Delugs of the Court.—Ore Discovered. —Politics.

BEAVER, Sept. 15.—[Special to the DESERET NEWS.]—In the District Court yesterday afternoon, the business done was very meagre except the argument on demurrer in the Fischer incest case. This occupied an hour or more. S. A. Kenner in support, and Free for the government, against. The demurrer was sustained.

The town is full of witnesses and jurors, and the time of the court will be fully taken up all this week and next.

There is considerable interest in ore discoveries in the mountains northwest of here about eight miles. Five specimens are brought in and hopes are entertained that the discoveries will be productive and permanent, adding greatly to the prosperity of the town.

There was a great democratic rally in the Field opera house last night, which was thoroughly filled. The meeting was addressed by Greenfield of Fillmore and Kenner. Much enthusiasm was manifested. The parties are quite evenly divided here and the interest in politics is growing.

The case of the People vs. Darrell, assault with intent to murder, is now on trial.

The Test of Machinery.

Engineers judge of the condition of their machinery by the tone it gives out while running. Every engine, whether stationary or locomotive, has a particular tone of its own. The engineer becomes accustomed to that, and any departure from it at once entices a suspicion that all is not right. The engineer may not know what is the matter, he may have no ear for music, but the change in the tone of his machine will be instantly perceptible, will be instantly recognized and will start him on an immediate investigation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

The New Yorkers Take the Cholera Situation Calmly.—Where It Comes From.

THEY ARE ENJOYING SPLENDID WEATHER.

Reports From Foreign Infected Districts. — Abating in the Russian Provinces.

By telegraph to the News.

IN NEW YORK.

The People No Longer Scared of the Cholera.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The morning papers bright and cheery and New York is enjoying just the kind of weather to prevent the spread of the cholera.

The few cases which have appeared here and which were concealed by the board of health have in no way alarmed the authorities or citizens. People here have become educated to a point of having little or no fear of the formerly dreaded disease.

Immigrant passengers of the steamer "Friesland" which arrived here on August 29th, seem to have brought the disease to little Minnie Levinger, who died September 11th. They are traced back to Antwerp which they received from other cities of Europe, localities infected with cholera. When they reached Quarantine there was no illness reported aboard, and after few hours of attention and so-called fumigation they were allowed to proceed. From the steamship pier the passengers scattered over the city and country.

Four young women went to the house where little Minnie lived. The infection was probably in their clothing, as they soon got sick themselves.

It is authoritatively stated that nine steamships carrying 5000 immigrants are en route to this country. Among the steamers now en route with steerage passengers are the Inman line steamer "Indiana," from Liverpool, September 3d, with 600 in the steerage; the Anchor line steamer "Ethiopia," from Glasgow, September 1, with 140 in the steerage; the Hamburg-American line steamer "Bohemia," from Hamburg, August 31, with 682 in the steerage; the steamer "Polaria," from Stettin, September 1, with 148 in the steerage; the North German Lloyd steamer "Herman," from Bremen, September 6th, with 200 in the steerage; the Fabre line steamer "Mesilia," from Naples, September 12, with 400 in the steerage.

The steamer "Trave" reports all well and no sickness on the voyage. The board of health this morning issued a bulletin stating that there are no new cases of cholera in the city.
