NEWS OF THE WEST.

Norwegian Emigrants Will Take Up Their Abode in Idaho.

EXCITING SCENE IN A COURTHOUSE.

Fire at Albuquerque, N. M.—Wide-awake Residents—Anaconda's Pay Roll, Etc.

A poultry association is about to be organized at Caldwell, Idaho—the first in the state.

Says the Anaconda (Mont.) Standard: Anaconda is being the best town in the state. Its monthly pay roll is over $150,000. It is a city of comfortable homes and prosperous and contented people.

The hop crop will soon be harvested in this county, and the Caldwell, Idaho, Tribune, notwithstanding unfavorable reports in other localities, is still in its enthusiasm in the county about the number and proportions. The quality is reported excellent, and yield very large. Canyon county has proved not only in its crops, but in its hops, what two years for Moscow and Palouse valleys will be—red with the vine.

Salmon City (Idaho) Republican: A man came to town the other day who had lost his fingers in the machinery of the Yellow Jacket saw mill and being the owner thereof, he could not help but blame himself. Another man lost the tip of his finger in the same mill, and he also put in time to prevent the falling away of the saw. It seems almost a mistake that he escaped with so slight wounds as he did.

In the trial of a criminal case at Boise, Idaho, Senator Dubois, Senator Harney, Senator Shoup and Senator Heitfeld were subpoenaed to testify. Senator Heitfeld was called first and testified that Senator Dubois was drunk. Friends then interposed and dragged Heitfeld out of the court room. The case was then halted and Heitfeld was in. This is the same Senator Heitfeld who attacked Senator Hawley last winter in the legislature.

A large company of Norwegian emigrants are traveling to settle in Long valley, Idaho, this summer. The committee who went by them to choose a location, after traveling over a large part of Idaho, decided to locate in Long valley. They say they do not mind the long snow; they are used to it. Here, says an exchange, they can find good water, good soil, plenty of timber, can raise grain and gardens, and think that deep snow and long winters are less inconvenient than scarcity of feed for winter, poor water and very little of it, no timber and no range for stock.

Weiser (Idaho) Enterprise: We are glad to see so many of our wide-awake ranchers taking hold of the prune industry, as experience in other western states proves that this industry, which is no longer an experiment, is one which can quick returns for money and labor expended. At this time, with hay, grain, live stock and all farm products so low, it seems to us that any industry that will pay as well as this should be more literally followed. It is reported that in the Payette valley, where the cultivated acres were at the leading industries, there are ranchers who have made as high as $1,000 an acre. Mr. A. Van Meter, representing the Utah Nursery company of Salt Lake, has, in the short time he has been in our valley, taken orders for trees to cover over sixty acres.

Guided by the reproaches of her mother, Ah Long, a Chinese girl, committed suicide on Friday afternoon by taking poison at San Francisco. The girl was 16 years old and associated very closely by the residents of Chinatown, lived with her parents on Pacific street, says the Chronicle. The father is in the country managing a farm labor, and the mother is a seamstress, working for a Chinese clothing manufactory. Friday about 4 o'clock p.m. Ah Long returned to the home after an absence of several hours, and the mother, who was in a sewing room, began bitterly reproaching her for being away. The girl made no response for a time, but finally said she had rather that she was suffering with a serious disease. As her tone indicated that she was in pain, the mother became alarmed and went into the room to see her. As she entered the door the girl fell to the floor in a writhing condition, and within a short time she was dead.

A dispatch from Albuquerque, N. M., dated July 28, says: The three-story business block of Mrs. N. T. Armijo, the most costly in the territory, burned so fast it would be commenced by fire this morning. At 5 o'clock the alarm was sent in and when the department responded the smoke was coming from every floor and through the air passages over the building. For a few minutes it was hard to locate the fire, but it was discovered in the store occupied by the Clark, Watson & Leitch Music company and Mrs. C. M. Allen, stationery dealer. The flames in the store were soon extinguished, but it was found that the fire had burned a hole through the flooring and the building was burning underneath. Great difficulty was experienced in fighting the flames, as there were the holes to the ground, but after several hours' work all danger was over and the firemen ordered off. Foreman McCormick was overcome by the heat while under the building and was lifted out quite ill. Loss, $7,000; fully insured.

The spectators at the Wild West Show at San Jose, Cal., on Saturday, witnessed a shocking accident to white Philip Hawley, youngest son of Major W. H. Hawley, was hit by injured by falling from the horse. Hawley volunteered the service of himself and horse to the show management, and was given the part of riding the horse to be lassoed by cowboys. After his mounted he made an attempt to pick up his hat from the ground while the horse was running. Just as he reached down he fell heavily on the hard ground and the horse fell upon him. The frightened animal jumped up and dragged Hawley about fifteen feet, his feet being pinioned in the stirrups of the saddle. The cowboys caught the horse in time to prevent the young man being dragged to death. The injured boy was carried off unconscious and bleeding profusely from the ears, nose and eyes. There was a fracture of the skull at the base. His death occurred at 11 o'clock the same night. Hawley was employed as stable-keeper during the Forest Fleet, and was exceedingly fond of cowboy sports.
