XLVIII CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 27.—Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, appeared in the Senate to-day, and senators congratulated him on his safe return and in improved health.

Saxe, from the committee on public lands, reported favorably a bill to forfeit the grant along the uncompleted portion of the Northern Pacific railroad.

Hill submitted a report of the committee on postoffices and post roads on the subject of postal telegraph.

Latham submitted a report of the committee on privileges and elections on the Danville investigation.

Vance is preparing a minority report.

Salisbury submitted the minority report in the Copiah County investigation.

Ingalls introduced a bill to provide for the sale of land belonging to the Prairie Land Pottawattamie Indians.

The Senate took up the bill to grant the Cimmaron & Clark's Forks Railroad Company the right of way through a portion of the Yellowstone Park. Conger submitted an amendment, to limit the company to the control of 100 in width, and prohibiting the company from erecting buildings excepting for station purposes.

Logan opposed the bill. "There is," he said, "a disposition to gobble up everything in connection with the park by railroads and hotel companies.

Vest gave details of the management of the park, and said every word stated by Logan was true. Although Congress had absolutely forbidden a monopoly, it had been permitted, and the park was unter the control of a private corporation.

The matter then went over and the Utah bill was taken up.

Brown said the Edmunds bill was a shameful violation of the Constitution. He contrasted what he termed "polygamy" in New England, and the picture he drew, he said, was drawn "more in sorrow than in anger." There had been over 27,000 divorces granted in New England with'n the last twenty years, destroying 20,000 families and turning loose 54,000 persons to marry again, all illegally, except those who were divorced for adultery or fornication in either party. Assuming that one-third of them had been divorced for adultery, it would leave 36,000 divorced and married again who were practicing polygamy in New England, while a commission acting under the Edmunds bill, after having searched Utah with a test oath, could find out 12,000 men and women who would not swear they had never in their lives been guilty of polygamy. Prostitution was practiced in New England to an alarming extent, and foeticide to an extent that if continued would in less than a century depopulate New England of its puritan stock. A nation of Mormons was impossible, but so a nation of libertines. In Massachusetts within the last twenty years the population had increased 44 per cent., and marriages 62 per cent., while divorces had increased 127 per cent. It behooved the Christian and patriotic to ponder the consequences that must follow such a state of society. The churches denounced polygamy and demanded its suppression, and the churches were right; but how then could they wink at illegal divorce? How without censure see their ministers officiating for a petty fee at adulterous marriages? If ministers and churches did their whole duty, public sentiment would soon sweep from our statute books the wicked and immoral divorce laws. Brown claimed no right to lecture either the Christian churches or their ministers, but as a citizen and Senator he felt it his duty to express his convictions with regard to this great evil which was undermining society, family, and the existence of the State. Many persons advocated putting the Mormons to the sword; it would be an outrage upon morality and decency to attempt to slaughter helpless persons because they entertained a view on moral questions to which the world could not subscribe. It was absurd to assert that the Mormons were in rebellion. No people could be in rebellion who did not resist the laws by force. The Mormons held themselves ready to respond to legal process. A people so conducting themselves could not be in rebellion in any legal sense. Brown turned some sarcastic periods on what he termed the intermeddling of New England in other people's business, as in the affairs of the Southern States. People did not object so much to the practices in Utah as to the names by which they were called. The Utah commissioners in prescribing a test oath for voters, were careful to exclude only those who cohabited with more than one woman in the marriage relation. The Gentile with one wife and one or more mistresses could take the oath without difficulty. There was an immense amount of cant and hypocrisy in the whole thing. Brown was ready to sanction all Constitutional legislation which could be devised for the suppression of polygamy in Utah, and all illegal divorces, prostitution and foeticide, in New England and elsewhere; but he was not willing to violate the oath he had taken to support the Constitution, to gratify New England intermeddling or suppress any sect or denomination, however unpopular it might be.

Hoar said he had heard enough of Brown's speech to comprehend its character, but not its motive. It did not seem possible that any Senator had taken so much pains as his speech indicated for the mere purpose of making a malicious and malignant attack on the people of New England. Hoar could only infer that Mormonism was more in accord with that Senator's convictions than opposed to them. The Senator from Georgia (Brown) had made a speech, the logical inference of which was that polygamy was better than the lawful marriage of one husband to one wife. Each country and each section of each country may have vices, but whatever they were in New England that was a reproach to her, Hoar said, was carefully written down by the New England historian; there were sections of the country in which that course was not pursued. If he (Hoar) cared to follow the style of argument followed by the Senator from Georgia, (Brown) he could say something without even reference to the statistics, which would be sufficiently disagreeable, with a desire to credit the portion of the country from which that Senator came with as much propriety as he could. Hoar thought that the presence of the large number of mulattoes remained to be accounted for in some way, but he would not enter upon this sort of argument. This was a bill having a specific purpose applicable to Utah.

Without action on the bill the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 27.—The House resumed consideration of the Wallace-McKinley contested election case.

E. B. Taylor of Ohio spoke in support of the claims of the contestee, and Cook advocated the contestant.

Hurd admitted that under the law of Ohio the sitting member was not entitled to the seat, and yet he believed McKinley had been elected. He based his opinion upon the fact that a number of illegal votes were cast for the democratic candidate.

Follett ridiculed the testimony upon which his colleague based such an opinion.

Mill believed according to law and the facts in the case McKinley had been fairly elected, and so believing he would be less than a man if he allowed party clamor to lead him to vote against his convictions.

McKinley, contestee, made a ten minutes' speech in his own behalf. He invoked no technicality, and declared he did not want a seat which could be retained only by invoking them. But he asserted that conceding every technicality he would still have an unquestioned majority of the votes cast in the eighteenth Ohio district.

Hepburn made a close and through analysis of the evidence in the case, and an able review of the facts and law alleged on each side. From this analyses and review he deduced the conclusion that McKinley was fairly and honestly elected.

Turner of Georgia closed the debate.

The House proceeded to vote upon the minority resolution, declaring McKinley entitled to the seat. It was lost, yeas 108, nays 158. The following Democrats voted with the Republicans in the affirmative: Blackburn Dorsheimer, Hurd, Mills, Potter, Robertson and Thompson. White of Keatucky voted with the Democrats.

The majority resolution seating Wallace was adopted without a division, and that gentleman appeared at the bar and took the oath of the office. Adjourned.

AMERICAN.

Crimes.

ALBANY, 27.—The State Board of Health reports a terrible condition of affairs in the cow stables at Blissville, L. I., near New York City. Pleuro-pneumonia exists in all the stables; dying cattle are milked, then killed and the carcasses smuggled into New York and Brooklyn and sold for food.

Detroit, 27.—David Stone, half-witted uncle of a little girl six years old, Lulu Dycke, was arrested last week on suspicion of having outraged and murdered her. He confessed the crime on Sunday night last, and was taken into court without public knowledge and sentenced to the State prison for life. Then he was put into a close carriage and driven across the country to Jackson, where he arrived this morning. These extraordinary precautions were taken on account of the intense feeling at Hillsdale, to avoid lynching.

St. Louis, 27.—When the case of Prentice Teller, express robber, was called in the criminal court this morning, his attorneys pronounced themselves ready to proceed. The indictment was then read to the prisoner, and he was asked to plead. To the astonishment of the court Teller answered without a moment's hesitation, "Guilty, your honor." There was a sensation succeeding this, but presently Judge Van Wagoner turned in his chair, ordered the prisoner to rise, and sentenced him to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. This is the full penalty of the law for grand larceny.

Broken Banks.

NEW YORK, 27.—President Fish now says he did not mean to charge that General Grant had any guilty knowledge of the frauds on government contracts, but he plainly intended to say the letters received from General Grant were of such a tenor as to warrant any one having confidence in the representations made by Ward. John D. Fish says his father regarded General Grant's position in regard to Ward's transaction as similar to his own. Both of them were misled to the extent of trusting entirely to what was said by Ward.

Individual schedules in assignment of Frederick D. Grant and Jesse R. Grant to James McNamee were filed in court to-day. The schedules of Frederic D. Grant shows the following debts: Liabilities, $2,215,036; made up as follows: Creditors other than preferred, $220,300; creditors, preferred, $243,936; contingent liabilities, $1,000,000; par value of securities borrowed from Grant & Ward, $1,140,800. Assets nominally worth $1,930,015; actual worth unknown. Among the creditors preferred are Ulysses S. Grant, $5,000; Mrs. Fred. D. Grant, $6,000; no security. The schedules in assignment of Jesse R. Grant show debts and liabilities of $95,429 and assets nominally $131,950.

Washington, 27.—Mrs. U. S. Grant has sold her house in Corcoran street, which was in her name, to Jno. R. McLean, editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, for $6,500.

Pittsburg, 27.—Affairs of the Pennsylvania Bank continue to be the engrossing subject among all classes, but up to now there was as little definitely known as at the time of closing yesterday. President Riddle slept fairly last night, and this morning was sufficiently recovered to enable friends to remove him to the residence of D. A. Stewart, East End. Two well known and experienced bankers made a careful examination of the books last night. Every opportunity was given them to make a superficial examination. According to their statement the books show $600,000 drawn out from the time of resumption Friday, until the close yesterday, with deposits decreased correspondingly. The statement that $300 in certified checks were not included in the statement made to the association of banks, was incorrect, no such checks existing. In their opinion, if the books are correct, the bank ought to pay every cent of its debts. There is less talk of peculiteers, and the impression is growing that the second suspension was due wholly to timidity and demoralization, when President Riddle was suddenly prostrated. The directors have not made a statement, but there is a general demand for something authoritative from them of the bank's actual condition. The general condition of other banks is unchanged.

The directors of the defunct bank this morning took possession of the individual book accounts of the concern, and up to one o'clock had struck some developments which promise to show why the second collapse came so suddenly. There is among the accounts one of the firm of D. Wilson & Co., which shows overchecking to the extent of $40,000. No such firm is known in this city, and such person represents the accounts of a number of persons lately operating on the wrong side of the oil market, who have been allowed to draw to the extent named. The directors who furnished the information states further that the account of a prominent oil dealer is overdrawn $79,000. These two accounts show an overdraft of $137,000, $7,000 in excess of the entire capital and surplus of the bank. The directors have appointed a committee to employ experts to go over the books and report as speedily as possible.

New York, 27.—The State Bank Superintendent, after a careful examination, states that the West Side Bank has a surplus over and above liabilities of $63,680. The bank will resume as soon as arrangements are made with another bank to represent them in the clearing house.

U. S. District Attorney Booth lodged a warrant for the arrest of Ferdinand Ward in Ludlow Street Jail to-night, on the complaint of bank examiner Serlna, who charges that Ward aided and abetted President Jas. D. Fish in misappropriating the funds of the Marine Bank. The affidavit recites the same facts as in the case of Fish, giving the amount drawn out by Grant & Ward as $375,000, and it concludes with charging that Ward aided, abetted and counselled and procurred said Jas. D. Fish to commit the offense aforesaid, with intent to injure and defraud the stockholders of said bank for his own benefit and advantage.

Two attachments were granted today against the property of the Pennsylvania Bank in this State. The suits were brought by Thos. C. Jenkins to recover $500,000 in each case upon drafts, payment of which was refused.

At the annual meeting of the Produce Exchange it was announced that the new building cost $3,500,000; net annual surplus, $75,000. It is expected to fund the debt of the Exchange, $1,275,000.

Detectives and deputy marshals still shadow the house of ex-President Jno. C. Eno, but late to-night Eno was not arrested. It is rumored late to-night that another order of arrest had been issued against ex-President James D. Fish in a civil suit.

Hot Springs, 27.—The Spring's National Bank closed its doors, owing to a run on the bank caused by the reported absence of the President, Andrew Brown. Liabilities, $40,000. A run has commenced on the Arkansas National Bank, Hot Springs, which is understood to be in good condition. There is great excitement.

Hot Springs, 27.—This afternoon a warrant was issued in Hot Springs for President Brown's arrest, charged with falsifying the bank's accounts; but he could not be found. One of the directors telegraphed that the bank's assets properly handled will pay all depositors without assessment, but leave the stockholders nothing. The Arkansas Valley Bank is all right.

and all indications point to their nomination of ex-Governor Butler for President. There is a good deal of opposition to Butler, which is led by Senator Chase of Maine, and Geo. G. Jones of New York, but there is no probability that it will develop enough strength to defeat Butler. An attempt has been made to work up a boom for Jesse Harper of Illinois, and the Maryland delegation will vote for him; but the movement seems to have little strength. General West of Mississippi appears to be the unanimous choice for Vice-President. General Tyler of Florida will be made temporary chairman, and General Weaver of Iowa permanent presiding officer.

San Francisco, 27.—The election for delegates to the forty-seven city clubs to the State Democratic Convention, to be held in Stockton June 10th, was continued till past midnight. The double resolution pledging the delegates to Tilden and against Field was then unanimously adopted.

New Orleans, 27.—Dispatches to-day from New Iberia and St. Martinsville report everything quiet; no probability of a conflict.

Blowing.

Washington, 27.—Ker, in his testimony before the Springer committee to-day, said it seemed that Kellogg had gone about newspaper offices and talked about him. He had been informed that he (Kellogg) told a certain correspondent that he would or ought to take a shotgun and blow his (Ker's) brains out. "I want to say right here," said the witness, "that if Kellogg wants that kind of satisfaction, if he will let me know the time and place I will be there; if he wants that kind of satisfaction, he may have it. My character has never been assailed."

The Sharon Divorce.

SAN FRANCISCO, 27.—In the Sharon divorce case to-day, ex-Senator Sharon again occupied the stand. He testified that on the 7th of November, 1881, plaintiff came to his room. He told her her he didn't want her to come to his rooms any more, and offered her $5,000 to cease coming. She replied it was not enough; she wanted $10,000. Then he offered her $7,000, which she accepted. He received a receipt from her in full of all claims. The receipt was afterwards stolen from his room; he could not swear by whom, but accused plaintiff of it.

The afternoon was occupied by cross-examination, mainly for the purpose of testing defendant's memory.

The Copiah and Danville Investigations.

WASHINGTON, 27.—The majority report of the Senate elections committee on the Danville riot declares it was premeditated and preconcerted for the purpose of raising the race issue, and intimidating the negroes; that the democrats prearranged the riot and endorsed it after it had occurred.

Lapham, who prepared the report, introduced some telegrams which he claims just fix the conclusion that it was the deliberate work of the democratic party.

The minority report on the Copiah investigation dissents entirely from the statements and conclusions in the majority report, and presents their own view of the affair, formed from the testimony of reputable and credible witnesses, examined by the committee. They express the opinion that the investigation was originated and conducted for the purpose of aiding the republicans in the approaching presidential canvass, by reviving the stories of outrage and crime which were so effectually used in former presidential campaigns, and to furnish an excuse for rejecting the vote of Mississippi in the electoral college, and thereby defeating, as was done in 1876, the clearly expressed will of the American people in their choice for President. They refer to Eliza Pinkston, and ask "Who believes her to-day?" and assert that this and other such tales having lost their potency so the Danville and Copiah investigations were conceived and brought forth.

Politics.

INDIANAPOLIS, 27.—The attendance at the Greenback National convention which meets here to-morrow will be exceptionably large. There are now about 500 delegates in the city, and the managers expect 200 more. The convention meets to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

New York, 27.—Reports of a thousand correspondents of the "National Press and Bottlers' Advocate," from all parts of the United States in regard to the fruit crop, say the apple crop is the largest ever known. There will be only half a crop of peaches and pears. The prospect for a very large crop of small fruit is very good.

Troy, N. Y., 27.—The State Knit Goods Association will send out a million circulars on the 1st, requesting all manufacturers to close their mills 30 days from June 8th, and on the 2nd, to ask consent to a 30 days' cessation, the proposition receiving the largest number of signers to be adopted by the Association.

The sale of tickets for the opening performance was the largest for any like entertainment ever given in the city.

Fargo, Dak., 27.—A number of heavy wheat growers from all parts of North Dakota were here to-day to witness the experiment in plowing by steam, and express themselves enthusiastically over the result. The engine drew eight plows, turning the sod four inches thick, as evenly and as well as could have been done by horse power, and at the rate of over 25 acres per day.

Washington, 27.—The House committee on military affairs will report favorably the bill retiring General Pleasanton as Colonel.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. Ayer's Cathartic Pills act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these Pills by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These Pills are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from alcohol or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"Ayer's Pills are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your Pills are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest pills I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

"I have used Ayer's Pills in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them at hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. For DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable.

"J. T. Hayes."

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The Rev. Francis B. Harlowe, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking Ayer's Pills. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

Ayer's Cathartic Pills correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.
