The postmaster of Gothenburg has in his possession a Hebrew coin which experts claim to be of the same stamp as the one which Judas received when he betrayed Jesus. The inscriptions are "The Shekel of Israel" on one side and on the other, "Jerusalem, Thou sacred name."

The temperance organizations are becoming more and more urgent in their appeals to the government to prohibit the manufacture of whisky from small grains. King Oscar has become great indignation by declaring that radical papers are exaggerating the suffering caused by the increased prices of foodstuffs.

At the last meetings of the Salvation army at Gothenburg Miss Lucy Booth, the youngest daughter of the "general," has been present. "If womanly beauty," says a reporter, "can promote the progress of the army, Miss Booth ought to do it, for a more regular beauty of the Jewish type it would be hard to find."

The North tells the following interesting story: A watch chain made of the rib of the owner is carried every day by H. S. Vallin, of Leiden. After a great deal of exposure while at sea he was taken ill in California, and sent to St. Joseph's Hospital in British Columbia, where he was laid up for two years. Having made several slight operations on him without effecting a cure, his physician finally made one large operation by which he cut off about two inches of seven ribs on the right side. Vallin now became well enough to return to Sweden, although his wound is to be kept open continually. After his return he had the pieces of ribs made into said chain, which, perhaps, is the only one of its kind in the world.

A telegram dated Christiania, October 9th, gives the latest election news as follows: Seventy-four members have already been elected, including fifty-nine members of the Left, thirteen Moderates, and ten members of the Right.

Norwegian papers are as full of campaign news and accounts of meetings, etc., as any of the American journals during the hottest of our political seasons.

Russia seems to be warmly interested in the later works of Bjornson. "A Gloves" has been translated by a sister-in-law of Count Tolstoi, the great author, and published with an introduction to the effect that the translation has been undertaken by his special request.
