ROBBERS CAPTURED.

A Murderous Gang Attacking a Wrong Train Talk Time.

A FURIOUS FUSILLADE ENSUES.

Two Bandits Killed Instantly and Others Caught by Officers in the Cars.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 25.—A telephone message from St. Joseph says that the southbound train No. 3 on the Kansas City, St. Joe and Council Bluffs railroad was held up at Amazonia, Mo., by six masked men at one o'clock this morning. The robbers relieved the robbers and in the fight two robbers were killed and three were captured.

The robbers stopped the dummy train that was preceding the regular train. The dummy was laden with livestock, they having been posted and expected the hold up. They were just rounding a big mill to a cut about a mile south of St. Joseph, towards Amazonia, when the robbers flagged the train, two of them covering the engineer and fireman, while others made a rush for what they supposed was an express car, but was not by a squad of officers, who poured a deadly fire into the bandits. Two of them fell, one mortally wounded and the other dead. The remaining four were surrounded, but one broke through the line and escaped in the darkness, though it is supposed he too is wounded. Three of them were captured and taken back to St. Joseph.

The officers of the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs road had got wind of an attempt to rob the northbound passenger train No. 3, leaving St. Joseph at 11:50 p.m. at a place just north of Francis street depot in the east known as Hog Hill. The road runs under the hill there. An express car, two of the baggage cars and six coaches was made up at St. Joseph and filled with city and county officers and also the superintendent and general manager, and had left the depot on the time of the train No. 3, No. 3 being held at Union depot. The dummy No. 3 was stopped as expected and the robbers boarded it, got into the baggage car and the officers opened fire on them, and they (we mistake) and surprised three. There was and to be sit in the gang, but one got away.

THE NAMES OF KILLED ARE

Fred Kohler and Hugo Gietz.

Captured: N. A. Hart, Henry Grover and Charles Fredericks.

John Gietz escaped. Garver and Fredericks gave it away last week that the attempt was to be made. It was expected last Friday, but they mistook the train for a freight and the express got by them. Train No. 3 is the regular last express from St. Louis and Kansas City. The robbers are all residents of St. Joseph.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 25.—A bold attempt at train robbery was cleverly frustrated just after midnight this morning. As a result three of the train robbers are dead and three are now behind the bars in jail, or, the six men who attempted the robbery, early one escaped.

The train which the bandits had attempted to rob, was passenger train No. 3 on the Kansas City, St. Joseph, Council Bluffs railroad, which left Kansas City at 8:30 p. m. Sunday night and which arrived here at 12:50 Monday morning. The officials of the road had been notified that a robbery of the road had been planned and they notified the police. When the train arrived here, a dummy train was made up and sixteen police officers under command of the chief of police were put aboard. In order to thoroughly deceive the robbers, the train was made an exact duplicate of train No. 3 and consisted of the engine and tender, an express and baggage car and the usual coaches and Pullmans. When the decoy reached a point two miles north of St. Joseph, the engineer's attention was aroused by a lighted lantern moving to and fro between the rails. He observed the signal and soon six masked men surrounded the engine and presented a revolver at the engineer's head and another at the fireman's, keeping them in subjection while the other five men climbed on to the express car. They ordered the messenger to open the door, when he did forthwith. Three bandits entered the car, leaving two without to guard. The policemen who were guarding the train were distributed in various cars, the majority of them being in the express car.

A LIVELY FUSILLADE.

Immediately the three bandits who had undertaken the work of robbing the car entered the door the policemen ordered them to surrender. The robbers were taken completely by surprise, but they opened the ball upon the officers. The police returned the fire and a general fusillade followed. About twenty-five shots were fired on both sides. When the smoke had cleared away the three bodies of Kohler and Gietz were found on the floor of the car. They had been shot through the head. The bullet which pierced Kohler's heart, produced instant death. He never stirred after he was hit. Gietz was still breathing, but he died in a few minutes after he was brought here. Fredericks, the third robber engaged in the fight, was not injured and was placed under arrest. None of the officers were injured. While the fight was going on in the car, those of the officers not engaged in it were looking after the two robbers who had been left outside to keep watch. The police quickly took them in and placed them under arrest. The bandit who had been detained to assist the engineer and fireman quickly realized the situation when he heard the bottle going on in the express car, and promptly took his escape. A detail of officers was put on his track and quickly took up the pursuit which is every prospect of capturing the fugitive before dawn. A remarkable feature of the fight in the express car was the escape of all the officers from injury. The three robbers in the car were each armed with a brace of revolvers and used them freely, but still they did no damage. The bodies of Kohler and Gietz were brought here on the dummy train which returned to the city from near the encounter. They were taken to an undertaker's. The prisoners Fredericks, Hart and Grover were lodged in jail. Angelo and six or two of their associates the place went away, owing to unknown circumstances. The police and railway officials have been kept informed of the robbers' intentions and were prepared to meet them on each occasion. Hart, Fredericks and Grover the men found under arrest, it now appears were old genuine robbers. Hart deserts in the city jail of for authorities, and is sent to the filing room they Hogan to the present from the cut is avoid the flying bullets. The robbers had a minute enough with them to allow the car to pieces. They attempted to use it unless the car was opened. Chief of Dynamite has been with information cap attached. Paul Hanley, one of the dead robbers, was only 19 years of age and leaves a young wife. The other one, known as Hugo Gietz, is the stepson of Henry Gietz, the proprietor of the Commercial hotel. His real name is Hugo Engel. The escaped man is supposed to be the son of Henry Gietz.

It is rumored that Gietz is captured.

ARRAIGNING CLEVELAND.

Stewart's Speech in Support of the Resolution on Saturday.

The President Accused of Having Violated His Oath of Office—Serious Charges.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The first thing in the Senate today after the routine morning business was the consideration of Stewart's resolution offered on Saturday, arraigning the President for attempting to coerce Congress into passing the silver repeal bill, thereby imperiling the independency of the co-ordinate branch of the government, in violation of the Constitution, and thus violating his oath of office, and thus violating his own oath of office, and thus violating his own oath of office, and thus violating his own
