FATALITY AT MERCUR.

Pat Foster, a Miner at the Golden Gate, Crushed by Falling Rock.

Special to the News.

MERCUR, Utah, July 20.—Pat Foster, an old time miner who has been engaged of late at the Golden Gate mine, met with an accident last evening which cost him his life. He was engaged running the incline of the mine, and just after commencing work, on the night shift, a cave-in occurred which covered him up, with the exception of his head. He was immediately rescued from his perilous position, and after regaining consciousness was removed to his home, and a Doctor summoned.

At first the extent of his injuries could not be determined, but later it was found that he had received serious internal injuries. Everything possible was done to relieve the unfortunate man, but death came this morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Foster had been in the camp about four months, was 28 years of age and leaves a wife to mourn his untimely departure. Interment takes place at Mercur tomorrow.

Not a Very Serious Offense.

On complaint of Chairman Dorman Superintendent Smith, of the Citizens' Electric Light company, was arrested yesterday afternoon for taking out the pavement on West Temple street without a permit. He was allowed to go on his own recognizance. It was necessary for Mr. Smith to put up a bond to insure the satisfactory relaying of the pavement, and he went to the office of the board of public works, but he was not able to obtain the permit as chairman was absent. He was informed that it would be all right to prosecute the work and so went ahead with it. Owing to the misunderstanding the affair will probably be settled out of court.

Wants Him Pardoned.

On October 15, 1894, William King with two others, was sent up from the Fourth district court for attempted train wrecking. The offense was committed near Ogden, at the time Kelly's industrial army was making a tour of the continent. Previous to this time, it seems, King had always borne a good reputation, and in view of this fact he was sentenced to only four years, while his companions, De Camp and McDonnell, were each given twelve years. Yesterday a petition was presented to Governor West asking for King's pardon. It was signed by Mayor Brough, Sheriff Wright, Judge Hagan, Commissioner Young, County Clerk Ledwidge, and County Recorder Allen, all of Ogden, and also one of the jurymen who sat upon the case.

Davis County Relief Society.

The Women's Relief society of Davis county was in session yesterday. Among the speakers were Mrs. Grant, president of the society, president of Lee Stake, Elder Rate J. T. Clark, M. Mrs. E. H. Wells of this city. The instructions were interesting and timely. Some of the topics discussed were silk culture, the growing of sustaining home industries, building relief society halls and storing grain. There was a large attendance at the meetings.

THE WALLACE CIRCUS.

Three High Class Performances Given and Another to Come—To-day's Parade.

In the case of the Wallace Shows a good parade was followed by well attended, high grade performances of remarkably even excellence yesterday afternoon and last night. This afternoon the third exhibition was given and tonight will witness the close of the season.

Tremendous crowds thus far have been present on each occasion and if there were any evidences of hard times or scarcity of money they were not observable to the ordinary individual. It is said that the main tent will seat 7,000 people and if the statement is correct then an audience of at least that number was entered to last night. Each act was watched with interest and during some of them the suspense of the audience was very noticeable. This was especially true during the aerial feats of the brothers Le Van, who won warm rounds of applause for their clever and difficult work.

The management declares that not a single feature will be eliminated from tonight's performances on account of it being the last. That course they say would be injurious to their business, claiming that the information would go out through the newspapers and do them irreparable injury. Besides that they have no close connections to make with other points tomorrow being Monday when they will give no exhibition. Another parade was given today. It was witnessed by large crowds of people, but not by as many as on yesterday.

THEATRICAL NOTES

Superiority of American Melodrama—Pickaninny Bands—Guy Bongs's "Yenalan Yentleman."

The following letter on matters theatrical was received by the NEWS from New York by this morning's mail:

Manager Jacob Litt has been visiting the theatres on the other side and it is said he would not be averse to an arrangement whereby he could secure a London theater for the purpose of exploiting American melodrama. Mr. Litt is the most successful producer of American melodrama in this country, and his judgment is considered pretty good. He writes from London: "I have seen all the melodramatic productions of any account now on the British stage and in my opinion they can't compare with any of our recent American productions. There is more sinew and family sentiment, compact construction and humanity in one act of the ordinary English melodrama than in five acts of an American play. I have seen but one English melodrama equal to Mr. Deary's The War of Wealth, and it is so brilliantly superior to all the others ever here that I shall try and get the American rights."

***

A new scene of mammoth proportions is being gotten up for The War of Wealth, the big financial melodrama which attracted so much attention during its great trip last season. It is a complete stage representation of the great safety deposit vaults of the Central Trust company, New York—reputed to be the most massive and secure bank vaults in the world. Sands Arthur John H. Young says the scene alone will fill a baggage car, and there are three others so big. One hundred and fifty people will appear in The War of Wealth.

***

In Old Kentucky has much to answer for. It was the first to introduce the nimble pickaninnies and it was so great that scores of imitators have sprung up. As a consequence the country will be flooded with pickaninny bands. It is little wonder there are so many actors out of employment. Author Dunne has made a venture and he is indifferent to the operating opposite the others.

***

Gus Heege, the clever Swedish dialect star, is cruising in the wilderness away up on the north shore of Lake Superior. His latest comedy, A Yenalan Yentleman, in which he is to star next season, made an instantaneous hit when produced in Brooklyn last May, and Mr. Heege says he will think of nothing but fishing until the rehearsals of A Yenalan Yentleman begin in August.

The studio of Miss Hulda Eldredge, teacher of Elocution and Physical Culture will for the summer be at 60 East First North. Reception day, Thursday.
