ARE STRONG AT 96.

County Warrants Up to a Higher Figure on the Market.

JULY WARRANTS BRING 96

The Establishment of the County Hospital Expected Will Put a Big Boom in Warrants.

Since the establishment by the board of the county of the current expense fund, the credit of Salt Lake county and Utah generally is due largely to Auditor L. M. Fisher, county warrants have jumped skyward on the Eastern market and bankers and brokers are glad to pay 96 cents on the dollar for them. The county's paper is selling at this figure and warrants drawn in July yesterday commanded 95 cents. This fact makes the "poor county" was but to take county warrants for his pay not as much of a "poor county" as formerly, and he is able to use his wages without losing 20 per cent on them.

B. Y. Academy Celebration.

Brigham Young Academy Foundation Day program, twenty-fifth anniversary year:

At morning, salute of twenty-one guns. At 8 o'clock a.m., exhibition examination in the Academy building.

At 9:30, students and faculty form in line and march to the depot, meeting the Z. C. M. I. merchants (the former home of the Academy) at their posts.

At 9:45, invited guests arrive and are received by the faculty and students, who will form in line and march in the old Academy grounds, saluting their friends as the back corner, entering the bank building and B. Y. Jones's store and the meeting house as former locations of the school, marching then to the Salt Tabernacle.

At 10:30, exercises begin in the Tabernacle as follows: Singing, "Out of Israel's royal class, Prayer, Singing, "Gem Prosperity," vocal class, Recitation of Commencement Gift, President's first address, President George Q. Cannon, Vocal solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," Miss Ida Peterson, Remarks by members of the board and visitors, Address by native graduate, Singing, "Sons of Praises," vocal class, Benediction.

At the close of the exercises, the students and guests of the academy form in line and march to the academy building for dinner. Beginning at 2:30, class exercises will be held for a short time illustrating the methods of the school.

In the evening at 7:30, the students are invited to meet the professors and board and other Church school officials in an informal reception at the academy building.

A Historical Picture.

Early in the fifties there was published in England an engraving containing excellent portraits of the First Presidency of the Church and the Twelve Apostles as the quorum was constituted at that time; the First Presidency consisted of President Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball and William Richards. There are not many copies of the engraving to be secured at the present time, and Brother George Q. Cannon has had a number in excellent state of preservation, which he is willing to dispose of. They are of special value to descendants of those eminent men included in the group.

A Missionary Farewell.

Elder B. S. Rapp, who leaves shortly for a mission to the Northern States, will be tendered a farewell entertainment in the Fifth ward meeting house this evening. A splendid program has been arranged for the occasion and the friends of the young missionary are cordially invited to be present.

AMUSEMENTS.

Romeo and Juliet.—The efforts of the Tabers at the Theater showed more signs of being appreciated last evening, when the largest audience of their engagement followed the serio-tragic of the luckless pair of lovers, so graphically described by the immortal Shakespeare, in his beautiful tragedy, Romeo and Juliet. Time does not dull the interest that this play implies, and being so ably interpreted by this splendid company lends additional charm to the old familiar lines. The strong scenes were admirably worked up and the audience thereby sufficiently wrought up to appreciate the splendid efforts of the company. The Juliet of Mrs. Taber is the best thing she has done. She looked and acted the part in every detail with that naturalness so characteristic of her, that bursts of applause greeted her at the close. She was forced to acknowledge sometimes results, and sometimes distinct results, before her delighted audience would be appeased. Robert Taber as the lustful Romeo showed the honors and he too was applauded and recalled for his rendition of the part. In manner and voice he depicted the passionate and despondent lover with the fine cleverness and skill of his art, and he has carved another niche higher upon the tower of fame in the estimation of his Salt Lake admirers. The supporting company lent valuable aid to the successful production, and particular favorable mention is due Mr. Barnett Rae as Mercutio, the friar Lawrence of Mr. Langdon and Mrs. Rai Smith as the nurse. The staging of the play was beautiful and effective making it in its entirety one of the most pleasant ever seen here. Tonight marks Ada Alcott Nedding's farewell engagement.

THE LYCEUM.

A full house greeted the performance of The American Girl, which opened a four nights' engagement at the Lyceum last night. This play was mentioned again in these columns at the time of its original production here last spring, though Mr. Howe the manager had made several changes in the personnel of his company since that time. Mr. John S. Lindsay has been engaged and appeared last night in the role of Mr. John Barlow, a part not requiring much acting, though well suited to him. The American Girl will continue in the week with a Saturday matinee.

THE GRAND.

May Hewson is attracting fair audiences at the Grand and the attraction is such as which the play affords need with the usual local appreciation. The Saturday matinee will be a command from the present offices.

Students' Society.

Prof. Willard Done, president of the Latter-day Saints' College, will deliver a lecture tomorrow evening in the Seventeenth ward chapel. The subject announced is Life's Sailors. This with the musical exercises will make an entertaining and instructive program. The time of commencing is 7:30. A general invitation is extended to the public.

St. George Temple.

The St. George Temple will re-open on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

The Tale Himself.

Some time ago a writer in "Cassell's Journal" says he happens to be going from Newcastle to Tynemouth. One of the occupants in the railway carriage was a gentleman who beguiled the time by telling some rather "tall yarns" of his experience abroad. A commonplace individual with a camera and a tripod, sat in a corner seat, and listened without the shadow of a smile. The traveler having concluded an impressive story, began again:—

"I never saw a camera but it reminds me of a sad occurrence that befell a friend of mine when we were traveling in Italy. He was an enthusiastic amateur photographer, and when we climbed Vesuvius, nothing would satisfy him but a near view of the crater. He wanted to go to the very edge. The guide told him it was highly dangerous, but he was a determined fellow; so they tied a rope round him as a precaution and he went forward. Sure enough the lava gave way. He fell through! The guide pulled the rope, but the next moment he informed that the lamp like a three—and that was the last that was ever seen of my poor friend! Sad, wasn't it, sir?" he added, turning to the solemn man.

The latter shook his head.

"Do you doubt my word?" said the traveler.

"No," received the solemn man, "I don't doubt your word; but I fear your memory is failing."

"Eh? How so?"

"Because," said the solemn man, slowly and gravely, "because I am the man! And yet you don't remember me! I came out again on the other side of the volcano! I got my view!"

There was dead silence for a few minutes afterward, and the traveler changed carriages at the next station.
