THE SOCIAL EVIL PROBLEM.

Police Authorities and Citizens Discuss the Subject at Length.

Petitions to Remove the Dens Made from Franklin Avenue Met With a Counter Petition and Protest.

The petitions from residents and property owners on and in the vicinity of Franklin avenue to have the dens moved removed from that notorious thoroughfare to some other less populous locality, was met by counter petitions and protests at the meeting of the fire and police commissioners last night.

The following petition was presented, read and commented upon at length by Attorney Barrow Ferguson in behalf of the citizens and property owners whose names are subscribed thereto:

To the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners:

We, the undersigned owners of real estate, being on Commercial street and vicinity, hereby petition your honorable body to not remove our present tenants, We ask you to consider that our property is valueless for any other purpose if they are removed, and further that much money has been spent by us for improvements on our property on the street within the last six months with the understanding that this street was finally settled.

The great total of frontage represented in this petition is 4,548 feet, or 8 more Commercial street storerooms are the cost of a possible 1,000 feet.

In defense of the petition Mr. Ferguson took the position that the social evil should and could be abated so far as this city was concerned. Inmates could be driven from the town. If they refused to go and persisted in carrying on their nefarious and disgraceful trade, they should be imprisoned six months at a time. And to make the effort at eradication more successful the landlord should be struck at, indicted for instance. He was especially opposed to having the women and their consorts thrust into the locality where the property of his clients was. They would sooner have it be idle, and that was demoralizing to capital so they had a great deal of money invested there.

Then a running discussion ensued between the commissioners and Mr. Ferguson, the former, together with the chief of police, taking the position that it would be disastrous to allow the women to spread all over the town and conduct vile places in the residence portion of the city. The only thing to do in their opinion was to restrict the business. Absolute suppression was under impossibility. That had been amply proven heretofore. Messrs. Jennings and Empey believed that as unwanty residents of Franklin avenue should be removed to quarters which, by reason of their location would make the social evil less shocking to the community, while Messrs. Rolfsey and Noble inclined to the view that it would be best restricted in the present neighborhood without cutting a blight on another locality.

The petition of Mr. Ferguson's clients was then set aside for the time being for consideration of the following one:

We, the undersigned, owners of real estate fronting on Franklin avenue and vicinity, hereby petition your honorable body to not remove our present tenants. We ask you to consider that our property is valueless for any other purpose if they are removed, and further that much money has been spent by us for improvements on our property on the street within the last six months with the understanding that this street was finally settled.

L. H. Young, J. H. Dixon and H. W. Jones then spoke in favor of the last petition which with the one presented before it was filed and the subject matter referred to before the D. Y. Times company and your petitioners that it was not the intention to drive the objectionable element on to or near their property. The chief of police was the attorney to simply enforce the law as he had been instructed.

Some matters unknown was transacted after which the board adjourned until this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

THE LITTLE ONES LANDED.

No Law to Prevent Willie and Rachel From Being Sold.

Promoters and Best Citizens Officials Forced to the Abandonment That They Acted Without Authority.

Willie Tenbow and Rachel Olfer, who were brought here on the Mariposa from Samoa and the Friendly Islands by Mormon missionaries, were allowed to land last evening, says the San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday, the 25th inst., and will leave this morning for Salt Lake. The special board of inquiry, consisting of Messrs. Channing, Hill and Pixley, met on the steamer yesterday afternoon and heard the evidence in the case. Mesdames Tenbow and Hulbert were liable to be detained. United States Commissioner Stanley and Immigration Inspector Gallagher were present.

Twitchell and Hunter, who had the children in charge, were closely questioned as to their relations with them. Both men are Mormon missionaries and have been traveling the light of the Latter-day Saints in the South seas. They claimed that they were taking the children to Utah to be educated in return for kindness to them by the parents. Elder H. S. Tanner, president of the California Mormon mission, was also in attendance. The only ground on which the board could prevent the landing of the little ones was that they would become public charges in the country.

Both Twitchell and Hunter were very positive on this point. They claimed that the parents of the children were not Mormons, but said they desire to have them raised in Utah. The father of the boy, Twitchell said, was a ship carpenter and the owner of a schooner at Tutuila. He had advanced sufficient money to take the boy to Utah. Hunter said that the father of the girl was a merchant at Tonga, and had given him $100 to bring her to this country. Of that amount, he said, that he had $50 left. The men also testified that there were no proper establishments in the Mormon settlements of Utah, and that there were no paupers there either. After questioning the boy, and receiving an answer that there were nine children in his family, the investigators went into executive session. Their conclusion leaked out later, at the end of which time it was decided that the children would not be prevented from landing. Both Twitchell and Hunter denied all knowledge of any scheme to buy or otherwise secure children in any part of the South seas or anywhere else for the purpose of rearing them in the Mormon faith.

Ordered to Show Cause Why.

Notes From Leeds.

LEEDS, Nov. 26th, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

I thought I would pen a few lines if you thought it worthy of a place in your valued paper. I find that a person is never too old to learn. I fell from a load of hay ten years ago last month and struck on the hard ground on my right hip and paralyzed my whole system, so I could not rise from the ground without help. I have never been able to walk a step since without crutches. As my eyes were getting rather weak and my sight dim, I could not use my last specs, and felt it would be but a short time before my eyes would fail. I am over 63 years of age. As necessity is the mother of invention, I took two pairs of my spectacles that I had used several years before, and lo and behold they magnifies the letters so I can now read for hours without lifting my eyes.

I have been a constant subscriber for the DESERET NEWS for over forty-two years. I commenced for the first issue of the NEWS published by Dr. Richards and today it is received with joy. The paper I regard as superior to any on this globe.

As for temporal and spiritual matters here, they are at a very low ebb. Into breaking up one town to build up another don't pay not very much, and especially when prejudice gets a strong hold.

I sometimes contrast the difference of the morality of the people now and seventy years ago when murders and all the worst crimes were scarcely ever heard of. Now they are of almost daily occurrence and are rampant throughout the earth. There was one murder committed in Steuben county, New York, and it seemed as though the whole state was excited. On this occasion three brothers by the name of Strang were hung for the murder of an old man for his money. It was such a rare occurrence that people went from far and near over thirty miles to see them hung and I don't recollect a murder for ten years afterward.

In my letter that was published on April 25th I made honorable mention of Captain Jefferson Hunt as being a great help in driving the cattle from California across those vast plains for the benefit of the Church. It was overlooked. This may explain it in some to the care of his friends for three of his sons were along with a train of mules packed with cow wheat.
