RULES GOVERNING WATER POWER SITES

Chief Forester Pinchot Makes Statement in Form of Letter, Defining Govt. Policy.

NOTHING OF MOSSBACK IN IT.

No Desire to Retard Development of Water Power—Permits Should Be for Fifty Years.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The practise of the government in granting water-power concessions is outlined by Gifford Pinchot, United States forester, in a letter written to Col. H. L. Higginson of Boston, Mass., a director of the General Electric company. The letter takes the form of a public statement, and is significant of widespread interest in the water-power situation.

Mr. Pinchot seeks to emphasize particularly that he does not wish to retard the development of water-power by private capital. He makes clear the point that the renewal of a permit at the end of 50 years is at the option of the government; that it is, by statute, revocable by the secretary of the interior, but, unless revoked, continues 50 years, when it terminates without any special revocation, but may then be renewed at the option of, and on conditions to be fixed by the government. The letter follows:

PINCHOT'S LETTER.

My Dear Col. Higginson: Your letter of Oct. 4 is received. You will be glad to know that I have been misquoted as to the statements you mention. First of all, I have no desire to prevent or retard the development of water powers by private capital. They should be developed by private capital, in my judgment, under proper government control, and not by the nation or the states.

Secondly, I have not said, either privately or publicly, that the General Electric company or any other single existing corporation controls or is now seeking to control all the water powers in the country. But no one can deny there is a marked tendency toward practical concentration and control of the hydro-electric development over very wide areas. In some cases this concentration may be a mere "community of interests" evidenced and made effective by directorates in several legally distinct corporations held by the representatives of the same interests of friendly interests.

In other cases it appears to be brought about by closer inter-corporate relations, and in still other cases as for instance, central California, there seems to be a single corporate control of a large and populous territory. The report of the commissioner of corporations, transmitted to Congress with his message of Jan. 15, 1909, vetoing a bill (H. R. 17707) to license the building of a dam in James river, Missouri, establishes these facts.

The increasing radius of practicable electric transmission and the recent financial history of the country as to consolidation of other kinds of business seems to justify the belief that there is a strong tendency toward concentrated control of hydro-electric development in the United States. I do not say a single trust has yet been formed. As an outsider, I have not the information which would warrant my saying that such a trust has been planned, but it is apparent that the present tendencies favor such a trust and will produce it if they continue.

I therefore think it is of the utmost importance for the people to understand these tendencies, realize that import and take effective steps now while there is yet time to retain and effectively exercise public control of this vital necessity of life. This may be done by giving concessions limited in time, requiring a fair rental, and imposing conditions to prevent the evils which experience has taught us to expect from unregulated monopoly.

I am very glad indeed to have your statement that "the United States should not part with this kind of property without fair leases." That is precisely the position the forest service always has taken.

I inclose a copy of the form of permit (called a special use agreement) now used by the forest service in granting all water power concessions in the national forests.

I call your attention to the fact that this permit requires that construction be begun and completed within a reasonable time fixed in accordance with engineering conditions, in order to prevent the speculative holding of undeveloped sites; that a small annual mileage and acreage charge be paid during construction, for the same reason; that a reasonable annual charge in proportion to the electrical output, nominal amount at the outset and gradually increasing by moderate increments in successive five-year periods, be paid after operation begins, with reasonable deductions on account of other than national forest land used by the plant or forming part of the watershed, and in order to encourage the building of storage reservoirs, on account of water storage by the permittee; that timber cut or destroyed in construction be paid for at a reasonable stipulated price; that the plant be operated continuously up to a reasonable stipulated fraction of its full capacity, in order to prevent artificial scarcity and the resulting high prices to consumers; that power be sold to the United States, when requested, at as low a price as to any other consumer; that the permit shall not be transferred, since the transfer of government contracts is expressly prohibited by statute, that the permittee must use reasonable precautions to protect the forest by fire-fighting, etc.; that the permit shall terminate at the end of 50 years, but may then be renewed on such conditions as the government shall then fix, but that in fixing them neither the permit itself, nor the franchise, stock nor bonds of the permittee shall be considered, but only the actual value at that time of physical works constructed under the permit, this in order that future generations may not be burdened to pay dividends on inflated securities.

These permits are issued under the authority of a specific statute (act Feb. 15, 1901, 31 stat. 790 p.) The attorney-general has expressly given his opinion that the statute empowers the government to impose the construction charges and other conditions contained in the permit (opinions of attorney-general, vol. 26, p. 421) and the United States circuit court for Colorado has by express order directed the receivers of the Las Animas Power company to pay the charge and sign the permit. The administration of this statute, so far as national forests are concerned, was transferred to the department of agriculture by the act of Feb. 1, 1905 (33 stat., p. 28), but still remains in the interior department, so far as reserved public lands and national parks are concerned.

Under the express statutory authority so conferred the forest service issues permits, the provisions of which I have summarized. I hope you will agree with me that they are "fair leases."

AWAY GOES INDIGESTION, GAS AND ALL STOMACH MISERY.

Take a little Diapepsin now and your Stomach will feel fine five minutes later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after. Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will really see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches and dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath and nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort of misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT GREEN RIVER, WYO.

Green River, Wyo., Oct. 29.—A Union Pacific signal maintainer was seriously wounded during a shooting affray in Young's saloon here last night. The details of the shooting have been kept quiet. The wounded man will recover.

HALLOWEEN PRANKS.

Result in Thousands of Dollars' Worth Of Damage in Cemetery.

Carlinville, Ill., Nov. 1.—Damage estimated at $8,000 was done, it was discovered yesterday, in the Carlinville City cemetery as a result of a Hallowe'en prank by vandals. More than 100 tombstones were damaged.

Stones nearly a century old were broken, as were many more modern monuments. The heavy metal doors of a vault were hammered and chiseled. Two arrests have been made.

ONE OFFCIAL FIVE DISTINCT INDIVIDUALS

Washington, Nov. 1.—"This man is officially five individuals," solemnly declares the comptroller of the treasury in a decision just rendered, whereupon dawn in the Blue Grass country a United States circuit court clerk—or rather five circuit court clerks, all in one—loses mileage allowance. But he gets the salaries and allowances of all the five officers.

The case is that of Joseph C. Finnell, clerk of the United States circuit court at Loudon, Richmond, Catlettsburg, Jackson and Covington, Kentucky. In the Finnell case the attorney-general appealed from the action of the auditor and asked disallowance of the mileage if the comptroller agreed that it was improperly charged. The auditor is now reversed.

Mr. Finnell admitted that if he was a "separate and independent clerk at each place of holding court," he was not entitled to mileage, but in that event claimed maximum emoluments from each court independent of any other court. This is a remarkable exception to the general law and practise governing federal court clerks in the law's construction and practise as to the appointment of United States courts in Kentucky. "When is a clerk some clerks?" is decided in Mr. Finnell's favor and his appointment to all five offices, contrary to the practise elsewhere, is upheld as valid.

TO HOLD RELIGIOUS SERVICES IN THEATERS

New York, Nov. 1.—In an effort to reach theatrical folks with the gospel, the church and labor department of the American home missions of the Presbyterian church has started a movement by which it hopes ultimately to conduct religious services in many of the vaudeville theaters in this and other cities.

The first will be held on Wednesday night in the American theater as soon as the curtain falls after the last act. It will be a regular church service and all the actors and theatrical employes have been invited to attend. If the movement is a success in this instance, it will be broadened to include other theaters.

ROBBED OF FIVE YEARS' SAVINGS FROM EARNINGS

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Having no faith in banks, Peter Massion of 3451 Orchard street, carried his savings in a wallet snugly tucked in an inside pocket of his vest. He had been laying aside $5 a week out of his wages as a street car employe and in five years succeeded in getting together about $500.

At 4 o'clock Sunday morning, while Massion was on his way home from work he was stopped by three robbers at Garfield and Orchard streets. One of the men held a revolver to the victim's head while the others tore open his coat and vest and relieved him of the fat wallet. It held exactly $797.

Massion had $3 in another pocket, but the robbers made no effort to search him further after getting the large amount. He went to the Halstead street police station and reported his loss, but no arrests have been made.

FUND TO RUN DOWN DIAMOND SMUGGLERS

New York, Nov. 1.—A large fund is said to be contemplated by the Diamond Manufacturers' association, which includes the principal importers of precious stones in this country, for the purpose of minimizing the smuggling of gems into the United States. Ludwig Nisson, an officer of the association, declares that the value of diamonds and other precious stones which are smuggled into this country equals that the stones on which duty is paid. In 1907 duty was paid on $35,000,000 worth of precious stones. The association is raising the fund with the object of co-operating with the government officers in preventing smuggling.

TREASURY HOLDS CATS NOT TOOLS OF TRADE

New York, Nov. 1.—According to the treasury department, cats are not tools of trade, and therefore Mrs. Alice Thiemann will be compelled to pay 20 per cent duty on the one hundred performing cats which she recently brought to this country for exhibition purposes. Mrs. Thiemann entered the animals as tools of her trade, which would entitle them to free entry.

Despite this fact Bacheider refused to grant the license. The custody of the girl may be taken from the mother and vested in Probation Officer J. A. Glenn.

When the application for the license was first made Bacheider thought the license was desired for the mother who gave her age as 34 years.

WIND LIFTED BARN AND CARRIED IT AWAY

Kansas City, Nov. 1.—John Chandler, a farmer living a few miles southwest of here, has lost all faith in a barn as a place of refuge during windstorms.

Chandler became frightened at a high wind yesterday and sought safety in his barn. While congratulating himself upon his wisdom, the wind picked up the barn and carried it away. The barn had a dirt floor, thus the structure was lifted up over his head leaving him uninjured.

DUBS AMERICANS MOLLYCODDLE RACE

Cooper "Stomach Man" Whacks Modern Civilization and Says Pace Kills.

TO MEET CITIZENS HERE

Digestive System of People of Today Is Degenerating, He Claims.

Are Americans becoming a race of mollycoddles?

The Cooper "stomach man," the eastern expert, who arrived in Salt Lake yesterday, drove some hard jolts against modern day methods of living today. This is the man who has been the subject of newspaper comment from New York to San Francisco as a result of an original way of expressing his theories in health matters. He has traveled from city to city in a study of peptic ills, and says he will meet the people of Salt Lake face to face while here. He is said to be a millionaire several times over. He continued:

"When Theodore Roosevelt launched the term 'mollycoddle' it was so pat that it stuck. Why? Because everybody knows the flabby, limp, droopy individual who doesn't appear to have enough gumption in him to walk up stairs. Half a century ago that wouldn't have been true. It is modern civilization, the fact that the luxuries of yesterday have become the necessities of today, that is making us a nation of mollycoddles.

"It is my theory that 90 per cent of all ill health is due to stomach trouble. It is the curse of the twentieth century. Practically all of the chronic ill health of this generation is due to abnormal stomachic conditions. Therefore, I believe the human stomach of present highly civilized races has become degenerate.

"In earlier days, when the human race was closer to nature and men and women worked all day out of doors, digging a frugal existence from the soil, the tired, half-sick people that are now so common did not exist. To be sure, there was sickness, but it was of a virulent character and only temporary. There was none of this half-sick all the time condition with which so many are afflicted.

"In the horse, the cow, the dog (when let alone and not turned into a parlor pet) and the wild animals, you see no chronic debility, no nerve exhaustion. It is because their stomachs are in sound condition. They are not shut up all day with little exercise and they do not stuff themselves with food when their body has not had enough work to justify it. The civilized races have been doing this for years, the human stomach has gradually become weaker, and look at the result—most of the people are half sick. We are becoming a nation of mollycoddles."
