to call on him the next day and he would then let us know. At the time appointed we called on him again at his large store. He invited us into his office and in about five minutes their minister and several other prominent members came in. He says, "Gentlemen what do you propose to preach?" and all seemed very much [illegible] to preach the Gospel to them. He then said they had the Gospel—that the Bible was all that was needed, and if we would live up to all it contained we would be all right. I told him we were the only people on the earth that were living up to the Bible, and showed him from the Scriptures that they had done away with all of the old Bible and at least four-fifths of the New Testament; and if they would allow us their church we would preach the Gospel to them without price, as the Bible teaches. He said the Bible contained many mysteries that they could not understand. I told them that the Bible was not a mystery to a man that was called of God, but to those that had taken the honor to themselves to preach the Gospel it was a mystery. Finding that our medicine was too strong for them they refused to let us preach in their church, so we took our departure and walked three miles and spent the night with Dunkin Hall.

To our surprise the next morning very early a fine team and carriage drove up, and we were informed by Mr. G. J. Slaughter that he wished to be baptized before we left. It being Sunday we set the time at two o'clock in the afternoon. He returned and sent his boy around on a horse and notified the people, and at the appointed hour a large crowd had gathered on the banks of Clark's river to witness the baptism. The weather being very cold, we talked to them for only a short time, but gave notice that we would preach that night at Brother Slaughter's. We held three meetings, the house being crowded each time, and we think much good was done, as several more are earnestly investigating.

We then started for Trigg county, arriving there on the 4th of February, and went to the house of Thomas Whaley. We remained there several days holding meetings, and succeeded in convincing six more of the truth of the Gospel. Notwithstanding there was ice in the water they came forward and complied with the sacred ordinance of baptism. We left many more that were fully convinced, but did not have the courage to make the sacrifice.

We next walked twelve miles to the Canton neighborhood, and found some very kind friends among the Canton people. We held several very interesting meetings around the city of Canton, and made several attempts to preach in the city. After getting consent of their trustees to use their church and giving out our appointment, their ministers and some of their leading men got up a petition to close the doors and not let us preach. They succeeded in getting the doors closed. Some of the leading citizens were heard to say that they were not very well united anyway, and if we are allowed to preach there they would be unable to control them at all. We succeeded in making many kind friends among the people of this place. Several of them gave us money and stamps, requesting us to write to them. Among our friends who live in Canton are Mr. J. H. Major and wife, who keep the post office. They had written several pieces to their county paper defending our cause. We had given them the privilege of reading our Utah papers and they have become very much interested, and we think that in the near future our Elders can return and do a good work in that neighborhood.

We left Canton on the first of March and arrived at the house of Brother Rueben Cranton on the sixth. Brother Rueben's family have been members of the Church for six years. In that time they have spent one year in Utah. They returned to their old home and the place has been home for the Elders ever since they were baptized, and for many years before. Over fifty different Elders have found shelter under their roof. Sister Cranton has been a mother to many of our Elders when they were sick. There is not another family of Saints within many miles of them. They are enjoying the Spirit of God and feel greatly blessed to think that they have had the privilege of entertaining so many of the humble servants of the Lord. Now that our Elders have finished this part of the work Sister Cranton thinks her work in this land is about finished. Their great desire is to gather with the Saints.

The News is read with much interest and is doing much good in removing prejudice for which we are very thankful.

F. D. RICHARDSON.

The New Light

Now on exhibition at the Young's ... [illegible] is attracting no little attention and crowds are there to witness each evening's exhibition. There is no question about the light being the best light known, most pleasant and economical. A few states left, and the man who wishes to make money will investigate it, by writing [illegible] Bros., managing western territory. Ladies and gentlemen invited.

The Walker Coal Co.

Sell coal by the sack, ton or carload, from the Wasatch and Crismon mines at Coalville, belonging to the Ontario Silver Mining company, also Rock Springs, Castle Gate, Pleasant Valley and Anthracite coals; prompt delivery by courteous and obliging teamsters, clean coal and full weight guaranteed. Office No. 138 S. Main Street. W. J. Montgomery, Agent. Tel. No. 144.

Reliable Electric Work.

For safe [illegible] wiring and elegant line chandeliers, go to the Inter-Mountain Electric Co., 45 East First South street.

THE HAGUE TRIAL.

Something About Fifty Dollars With Which to "Hang" the Jury.

The trial of Alma Hague was taken up again today in the United States circuit court and the charge of embezzling the funds of the First National Bank of Nephi further inquired into.

Judges King and Henderson and S. A. King appeared for the defense as usual and Judges Judd and Hawes for the United States.

J. C. Loomer was the first witness this morning. He testified that he was manager of the [illegible] Investment company and that the draft of [illegible] drawn on the Deseret National Bank of Salt Lake was signed by Hague.

J. H. Knowles was then called and testified that he was an expert bookkeeper and that he had examined the various notes and said they had all been signed by Hague.

Andrew Jensen testified to having a conversation with Hague at which time he wanted to borrow $50 as he was out of money. Something was said about giving two jurors $25 each, that they would "hang" the jury for that sum. Jensen could not remember who the jurors were.

The inquiry is still on and may last some days yet.

Suggestions on Light.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 15, 1896.

To the Editor:

Is it not about time the city was asserting its rights and declaring itself free from some of the impositions practiced upon it by unscrupulous corporations? The light business is the latest scheme, both electric and gas.

I understand that there are firms in the East which would put in an electric light plant for the city and take installments of the same amounts as the city is now paying the monopoly here, until the price of the plant was paid for and then the city would own its lighting plant and be independent, and could light the city for one half what it now costs.

I have an idea, too, that while the new works were being put in we could put up with the darkness at night and have special patrol men to guard the city for considerably less than we are now paying for the electric lights. One patrolman could guard the distance now illuminated by four or five lights, and would be glad to do it for the price now paid for them, and by a proper system of police regulations in this city outside of the regular force (though they could act in harmony with it) the city could be guarded from any desperate characters that might come into it. In this way we would help quite a few who are now idle and keep the money at home.

Respectfully,
C. DENNEY.

AMUSEMENTS.

SOCIETY CIRCUS.

It was the intention of the managers of the society circus to give three performances this week, commencing Monday evening, but this was not done for several reasons, and last night's performance was the last that will be given. The attendance was somewhat above the average, owing to the fact that subscription tickets had been sold, with the understanding that the performance would be in the nature of a benefit to Wallace Munro, who has labored hard for the success of the venture.

THE GRAND.

All the Comforts at the Grand is realizing the prediction of a big week, last night's performance being greeted with a full house, not crowded but comfortably filled. The same contagious laughter was heard at the intensely funny situations the play affords.

Frank G. Carpenter's lecture at the Theater on April 22nd will doubtless draw a big house. The versatility of this talented gentleman is well known all over the country, and the many readers of his excellent articles in the News will be glad of the opportunity of personally seeing and hearing him.

PREACHING IN TENNESSEE.

An Experience Related by One Who Was Investigating.

[illegible], Scott Co., Tenn., March 31, 1896.

To the Editor:

I left my home September 1st, 1894, and arrived at Chattanooga September 12th, stopped there a few days and on the arrival of Elder Elias S. Kimball I was assigned to labor in East Tennessee. In company with Elder Kimball and others I left for Washington county, where we held a two days' conference. I was assigned to labor in Sevier county with Elder H. W. Christensen. We opened the south [illegible] October 21st and commenced to canvass from house to house; by the help of the Lord we made many very kind friends, among whom two were baptized. Then I was assigned to labor with Elder W. L. [illegible] in Knox county. While laboring there I traveled with many other companions. I was then assigned to labor in Scott county with Elder J. H. Allen. We opened the county May 11th, 1895, were successful in making many good friends and I am happy to say, some converts. After leaving the county for a short time to spend the two summer months of July and August among Saints and friends, I received a letter from one of our friends in [illegible]. I will enclose a copy of the same, thinking that it would encourage some of the investigators of this [illegible] and perhaps interest some of the Saints. It should encourage the Elders to work with more energy if possible.

G. B. WINSLE.

Mr. G. B. Winsle:

Brother—I seat myself with pleasure to answer to your's received. I was pleased to hear from you also to learn that you were so well satisfied with your labor. My best wishes are with you and companion. * * * I must tell you a circumstance that took place with me. I was suffering untold misery with pains in my ankle, could not put it to the floor. It was one step for three days. I became alarmed about my condition; I did not know where you were or what to do; but I thought I would make the best of it I could. I had your books on the bed to read. I gathered all the faith I could, [illegible] up the book, held it up and [illegible] when God I saw was the plan of salvation to let me know it by stopping the pains, and if it was not to let me know by increasing the pains to a double portion. I became willing for it to be [illegible]. I was willing to suffer any of [illegible] to know the truth. In three minutes' time all pains had left. I have not felt a pain in my ankle since, and was weak for several days. Then I had something to study about. I would wonder if God would hear a man in my circumstances or not. Some would say he would not; some would make fun of me. But I know I am not mistaken, for the Lord did this to show me the way, the truth and the light. Now I am as willing a man to accept the Gospel as ever lived. I want you to come back and see me as soon as you can. I want you to baptize me when you come back, if you are willing to do so. I am determined to stand by the truth, live or die. So I hope you will read this and answer soon. I am not posted much in the Gospel principles for I never have been taught. I am like a child learning its letters.

G. W. RUSSELL.

Idaho Weather.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, April 14.—The weather of the week ending Monday, April 13, was generally cloudy and cold, with frequent high winds and light rain or snowfall, the latter occurring principally over the eastern district, amounting in a few places to three inches or more which, however, disappeared in a short time. Light frosts have occurred in portions of the eastern and western districts, but no serious damage is reported.

Wet weather has kept the soil in excellent condition for farm work which has progressed fairly well though interrupted in a few cases by too much moisture. A large part of the grain crop has been sown, and many farmers are turning their attention to the planting of early garden truck.

The prevailing cool weather has retarded the growth of vegetation to some extent; early wheat is coming up slowly and [illegible] fairly well; [illegible] has made little progress; many trees in the southern district are in full bloom.

Stock has wintered well and is in good condition.

Godbe-Pitts Drug Co. are noted for the best Medicines and lowest prices.

Henry Ward Beecher once informed a man who came to him complaining of gloomy and despondent feelings, that what he most needed was a good cathartic, meaning, of course, such a medicine as Ayer's Cathartic Pills, every dose being effective.

No small objection which young folks had to the old-time spring-medicine was their nauseousness. In our day this objection is removed and Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most powerful and popular of blood-purifiers, is as pleasant to the palate as a cordial.
