CHINESE AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A Boy Somnambulist Seriously Injured.—Discovery of Smuggled Opium.

A San Diego evening paper figures up that since April 4th the city has had $32,455 worth of building and improvements.

Among Humboldt county, Cal., exhibits at the World's Fair will be a redwood plank six feet by sixteen without a flaw or blemish.

The telephone line that is to connect Hanford and Fresno is nearing completion. Several houses are to be put in farmhouses between Wildflower and Chicago.

George A. Crofutt is at Rawlins, Wyo., with a corps of engineers, making the preliminary survey for his long talked of stitch, which will be taken out of the Platte river.

Mrs. J. H. Parker, wife of the cashier of the First National bank at Baker City, Oregon, has committed suicide by taking an overdose of morphine. Domestic infelicity was the cause of the suicide.

The Union Pacific railway is building a hotel at Point of Rocks, Wyoming. It is currently reported that a stage line will soon be placed on the line between that point and the South Pass gold fields.

The Oroville, (Cal.,) Mercury is urging the formation of a co-operative company there to erect a fruit cannery. The growth of deciduous fruit orchards in the vicinity of Oroville in the last five years has been almost phenomenal.

Detectives at Denver nipped in the bud a very clever swindle on Tuesday. C. L. Cobbs, alias Combs, alias Evans, alias Forrester, and Lillie Evans are now under arrest, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Both are colored.

Harry Perkins, a boy of fourteen years, walked off the platform of the last mail car on the Union Pacific railroad, near Hanover, Idaho, on Tuesday night. When found he was badly mangled. Both legs and one arm were found to be broken. It is supposed to be a case of somnambulism. The train was running forty miles an hour when he fell, and it is very remarkable that he was not instantly killed.

On Tuesday it came to the ears of Customs Collector Flanagan at El Paso, Texas, that a large amount of opium had been recently smuggled into that city. Deputy Campbell was sent to search for the drug and the smuggler and found both. Dr. C. F. Davis, a specialist in the city of Juarez, Mexico, was found with sixty pounds of opium. The goods were at once declared contraband but the offender escaped to his home across the line.

A sensation was created in the governor's office yesterday (Tuesday), says the Denver News, by the discovery that the engrossed copy of senate bill No. 25 was missing. The bill provided for the transfer of $92,780 from the general fund of 1890 to the improvement fund upon which a number of bills for expenditures are based. The bill was stolen from the assembly building, but the engrossed copy was found several days ago and placed in the governor's hands. The instrument could not be found at late hour, and unless it turns up in the papers at the attorney general's office, is hopelessly lost.

The several hundred Chinese who arrived on the steamer Chilena on Saturday, at San Francisco, on their way to Chicago for exhibition as Chinese villagers, were allowed to proceed by rail to the World's Fair city on Wednesday. Collector Phelps assured himself that the Chinese who presented certificates were entitled to land and they were hurried off on the morning train. Every possible precaution has been taken, however, to prevent their residence in the country after the closing of the exposition. Although the consul at Hong Kong furnished each man with a certificate of identification, the customs officers deemed it expedient to supply themselves with much additional data. By this means it is thought that any attempt at fraud can be easily foiled.

The body of William McCracken, who disappeared from 2211 Webster street, San Francisco, about three weeks ago, was found floating in the bay of Lombard street wharf Tuesday morning. The corpse was badly decomposed, but from the clothing and papers found on his person, was identified by a brother of the deceased. McCracken arrived in the city on September 3rd from Australia. He had not been in business for some time, and shortly previous to his departure for this country had suffered a severe attack of sunstroke, which had somewhat deranged his mind. It is presumed that during a fit of despondency he committed suicide by jumping overboard. Deceased was a native of Ireland, forty years of age and unmarried.

On Tuesday afternoon about 2 o'clock a young colored woman entered the office of Mr. W. S. Cheesman and showed him a book, in which was written his name opposite a subscription of $5 for the Colored Women's Aid association. Mr. Cheesman was about to pay the money when he glanced more closely at the writing and discovered that his name had been forged, and he also had forgotten that he had ever subscribed the amount. His suspicions led him to speak rather roughly to the young colored girl, who at once rushed out of the room and down the stairs. Mr. Cheesman ordered the office boy to follow her and have her arrested. Gone on the street the girl ran up Sixteenth street and was captured at the postoffice by Officer Wiggins. At the city hall she gave her name as Fanny Johnson. The book she had contained on two pages the names of a number of prominent citizens and business firms for amounts varying from $10 to $5. The girl, when brought before Chief Howe, one session that she was but a tool in the swindle, the real malefactor being her husband, with the many aliases. Detectives found him in a house at the corner of Twenty-fifth and Clarkson streets. The book which the prisoner used for soliciting the money had evidently been stolen or the names carried from the subscription list of the Colored Women's Aid association as in most cases the men approached acknowledged the amounts when a letter was presented purporting to be from C. L. Franklin, secretary of the association and attested by George Francis, president. The people only commenced operations on Thursday morning, but secured $75 from J. Jay Joslin, $50 from M. J. McNamara, $10 from Skinner Iron & Wright, $25 from C. S. Morey of the Morey Mercantile company. If the swindle had not been attempted, J. H. Thomas, W. L. James and nearly all of the banks would have been victimized.
