NEWS OF THE WEST.

Evans and Soutag, the Two Notorious Outlaws, Again Heard From.

A DRUNKEN HOBO'S FREAK.

Horrible Case of Mutilation a la "Jack the Ripper."—A Valuable Gold Brick, Etc.

The Walkerville (Montana) Telegraph suspended publication Saturday, it didn't pay.

Johnson and Carr, the two prisoners held for horse stealing, broke jail Sunday night at Casper, Wyoming, but are again in jail.

At Pueblo, Colo., C. L. Hassler, a car repairer, has been instantly killed at the Missouri Pacific shops by a jackscrew slipping and striking him on the neck.

The rumor was again flying around yesterday, says the Cheyenne Sun, that the Burlington had bought the Cheyenne and Northern and would extend that road to Sheridan.

A gold brick weighing 52 ounces, worth $6800, is being exhibited at the Ashland, Oregon, bank as the product of the April run of a five-stamp mill so ore from the Ashland mine. This mine has been the center of attraction in the gold excitement in Southern Oregon during the last few months.

News has been received by stage of the finding of the body of a woman, horribly mutilated, at Fort Bidwell, Nevada, last week. She was a German character, and was mutilated after the fashion of Jack the Ripper. There is no clue to the perpetrator.

Only twenty Chinese were registered in San Francisco yesterday. Eighty-five applications for certificates were received from the country towns. The total registration in the city has now reached the thousand mark. This is only one-thirtieth of the number of Mongols who are local residents.

Sheridan, Wyoming, Post: The construction train with about fifty track layers came in a few days ago to work on the extension. It is understood that the track will be completed to Tongue river at once, where extension yards and shipping pens will be erected. Beyond this no contracts have been let so far as is known to the general public, but every indication points to the early completion of the road to its northwestern connection.

Joseph Gans, one of Montana's largest sheep raisers, is in Orrin Junction, Wyoming, with 80,000 sheep, states the Cheyenne Sun. Gans is en route from Colorado to Nebraska with them. At this place the sheep were turned out to rest and feed. Sheep Inspector Williams caused him to be arrested for bringing sheep into the county without notifying him. Gans will fight the case, as he claims the sheep are in transit. It will be a test case of the sheep law.

The Sunset Telegraph and Telephone company of Oakland, Cal., has filed a statement with the city clerk showing that the company has expended $18,652 on the underground wire system up to date. This statement was quite necessary because the ordinance granting the franchise required that $10,000 should be expended on the work within a year after the ordinance was passed. The franchise was granted to the company on May 1, 1892. The cables have now all been laid in the main streets and the work of stringing the high poles on each corner will soon be commenced.

On Tuesday afternoon a rather unique robbery was attempted by a drunken hobo, being no less than the stealing of a telephone from the walls of Judge Merrell's office, says the Rawlins, Wyo., Journal. The Judge was in Louis Schaible's at the time, listening to one of Dr. Birkett's wonderful bicycle romances, and had stepped to the door to laugh, when he caught sight of the man coming out of his office with the telephone under his arm. He promptly collared the fellow, rang for the police on the telephone under the fellow's arm and the enterprising thief is now in jail. What he intended to do with the telephone after stealing it is not known.

Craven Robinson, the 7-year-old son of Richard Robinson, who lives about six miles down the valley from Boise, Idaho, has been dragged to death by a horse. Young Robinson was leading the horse to water. He had the rope wrapped tightly around his right hand. The animal became frightened and dashed off at a furious rate, the unfortunate lad being dragged along behind. The horse sped over the sagebrush, kicking the poor boy at almost every jump. When the rope finally gave way the boy was mangled terribly. His head was crushed and there was scarcely an unbroken bone in his body. The sufferer passed away in a short while after the accident.

J. B. Morrison has sworn out a criminal complaint before Commissioner Jensen, against Hyrum Christensen, charging him with using complainant for a sand bag on which to practice pugilistic exercises. It seems, says the Richfield Advocate, that Mr. Morrison and Wm. Christensen, Hyrum's brother, had both been improving and claiming prior possessory rights to a small piece of university land, and Mr. Morrison claims that on Wednesday of last week Hyrum Christensen rode out to the field to where he was, and without any provocation, cause or expostulation, knocked him down several times, stamped and kicked, and almost ended the life out of him. The case will be prosecuted.

According to Tuesday's dispatches, says the San Francisco Chronicle, the notorious outlaws Evans and Soutag have again emerged from their hiding place in the mountains, and have opened their summer season of crime by holding up a stage on the line running between Visalia and Sequoia mills. The story is marked with a careful attention to detail, but in spite of this the officials of the Southern Pacific company and Wells-Fargo Express company, in this city, are inclined to be skeptical as to the truth of the yarn. Detective Hickey, of the Southern Pacific company, who, by the way, has not been outside the city for the past three weeks, notwithstanding the statement published in a morning paper that he was hot on the trail of the evasive train-robbers, said yesterday that his company was making no special effort to apprehend the robbers and, so far as he knew, no such move was contemplated.

Verified news has reached Ukiah, Cal., that Abel and C. L. Bowles, sheepmen of Anderson valley, met with the loss of two dogs and seven rounds of ammunition, captured a Thousand bear that had lived on the fattest of the valley's mutton for the past two months. Hundreds have stalked to Howard's camp, only three miles east of Ukiah. Here are known to be a family of four large, savage bears, the two cubs being two years old. "The father of the family has already killed nine dogs," says Deputy County Clerk Thomas, "and traps haven't seemed to phase him or any of his family." Mack W. Howard, the seventy-four-pounds proprietor of the Four-mile Range and a pioneer citizen, remarked to a reporter yesterday: "Those four bears have for two months been bearding on my range of many fifteen-pound lambs and kids and I think the boys will soon outfit themselves for a big hunt. Bears don't say much, but they have an uncle who is a resident of the reservoir system, is over a hundred years old. An advance of $25 insures a good guide and the several persons if the city will pipe water down Main street. The reservoirs are located in those I mine just east of the county road, in a splendid place for a pleasure resort. A thousand trees are already set out and the company intends to make a fine park. A half mile of one-inch pipe can be made and with the best piping and nothing seem it is thought the place can be made very a traction. They are still digging and expect to get a great deal more water. The boys have two hundred and eighty acres of land close to the reservoirs and of course can use to a good advantage, a great deal of water. The place will be christened "The Seven Peaks." Redfield Advocate.
