William Barber, who represents the New York syndicate that is to build the new railroad from Honkow to Canton, is in San Francisco, and will sail on the China, accompanied by several engineers to make a survey of the route. He will be thus occupied for several months. The concession was obtained by a Pacific coast man, W. Hinds of Port Townsend. Calvin S. Bryce is the chairman of the syndicate. The Central Trust company, the Rockefellers, former Vice President Morton and other prominent men in business are also interested. Mr. Parsons says of the road, the main one of which will extend from Hankow to Canton that branches are stretching to many more miles may be built. As has been reported the concession was signed in Washington through the Chinese ministers. The American syndicate is to receive, in bonds guaranteed by the Chinese government, the entire cost of the road, and an agreement upon percentage to cover supervision and a profit. The syndicate is also to receive 20 per cent of the net earnings of the road for 65 years, the other 80 per cent going to the Chinese government. During the 65 years the American syndicate has the right to appoint all the officials and manage the road. At the end of the 65 years the road goes absolutely to the Chinese government.
