Rich Gold Mines in British Columbia.—Greenly Fool on a Serious Hoax.

John A. Greenback, of this city, who has done a great deal in the mining business in Montana as well as in Utah, is quite hopeful of his prospects now. For the past seven years he has had mining interests in Montana, and regarding them he says today, "During that time I have spent $15,000 and never got back one dollar profit. But I have a good property now. I might have had a million if good luck had it. I was not in good luck, but I did not know how, and my journey by my experience this summer. I expended $5,000 yesterday alone from the bottom of my pocket in the Montana camp in western Montana, without getting a dividend to pay him, and all the while the pay streak was jollying right alongside of where I was working. But I never knew it now, and I was afraid to. At present I intend to work, as the season of scarce water has arrived, but want little to done in parting, and in a spring I shall take a good long, for the water supply will be plentiful. I've got to a place yesterday on a stream of water that pours out through a tunnel nearly. At a distance of 100 feet, I can tear the hill to pieces where the pay streak is. Now I have to gather the water for twenty-three hours to get one hour's washing, but even that pays, and when I can use full time I will go right ahead. I think I'll have the finest next year of my life."

For nearly twenty years the firm of Solomon Brothers of this city has been engaged in the importation of all kinds of leather boots and shoes and have built up quite a business. At the factory on East Temple street, they give employment to from twenty-five to thirty-five hands, according to the season, and turn out a vast amount of work. There are boots, shoes, slippers, etc., numbers in variety and style, all of home production and guaranteed quality. There the needs of children and of grown folks, male and female, rich and poor, in fine footwear is catered, and to be fully met. In these times when people are looking toward giving some manufacturer the preference, the display related is at interesting sight.

NOTES.

A dispatch from Victoria, British Columbia, says: Government Assayer Carmichael has made a report to the minister of mines of a visit and investigation into the gold quartz mines discovered in the Alberni district on the east coast of Vancouver island. His report fully confirms the news received of rich finds. Assays were taken which vary from $400 to $700 per ton. Only one lode has been developed to any extent, but the surface everywhere for the ledge located twenty miles distant in the same group of mountains were found to be rich with gold. Assayer Carmichael thinks the surroundings in the other great mineral belt, which is reached by a good wagon road from Victoria by water or rail and wagon road.
