THE LAW'S DEMANDS.

Judge Zane Comes to the Rescue of Two Ill-Hated Fairs.

A WIFE WITH "GOLDEN" SLIPPERS!

The Los Angeles Railroad Company Applies to the Court for Assistance.

In Chief Justice Zane's court this morning the divorce suit of Matthew E. Coleman vs Mignonette Coleman was heard. As amendment of the marriage was sought on the ground of desertion. The parties were married in this city on Feb. 8th, 1889. The defendant's manner was too frivolous to suit her husband, who is a sagacioner, and he objected to her "gadding about." To this Mrs. Coleman rejoined that she would go where she could have unrestricted liberty, and finally, in Feb., 1892, left him. The plaintiff stated that his wife had since been living at a house of ill-repute on Frank lin avenue.

Ephraim Ainsworth, who resides in the Twenty-first ward, said he was acquainted with the parties, who were formerly neighbors of his. On one occasion witness was passing along Franklin avenue and observed Mrs. Coleman standing at the door of a questionable house there. When she observed him she ran inside and slammed the door.

"You are sure it was her and that it was a bawdy house?" asked Judge Zane.

Witness was sure as to that, and volunteered this additional information, amid the laughter of the counsel, that he was dressed in a red dress and had a pair of "golden" slippers on.

Judge Zane—Golden slippers! His honor thought this pretty conclusive testimony and said to the plaintiff's counsel—Well, you can take your decree.

Mr. D. C. Eichner was the plaintiff's attorney.

HE CARE WEST BUT SHE DIDN'T.

On the ground of desertion also, E. Rae sought a divorce from Annie M. Bell, who did not appear in answer to the suit. Plaintiff stated that he married the defendant at Long Island, N. Y., in December, 1889. On the day of the marriage, however, he left the wife (by mutual consent) and came west. He sent her money regularly until January in the present year, but she positively refused to come and join him, though he had repeatedly asked her to do so.

The court granted the decree as prayed.

Smith, Lee and Gray were plaintiff's attorneys.

MISCELLANEOUS.

J. T. Boles vs Henry Denhalter. Defaut, and decree of foreclosure granted.

Henry Dinwoodey vs John T. Mitchell et al. Leave to amend complaint was given by making Frank Knox a party defendant.

Henry W. Watson vs the Utah Nursery company. Fifteen days' time granted to answer.

THAT RAILROAD TROUBLE.

There were a number of attorneys present who wanted to introduce their respective motions; but the court having set apart the day for the hearing of the injunctions, etc., in the railroad case, they were informed that everything else must be passed over until that had been disposed of.

The title of the suit in question was that of the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad company vs Salt Lake City and the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern Railway company. The injunctions have been already foreshadowed in these columns.

It was alleged by the plaintiffs that their surveyed and adopted line runs across the defendant railway company's track on South Temple street, between Sixth and Seventh west, at an angle of 45 degrees, and likewise across a portion of Sixth West street, between South Temple and First South, which plaintiffs desire to use; that the crossing of this track and use of that part of the street was necessary to plaintiffs as a right of way for their railroad and for the purpose of connection with the Rio Grand Western railway, and thereby to reach their depot in this city. Plaintiffs went on to say that they have repeatedly petitioned the City Council for a franchise authorizing them to cross and use the streets named, but that that body has refused to grant the same, despite that plaintiffs have no depot facilities whatever, and were unable to obtain any unless they secured a right of way as prayed. The eastern end of plaintiff's track was now on the west side of Fourth West street, near the middle of South Temple, where their present franchise terminates. Thus they had to use a portion of South Temple street for the loading and unloading of their cars and for depot purposes, which was not only an inconvenience to plaintiffs but most detrimental to the public. They had sought to make arrangements with the Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern Railway Co. for the crossing of that company's track at the place mentioned, but had been unable to do so.

During the year, the plaintiffs say, their business will consist chiefly of carrying passengers to Saltair Beach, and they would be unable to accommodate their patrons or carry on their business successfully without proper depot facilities.

Hence they pray that the use of the lands and premises designated be decreed as necessary to their use, also a right of way and crossing over the defendant railway company's track; that the court determine the conditions upon which plaintiff may cross the thoroughfares in a construction with the tracks of the Rio Grande Western, and that they be granted the use upon such conditions as may be just and equitable.

Counsel in the case are Hon. F. S. Richards and Bennett, Marshall and Bradley for the plaintiffs; Williams and Van Cott and Judge Hoge are for the defendants.

Hon. F. S. Richards insisted that inasmuch as the plaintiffs had not sufficient time to construct a depot house the opening of the bathing season, which would be some time during the present month, it was important that the matter at issue should receive immediate consideration. He therefore asked the court to grant the prayer contained in the complaint.

For the defense it was argued by Attorney C. L. Williams that the crossing of the other company's track by the plaintiffs at the point indicated was unnecessary, and that the construction of the depot was due to plaintiffs' sloth and indolence.

Mr. Richards intimated that he would have something to say on that point later.

The case is likely to occupy the whole of the day.

ANOTHER TO FOLLOW.

The Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad company vs. Robert Axtin Ure is another suit to be tried at the conclusion of the foregoing. Plaintiffs have instituted condemnation proceedings against the defendant, and the substance of this grievance was given in the columns of the NEWS a day or two ago.

COURT NOTES.

Nelson Avery has been released from the penitentiary upon the expiration of his sentence. He was sent up from Ogden for forty days for unlawful cohabitation, on March 6th.

In the case of Merchant & Company vs the E. C. Coffin Hardware company, the defendants have confessed judgment for $258 in Justice Geo's court.

The Northwestern Barb Wire company have filed an action against United States Marshal Benton in the Third district court to recover $979.16, alleged to be due for the conversion of certain property at Ogden on April 22. Dey & Street are the plaintiff's attorneys.

In the case of George Brennan, charged with perjury, a jury was empanneled and several witnesses examined, when a defect was discovered in the indictment. The defense asked that the jury be instructed to bring in a verdict of not guilty, but this request was denied, and on motion of Mr. Stephens leave was given to resubmit the case to the grand jury.

In the Third district court yesterday afternoon the case of Frank Edgington, charged with attempted arson, was called up. The alleged crime was committed in Davis county on March 11, 1892. The defendant's whereabouts, however, were not learned until some months after the indictment, when he was apprehended in this city by Deputy Marshal Goodsell. He was then placed under bonds and released, not during the criminal hearing in February of the present year the bonds were declared forfeited, owing to the fact that he was absent when called for trial. On February 26th he was brought into court by his sureties, the default set aside and since that time he has been in the penitentiary awaiting a hearing. At the trial yesterday the court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

Notice of Meeting.

Next Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock the Seventies of the Thirtieth quorum will hold their regular monthly meeting in the basement of the Nineteenth ward house of worship. A full attendance is desired.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Two Bulletins Issued by the Experiment Station.

Bulletins No. 20 and 21 of the Utah Agricultural Experiment station have been received. The first relates to the "Horticultural Department," and the summary of results of experiments in that division are given as follows:

1. An average of three inches of water per week from July 12th to August 25th, gave the largest yield of potatoes.

2. Irrigating potatoes by flooding gave better results than irrigating between the rows.

3. Increasing the size of the pieces of seed potatoes increases the yield; result of three years' trial.

4. Seed from the stem end of potatoes yielded better than from seed end; results of two years' trial.

5. Continuously heavy manuring potato land increases the per cent of starch in potatoes, the decrease being noticeable the third year after starting the experiment, but further trial may assign the decrease to some other cause.

6. Deep and shallow plowing does not affect all crops alike.

7. Surface pulverizing of the soil tends to pack it, and too much of it is injurious.

8. Dupont's Superior, Compton's Superior, Cream City, Early Standard, Freeman, Lee's Favorite, and Onion Junior, are promising potatoes tried here the past year.

9. Of the thirty-one varieties of bush or "sage" beans tried, Speckled Wax gave the best satisfaction.

10. Henderson's Bush Lima seems to be the best lima bean for this locality.

11. The Cory and Maule's NX, are good early, and the Everbearing and Signaling, good second early and late varieties of sweet corn.

12. Boston Pickling, Early Cluster, Early Frame, and New E. gerkeen, were the most prolific cucumbers grown.

13. Vick's Scarlet Globe, and Earliest White Turnip, are recommended for early salisbury, White Strasburg and The Igl, for medium, and the Colossal for late.

14. Lundren's Very Early Morning, is the most satisfactory beet tried.

Bulletin No. 21 includes two subjects, "Feeding Ruminants on Grain Alone," and "Night versus Day Irrigation." In the first named the results are thus summarized:

1. Cattle and sheep can be successfully fed on grain alone for very long periods.

2. Cattle and sheep fed on grain alone make a pound of growth on as few or less pounds of grain than dogs will.

3. Cattle when fed on grain drink but little water, void a larger ratio of it as urine, and probably vaporize less of it by lungs than when receiving hay or coarse food.

4. The stomachs of sheep and cattle weigh less when fed on grain, the first stomach notably so.

5. The first stomach of sheep and cattle receives food as long as they do not fill up, but quite half fill. The animals practically cease ruminating when fed grain alone.

6. The vital organs of steers slaughtered weighed quite differently from those of cattle heretofore slaughtered, especially so in regard to blood, which weighed more, and more notably so the lungs which weighed less, and is the first noticeable instance in the experience of the writer of the variation of lungs due to food.

7. These relations of food to the development of vital organs should receive the careful attention of physiologists, notably in the relation of food to human health.

The summary of the experimental results on night and day irrigation is shown as follows:

1. The temperature of the plants irrigated nights was slightly higher than those irrigated days.

2. The yield of grain was slightly greater on the plot irrigated in the day time, due probably to checking the growth in tillage.

3. The total yield, or the yield of straw and grain, was some 15 per cent greater on the plot irrigated at night, and the ratio of straw to wheat was therefore much greater on the plot irrigated at night.

4. Straw to bushel grain irrigated at nights, 120 pounds; which irrigated days 95 pounds.

The bulletins will be sent free to those requesting them.

WITHIN OUR GATES.

David Sharp, a rancheman and mine owner with lots of stock in both capacities, came in from Vernon, Tooele county, today. He lives there mostly.

George W. Thatcher came down from Logan and was looking around the metropolis today. He has not shown in any respect since his last visit.

R. Hynes, of Denver; T. Powse, of Ouray, Col.; D. Keefe and family, M. Keen and E. H. Hunt, of Kansas City; J. P. Dunnington and O. L. Thornton, of Chicago, and a whole "raft" of other people, are at the Cullen.

William A. Slater, one of the directors of the Chicago and Alton railway, accompanied by his family, arrived here this morning in his private car "Niagara." They have been "doing" the Pacific coast and are now homeward bound, but will interpose the attractions here for a day or two.

TETTER & ERYSIPELAS

Neck Covered with Glandular Swellings. Scrofula. Sore Breasting. Suffered Terribly.

All Remedies Fail. Tries Cuticura. First Application Relieves. Complete Cure in 3 Weeks.

Two years ago I was troubled in my neck. The trouble took the form of a tetter or eczema, and was painful. My neck was covered with glandular swellings, which were very painful. I became nervous, and suffered terribly. I had tried many remedies and spent much money, and in three months my neck was dead, and was covered with Cuticura. Cuticura came to me when all other remedies failed, and I had exhausted three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. I began to improve, and in three weeks from the time I began using Cuticura I was entirely cured. I have had no return of the disease since. I can recommend Cuticura to all who suffer from skin diseases. I remain, yours truly, JOHN LINDEN, Jr., Fairfield, Ill.
