AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Carmen up to Date" was presented last night at the Salt Lake Theatre by the Kimball Opera company to a good house. It is not exactly a repetition of what was given here a year ago by the same troupe. It is brighter as a whole, and in many particulars excels last year's presentation. The scenery, the costumes and the chorus in every respect show a decided superiority.

Corinne, the star of the organization has been well advertised. Without realizing all that has been said of her, yet she must be accorded a high place in her profession. She is bright and lively, a good singer, a graceful dancer and an excellent actress. Her leading mates of Carmencita were well received, her solos evoked several recalls, and her mandolin executions brought down the house.

Bernard Dyllyn as the Toreador, or bull-fighter, was a marked feature of the performance. His commanding presence combined with his powerful baritone voice at once challenges attention. His swagger might be said to be a little overdone, were it not for the fact that his part demands a good deal of the burlesque. The typical Spanish bull-fighter is far from being modest, and Mr. Dyllyn gives a fine interpretation of him in his exaggerated style. His toreador song was received with storms of applause, and an encore demanded and given.

The chorus is worthy of all the commendation bestowed on it. Charles Fostelle as Carmen's rival, and the smugglers evoked frequent and pronounced plaudits from the audience. The company as a whole is an unusually strong one, and every feature of "Carmen up to Date" was presented in excellent style. The play will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. Mr. Schaefer, the mandolin tutor of Carmen will give a solo tonight on his thirty stringed guitar.

MISS GALE who commences a four nights' engagement on Thursday, is the next attraction at the Theatre.

"BENBY," a one-act comedietta will be presented tonight at the Eighteenth Ward Hall by the Home Dramatic Company.

WONDERLAND.

The mysterious performances of Dr. Waite and son, and the interesting group of Equimaux can be seen tonight and tomorrow. Change of programme takes place on Thursday.

COUNCILMAN LAWSON

Figures in the Role of Preventing Witness in a Police Court Case.

A. D. Westley, a real estate broker, was on trial in the Police court today before Justice Gee, on a charge of disturbing the peace. The complaining witness was John L. Lawson, "Liberal" councilman from the First precinct. According to the evidence, the trouble grew out of a gas stock speculation. Westley accused Lawson of attempting to defraud him out of $100. The latter threatened a suit for defamation of character. Westley told the "Liberal" member of the municipal government that he had no character and that he could commence a suit as soon as he pleased.

The affair occurred on a public thoroughfare and was characterized by boisterous demonstrations. Lawson swore out a complaint against Westley and the result was that he was fined $10.

Daniel Alexander was fined $10 for assault and battery.

Ed. Stowells is under arrest on a charge of fast and reckless driving.

BRIGHAM CITY ENJOINED.

Two Hundred and Twenty-Five Citizens Object to the Issuance of Waterwork Bonds.

Brigham City is engaged in a lawsuit, which promises much excitement and interest not only in "The City of Homes" and this Territory but in New York City as well. This lawsuit is in the nature of an action brought in the First district court by two hundred and twenty-five of Brigham city's citizens praying for an injunction to prohibit the mayor and city council of Brigham city from issuing waterworks bonds. The title of the suits is as follows:

In the District Court of the First Judicial District Court of the Territory of Utah, Weber County.

Joseph Merrill and Nephi Valentine, for themselves and for the benefit of others, plaintiffs, vs. Brigham City, a municipal corporation, J. M. Jensen, A. A. Stone, J. Ipson, Nels Madsen, John T. Rich and Blair & Co., (a copartnership) defendants.

The complaint was filed with Clerk McClure yesterday morning and Judge Miner at once issued a restraining order in accordance therewith, and Deputy Marshal B. A. Bowman started for Brigham to serve it on the plaintiffs.

PRESIDENT ELIOT DELAYED.

He Will Not Reach Salt Lake Until Midnight. The Reception Abandoned.

The committee in charge of the reception and entertainment of President Eliot, of Harvard University, were greatly disappointed that that distinguished gentleman has been delayed on his journey towards this city and will not arrive here until midnight.

The following telegram was received at 11:5 a. m. today:

P. V. JUNCTION,
March 15, 1892.

President Eliot delayed. Will not reach Salt Lake until midnight. Abandon reception.

YOUNG AND TALBRACH.

Tomorrow's programme will, however, be carried out as heretofore announced.

A Desperate Leap.

A stranger jumped from passenger train No. 2 of the Rio Grande Western, about 9 o'clock this morning, a few miles south of Ogden. He was evidently severely injured as he struck the ground with great violence and rolled over a number of times. He had got aboard the wrong train by mistake and was so informed by the conductor when he attempted to stop the train at the nearest station and let him off. It seems, however, that he prepared to take his chances by leaping from the train at that point, which was running at a high rate of speed. The act was witnessed by the flagman who informed the conductor. The engine was reversed and the train backed down the track to where a gang of section men were at work. They were sent in search of the supposed to be badly injured man and the train came on to this city.

The following programme will be rendered at the Tabernacle tomorrow evening:

Band Contest.

The amateur band contest at Cook's pavilion, at Ogden, last night, drew quite a crowd and was a very interesting affair to the people of the towns from which the competing bands came. The competitors were bands from Harrisville, North Ogden, Far West and Five Points. The judges were Messrs. George Greenwell, D. B. Gill and Chris Christensen, who gave a perfectly fair and satisfactory decision. The judges had never heard either of the bands play before, and were therefore unprejudiced in favor of any. The score is given below in full:

A BAD CASE.

The People vs. J. W. Wolff, in the Third District Court.

The proceedings leading up to the case against J. W. Wolff, for rape, were further ventilated before Judge Zane and the jury this morning. The defense had their inning, when evidence was introduced intended to show that there was no complaint by the girl or her parents at Fountain Green after the time of the wrongdoing complained of, that the young woman, particularly, made no departure from her former deportment toward her teacher and apparently had nothing to find fault with. Also, the defendant's general reputation was given an airing, but he did not gain much from that.

The cap sheaf to the whole structure was reached by putting the defendant himself on the stand. He gave a brief account of his career up to the time of boarding at Pleasant Green as a school teacher, having Mamie Auer as one of his pupils. The second Friday after commencement, she asked her teacher to write her some tables not found in her books, and he took her to wait till school was out that he would do so for her. She waited, and her close intimacy became definite shape at this point. The "teacher," being the age of the girl he was employed to instruct, immediately took advantage of his opportunities, and the instructions imparted were not those found in any of the text books or other works of reference. The teacher became a lover, not such a one as sometimes finds justification before the world even in the face of parental displeasure, but one whose professions lead to dishonor, whose caresses are those of the lustful, and whose heart upon self-gratification without care for the consequences to his victim. The caressive lessons became more and more frequent and the reserve less and less perceptible, till in a short time it disappeared altogether. Not only during the time of the circus (Forepaugh's) here, but prior to that, intimacy existed between the two. This is substantially the story as it fell from the defendant's own lips. Of course, the story itself is not for publication. He has already convicted himself of fornication, but perhaps the defense does not care for that, the punishment being for a more heinous delinquency.

At 11:0, Mr. Stephens, after a searching and effective cross-examination, announced that he might want to ask a few more questions, and the court took a recess till 2 o'clock, at which time the case was resumed.

The witnesses called shortly before 4 o'clock, and Mr. Stephens spoke briefly for the prosecution, followed by Arthur Brown for the defense. At 5:15 he was still speaking, but there is no doubt of the jury getting the case today.

BEFORE COMMISSIONER GREENAN.

J. C. Begel, charged with fornication with Mrs. Dorsey, in this city on the 14th of last month, came up, was arraigned and examination set for the 17th, at 10 a. m. The bonds were fixed at $300, which at 1 p. m., had not been given.

ANOTHER FALSEHOOD.

A Serious Defect in the "Tribune's" Calculations.—A Trapper to a Trapper.

The Tribune, this morning, makes the following sensational announcement under the headlines: "He oppose discrimination. Contractor Reed won't have Gentile laborers boycotted. He therefore cancels a sub-contract under which they refused to work.—Elder Snape the offender!"

The report was current on the streets yesterday that President W. D. Reed, superintendent of the Pacific Paving Company, on his return from Denver, Sunday, had given orders for the discharge of about 10 men who had been employed by Bishop James Snape, subcontractor, to work on the curbing and lay the guttering on State street.

A Tribune reporter called upon Contractor Reed last night and asked him to confirm the facts in the case, which are as follows. The city contracted with the Pacific Paving Company to grade and pave Second street, W. C. Reed, superintendent of the paving company, sub-let the curbing and guttering to Bishop James Snape, who sub-let the work to Elder James Snape. The sub-contract between Reed and Palmer stipulated that the contractor should designate the parties who would be employed to do the work on the guttering, and Mr. Palmer was called upon to make a selection from the names of Mr. Reed. In the first the second subcontract was made whereby the authorities of the Church, through Mr. Reed, personally had the work was given to a Mormon who put a force of men at work Friday, all of whom were Mormons. Subsequent to that Mr. Reed received a discrimination of Snape in the employment of non-Mormons, and called Snape to another, and expressed himself to the effect that he did not desire to create the impression that he was a party to discrimination in the matter of help should contract.

Upon the arrival of Contractor Reed from Denver, Sunday, he found the work in the situation, and pointed out the stipulations of the contract between Reed and Palmer, which provided that the contractor is to decide the character of the men engaged in constructing the gutters and curbs. Mr. Palmer was called upon to know why not those of citizens was given preference over another. That gentleman said that he was satisfactory explanation of the situation, and Contractor Reed immediately cancelled the sub-contract between Bishop Snape and Palmer, thus annulling the sub-contract between Palmer and Snape.

A News reporter called upon Mr. Reed today and requested an interview with the gentleman, who said, "I have nothing whatever to say regarding this matter. I am so one deaf."

It was learned from Bishop James Snape, however, that the contract was originally let by the city to the Pacific Paving Company, which in turn sublet the work to William S. Palmer.

The statement that that firm resulted the work to Mr. Snape was incorrect. Mr. Snape was employed to lay the curbing and guttering, under the supervision of the Tribune's mathematical calculations are, as usual, way off. Instead of having 150, only four were employed and not all of those were "Mormons." None of these were Mr. Snape's selections.

Senator Hill in the South.

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 15.—Several thousand people were assembled at the depot this morning when the train bearing Senator Hill and party rolled into the city. A salute of musketry from "The Mississippi Southern" announced his arrival. Senator Hill was introduced by W. H. Hardy, chairman of the citizens' committee, as the "great Democratic leader, who never leads but to victory and who never won a victory but for the good of the people."

Senator Hill spoke briefly and forcibly on the national political issues, and was loudly cheered. He denounced the force bill and billion dollar Congress, and said the people would pronounce against the Republican party in the coming election.
