A STOCKHOLM LETTER.

Celebration of the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of Gustavus Vasa—Other News and Notes.

STOCKHOLM, May 12.—(Special.)—The four hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Gustavus Vasa, the liberator of Sweden from Danish oppression and the founder of the house of Vasa, is really, but twenty generations today all over Sweden. Gustavus Vasa, the grandfather of Gustavus Adolphus, the hero of the Thirty Years' War, was born May 12, 1496, at the family mansion estate in Upland.

It was in 1521, at the outbreak of the rebellion against the Danish King Christian II, who was also king of Sweden, Gustavus Vasa was elected commander-in-chief of the newly formed militia. The rebellion lasted about two years, Christian and his army being forced to leave Sweden. On the 23d of June in 1523 Gustavus held his victorious entrance into Stockholm, the capital, having a short time before been elected king of Sweden at a meeting of the Diet in the city of Strengnas. The bloodiest of his country and sept, 18, 1560, and lies buried in the great cathedral at Upsala.

The celebration today embraced patriotic festivals in all the public schools. Tonight three gala performances are being given at the Royal Opera, the Royal Dramatic and the Arena theaters. Most of the public and many private buildings are decorated.

DANGERS OF A SALVAGE COMPANY.

Nations of any importance prevail in the waters that surround Sweden, and this circumstance is of course greatly lessens the risk of a grounded ship being wrecked by the tides, which so often happens on the coast of England and the continent. The better chance of saving a vessel grounded in the Baltic, and the comparatively large number of vessels which are annually damaged in the waters which surround Sweden, have given rise to several salvage enterprises in northern Europe, and the most prominent of them all is considered the Nya Svenska Bergning and Lifving Bolag (Swedish Salvage and Diving Company of Stockholm). This company was founded in the year 1870 on a paid-up capital of 1,500,000 crowns, and has since then gradually developed by continued building of larger and more efficient salvage vessels, supplied with specially designed appliances of the most intricate description, and manned by specially drilled officers and men. This staff of about 200 men, most of them trained experts, also spends its time in boats, which, however, are usually kept with steam up, ready to start at a moment's notice.

During its existence of twenty-six years, the company's services have been requested not only on the home waters but also at distant foreign places nearly all over the world, the demand salvage being as follows: Five hundred, 350 cargo steamers, 75 sailing and passenger steamers, nearly 400 sailing ships, 100 sandy cargoes, representing in their saved damaged state a value of $20,000,000. The salvage plant is the largest and best equipped of any salvage company in the world.

THE EXTINCTION OF 1857.

The work on the great industrial exposition to be held here next year is rapidly going on. The art building and the liberty building are already under roof, and the manufactories building and the machinery hall are expected to be completed on March 1st of next year. The most famous English, French and German artists will be represented at the exposition.

While recently in Paris Prince Eugen met several prominent American painters, who promised him to exhibit at Stockholm in 1897.

KING OSCAR MUST SUFFER.

According to the latest intelligence from Bilthur, Germany, where King Oscar has been lying sick for some time, suffering from an attack of bubonic fever, the health of his majesty has been much improved during the last week. The physicians believe that the king will be able to return to Sweden at the end of the month.

In the case of King Oscar's death the Norwegian radical party proposes to elevate the crown prince being called Gustavus V, as he is a nephew of course, will be in Sweden. The Norwegian radicals claim that as Norway has hitherto had no kingdom instituted, the crown prince, after having been proclaimed king, should take the name of Gustavus I, and not V.

INCREASE OF EMIGRATION.

According to the official statistics the emigration from Sweden to the United States is slowly but surely increasing. In 1894 the emigration was smaller than it had been for several decades, being only about 3,000. The emigration of the present year is expected to double that figure.

NOTES.

The export of timber in matches to America now the rage.

Crown Prince Gustavus leaves Stockholm for Malmo, May 2.

A monument of Charles XI, the father of Charles XII, first absolute warrior king, will be erected at Carlskrona.
