OGDEN.

Seeking Further Franchises—Weaver Pleads Guilty—To See Active Warfare.

Special Correspondence.

Ogden, Utah, May 18.—Nine vagrants were sent to the rock pile yesterday by the police justice, and one was sent up for twenty-five days for stubbornly.

James Harding, who was a deputy under Gil Hosman, when that gentleman was sheriff, went to Patton on the train on Short Line yesterday to take charge of a gang of men for the Cory Brothers company.

SEEKING FURTHER FRANCHISES.

There was a secret meeting of the city council Tuesday evening to consider a proposition of the street railway company. Nothing was said upon the subject, but it is understood that the company asked for a thirty year franchise for its electric railway system and for a franchise to furnish electric light and power. If given these they proposed to make an extension to Ogden and put eight new cars on the line at an expense of $40,000, but they did not agree not to build a competing line. Light and Power company or any other corporation. It is said that they were notified that they would be met by a committee of the council that if they would say their three years' back taxes the council would consider their proposition.

WEAVER PLEADS GUILTY.

G. W. Weaver, who forged an order for clothing, was arraigned before Justice Bender yesterday afternoon. He pled guilty and he was sentenced to six months' hard labor, and to work out his fine at the rate of 50 cents an hour, or in default of payment of the fine and costs he will be put to work on the city streets.

TO SEE ACTIVE WARFARE.

Twenty second lieutenants, recent graduates from West Point, passed through Ogden yesterday en route to the Philippines. They are under orders to report to the commanding general at San Francisco.

The sewer pipe on Twenty-fourth street are being removed by the street sprinkling company.

A runaway broke yesterday morning on Twenty-fourth street preparatory to paving it between Washington and Grant streets. The ground will be excavated to the depth of eighteen inches and the dirt hauled away.

The X-Ray newspaper will not be published hereafter. The subscription list has been sold to the Utah State Gazette.

The periodical round-up and spaying of the gophers and barbels took place Wednesday night. The city treasury was enriched by the sum of $12.

The Ogden river is raging again Saturday night like a torrent. There is a portion of the road for a distance of 40 yards, at a point about a mile above the bridge at the mouth of the canyon, that is washed out so badly that it will not be much longer, should the rain continue to rise.

Bicycle riders continue to violate the ordinance, are arrested, taken before Justice Bender and fined $5 and costs. This is to say, some of them are discharged and some are fined.

The plans of Woods & Co. for the new Catholic church building have been accepted. The building will be of stone, brown and white.

SAFE ATTACHED.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Cave attached the safe of the Union Pacific railroad company in their freight office. The company claim the money on a judgment execution issued out of the Second district court in the case of Hilaid Henry against U. P. H. Hope, an employee of the Union Pacific in Montana. The demand was $22 and costs.

The board of county commissioners met this morning to sit as a board of equalization.

County Clerk Charles Hollingsworth visited Salt Lake yesterday.

SUNDAY LAWS.

The mayor and the police committee have held a meeting and decided that base ball games shall not be played on Sunday within the limits of Ogden City. The mayor has instructed the chief of police to enforce the ordinance relating to crimes and punishments, which reads: "Any person or persons who shall be convicted of shooting, foot playing, hunting, fishing or any other field sports, or playing at any game of ball, bat, stick, stone or any other business or amusement or unnecessary business on the Sabbath day, shall be fined not less than one nor more than, clubs or personal injuries, except for medical purposes, or shall be shot, fined or sent to the city of the city, commonly called Sunday, shall be liable to a fine in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars."

The provision of the ordinance has never been enforced. The mayor and council have agreed that it shall be enforced, the revenue to the city, but the science and desirable pay a license and be allowed to play ball on Sunday, provided they are placed in the same category with baseball players, the police are ordered to arrest the parties and prosecutors are ordered to enforce the ordinance against them, and the run with open every day and night in every week throughout the year. Either the ordinance should be enforced against all offenders or it should be repealed.

PROVO.

Business in the District Court—Commencement Exercises of District Schools.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Utah, May 18.—The case against Johnson and Thomas for illegal fishing in the city. After arguments by the counsel on both sides, the case was given to the jury at 3:30, and at 10 o'clock the jury had called them in and asked if they thought they could arrive at a verdict. They replied that they thought they could if given time, and the jury was sent to bed. The jury was getting chaos. They were 5 for and 1 against. They were then sent to the hotel until morning.

A jury was impaneled in the case of Lehi City vs. Lee Singleton, and the trial was commenced. The case is an appeal from Justice Woodhouse's court, the defendant being charged with illegally selling liquor.

The case of S. T. Johnson vs. Thomas Cleveland dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

The case of State vs. Ray Pepper, carnally knowing Chara Stevens, a female over 12 and under 18 years of age, was set for today, but upon motion of the county attorney was dismissed. The couple were today married by Judge Booth.

The case of Lehi City vs. I. J. Wadsworth came on to be heard. This case is an appeal from justice Woodhouse's court. The defendant was arrested charged with illegally selling liquor by David Smith. When the case was called D. R. Hoops, attorney for the defendant, demurred to the information on the ground that complaint did not state what kind of "beer" was sold, and it was not stated to be an intoxicating beer. The demurrer was taken under advisement, although the court ruled that technically the demurrer was right.

Estate of Mary Jones, deceased, we be hearing petition for sale of real estate, set for hearing May 31st.

The court gave notice that he would take further argument on the civil calendar on May 22nd.

The following settings were made: Velvet Ute vs. Rio Grande Western railway company, set for May 25th.

Hosmer Stone vs. R. G. W. Ry. Co., set for May 26th.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The District schools of Provo City for the ensuing school year to be closed. Nearly six hundred children received certificates of promotion from one grade to another. The exercises were held in the Tabernacle, Lake street, and continued all day, with a short intermission. A large number of parents and spectators were present. The pupils in their respective classes, in turn, could answer the roll-call and be promoted with their certificates of promotion. This was a pleasant and profitable method of conducting the exercises, to the pupils and short speeches by the teachers and members of the school board were made. The day was indeed a great time for the children, and they are now ready for their summer vacation.

GRADUATING EXERCISES.

The Fourth ward meeting house was crowded to overflowing this evening, many people being turned away, not being able to get in, the occasion being the graduating exercises of the eighth grade of the city schools. The gathering was presided over by Thos. Fisher, principal of the school. The very interesting program was gone through with, embracing twenty-nine numbers, as published in the News.

President M. L. Pratt of the board of education, in a brief speech, presented the diplomas to the graduates with a beautiful discussion diplomas.

The graduating class of this year is the largest ever sent forth from the Provo City schools. Following are the graduates:

Martha Gee, Essie Rose, Frank Barlow, Abby Dayton, Eliza B. Jones, Willie M. Sutton, Emma Savage Wayne Wood, Ethel Wilson, Sarah Davis, Lee Thurman, Percy Graves, Mary Taylor, Belle De Moss, George E. Holman, Martha Adams, Ella King, Harry Fletcher, Hannah Dooley, Sophia Bagnhoun, Alice Ethel Clark, Parley H. Pratt, Wm. Sam Ellis, Ada Arthur, Clyde, Luella Alexander, Eliza Holdaway, Edna Holdaway, Mary Jones, Frank G. Wilson, Ella Pharaoh, Sadie Snyder, Frank Deming, Elsie Ashworth, Leah Daniels, and Beatrice Young.

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS.

The schools throughout the county will close with well school year tomorrow. Superintendent Brown, of Provo, reports that very satisfactory results had been obtained. Yesterday the eighth grades of all the schools in the south end of the county met at Payson and in the afternoon underwent examination, and today the north district pupils met at American Fork, when fifty-two children were examined. The board of county trustees met in Provo Monday to examine the papers handed in, and transact other business.

County Superintendent Brown and Dr. H. Cluff Jr. will go to Santaquin tomorrow to take part in the graduating exercises of the Santaquin schools.

THE TRAMPS ARRAIGNED.

The eight tramps arrested yesterday were arraigned today. Five were taken in hand by the city authorities and charged with vagrancy, four pleaded guilty and City Justice Sean gave them 10 days each, and one stood trial and was sentenced to 25 days.

The remaining three, giving their names as Allen, Gall and Smith, The first two pleaded with hereof guilty before Justice King they pleaded not guilty and will have a preliminary hearing Tuesday, and Allen waived preliminary hearing and will be taken before the district court on the charge of burglary, in which he has confessed. The relier of Mrs. Sidney Vincent was referred to the county.

The penalty for burglary is heavier than for a crime against nature, and for that reason the officers bring this charge.

LOGAN.

Compiling Irrigation Data for U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, May 18.—Prof. Meade, who is expect in charge of the irrigation investigation, for which Congress appropriated $10,000 at the last session, was in the city part of yesterday and today conferring with Prof. G. THATCHER, ARIZONA.

Promising Crop Prospects in the Gila Valley—Alfalfa Already Cut.

Special Correspondence.

Thatcher, Arizona, May 14.—Our first crop of barley is about over now, and the balers are busy at work as fast as made marketable. The farmers get as high as $4 per ton now; the first on the market brought $12. We don't have to water for the fall for winter. They come almost every month of the year. Wheat is headed out, and we will have a big crop, unless we have a blight. Last year one-third of our wheat crop by frost; a few night ago a blighter came and we lost considerable. Hundreds of bushels of wheat, but much fruit and vegetables. The latter year's fruit is growing fine, and in short season. The blighted wheat will make hay, and on the ones grown we will get a good crop of corn. Warm weather has begun in earnest, and crops are rapidly advancing.

Thatcher is the district school trustees closed a contract with local parties for the construction of a 6,000 school building, which will be ready for the fall term. Thatcher and has the supervision of construction.

Tomorrow we commence operations on the Eastern canal, which for years have been waiting for lay to get cheap at Mesa, it got as high as $15 a rod.

Representatives of the Salt Lake organizations are out at Saint David ward and the San Pedro branch, in Cochise county, and at Fort Bowie, to organize a ward. Elder Moses Kindred, president of the stake, and will visit Franklin ward, to settle in the opposite direction, from each place they will call upon mining camps and the latter two will proceed to the other Arizona stakes to the temple and the Latter-day Saint Juvenile Academy.

GEMS OF HUMOR.

A Boston squatter owned a dog.

One of those hair-brained "sayers." That's no well-bred and nice, "it is said.

He never pants but trousers.

Chilly (hesitatingly): "I have half a dollar." Hungry: "Well, I'm quite."

"Tommy," said the teacher, "what is a mortgage, Tommy?" "Mortgage, ma? Why, that isn't not no tuse to it," replied Tommy.

"When a woman buys a lawn mower she thinks she can run it herself." "Yes?" "And after she has had it a week she thinks she can't even make her husband run it."

A Doubtful Recommendation.—Draper: "Is this dog affectionate?" Dealer: "I should say not. I have sold him four times, and every time he's come right back to me."

Her: "And now that we are engaged, John, dear, how long shall the engagement last?" He: "Well, I'm a married lawyer, who has just drawn up a street car bonds: 'On 20 years, I agree.'"

Artist to Mr. Hoopskirt: "Now, don't you think this is a striking likeness of your wife, sir?" Mr. Hoopskirt: "Well, when my wife speaks to me, she always addresses me as an ass, you've painted that!"

Intensive Philosopher.—Tutto cannot live: "I wonder why tailors is always bent in the right place." Tailor (aged seven, a little short): "Didn't you know it's one they wants to make sure at Sedin' their mothers at home."

Pa: "Yes, Johnny," said Bobbin, "that I couldn't let Tommy Jones when I'm at his house, because it isn't polite, and that it isn't polite to hit him when he's visiting you. Then, when can I whack him on the street?"

Lounger: "Do cook books form an important item in your sales?" Bookseller: "Yes, we sell them by the cart load." "The women experiment more, eh?" "Oh, the women don't buy them; their husbands do."

Salesman: "You want the lady, I believe, who purchased the cookbook? Madam, you take this cook, please. Lady: "Dr. Pillsbury! Why do you give me this cook? Salesman: "Madam, I always give one of his cards to every purchaser of Grocer's Cook Book." He is very successful in disorders of the stomach.

The excursion of Boston conductors of the order O. R. C., arrived here this morning on a special over the Rio Grande Western. They spended a recess in the Tabernacle this morning and visited the lake this afternoon.

Troop F, Fourth cavalry, is to have a "lady's day" at Fort Douglas, in a day or two the troops will leave Boise on route to see Pingstone and thence to Malad, they will return to the Golden Gate City on a special over the R. P. The train will consist of two sleepers, one dining car and also a Pullman sleeper.

C. J. Mills, general agent of the O. R. & N., arrived in town this morning and has some descriptive matter on the "Buffalo Head" mining district. Mr. Mills reports that conditions are very favorable in that region and that people are very much excited over the coming outbreak.

Mr. B. W. Rich, formerly of the Rio Grande Western, Denver has gone east to assist in arranging the tours to South America. John D. Rockefeller has engaged Mr. Rich to present an account of his travels in Europe for the purpose of examining some Chautauqua property there. In a few days he will take the steamer for Brazil, where he will procure passports and everything necessary for his journey. He will go as a tourist, from Utah, Denver, Ayres and thence to Patagonia. Mr. Rich said that he expected to be away several months.

THE OREGON AT THE LADRONE ISLANDS.

When the whale-boat party left the Oregon to go ashore on our newest Pacific possession, the Ladrone Island of Guam, it was discovered that landing in the port of San Luis d'Apra is difficult, the entrance being blocked by a coral reef, so there is only one place for boats to move to mark the intricate passages between the coral reefs, which in many places are so close to the surface that a strong cutter, however, the whale-boat finally reached a tiny pier at Piti, in Piti, on the road to Agana, the capital.

The little hamlet of Piti boasts a cockroach, a cockroach and a cockroach, visible for miles and not to scale. From this point to Agana is five miles, the road being a good one, but strewn with rock, perfectly level and in splendid condition. For almost the entire five miles the road runs through an island lined by a continuous row of houses surrounded by tropical growth, and which have many a nobe and many fine trees and there are patches of bananas and sugar-cane. Through the people are scattered from one to the mount side on catches stingness of a darling beach, beyond, calm blue water, and the sea, with the Oregon lying along over the barrier reef.

The domestic of the steerage of Uncle Sam's cabin, the Oregon, have made scores ashore in the poultry population of the island; in fact, there is a large supply of chickens, ducks, etc., in the vicinity of the Oregon. However, the number of small fowl is remarkably small, and the sea-duck population of a dozen Indian ponies, dressed with black spots, a small baby and a tremendous hog.

The natives of the Guam woman to Anderson noted from the Pillsbury, to capture specimens of a bird or black duck, into which is packed an umbrella and a very low double-barrel shotgun, reaching to the waist, with wonderfully wide short sleeves. At times a parasol, or sacrosanct, held by a branch, is worn. Sometimes the skirt is a full mantle of cocoa palm leaves, but when frequently of pure cloth, woven from the fibre of the pineapple, is the dress. The men are combed straight back, and wear no a tight fall. The men of the town are shaving pacific, for their shave they have still excellent beards, and the lads are all finding cutlets the fashion. The gathering of the people has never burned in six life a very much varied appearance. However, apart from the fine dress of the Indian in this country is sensible, and fully warranted by the pleasant comfort and coolness it brings. The cutlet bang looking that it was a sensible value after all who first set the style of wearing the cutle looked so. Thank the many pairs of trousers now in the rag bag good to transport if shirts were only worn in Guam. A. A. Anderson, U. S. N., in Cutlet's Weekly.
